They claim, and apparently believe, that when they were thrown into the wintry Atlantic from their sinking ship they became as dead as last year's mackerel, only to be reborn when a rescue boat landed them here.

Therefore, they argue with perplexing oriental logic, being born in Canada they are Canadian citizens and have the right to remain here as long as they wish. They point out that citizenship by birth is upheld by all law books.

But immigration authorities not only think the legal notions entertained by these sea lawyers from the land of the dragon are a mite screwy; they go even further and maintain this reincarnation idea is merely a subterfuge to enable the Chinese to evade the immigration laws of the country.

Dracula's Bed His Coffin

Police Hour Releasing Body From Steel Box

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP). — The strange man known to his East Side neighborhood as "Dracula" because of his sombre garb and eccentric ways was found dead yesterday in a setting that fitted his appellation.

His body was cramped into a box made of two-inch-thick sheet steel which had been his only bed for years in the unlighted and unheated room that he had barred to visitors for 35 years.

Police said his real name was Jeremiah Erranght, that he was about 55 years old, and that he was a railroad mechanic. But nobody could tell what made him shut his eyes and turn away his head whenever a woman passed him on the street.

The coffin bed in which his body was found only 4½ feet high and about four feet on each side. In one panel was a small door through which the six-foot tall recluse crawled before locking himself in for the night. There, he slept in a sitting position, with his knees drawn up to his chin and wearing goloshes and ear muffs against the cold. The air hoes provided the only ventilation.

The box was so stoutly riveted that it took police, using hydraulic jacks, nearly an hour to pry off one side.

ALLIED OFFENSIVE AGAINST JAPANESE SEALANES IN THE PACIFIC

Aussie, Yank Raiders Smash Bases

U.S. Sub Torpedoes 60,000 Tons; Japs Call China Units

CANBERRA, March 16 (CP) — Striving to smash Japanese preparations for a possible invasion of Australia, the defenders of this continent announced that heavy new blows had been dealt enemy air bases and shipping in the island-dotted seas to the north.

The air ministry said that the Royal Australian Air Force carried out broad offensive sweeps yesterday on a Japanese airdrome at Dili, in Portuguese Timor, and on invasion bases at Rabaul and Gasmata, New Britain. United States fliers were reported to have participated in the attacks.

Complementing these air blows was the announcement that a United Nations submarine had sunk 60,000 tons of Japanese shipping in a 15,000-mile foray through Indonesian, Philippine and Malayan waters.

Nationality of the submarine, which docked safely at Perth after surviving several attacks with depth charges and aerial bombs during its 60-day voyage, was not disclosed.

U.S. Sea Push On

Reports were published here, however, that the United States was launching an offensive against Japanese overseas communications with a fleet of submarines forming the spearhead of the attack. No auth-

Squadron Wiped Out

The Glasgow Herald called the defeat a disaster and said "The Battle in the Java Sea... .must rank as the most serious naval defeat in which British ships have been involved since Coronel at the beginning of the last war.... Allied losses were such that the fleet (or squadron) of Admiral Deoorman was destroyed in the military sense."

"It broke Java's surest shield against invasion and successful invasion of Java meant collapse of the Allied front in the East Indies."

The Yorkshire Post said, "We should be unworthy of the sacrifice these men have made if we allowed outselves to be dismayed by this further revelation of the striking power of the Japanese....For the Allies the situation is full of sharp challenge and of opportunity for counter attack.

"If past lessons are learned and present changes seized Japanese power in the Pacific which now seems so mighty a thing can be made to wither away."

The Birmingham Gazette, which said the quick fall of Java was explained by release of the news of the naval battle, said "There was the utmost courage and audacity in this Allied challenge to Japanese naval and air supremacy in the spirit of 'attack,' for which there has been such a loud outcry in some quarters."

The announcement explained "shortages of Trinidad asphalt, petroleum asphalt, and the steel sometimes used to reinforce concrete highways, will result in drastic curtailment of road construction, and the shortage of oil will make it difficult to build gravel roads and to keep down the dust of those already in existence."

A new regulation, issued by J. D. Lorimer, chemicals controller, and approved by R. C. Berkinshaw, chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board, provides that the sale or use of coal tar for the construction or repair of private or public roads may not be made without a permit.

Need The Coal Tar

Mr. Lorimer said no permit will be granted unless some exceptional circumstance makes it necessary. Coal tar, he said, is needed for the making of pitch which is used for relining the furnaces in aluminum plants, and it is also needed for the manufacture of electrodes for war industries.

Because of the shortage of ships, little, if any Trinidad asphalt is available, the announcement explained. G. R. Cottrelle, Oil Controller, said there is also a shortage of petroleum asphalt. This type of asphalt, a by-product of oil refining, is in great demand for the construction of runways for the air forces of Canada and her allies.

"There may be some petroleum apshalt for the repair of public highways," he said, "but there will not be enough for any extensive road building."

The department announced that although concrete is in demand for hundreds of war purposes, no serious shortage exists as yet, so the construction or repair of concrete highways may be possible.

It added that in the making of a gravel road, oil and calcium chloride are used to bind the sand and gravel so that ruts will not develop and so that the wind will not blow away all the sand. Mr. Cottrelle said there will be little, if any, oil for this purpose. However, Mr. Lorimer indicated that at present there is no shortage of calcium chloride.

which failed, however, because the patrols of Thailand and Burmese puppet troops gave the alarm.

Hero of the Action.

An Indian havildar (sergeant) was the hero of the capture of Shwegyin, the most effective British offensive action since the Japanese invasion of Burma.

Disguising himself as a coolie, he mingled with a labor gang digging trenches for the Japanese. He obtained all the necessary information about Japanese strength, dispositions and plans, and returned to the British lines. He also was reported to have brought with him a list of Burmese fifth columnists.

In London, a military commentator described Shwegyin, which is three miles east of the Sittang, as possibly a corner-stone of the new British-Chinese defence line across Central Burma which the British commander, Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, has declared will be defended to the utmost.

The commentator described the Chinese lines as running northward from Shwegyin. He said it was likely Chinese reinforcements would attempt crossings of the Sittang also.

He said it could be assumed British and Indian troops were in two main concentrations, one on a 10-mile line between Shwegyin and Nyaunglebin across the Rangoon-Mandalay Railway. This is about 280 miles south of Mandalay.

The other, it was assumed, was some 70 miles to hte south-west at Tharrawaddy, across the Rangoon-Prime Railway, about 60 miles north of Rangoon.

Spring Looms

to allied counter-thrusts. A stand by the British in India is expected to check the Japanese and expose them to attack from Australia on the southern front.

"Germany intends to drive in two directions: through southern Russia towards the Caucasus and through Egypt at Suez, Irak and Iran. Simultaneously, Japan hopes to move across the Indian Ocean via Ceylon and Madagascar to the Persian Gulf, cutting off supplies to Russia.

"An invasion of Northern Europe by Anglo-American forces from Britain might smash German plan but the British are still reluctant to make another trip to the continent until they are sure they can stay.

"If the British could invade Europe successfully Germany might be beaten this year.

"Axis operations might be accompanied by a German offensive in the Atlantic designed to choke supplies from Britain. Iceland might be attacked, the Canary Islands occupied and the occupation of Dakar, French West Africa, announced.

TAYLOR HENRY, Vichy:—

"Military critics here agree that a German spring offensive might be directed against the Eastern Mediterranean Basin with the oil fieuds of the Caucasus as the main objective.

"These critics believe the operation could be carried out in any one of five possible ways or by different combinations as follows:—

"1. A general offensive all along the Russian front with a big push in the Donets Basin toward the Caucasus bolstered by a holding attack from Moscow to Leningrad.

"2. A drive by Marshal Erwin Rommel's army through Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Iraq and Iran towards Suez.

"3. A short cut through the Islands of Rhodes and Cyprus into Syria.

"4. A general push through Turkey to the backdoor of the Caucasus.

"5. A limited offensive in Turkey to gain the Straits of Dardenelles for passage of the Italian fleet into the Black Sea.

"All of these methods are raised as a possibility with a junction of the Japanese in the neighborhood of the Persian Gulf."

"The possibility of a landing by British, Americans and Canadians in northern France is not to be scouted."

Edward Kennedy, Cairo:—

"The fate of the Middle East in the immediate future lies largely in the hands of the Russian Army.

"Now, as throughout the past nine months, there is little doubt that if Hitler were to strike at the Middle East with an overwhelmingly superior force backed up by plenty of air support he might crack the British defences.

"The question is: Can he spare such a large force from the Russian front?

"It seems certain that his mind is still set on conquering Russia and that he proposes to open a new terrific offensive there in the hope that this time he can take the Caucasus as well as Leningrad and Moscow.

"If Hitler does strike at the Middle East it is almost certain that the main thrust will not come in the desert with its difficult lines of communication.

"It is more likely that Rommel will merely put up a sideshow to hold the British in the desert while the big drive will come through Turkey or directly by sea and air into Syria via Cyprus. The Germans have hundreds of invasion barges ready in Greece and have Crete and the Dodecanese as their points of departure."

Tom Yarbrough, Sydney, Australia:

"Most Australians agree with their foremost soldier, Maj-Gen. Henry Gordon Bennett, that Japan's next big move will be aimed directly at the Australian continent.

"The present Allied counter strokes consist chiefly of aerial raids on New Guinea where the Japanese are pushing ahead with the apparent aim of consolidating their positions on the string of islands around northern Australia and establishing bases for continuing their southward roll

"There is scarcely any agreement here with foreign speculation that Japan might swing toward India instead. The country's men and material resources, with strong reliance of support from the United States, are being shaped energetically to meet an invasion attempt in the near future."

Kirke L. Simpson, A.P. war analyst, Washington:

"Urgent necessity for obtaining adequate oil sources controls the action of Hitler and his European war associates. Axis conquests are meaningless until the vital oil lack of the Nazi 'new order' economy has been met.

"This writer believes that Nazi attack on Russia was dictated by the hope of reaching Russian oil sources in the Caucasus. If that is true, the most probable main effort of the Nazi spring offensive still would be aimed at Russia.

"In the Pacific, Japanese communication lines are becoming increasingly vulnerable to United Nations sea-air attack but the cracking of these lines definitely must await the hour when enemy air and sea power can be outmatched in those distant waters. Once the lines are cut, the whole Japanese conquest campaign must collapse of its own weight"

Toll Runs Heavy As 10 Ships Sunk In 5 Days

By The Canadian Press

Ten Allied ships were reported during the week-end to have been sunk by submarine action off the North American Atlantic coast during the period dating back to last Wednesday. Considerable loss of life was feared.

In Wilmington, N.C., naval authorities announced Sunday that a big United States tanker had been torpedoed Thursday night and that 26 members of the crew had been landed, burned and exhausted, at Southport, N.C., and Charleston, N.C.

The navy department announced in Washington that a small United States merchantman was lost Wednesday and that seven of the crew of 28 had been saved.

At an East coast Canadian port 29 exhausted and frost-bitten men were landed after an Allied merchantman had been sunk in the Atlantic. They had been adrift for 80 hours before being found.

Survivors of one American and one Norwegian ship reached Puerto Rican, Haitian, and Cuban ports after their ships were sunk in the Caribbean. Thirty-four of 41 Norwegian crewmen were saved, as were 56 of the 67 aboard the American vessel.

Authorities in the Bahamas announced the landing of 30 crewmen of an identified vessel sunk last Wednesday.

12 Of 26 Saved

Fourteen men were lost and 12 saved when the Norwegian freighter Gunny was sunk off Mexico's east coast. The survivors were landed at Progresso.

Havana reported the United States sugar transport Colabee was torpedoed and that 15 of her crew of 37 were saved. The crew mistakenly abandoned ship in the belief the vessel would sink. Actually the ship, only a mile and a half from shore, went aground. Frank Eckman, first assistant engineer, and a dog remained aboard and were rescued. The others took to boats or jumped overboard.

Havana also reported hearing a ship believed to be a United States Coast Guard vessel sending an S.O. S. saying she was being abandoned after being torpedoed, shelled and machine-gunned in the vicinity of the French island of Guadeloupe. This ship's fate was not positively determined, nor was the S.O.S. satisfactorily identified.

Twenty survivors of the American freighter Cardonia were landed Saturday at West Palm Beach, Fla. They said their ship had been torpedoed twice and shelled a week ago in the Caribbean.

Philadelphia, March 16 (AP)

FOUR survivors of a crew of 38 aboard a United States medium-sized tanker declared last night a submarine sank their ship with shellfire, then ran down and sank two lifeboats and a life-raft.

The attack came without warning in the Caribbean area Feb. 28. The survivors estimated the undersea craft fired 200 shells. They said the ship was not torpedoed.

The vessel went down within five hours. The survivors drifted on two lifeboats for nearly a week. They were picked up by another ship March 5 and landed in Philadelphia Tuesday night.

21 Flee Blazing Hamilton Block

HAMILTON, Ont., March 16 — (CP).—Two firemen were injured and 21 persons were forced to flee from an apartment block early today when a two-alarm fire caused unestimated damage to a nearby downtown business block. All damage was reported covered by insurance.

Injured were 'enry V. Moses, a captain, who suffered hip and facial injuries when a rear wall of the busine block collapsed, and James Dunn who suffered a lacerated hand.

Firms suffering damage in the fire were the Allan Candy Company, the John H. French Company, printers, and the H. Barnard Stamp and tencil Company.

Exploding magnesium powder and other inflammable material used by the stamp and stencil company added to the dangers facing the firemen. The powder, similar to that used in incendiary bombs, gave a bluish tingle to the flames.

The fire started in the basement of the candy company shortly before two o'clock and was discovered by a city policeman. Firemen fought for three hours before bringing the blaze under control. Constables, responding to a broadcast call, roused the occupants of the nearby apartment block and assisted them to evacuate.

Farm Forums Shown Lantern Slides

INDIAN RIVER, March 17. — Another series of four Farm Radio Forums has been held by the Indian River group. V. Stanley-Jones was host for the first two of these meetings, at the first of which the discussion centred about the topic, "We Can't Afford to Be Sick." A definite step forward was taken when the group formally approved a brief to be submitted to the provincial government for securing enabling legislation for the adoption of municipal health services.

"Who Will Own the Land," was the topic at the next meeting, which has as an added feature an instructive lantern lecture on "Profitable Poultry Raising." This was particularly seasonable as baby chicks are uppermost in the minds of poultry raisers just now.

The all-important topic, "Will the Soil Last?', received the attention of the group at the home of Chas. Coughlin, when it was agreed that farmers must endeavor, by the application of commercial fertilizers along with organic matter and by careful rotation of crops, to make up for soil depletion of many years by overcropping erosion.

The co-operative selling idea was discussed at the home of James Thompson, when the advantages of such methods were brought out by showing the small percentage of profit accruing to the farmer when the consumer purchases his product.

A record attendance at this meeting was due no doubt to the fact that another set of lantern slides was presented, showing in color, "Weeds of Eastern Canada and Their Eradication." Hydro on the farm is shown in this way to be of educational value, by making it possible to present to interested groups these helpful films produced and loaned by the Department of Agriculture.

They Love Work

Ottawa, March 16 (CP).

LABOR MINISTER MITCHELL will leave early this week on a trip to the Pacific coast to inspect labor projects on which Japanese moved from the protected area of British Columbia are being engaged, it was announced today.

Mr. Mitchell will also visit coastal shipyards and war industries. The definite date of his departure has not yet been determined.

So He Rammed It

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16 — (AP)—His gun jammed, a fighting plane pilot—evidently an American or a Hollander—rammed and destroyed a Japanese raiding plane and then managed to land his own machine despite the loss of a large part of the wing.

The Melbourne radio, in a broadcast picked up by the CBS shortwave listening station, quoted an Australian department of air communique that the episode occurred Saturday during a Japanese attack on islands near Cape York, the extreme northern tip of Australia.

LAKEFIELD, March 16—(ENS). —Missing from his home in Lakefield on Friday afternoon for over three hours, Harvey Jessup, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Jessup was found sleeping face down in a snowbank near the County Old People's Home.

The child was missing at the noon hour, and when he could not be found the firemen and several of the citizens started a search of a nearby creek and then the canal banks.

He was found by C. Schelcher, coming into the village and who did not know anything of him being lost, until he met the searchers.

Blame Soldier For Injections

QUEBEC, March 16— (CP) —The Quebec L'Evenement-Journal says to-day that "a soldier at present in hospital probably will be accused of having performed injections on several of his comrades to make them temporarily unfit for military service and free from the army."

The newspaper adds that "five other soldiers have been in hospital for about 15 days for the same reason. All are suffering from articulation of the knee, apparently following an injection composed mainly of turpentine.

"It is generally believed that the soldier against whom a charge will be laid is the only one who performed the injections . . Laureat Lacasse, head of the municipal detectives who are investigating the case, said that his inquiry would be closed in three or four days after which he would turn over his report to military police . . .

"He refused to enlarge upon his statement, but said that the newspapers had greatly enlarged the case."

The newspaper goes on to say that "it has been reported that in several military camps in the region, cases similar to those of the six soldiers have been reported. It seems clear that those who operated here and outside the city carried out the same procedure."

War-Time Garden Timely Subject

A large and appreiative audience, heard F. C. Kitney discuss a war time vegetable garden, at a meeting of the local Horticultural Society, held last week. In plain every day terms, the speaker drew from his 50 years' experience as a market gardener, simple facts and remedies, which help to make a successful, well laid out vegetable plot. Mr. Kitney advised horticulturists not to sacrifice the entire garden to vegetables. He advocated a bed of flowers in the centre or along the front of each plot, as an aid to the appearance of any straggling growth. Cutting cabbage before the forming of hard heads, gave the vegetable a more palatable taste and in addition, forced a growth of Brussels sprouts along the stem.

Lettuce, beets and kindred seeds should be sown in small quantities, at intervals in order to provide a longer season of edible vegetables. Small gardeners were advised to use tomato plants which could be staked, preferably the Bonnie Best type. The hanging tomato enhanced its flavor, also added to the general appearance of the plants. In watering your garden, follow nature. Water once a week, thus making the plants work for their nutriment and moisture. Fertilize with a type such as 4-8-6. Use good seed, cultivate frequently and yours will be a successful and satisfying vegetable plot. Many questions were put to the speaker and an interchange of ideas brought forth several simple but effective remedies for the control of pests, maggots, etc. The society at its next meeting will sponsor a talk on foundation planting, an important part in any scheme of beautification.

Scores FDR's Attempt To Build Detestable New Alien World

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), March 16—(AP).—Hitler appealed to the German people yesterday for new sacrifices and warned them "a hard struggle" lies ahead, but promised a crushing victory over Soviet Russia during the coming Summer.

Speaking at memorial exercises for Germany's war dead, Hitler also predicted the ultimate defeat of what he called President Roosevelt's attempt to "build a detestable new alien world."

Policiticians, army generals, wounded soldiers and war widows crowded into the Zeughaus—imposing old Berlin arsenal used as a military museum—to hear the address, which was also broadcast to the nation.

Hitler made a special trip from his headquarters on the Russian front to attend the state ceremonies.

He acknowledged frankly that the German armed forces had met unanticipated obstacles in Russia. Winter, for instance, he said, came weeks earlier than expected.

"But one thing we know today," Hitler declared: "The Bolsheviks who could not defeat the German troops and their allies in one Winter will be annihilatingly defeated by us in the coming Summer."

Sees Red Hopes Gone

Russia's only hope of ultimate victory, Hitler said, vanished when her armies failed to inflict upon Germany a "Napoleonic" defeat in the snow and cold of a Winter he described as the worst in 140 years.

Hitler reiterated assertions that "Jewish and capitalist conspirators" had caused the war, and laid much of the blame upon President Roosevelt.

"In what kind of a world the American President wishes to live is a matter of complete indifference

Man Is Fined $10 For Slugging Taximan

David Peters, charged the other day with assault occasioning actual bodily harm, pleaded guilty in police court this morning of common assault and after Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. had announced that he would accept a plea to the lesser charge was fined $10 and $1.75 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

John A. Bradshaw who appeared for Peters said that the trouble had been caused by a dispute over a taxi fare. Peters had ordered a taxi at 10 minutes before midnight and thought that he ought to pay only 25 cents fare. When the tax driver demanded 50 cents, the rate after midnight, there was an argument during which the accused hit the other man in the eye.

"There was a certain amount of provocation," defense counsel told the court.

"I think it is a case for a $10 fine," remarked Magistrate Langley.

Farmers and others interested in the Brotherhood of Threshermen are invited to attend the sessions.

Six Districts Over Objective

COBOURG, March 16—(ENS).—Final totals have been released by the headquarters of the Northumberland County Victory Loan campaign here. The county subscribed a total of $1,138,250 or a cumulative percentage of 101. Of the 14 districts, six of them went over their quota. Rural sections of the county which were snowbound made canvassing impossible in many parts with the result that the campaign did not produce as much as was desired. Following are the totals and percentages for the districts:

Cobourg, $357,050 — 115.20 per cent.; Hamilton township, $117,400—102.10; South Monaghan township, $18,900—78.75; Haldimand township, $61,500—102.50; Alnwick, $21,650—108.25; Percy township, $81,200—90.22; Cramahe township, $37,100—64.20; Hastings village, $28,700 — 114.80; Colborne village, $38,050 — 95.12; Brighton township, $46,000—83.60; Brighton village, $90,300 — 115.30; Murray township, $49,650 — 82.75; Campbellford, $122,700—98.10; Seymour township, $68,050—94.50.

Train Hits Car; Suspends Subway Wreck

PORT HOPE, March 16.—(ENS).—On Sunday morning, at 1.10 a.m. a Studebaker car driven by Mrs. Clarence Manley of 751 George street, Peterborough, Ont., was hit on the Smith street crossing by a C.P.R. passenger train travelling east. The car and passenger was carried by the train, two thirds of the way across the viaduct, from where it was suspended in a precarious position for some time.

The passenger train was held up for over forty-five minutes and after considerable time was spent in trying to clear the tracks, the Port Hope firemen were called to the scene at 1.45 a.m.

Mrs. Manley was removed to the Port Hope hospital, while the engine of the car was taken back to the station and, with the assistance of the firemen and their equipment the remainder of the demolished car was dropped off the viaduct on Queen street, two blocks from the scene of the accident.

The driver of the car miraculously escaped being killed, but was serious injured. Mrs. Manley is resting in the Port Hope hospital as comfortably as can be expected.

In an unbroken seven straight wins, Bowmanville defeated Cobourg in the opening game of the series by the score of 38-24. Seymour Ladies Planning Salvage Drive

CAMPBELLFORD, March 16.—(ENS) — Already contributing in many ways to the national war effort the Seymour East branch of the Women's Institute has now arranged an extension of its services to include the important problem of salvage. They have named April 17 as salvage day it was announced following the regular meeting held Thursday afternoon at Mrs. George Craighead's. Their decision was prompted by the belief that a great amount of valuable waste was being discarded in that section of the township merely because there was no organized means of collection. No longer will this complaint be heard in the district covered by Seymour East Institute since they will be governed by the size of the first campaign in arranging further collections. The home of their president, Mrs. Jesse Locke and of Mrs. George Airhart have been designated as assembly points for the salvage it was announced.

To inspire greater efforts in getting quilts and in quilting they chose conveners for 4 rather closely defined sections: 5th Line, Mrs. Alex. Milne; 6th Line, Mrs. George Craighead; 7th Line, Mrs. E. C. Pollock and Mrs. John Rannie, 4th Line. Next month they will hold their annual meeting and election of officers on April 9th when they meet at Mrs. Jesse Locke's. Roll call of Thursday's meeting was "Household Hints," which brought what was characterized as a fair response and a highlight of the meeting was the presentation of not one but two topics. One of these on "Peace and Education" was given by Miss Edith Gibbons who had prepared it for the February meeting subsequently cancelled. She felt that education for peace could best begin with the adolescent and carried through the school years with campaigns carefully laid out for each municipality, province and country. Emphasis should be placed on racial equality she maintained adding that science was on the side of peace. Since it promoted a higher civilization. Both faith and christianity will combine with science in promoting education for peace in the world to come. The second topic was given by Mrs. Donald McKay on "Thrift" who gave some timely suggestions inspired by an article from Nellie McClung. This was followed by a demonstration in sewing by Mrs. George Airhart and Mrs. Mel McKeown and a vocal solo by Mrs. William Craighead.

SUGAR

...and your Grocer

Your grocer would like to sell you all the sugar you want. He has built up his business by pleasing his customers.

But right now he has a patriotic duty to perform. Canada must save sugar. So Canada has asked your grocer to keep a watchful eye on the sugar supply,

Remember, your grocer has nothing to gain—and much to lose—by seeing that you keep your purchases down to ¾ pound per person per week. Remember, too, that he has the right to refuse to sell sugar to anyone he believes is trying to disregard the law, and will make a record of the names and addresses of those who buy in what seem to be excessive quantities.

YOU MUST OBEY THE LAW

THE WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD, OTTAWA

HOW LONG will this war last?

NOT ONE among us but longs for the day when peace will settle over the world, when families will be re-united, when our lives will return to normal. Are you doing all you can to bring that day closer?

This is a great task; to accomplish it every last ounce of our individual effort is required. If we are half-hearted, the war may last for years. If we slacken in our efforts and leave things for someone else to do, the war may bring us bitter defeat.

When you look back at the end of the day or at the end of the shift, can you honestly say, "I have done all it was humanly possible for me to do?"

When you look back at the end of the year, will you be able to say, "I gave my strength, my skill, my experience, my factory, my equipment, to the service of my country, without thought of greater gain. I am happy to have done my full share?"

Crime And Punishment

Considering the nature of her action, Mrs. Madeline Morgan, who was sentenced at Belleville on Thursday last to two years in the reformatory for maiming her stepdaughter, may be said to have got off lightly. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan urged the magistrate to send Mrs. Morgan to the penitentiary and if he had done so it is unlikely that anyone would have considered the sentence unduly severe. The public feels more strongly about crimes of cruelty, such as this, than it does about crimes inspired by greed or sudden anger. And cruelty to a child—for in spite of her years, Edna Morgan seems to be no more—is especially abhorrent to normally humane people.

Mrs. Morgan's defence was not impressive. "My nerves got the best of me," she said: "I am sorry for what I did and ask for the mercy of the court." Such sorrow as hers is a contemptible emotion and carries no weight in a courtroom; who is not sorry for a wicked action when he is caught and punished for it? And what mercy did this woman show to her stepdaughter, whose hands are maimed and whose tongue has been clipped? As for Mrs. Morgan's nerves, we are sure that a psychiatrist would agree that they got the best of her, but he would doubtless have an unsavory explanation of why they had done so; cruelty is a base emotion and has its roots in some very unpleasant things. The fact that on the same day this woman's husband was fined for cruelty to animals indicates, we think, that the Morgan household is no place for children; in such an atmosphere, what chance have they to grow up to be decent people?

The Morgan case brings into prominence once again the excellent and necessary work which the Children's Aid is doing. A surprising number of people have children who appear to have no idea at all of how to treat them properly, and this society works hard and long to protect such children against the folly, stupidity and cruelty of those who should be their natural protectors.

Outraged Brazil

We on this continent have allowed ourselves to reach a state of mind, by no means uncommon in war, where we are so dazzled by the clever things that our enemies do that we quite overlook their acts of glaring stupidity. Germany did stupid things in the last war, and she is doing stupid things in this one. Apparently her sea-wolves are so bent on destruction that they cannot exercise common caution as to whom they destroy, and as a result the sinking of Brazilian shipping has brought Brazil to the point of war. If Brazil declares war on Germany and the rest of the Axis it will not be a light matter, and Germany will eventually regret it.

Germany herself has reached a state of mind where she no longer cares greatly how many enemies she has. This was a tenable attitude for her at the time when her dazzling speed of attack made it possible for her to flout those countries which were unprepared for war. She felt then that she could get what she wanted before her enemies were ready to dispute the matter. This is no longer the case. There are more and more indications that, unless something unforseen happens, this is going to be a long war, and Germany's enemies will have time to catch up with her in armaments and man-power.

Brazil is the largest and most powerful of the South American republics, rich in resources and in men. She is not an enemy to be incurred lightly. In bringing Brazil to the point of war Germany has done a very stupid thing, and has forced yet one more outraged country toward the United Nations.

Let Us Not Be Squeamish

We hear from Ottawa that young men joining the Royal Canadian Air Force are now being given the Wasserman test, but that this test is not compulsory; when blood tests are made a sufficient quantity is taken to make a Wasserman test if the young man will permit it. So far none have refused, and in this they show better sense than those who have made the test a matter of choice.

From time to time the use of the Wasserman test in the army, navy and air force has been discussed in the newspapers, but frequently in such clouded terms that many readers must have been left in doubt as to what, precisely, it was. The Wasserman test is a blood test which shows whether or not the person tested has syphilis. Now it should be clear that a man so infected has no place in the armed forces unless he is under proper supervision and unless it is certain that he will not infect others. Certainly no man so infected has a place in the R.C.A.F., where the greatest physical efficiency is needed. Every man entering any of the armed services should have a Wasserman test and as he does not know what is being done with the blood which is taken from him, there is no reason why he should be consulted on the matter.

The fact that the Wasserman test is a matter of choice is one more evidence of the tendency in Canada to be squeamish and over-dainty about venereal disease. But it is just foolish to attempt to ignore these diseases as it is to pretend that there is no world war and the result of such conduct, though slower in coming, will be much the same. The results of syphilis, whether the disease is contracted carelessly, innocently or by inheritance are insidious and horrible and every care should be taken to see that young men who volunteer to serve their country are not exposed to such infection. The present war began in 1939, and Canada was in it from the beginning; the war against syphilis began in 1910, and it is high time that Canada got into that one, too.

The Stuffy Academic Life

The Kingston Whig-Standard has some pertinent comment on a recent "human interest story" released by the Department of National Defence at Ottawa. It appears that a professor from the University of Minnesota enlisted in our army seven months ago, and two or three weeks since he was raised to the rank of corporal. This rise can hardly be described as either dizzy or rapid, and the Whig-Standard says of it:

> "What we should like to know is why a man with eight years of academic life behind him in an important university, a man who has made a vocation of teaching, was left for seven months in the ranks of an army that is as short of brilliant instructors as the Canadian Army must be. When an army is expanded as swiftly as the Canadian Army has been, one of the major problems is to get first rate instructors. When methods of warfare are so strange and new and scientific as the methods in this war are proving to be, it must be doubly hard to get instructors with the requisite training in preparing and giving new material.
> "Yet here was a university professor left in the ranks for seven months, and even the fact that he has now been made a corporal is no guarantee that he is being used as an instructor. We know, of course, what one answer to our question will be, namely, that any man, no matter what his previous training or experience, needs some basic military training before going on to specialized work. But we still wonder whether a university professor, accustomed to dealing with new material, could not do a fairly good job of many kinds of specialized instruction after he had been in the army a week."

Quite so; and we are also amused by the idea that the professor fled from "the stuffy academic life." How much, we wonder, did the user of that threadbare phrase really know about the academic life? The idea that professors, as a class, are hopelessly impractical fellows who habitually wind the cat, put their wives out of doors, and kiss the clock good-night is one which needs exploding. Of course there are a certain number of incompetents in the academic world, but no more, we are sure, than are to be found in business or labor. The majority of professors are men who have highly trained minds which they devote to their work for long hours, receiving small pay for it. They know how to use their heads and they know how to teach. The army could certainly use a considerable number of them as instructors; corporals can be found elsewhere.

Reading In Parliament

The reading of speeches from manuscript in Parliament is against the rules of the House, and we are glad that Mr. Speaker Glen is taking a strong line with those members who insist upon doing it. Usage and good sense have set the rule in abeyance for Ministers who have statements to make which depend for their effect upon special wording, and for budget speeches which contain figures which few men could or would memorize, but there is no reason why private members should be indulged in this bad habit. The likelihood is that if they cannot speak from memory or extemporaneously they are equally unable to read anything which the House would wish to hear in a manner which the House would find interesting.

There was a time in Canadian history when a certain literary and oratorical gift was regarded as a part of a statesman's equipment, and men who hoped to gain the approbation of the House and of the country strove hard to develop it. As a result, their speeches may often have been rhetorical and flashy, but they did have the breath of life in them and they were worth listening to, even if only for a good laugh. Not so the speeches which now clutter the pages of Hansard; it is rarely that they rise even to the level of unconscious humor.

It would not be so bad if the honorable members were good writers, but they seem to be as unready with their pens as with their tongues. They lack that talent for compression which is the mark of the accomplished writer; they have not the heart to edit their own voluminous outpourings. It would be an excellent thing if Canadian electors let it be known that they expect their representatives to speak, not read, and to speak with some degree of accomplishment, when they appear in the House.

Worry In The Axis

Britain and the U.S. spend a great part of their time working out elaborate schemes of attack upon themselves which may, they feel, give them a hint as to what the Axis will do next. Although it is necessary, we have always regarded this as a somewhat two-edged policy. But now at last we hear that the boot is on the other foot, or may we say that the other foot is now in The Boot? A report from Stockholm tells us that Italy is greatly worried that Britain and the U.S. will attack her, in order to gain control of the Mediterranean and to use her as a springboard for a direct assault on Germany. It is comforting to know that someone on the other side is worrying about what we are going to do. We had begun to think that they were too intent on doing things themselves to care.

Italy's worry may not be ill-founded. The scheme has much to recommend it. It is, in fact, the basis of a very interesting plan which has recently been published in a book called Defense Will Not Win The War, written by Lieutenant-Colonel Kernan of the U.S. Army. He appears to be a man of original mind, and therefore just the sort of man we want to hear from in this war. He is a linguist, and was once a professor of medieval philosophy at Harvard, so he is obviously a man of parts. His advice is sound common sense; it is clear, he says, that we will never win the war by waiting until we are attacked, for the methods of attack used in this war are such that it is almost impossible to stand up to them; therefore let us attack, and the obvious place to do it is in the weakest spot in the Axis power, which is Italy.

Whether or not the United Nations accept Lieut.-Col. Kernan's advice it is good to know that somebody in the Axis is worried.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The U.S. has been promised plenty of rubber rings for the canning season. But who wants to can rubber rings?

The U.S. Price Administrator has placed a ceiling on bedding. Where does he expect people to sleep, under the bed?

Shy people who find great difficulty in talking are said to suffer from psychophonasthenia; there is more than one reason why this will never become a common complaint.

When German generals fail, they die of heart attacks. When Japanese generals fail, they commit hari-kiri. Let us hope that our generals will do something soon to justify their excellent health.

The United Nations are to be congratulated on the excellent publicity which they have given to their intention to occupy Madagascar. We wish the Japs would be a little more open about their future moves.

Ottawa urges the country to conserve paper. If politicians and civil servants would learn that the sentence containing the most words is not always the most effective statement, they could give us a lead in this matter.

HONG KONG

Unhappy isle, when first we heard your fate,
'Twas but to know that heroes' work was done;
And though our grief was deep, our pride
That sons of ours had glory nobly won.
 was great
But now comes forth a tale of hellish spite
On helpless soldier and civilian wrought
That stuns the mind and shocks all sense of right,
And turns fine dreams of brotherhood to naught
One answer only to this outrage vile;
A grim resolve to work with heart and soul
To end both Nazi hate and Nippon guile,
And keep our courage till we reach our goal,
Nor ever say the road is hard or long,—
Just wipe the sweat and whisper low,
 "Hong Kong!"

Political Wolves Are After Winston Churchill

A Syndicated Article in United States Newspapers, by Tom Treanor.

THE political wolves are after Mr. Churchill.

The accusations are being made that he hypnotized England with rhetoric and drugged her with phrases.

I have no axe to grind for Mr. Churchill. I have never met him, nor have I visited England since the war, nor am I particular admirer of the English.

However, if England had permitted herself to be hypnotized by Mr. Churchill's rhetoric a little sooner, if she had drugged herself with his phrases 10 years earlier, she would not be where she is now.

It is obvious to anyone with a grain of sense that England's defeats at Singapore, Crete, Norway and Dunkirk were not due to lack of planning by Mr. Churchill.

They were due to England's failure to take his perfectly extraordinary warnings during the 10 years before he came to power.

He has only inherited the vast load of failure against which he warned England so vigorously year after year in the face of abuse and ridicule.

It must make him laugh at a time like this, and he, Winston Churchill, is being blamed for the defeats.

Those to blame have gone and in going they passed their load of failure on to this gallant old man who told them again and again what would happen.

And it has happened with a vengeance.

SURELY no reader believes for one instant that Mr. Churchill was so stupid that he did not think to protect Singapore with aircraft.

Not the Mr. Churchill who preached for 10 long lonely years the dominant role that aircraft would play in war.

Not the Mr. Churchill who knew before any of us what aircraft mean.

He didn't get aircraft to Singapore because he couldn't. He was too busy repairing the damage which his political enemies did many years ago when he had no power and when he was treated with cold disdain as an unwanted outsider.

As he said, during the past months he has had Germany at his throat and Italy at his belly.

He was hard put not to lose North Africa.

As he said, it took him four months to get a ship to Egypt and back, carrying planes.

How long would it take them to get them to Singapore? And where was he to get the ships?

The longer the trip to Libya took, the fewer ships he had to spare for Singapore.

As to the stupidities and the failure in the actual defence of Singapore, those are not Mr. Churchill's. Those are the inevitable consequences of a hopeless situation.

Demoralization precedes the certainty of disgraceful defeat.

I WILL give you a few samples of Mr. Churchill's "rhetoric," prior to the war. This word "rhetoric" was used by his detractors in the sense of hollow phrases. See how hollow this phrase is:

"For all these reasons we ought to decide now to maintain, at all costs in the next 10 years, an air force substantially stronger than Germany, and that it should be considered a high crime against the state, whatever government is in power, if that force is allowed, even for a month, to fall substantially below the potential force which may be possessed by that country abroad."

For which, or for similar remarks, he was attacked in this vein by his opponents:

"He comes forward," said Mr. Herbert Samuel, "and tells the nation that we ought straightaway to double and redouble our air force, that we ought to have an air force four times as big as we have now....That is rather the language of a Malay running amok than of a responsible British statesman. It is rather the language of blind and causeless panic."

And they are blaming Churchill that Singapore didn't have enough airplanes!

Both these statements, Churchill's and Samuel's, were made in 1934.

AND is the following the sort of phrase that would drug the British?

"We are a rich and easy prey. No country is so vulnerable and no country would better repay pillage than our own. With our enormous metropolis here, the greatest target in the world, a kind of tremendous, fat, valuable cow tied up to attract a beast of prey, we are in a position in which we have never been before, in which no other country in the world is at the present time."

That was also in 1934.

He is accused of being caught unaware. But it wasn't unaware that he was caught. He was caught helpless to act because in "the years that the locust hath eaten" his political adversaries beat him back.

Does the following sound like a man who would be caught napping?

"Beware. Germany is a country fertile in military surprises. The great Napoleon in the years after Jena, was completely taken by surprise by the strength of the German army which fought the War of Liberation. Although he had officers all over the place, the German army which fought in the campaign of Leipzig was three or four times as strong as he expected. Similarly, when the Great War broke out the French general staff had no idea of the reserve divisions which would be brought immediately into the field. They expected to be confronted by 25 army corps; actually more than 40 came against them. It is never advisable to underrate the military qualities of this resourceful and gifted people, nor to underrate the dangers that may be brought against us."

This was in 1935.

IN THE same speech he said: "The Lord President asked me and us all not to indulge in panic. I hope we shall not indulge in panic. But I wish to say this: It is very much better sometimes to have a panic beforehand and then to be quite calm when things happen, than to be extremely calm beforehand and to get in panic when things happen. Nothing has surprised me more than—I will not say the indifference, but the coolness—with which the committee has treated the extraordinary revelations of the German air strength relative to our country. For the first time for centuries we are not fully equipped to repel or retaliate for an invasion. That to an island people is astonishing. Panic indeed! The position is the other way round. We are the incredulous, indifferent children of centuries of security behind the shield of the Royal Navy, not yet able to wake up to the woefully transformed conditions of the modern world."

THE only great failure of Mr. Churchill was his inability to drive these thoughts through a lot of thick skulls — our own homegrown skulls among the thickest.

Atlantic Will Decide Victory

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 16 —(AP)— Even before Japanese war designs in the now separated Pacific and Indian Ocean theatres unfold fully, it is clear that the Allies and Axis alike are bracing for even more critical developments in the Atlantic as spring approaches.

Further United Nation retreats before Japan in event of successful invasions of Australia or India would be grave setbacks. But they would not end the war. It still is in the Atlantic that the vital communication lines of Allied victory hopes lie. It is there the ultimate test will come.

The Axis could be smashed in Russia. While the Anglo-American fellowship holds the Atlantic ship-bridge to Britain and to Russia, Axis victories elsewhere remain but inconclusive incidents of the struggle.

And the dominant fact in the Atlantic as of today is that those communication lines are secure. Neither Japan's intervention in the Pacific nor Axis submarine raiding in North American waters has diverted Anglo-American attention from its main task in the Atlantic.

OMINOUS PORTENTS

The sea corridors to Britain and to Russia are open. Heavy convoys of war goods and of Canadian and American troops have reached the British Isles through them, not only unscathed, but unattacked. War essentials for Russia are flowing unchecked through the Arctic and White Sea.

These are ominous portents for Hitler. Diversion of his U-boats from the open Atlantic to harry coastal shipping in American and Latin-American waters was itself a confession of their inability to cut Allied Atlantic life lines. The indicated concentration of heavy Nazi surface warcraft in Norwegian waters further demonstrates that failure.

The only known element of the Nazi surface fleet powerful enough to cope with Anglo-American naval forces disposed to safeguard essential traffic to Britain and Russia is the battleship Von Tirpitz. She has been spotted and attacked in Norwegian waters. But she escaped the fate of her mighty sister ship, the Bismarck. Had she been sunk or crippled the most dangerous threat to Allied Atlantic war traffic would have been ended.

HUNTED SHIPS

Yet the British planes which sighted and attacked her achieved their main purpose. They warded off an attack on convoy lines that could have been disastrous. Some reports say the Tirpitz fled to the shelter of Norwegian coastal waters without having come within 300 miles of her convoy objective.

The Tirpitz and any other Nazi surface craft lurking along Norway will be hunted ships from now on. Every day sees longer hours of sunlight to aid the search.

The air power odds must turn heavily against Hitler as American craft supplement Britain's plane output unless he finds means to break those Atlantic lifelines.

British Commando raiders have dealt their hit-and-run blows along the Norwegian coast during the winter. Whether such raids are a prelude to an attempted invasion of the Continental coast to set up a second war front and satisfy growing demand for an Allied attack is doubtful.

They could, however, foreshadow an Anglo-American joint effort to establish bases on the far northern coast of Norway as an additional safeguard for convoys to Russia and on the flank of German air and sea bases on the lower Norwegian sea front. It is probable that Nazi battlecraft in those waters have a dual mission. They are there to block any Allied invasion move as well as to threaten surface raiding of Atlantic convoy lanes.

NOBLE SERVICE

IT WAS a two-paragraph item on the inside of most newspapers. She didn't fire a red-hot machine gun from a mudhole on a battlefield. She piloted no precious cargo through a mined sea. Nor did she sweat over a bomber assembly line. But she did something just as fine and heroic, something which may win a great battle for humanity.

Nurse Nancy Vance of Charlottesvile, Va., knew she was dying of cancer. She gave up a private room and took a bed in a hospital ward so she would have more money. For more medical attention? For a big funeral? No. So she would have more money left in 20 years' savings to donate to the fight against cancer. She died the other day and left all she had, $2300, for that great cause. Many of us do less with more.—Chatham Daily News.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, March 17.

An important day on which much of major interest both public and private demands decisive action and initiative. It may be a time for attacking new propositions, in which the public welfare seems to be at issue, with energy, positive and direct approach, in order to circumvent some sort of opposition or crafty undermining by large corporations, fraternities, or perhaps political bodies. This energetic and aggressive manipulation may be supported by a social or friendly approach in which personal prestige and popularity figure. There may be sudden and surprising developments incident to changes in plans.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of important objectives in which success depends upon strenuous, forceful and direct action in which practical methods and common sense are sustained by the clever use of personal popularity and prestige, in social or friendly relations. The public is benefited despite shrewd or subtle opposition from large organizatins or political bodies aiming at defeat. Things may take a surprising turn, calling for some changes of tactics or yielding to gain a point. But be alert to deception.

A child born on this day should have much energy, talent, courage and stamina as well as much personal grace, ambition and prestige. It may have fine creative ability and resourcefulness.

Registered Nurses Hold Quarterly Meeting In City

Afternoon Session

The Registered Nurses of District No. 6 met for their regular quarterly business meeting at the residence of Nicholls Hospital on Saturday afternoon. Miss Irene Shaw, Cobourg, chairman of the district, conducted the meeting. Nurses attended from Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay and intermediate points as well as from the city.

The business of the association was freely discussed, the emphasis being on the special part that nurses have to play in war time and the measures that must be taken to meet the ever-increasing demands made upon them.

An interesting feature was the exhibit prepared by the sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital in the interest of the Canadian nurse—it depicts the first hospital on the Island of Montreal, a miniature log building, with its foundress, Jeanne Mance, interviewing the Indians who came to her for succor. Another timely figure is a modern nurse with a copy of The Canadian Nurse in her hand. As 1942 is the tercentenary of the arrival of Jeanne Mance in the New World, it was decided that the exhibit be sent to Windsor for the annual meeting of the R.N.A.O. to be held in April.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. D. B. Avison, wife of the Medical Health Officer, spoke to the members of some of her experiences in Korea.

A skit was put on by the members of the local Victorian Order of Nurses and the Public Health Department, showing a typical prenatal visit by both organizations. The members taking part were Miss Geraldine Conley, Miss Mary Ross, Miss Maddaford and Miss McGary as the bewildered mother. This was most instructive and lent a touch of humor to the meeting.

Supper Meeting

Miss More, Public Health Nurse for Ontario, addressed the supper meeting in Hooper's Palm Room on the subject, "Nursing in War Time."

Miss More pointed out that the status of nursing had changed vostly since the time when any woman who had served two years in a hospital might be admitted to the profession. Nurses now receive careful training and bear heavy responsibilities and greater things are expected of them.

Miss More said that one of the duties of the nurse in war time is to do her best at her everyday job. Another duty is to maintain the high standards of the profession, both during and after the war, not merely for themselves but for the nurses of the other countries. "We must," quoted Miss More, "'Build the walls and make the roads, even in troublous times'."

The speaker urged that nurses take fuller advantage of postgraduate courses in nursing, and spoke of the permanent Education Fund, established to enable promising young women of the profession to continue their professional education in fields in which they showed outstanding ability. There is at present a shortage in the profession of trained leaders and instructors.

She spoke of the attempt that is being made to organize retired and married nurses to take the place of the younger women who are giving their service at the front. The Association has encountered some difficulty in locating these nurses but a forthcoming campaign via press and radio is expected to bring results. All that is asked at present is that retired or married nurses should send to the Registered Nurses' Association a post card bearing their name, maiden name if married, address and place of training.

Canadian nurses are attempting, through the Registered Nurses' Association, to organize themselves for emergency service. At the outbreak of war they offered their services to the Government and a committee has been formed to advise the government on the needs of the nursing profession.

Evening Session.

The evening meeting was held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A.

A film entitled "A Nurse Looks at Radiology," was presented by Miss Claribel McCorquodale, Department of Radiology, Toronto General Hospital. The presentation was an endeavor to designate the place of the nurse in radiotherapy and the various phases of the work.

X rays were discovered in 1895 by Wilhelm Konrad Foentgen who was Professor of Physics of the University of Wurzburg. He had been conducting a series of experiments into the behavior of glass vacuum tubes through which electric currents are passed. Roentgen's hobby was photography and he was in the habit of taking week-end hikes out into the country through the beautiful hills of Bavaria for the purpose of taking photographs.

On the eventful Saturday on which X rays were discovered, Roentgen had prepared two glass plate-holders. He entered the laboratory where an experiment was in progress and placed the plates on the table and accidently placed them close to the glass tube. Presently he referred to one of his text books in which was an old German key he was using for a book mark. As he put it down he thoughtlessly placed it on top of the plates. Thus the plates and key were in close relation to each other as well as being in range of the rays being emitted from the vacuum tube. Presently he left to go on his photographing expedition and in the afternoon used the fateful plates to photograph a mountain scene. Imagine Roentgens surprise when he discovered the image of the key superimposed on a mountain scene.

Later when Roentgen was questioned regarding the incident he was asked, "When you saw the image of the key upon the plate what did you think?" His reply has become a classic, "I did not think I investigated." He reached the conclusion that some hitherto unknown type of ray was responsible for this effect and since he did not know the type of ray he gave it the name of the letter "X" denoting the unknown. The more recent investigations have revealed that X-rays are merely electro magnetic vibrations which vary from your ordinary radio waves and visible light only in wave length.

For many years the field of radiology was limited almost entirely to the reduction of fractures and to the localization of foreign bodies, but as the science has developed it has become a very important procedure in the diagnosis of disease in every region of the body and as increasingly important in the treatment of many diseases varying from the ordinary "boil" to cancer. Throughout the film were many demonstrations showing the application of X rays and radium in treatment and diagnosis. Results of many of these cases were also shown illustrating the advance and progress made in the fight against malignant diseases.

Miss McCorquodale was introduced to the audience by Sister Gonzaga of St. Joseph's Hospital, and a very hearty vote of thanks was moved by Miss MacKenzie, public health nurse of Lindsay, and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the members of Chapter C. Mrs. Roy Taylor and Mrs. Rundle were in charge.

Delightful musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. H. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Wm. J. Gordon during the serving of refreshments.

THE WORLD HAS NO PLACE FOR GLOOMY GERTRUDES NOW

Women Can Do Good Job in Their Homes By Being Gay and Putting on Smiles.

Many letters come daily to this column from women who are filled to overflowing with the desire to help their country in its hour of need, but who do not know how to go about it. Many of the writers are women with small children. Others are girls with jobs in stores or offices. They can't park a car without denting a fender, so they can't see themselves driving an ambulance in a blackout. They have no training as nurses and couldn't put on a first-aid bandage that wouldn't endanger the patient's life. It makes them seasick even to go up to the second storey in an elevator. Not even the cat listens to them when they speak, so they don't kid themselves into thinking that they could command an army. Besides, who would take care of the baby if they were running flying fortresses? And what would Mom do without their pay envelopes on the Saturday nights? But, all the same, they want to do their bit, and ask how they can do it. Now with all due appreciation of the fine work being done by executive ladies in streamlined — or otherwise—uniforms, I should like to comfort these patriotic sisters by assuring them that in times of war a country needs its home guards just as badly as it does its soldiers at the front, and that the unseen and unsung women who stay in their houses and cheerfully and uncomplainingly keep the fires burning on their own hearth stones are performing just as important a service as that of any hero who shoots down an enemy plane in the skies.

Examples of Courage.

For they keep up the morale of the whole Nation. They stiffen the spines of the weak and breathe hope into the souls of the despairing. They set an example of the courage that can endure hardships without whining that shames slackers into silence and often into doing their duty, and htat makes men feel that such wives and sweethearts are worth fighting for and dying for.

How, then, can the home-staying woman help in the defence of her country? First, by keeping a stiff upper lip. By nailing on her face the smile that won't come off. By spreading cheer about her instead of gloom. By doing her weeping in private and burying her own sorrows in her heart, and making it a religion to chirk up everyone with whom she comes in contact.

If her husband and sons have been called to the army, she can make it easier for them to go by showing the same bravery and the same willingness to make a sacrifice for her country that they have shown. She can send them off with flying banners instead of draped in crape. She can leave them free to find whatever happiness they can in their new life instead of being kept sick with worry over what poor Mary or Sally is doing without them. She can let them take with them the picture of a strong woman, who is going to be equal to any situation instead of one who is drenched in woe and pining away with anxiety and grief.

Don't Write Gloomy Letters.

And she can help her husband, or her son, or her sweetheart who is in the service keep up his morale by writing him the sort of letters that pep him up and give him something jolly to think about. She can censor her own letters and delete from them all reference to her own loneliness and how she misses him, how the prices of food are soaring, and all about the baby being sick and little Johnny looking piddling, instead she can tell him that the baby has learned to say "Papa is a hero" so plainly that anybody can understand him, and offer him a cheerful budget of family neighborhood news, and make plans for when he comes home, and tell him over and over again how proud she is of him.

And if her husband is one of the men whose duty keeps him behind the lines, she can help him defend the country by making him a better and more considerate wife and a home more peaceful than she has ever done before. For these are the times that try men's sould and when a man needs a wife on whose breast he can weep and pour out the troubles he would be ashamed to tell any other man, and will comfort and cosset him and build up his faith in himself.

Taking the trouble to curl her hair and put on a becoming dress, making the effort to tell her husband a funny story and keep him entertained and amused and help him to forget about the war for a few hours may not seem like a heroic thing for a woman to do but it often takes as much courage as it would to lead a charge in battle.

A woman can help defend her country by keeping her family as healthy as possible and as well fed as she can with rationed food. She can use all her energy and ingenuity and intelligence by making unpalatable food edible, by maikng over old garments into new, and by doing all the little tasks that keep a home together. And by teaching her children by her example how to take whatever life sends with courage and cheerfulness.

The woman whose fighting garb is a bungalow apron instead of a khaki uniform need not despair. She mans the home line, which is the front line on which battles are fought and won.

Care of the Unfortunate.

Dear Miss Dix—I have a sister who is slightly subnormal mentally and who is middle-aged. She lives with me, but she really wants to go to some institution where she could be taught to do something useful and could feel that she was at least not being a burden. I take her with me wherever I go and try to keep her entertained, but it is a great strain upon me, and with all my other duties it is too much for me. Also it is breaking up my family, but my brothers and sisters, none of whom are willing to care for her, will not take her. They say it is my duty. Why should she not go to an institution, since she wishes to do so?—Sister.

ANSWER: There is no reason in the world why your sister should not go to one. She will be much happier and better off there than she could possibly be in a private home. She would have the society of others of her own mentality and something interesting to do.

Bosten Brown Bread

(Contributed by "Sally")

Two cups whole wheat flour, 1 cup white flour, 2 cups sour milk, in this dissolve 1 teaspoon soda, ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup molasses, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped floured dates. Mix dry ingredients then add milk and molasses. Add fruit last. Raisins are very nice in this too, but we prefer dates.

Bran may be used instead of whole wheat flour but increase the white flour to 1¼ cups and decrease the milk to 1½ cups.

Bake in a loaf cake pan for slightly over 1 hour in a slow oven. This may be cut as a loaf cake when hot, split and buttered and used cold.

Penny Saver

(Contributed by "Sally")

Save your bits of fruit juice left over from jars of fruit. When making apple pie or pudding save the skins and cores. Pour your leftover juices over these adding a little water if they do not cover the peelings. Simmer till soft then put through a fruit press or sieve. Reheat to the boiling point, let boil till quite thick then seal in small jars. This makes a delicious spread to use with toast. Perhaps you may wish to add some sugar but I seldom do.

Thank you Sally for these two items. I told the apple peeling and core one to a friend of mine who prides herself on having no use for a garbage pail, and she said that was the "best yet."

LONDON, March 16—(CP).—W. W. Grantham, recorder of Dal, and one of England's most colorful horsemen, died recently in his 77th year. A keen horseman, Grantham originated the point-to-point steeplechases held for member of the war at Coombe nearly 50 years ago, and was first secretary of the Pegasus club, racing organization of the Inns of Court.

He was a leading authority on stoolball, an old game somewhat similar to cricket, and always wore a Sussex smock when umpiring matches.

R. White, 21-year-old Tottenham Hotspur football player, temporarily blinded in the Dunkirk evacuation, has completely recovered his sight and was chosen right halfback on the Army's all-amateur team.

Four hundred members of the Royal Sydney Golf Club, second largest in the world, have joined the services. The Australian club has a membership of 2,800, equally divided between men and women.

Oxford won the University cross-country championship, beating Cambridge by 27 points to 51 over a 6½-mile course. Seventeen-year-old R. B. Martin of Oxford won the race in 38 minutes, 20 seconds.

Louise Anderson, 21-year-old lacrosse and tennis star, has become a recruiting officer in the NAAFI. Tennis champion of Southern Scotland, Miss Anderson has played at Wimbledon and as a lacrosse player represented Scotland in internationals against England, Ireland and Wales.

Deaths among sportsmen reported recently included James Bogie, treasurer of the Scottish Football Association since 1933, Andrew Coffey, director of Everton Football club for 30 years, and Herbert F. H. Caldwell, 81, who played cricket and golf for Cambridge University at the beginning of the century.

PO. George Beeby, racehorse trainer whose Rue de la Paix won six races last year including the Cambridgeshire, has 20 horses in training for the coming flat-racing season.

Lt. Robert Blair Mayne, Irish rugby international capped six times between 1937 and the beginning of the war, has been awarded the D.S.O. and been mentioned in despatches for service with the Royal Ulster Rifles. He was member of a British rugby team which toured South Africa in 1938.

Canon Arthur Lindsay Leeper, Vicar of Huddersfield, and former West of Ireland golf champion, died at 58. A prominent athlete, Canon Leeper was captain of Dublin University cricket club in 1906 and played for many years with the University rugby club and the Lansdowne Rugby Union football club.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The wandering Peterborough Soldiers are off to the hockey wars again today. They left early this afternoon by automobile for St. Catharines where tonight in the Garden City Arena they will meet the Merritton Hayes Steel Redmen in the third game of the final series for the O.H.A. Senior B championship. The fourth game in the series will be played in the Oshawa Arena on Wednesday night and the Petes are hopeful that the series will be wound up in the Motor City. In other words they are confident that they will pick up their second victory of the round tonight and finish the argument in Oshawa Wednesday night. However the Petes are looking for a much tougher battle in St. Catharines tonight than they had last Wednesday. They realize that the morale of the Redmen will be bolstered materially by the fact that they came within an ace of taking the Soldiers for a ride in Friday night's game here and that it will be a fight all the way in the fine Garden City Arena when the two finalists go into action tonight.

* * * * * *

The Petes are all in good shape however. They have been fortunate in going through the playoff grind without injuries and they are all set for tonight's battle which incidentally is the Scates-Ellis crowd's 21st O.H.A. game of the season and their 12th away from home. They have been having a steady diet of hockey for the past ten weeks and incidentally travelling several thousand miles and losing a lot of sleep, facts which help to explain why they are anxious to wind this final series up as speedily as possible. No change has been announced in the lineup for tonight's game, Coach Ellis standing pat with the same battle array as has been winning for him while Merritton will also trot out the same dozen players who represented them in the first two games of the series. It is probable that Hugh McLean of Hamilton who handled the first game in St. Catharines will be the referee tonight.

* * * * * *

It has been definitely decided that the fourth game of the season will be staged in Oshawa Wednesday night. With no signs of a real cold wave in sight, the Peterborough management decided that it could not afford to take chances and so arrangements have been made for the battle in Oshawa. The biggest exodus of the season will undoubtedly mark this all-important fixture which if the Petes' plans all go right will be the final tussle for the championship. Another special train has been arranged, leaving here at 6.30 o'clock and returning at 11.30 and hundreds of fans will welcome that chance to root the Petes on to victory while hundreds more will motor to Oshawa. It will be a big night, perhaps the last big hockey night until after the war. With increasing calls from the army and war services and with gasoline rationed and tires almost sure to be gone by next winter, while hockey equipment is fast disappearing off the market, the outlook for next season is obscure, to say the least. Most folk who are planning a trip to Oshawa Wednesday have that thought in mind that hockey outings a year from now may be only a memory.

Churchills Play Tonight

Peterborough' Churchills, hope of this city in Ontario minor hockey will battle the Port Hope Ontarios at Brock St. Rink tonight in the second game of their Ontario Juvenile home-and-home game series. Port Hope won the first game Friday night by 1 to 0 so Churchills have a margin of one goal to wipe out in tonight's clash. The ice is fair but the Peterborough kids, while they would have preferred a chance to show their stuff on a perfect cushion, are confident that in spite of the conditions they can take the series and go on into the next round of the Ontario competition. Manager Harris has rounded together a classy bunch of youngsters, who play smart hockey and who undoubtedly will supply the material later on for teams in the higher brackets. They have speed and size and work well together and if Ontarios are strong enough to protect a one-goal lead against the local kids in tonight's game they have a better team than any one in this neck of the woods has imagined. A big crowd should see the Churchills in action tonight; they deserve support.

Our hats are off today to the Outboard Marines basketeers who came through like champions at Kingston on Saturday night. They did not win the game but they held Johnny Edwards' Combines, really the strongest cage team that Queen's University can floor this season, to a 40 to 36 victory and that feat was enough to give the Marines a win on the round by nine points as a result of their 47 to 34 defeat of the Kingston team the week previous. While Jimmy Thorburn constituted himself a one-man commando by tossing in 21 points the rest of the Marines put on a checking barrage that kept the Combines from building up a big lead and the final result was that the Peterborough entry took the round by 83 to 74, a notable achievement against a really strong club. Marines as the champions of Eastern Ontario may draw a semi-final series or get a bye straight into the finals. Definite word on that point may be received today from the Ontario body. At least they have hurdled one big obstacle on their way to the title.

* * * * * *

The Marines deserve a lot of credit. They are a self-made, self-coached club, picking up their basketball the hard way and without the benefit of the expert instruction that some cage teams enjoy, they have built themselves up into a powerful machine, with a lot of speed and fight and above all with a lot of sharp-shooting ability. In eliminating a team like Queen's, who draw their material from all over the country, have expert coaching, and unlimited opportunities for practice the Peterborough outfit has really accomplished a fine feat. Bill Walshe published the basketball careers of the Kingston team in his column on Saturday and the blurbs showed that the Combine players have had a lot of basketball experience in fast company. After reading the Walshe boost chances of Marines holding their 13-point lead against such an outfit on a court nearly twice as big as the home floor did not look so rosy but the Peterborough team battled the Collegians as if they were just a bunch of birds named Joe and their fight won for them.

Rangers N.H.L. Chams

New York Rangers are N.H.L. champions. Lester Patrick's streamlined team won that title last night by defeating Chicago Black Hawks in Chicago 5 goals to 1 while the up-and-down Leafs were being given the works at New York by the tail-end Amerks. The Toronto team lost 6 to 3 and with that defeat their chances of nosing the Rangers out of first place vanished. The Leafs looked good in handing Boston Bruins a 6 to 4 beating Saturday night but they came back Sunday with a let-down exhibition against Brooklyn. The Amerks kept themselves mathematically in the race by the win for if they can defeat the Chicago Black Hawks in their remaining game and the Leafs grab off their final tussle with Canadiens the Amerks and the Montrealers would be tied for sixth place and the higher goal-scoring average of Red Dutton's team would give them the berth and send Canadiens into the discard. All the other positions have been definitely decided.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: With Pat Flynn running wild to score 20 points Brian Casey's Trenton Flyers cage team defeated Toronto Tip Tops Saturday night by 49 to 28 to take the round 74 to 58.... The Outboard Marines made as good a showing as that against the Flyers and on their own floor, too.... Sport writers will be tendered a dinner by the O.H.A. at the Royal York Hotel, on Wednesday, March 25, and afterward the scribes will be guests at a game at Maple Leaf Gardens between the Ontario senior winners and the Ottawa Air Force.... Don Coughlin scored two goals for Telegram as the newspaper team defeated Tip Tops 6 to 4 in a T.H.L. major league playoff.... Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings are feuding and apparently a lot of good clean fun was enjoyed by the players of both teams in the two playoff games.... That Watson-Hextall-Patrick line clicked for three more goals against Chicago last night.... They are easily the most potent scoring division in the big loop and may cut a large swath in the Stanley Cup series.

Kingston Team Captures 2nd Game 40-36

Although they were beaten 40-36 in Kingston Saturday night, Outboard Marines eliminated the Combines 83-74 on the round and so hurdled the first obstacle on the trail towards an O.A.B.A. Intermediate A basketball title.

Marines outfought and outlasted a game Kingston quintet who used the spacious Queen's University gymnasium, their home floor, to advantage and battled fiercely to stay in the running.

Marines carried a 13-point lead by virtue of their winning the first game here 47-34 and refused to let Kingston catch up although the Kingston catch up although the the edge of their seats by several times cutting down their deficit to the point where it looked as though they might catch up. It was a rough, fiercely fought battle with both teams being short-handed at the finish, Marines losing two men with four fouls, the Combines one both teams losing a man through injuries.

Marines ran their lead to 17 points on the round in the opening seconds of the game by scoring two quick field goals. Kingston came right back, evened the score on the game and began to cut away at the Marines' lead on the round score. They opened the throttle wide and slowly ate into the Petes' margin. With about three minutes to go in the first half Marines trailed by seven points on the game and led the round by a slim six points, but three quick field goals ran their lead to 12 at the half. The last of these was unusual in that it was actually scored after the gun went off to end the half, but the ball was clearly in the air when time ran out and so the score stood.

The Combines came back strong as the last period opened and again began to cut into the Marines' margin. A free throw and a pair of field goals in the first minute of playing time made it 27-20 for Kingston on the game and cut Marines' lead again to seven. However, the Peterborough team came back with a couple of quick scores and from that point to the finish Kingston never got closer than the final nine points.

The Combines used the unusually large Universtiy gymnasium which is their home court to advantage with a fast passing, quick shifting offense but under the pressure of the Marines' rugged defense missed a lot of scoring chances with shooting that was hurried and usually off balance. Marines too passed up a lot of scoring chances as the Kingston defense hurried every shot and didn't allow any more set shots than they had themselves. Marines were guilty of 17 of the 28 fouls called in the rough going. Kingston threw in 10 of their 18 free throws and Marines scored six of their 14 tries. Jim Thorburn, who led the scorers of both team with 21 points, Doug MacPherson and Joe Jakafby were standouts in a game in which all the Marines shared the spotlight. Graham, McDonnell and Mackey were stars for the Combines the latter leading with nine points while each of the other two had 8.

Marines will probably meet the winners of the St. Catharines-Toronto Earl Grey series in the Ontario semi-finals although that has not been definitely announced. The teams:

Kingston, 40—McDonnell (8), Graham (8), Mackey (9), Coburn (3), Hitsman, Newman, Rosentveig (6), McLellan (3), Kirk (3).

Outboard Marines, 36—McIntyre McArthur (2), Thorburn (21), Stewart (1), Craig (2), Jakafby (6), MacPherson (2), Rogow (2).

THE GHOST OF DR. GORDON
CHAPTER XXIX

"I think I should see Louise and—"

"Listen, Doctor. After Drake McHugh met with his accident Louise had a terrible scene with Dr. Gordon. Then, a few days later, we heard the strange report that he had actually married a—a—"

"A Miss Monaghan, whom I know quite well, and who has taken marvelous care of Drake, Mrs. Gordon."

"Really? It seems remarkable, doesn't it? But from that day on Louise refused to leave her room. Dr. Gordon was not really well at the time—he was frightfully overworked—and the burden of trying to manage her fell on me."

"Manage her?"

"I don't mean that she was violent. She wouldn't speak. Then Dr. Gordon passed away. And now I have to tell you a terrible thing." Mrs. Gordon was shaking. When—when my dear husband was lying—here—in this room, Louise came downstairs. I followed her after a few minutes, and found her—"

"Yes, Mrs. Gordon. Try to tell me—quietly."

"I—I found her—striking her dead father in the face, and—and cursing him!"

Parris caught his breath with surprise.

"I managed to get her upstairs without anyone knowing about—the incident. I locked her in her room. That's why she was not at the funeral."

"And afterward?"

"She kept silent. She showed no inclination to leave her room, and I decided it might be better to keep her door locked. She used to say terrible things about her father, and accuse him of unspeakable things. Dr. Mitchell, I want you to see Louise now and tell me what I should do. I—I cannot bear that my daughter should be insane, or that she should so defame the memory of a great man."

Parris arose quickly.

"Where is she?"

"I'll go with you. Then I'll leave you to talk to her."

Louise was lying on the bed with her arms crossed over her face.

"Daughter, listen to me. I've brought an old friend to see you."

Louise almost leapt from the bed. She looked wildly at Parris and sat down weakly.

"It's Parris Mitchell, daughter. Dr. Mitchell now, and he's come to see you."

Parris held out his hand. "Hello, Louise."

She looked at him for a full minute. "Parris?"

"I'm awfully glad to see you, Louise. It's been a long time."

"Yes." She repeated the words mechanically. "It's been a long time."

She kept her gaze fixed on his face. After a moment she turned toward her mother. "Go away."

Mrs. Gordon half sobbed, as she left the room.

Louise continued to stare. Her face was flushed. Her hair was untidy and hung about her shoulders. She was very thin, but her fragile prettiness remained.

She took a deep breath.

"You are Dr. Mitchell now?"

"Yes, Louise."

"I'm not crazy, Parris."

He smiled. "Of course not."

"It's a wonder I'm not, but I'm not."

"I know that, Louise."

"Have you seen Drake?"

"Yes."

"She married him!"

"Yes. She takes good care of him, Louise."

"My father cut his legs off, Parris."

"Yes, I know."

"Down at some kind of a depot, I saw the—I saw—"

"What do you mean, Louise?"

Parris laid his hand over hers, and she seized it with both of hers. "I saw what was left—on a table!"

Louise bit her lips hard.

"You must find out. There was a man who helped my father. Maybe he'd know."

"Yes, Louise. Know what?"

"He cut off Drake's legs on my account."

Parris started in spite of himself and, before he could think, drew back a little.

"You see! You think I'm crazy, too."

"Not at all. You surprised me." He spoke very quietly.

"That was one reason—the other was that he was a butcher. Oh, I read about things like that. He was cold as ice. He liked to butcher people. He was—oh, I knew the word once, I read it—Parris, you know—he was a sadist."

Parris held very still and kept his eyes on her face.

"Listen, Parris. This is my one chance. You've got to listen. I kept lists—he always talked about his operations. Other doctors don't do that. And nearly always he said the patient's heart was too weak for chloroform. But their hearts were not too weak to be cut to pieces. I tell you, Parris, he liked to hear them scream."

At that moment Parris was remembering something — a bright, sunny day, Renee, Willie Macintosh, and the appalling howls and screams of a man in utter agony. A slight moisture came out on his brow.

"Parris!" Louise shook his arm. "I want you to begin quietly. I want you to gather all the evidence. I want—"

"But your father is dead, Louise. It's all over and done with."

"I want to destroy his memory!"

Parris leaned back in his chair and waited.

"Parris, will you help me?"

"Yes."

"What shall I do first?"

"Get up tomorrow and dress and go out."

She shrank away from him.

"You'll do that for me, won't you?"

The fright in her eyes subsided a little. "Yes, Parris."

"Fine. Now. . . . "

Dr. Thaddeus Nolan regarded Parris with scarcely concealed concern. Dr. Nolan had the face of a wise man, and a kind one. Several weeks earlier Parris had told him in detail the story of Louise Gordon. Since then they had discussed it a number of times. Parris had made no direct effort to check any of Louise's accusations, but Dr. Nolan was able to recall an incredible number of instances which fitted perfectly her story.

"How do you find Louise, Mitchell? Any change?"

"No. She goes about a great deal now. But I detect a slyness about her now that doesn't look well at all. She's got plans of some kind. It's a simple case, really, and runs exactly true to form."

Dr. Nolan tapped his front teeth with his pince-nez.

"I knew Gordon for more than thirty years." The remark seemed detached—apropos of nothing. But Parris knew that Dr. Nolan did not make remarks apropos of nothing.

"Dr. Nolan, I've never asked you one question, because I scarcely asked it of myself."

"I fancy I could guess it."

"I'd like to ask if you think there could be the slightest possible ground for Louise's charges against her father."

"Yes," he said quietly.

The answer was so unexpected that Parris gasped.

"You don't mean it."

"Certainly I mean it. Sadistic surgeons are not unknown in medical history."

"Well, yes. But heavens—"

"Mind you. I don't say we know anything about such a phase of Gordon, really. I knew that he was a fine diagnostician and an able surgeon. I never liked him, and in some ways I never trusted him. I don't suppose I ever asked myself why. Now, you're a little startled because you hear of some strange case might have existed right here in Kings Row. If you had read of such a case existing in some remote town of Hungary, or Rumania, would you have been surprised, or shocked? Not at all."

"Yes, of course. I know, but—"

Dr. Nolan pulled at his short gray beard. "I said I wouldn't be surprised if there were grounds for Louise's belief. What she gathered, or imagined, or saw, or knew, is the cause of her trouble, not a result of it. You have ascertained that Gordon did actually beat her father often. That's something to go on."

"But, my lord, if it were true—"

Parris flushed. His feelings were running away with him.

"Mitchell!"

"Yes, sir."

"You had better understand your own feeling in this matter. Is it because a remote possibility touches your friend, Drake McHugh?"

"Yes, sir. I'm fully aware of that. I've been trying to keep an even keel."

"Pretty hard, sometimes. Now, see here. Gordon is dead. Whatever damage he may have done is done, and can't be undone. You can't do anything to him."

"When I think of even a remote possibility that Drake McHugh—"

"Mitchell, I want to get you free of this Gordon case in some way. I don't like it. It isn't good for you. If Mrs. Gordon wants an ordinary, routine examination of Louise to determine her sanity, why that's our business, but these half-social, sub rosa tactics—it's not a good idea."

"Oh, she's convinced that Louise is practically herself again."

"There's another danger you haven't thought of—the obvious one. I'm surprised that you haven't thought of it."

"What is that?"

"Louise's attachment to you."

"What?"

"Why, it's plain as day. Just ordinary transference."

Parris sank back in his chair.

"Oh, my goodness."

"You see if she should come to feel that you're not co-operating with her any more against the memory of her father, she'd turn on your right away."

Parris nodded. "Of course."

"So, my boy, I guess we'd better begin watching out a little. I think if you could persuade Mrs. Gordon to take Louise away for a while—wouldn't do Louise a particle of good, but it might be pretty lucky for you."

Dr. Nolan continued to look speculatively and perhaps a little absently at Parris. Parris had more than fulfilled Dr. Nolan's hopes, even in this short time. The young doctor's winning trick of deference to the age and experience of his colleagues had endeared him to the whole staff. Dr. Nolan was pleased.

Trenton Fliers Eliminate Toronto Team

TORONTO, March 16. — Sparked by big Pat Flynn, Trenton R.C.A.F. Fliers blasted Tip Tops from the Ontario Senior Basketball picture on Saturday night at No. 6 I.T.S. Gymnasium. The battling Fliers handed the Toppers classy Toronto champions, a decisive 49-28 beating and took this semi-final round by a 74-58 count. They now meet Windsor Alumni for the Ontario title.

Flynn, giant ex-Vancouver Thunderbird, spread his wings in the year's finest individual performance on a Toronto court. He went a torrid 40 minutes without relief, was all over the floor helping to break up Tip Tops attacks and was invaluable in snaring rebounds from the losers' blackboard and whipping them out to waiting Fliers. Offensively he rattled home twenty points and the majority of his eight baskets were scored with two or three Toppers draping his huge frame.

Buttressed by their five-point lead of the first game, Tip Tops held off the determined Fliers for the most of the first half, but with two and a half minutes to go George sank a basket and three foul shots to put the visitors even on the round. A free throw by Archie Green and two baskets by Flynn gave them a five-point lead of their own at half-time. Aside from the first minute of the final frame, it was all Trenton. Their ceaseless, relentless attack disorganized the defences of the Toppers who in turn could get nowhere with a rock-ribbed Flier checking system that allowed very few close-in shots and certainly no clean ones.

Other Trenton stars were Weise, Brian Casey and Frank Wansbrough. The only Topper to hold his own with the Trenton standouts was Bill Breadon. Herb Moores, Hal Avon, Shag Park, and Bill Devitt gave noble assistance in the impossible task of stopping the inspired Fliers.

RANGERS CAPTURE N. H. L. TITLE, CANADIENS AND DETROIT SPLIT

Toronto Leafs Divide Two Week-end Tilts

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, March 16.—The attitude of an average hockey fan toward fights on ice is one of intense if rowdy interest, so approximately 21,000 National Hockey League customers spent at least a few minutes of this last weekend in complete absorption.

Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings provided the fights in generous measure while splitting a week-end series as well as a few upper lips. Everyone punched everyone in Montreal Saturday night while Canadiens won 4-3 before 11,591 fans and in Detroit Sunday night the sportsmanlike hate rose again for a second brisk round of bolws. Detroit won that one, 4-1, with 9,507 spectators present.

On other and quieter fronts during the week-end, New York Rangers won the league championship Sunday night in Chicago by beating Black Hawks 5-1 and Toronto defeated Boston 6-4 in Toronto Saturday night and lost 6-3 to Brooklyn Americans in New York Sunday night. The results left all positions decided save sixth place, which Americans still could share with Canadiens, should the Brooks win and Montrealers lose in the schedule's remaining game. Each club has one game left to play, Amerks wtih Boston and Canadiens with Toronto.

The fight in Montreal late in the better brawl than its Detroit sucbeter brawl than its Detroit successor. Syd Abel and Johnny Quilty started it, but their team-mates fell quickly into the spirit of things and slugged away with considerable abandon until the gendarmes arrived in force.

Orlando Family Into It.

After the battle on the ice was quelled, fighting broke out in one corner of the rink among members of Jimmy Orlando's family and certain unsympathetic members of the populace. Orlando left the Detroit bench to support his relatives, but the non-Orlando belligerents had subsided by the time he got there. Maybe they saw him coming.

Eddie Wares and Butch Bouchard started the Detroit fight with 25 seconds of play left. The athletes went around hitting some they may have overlooked Saturday and many they hadn't. There were six major penalties, compared with two and three match-misconducts in Montreal.

Terry Reardon scored the winning goal in the third minute of the third period on Saturday. Jimmy Haggarty, Ray Getliffe and Gerry Heffernan were other Montreal goal-getters, with Eddie Wares, Don Grosso, and Syd Abel counting for Detroit.

Joe Benoit bagged Montreal's goal on Sunday, but Detroit had full command all the way. Carl Liscombe scored twice, Jack Stewart and Pat McReavy once each for the Wings.

Complete Schedule.

Rangers' victory completed their schedule, and Mac Colville's goal—last of the game — was Rangers' 177th for this season. The total was two goals short of the all-time team-scoring mark set in the 1929-30 season by Boston Bruins, but was higher than any piled up under present rules. Alex Shibicky and Bryan Hextall with one each and Lynn Patrick with two were other New York scoiers. Bob Carse counted for Hawks.

Americans never were behind against Toronto on Sunday. Murph Chamberlain had three goals, Norm Larson, Wilf Field and Mel Hill one each. Sweeney Schriner, Bob Goldham and Billy Taylor scored for Leafs.

Bruins tried hard against Leafs on Saturday but couldn't hold the pace. Rookie Jack McGill of Edmonton, brought up from Boston Olympics last month, scored twice for Bruins. Flash Hollett and Dutch Hiller once each. Nick Metz, Billy Taylor, and Sweeney Schriner netted two goals each for Toronto.

National Hockey League's New Champions

HAMILTON, Ont., March 16 (CP)—Hockey fans in this district had reached the conclusion today that front-line effectiveness would decide the best-of-five Canadian Senior hockey championship elimination series between Hamilton Majors and Buffalo-Ankerite Bisons of Schumacher, Ont.

Goalkeeping and defence strength are possessed in abundance by both clubs, but Majors, the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" titlists, at present carry a slight edge on attack over the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior champs. That edge gave Majors a 3-2 victory over Bisons in the first game of their series but the margin was so narrow that the Northerners are given an excellent chance to square the series in the second game tonight.

Bisons grabbed the crowd's fancy from the first minute of the first game and the demand for seats has been brisk during the week-end for the second contest.

Both at Full Strength

Both teams will be at full strength, with the only casualty of the first game—Alex Brownlee, Bisons' netminder—certain to be in action. Brownlee suffered a forehead cut that required seven stitches to close but missed only about seven minutes of play while he was being repaired.

The rival coaches, George Redding of Hamilton and Hobe Esseltine of Buffalo-Ankerite, were quiet on the week-end. Among observers here and in Toronto, Esseltine was given credit for his decision in dressing Vezina as relief for Brownlee while the regular goalie was being patched up during Friday's game.

One of the referees recommended that the two minutes remaining in the first period when Brownlee was hurt be added to the second period. Redding agreed but Esseltine wouldn't. So his club got two rests, one while Vezina was being dressed for the final two minutes of the period and the second the regular between-period interval.

Third game of the series will be played in Schumacher Wednesday night and the fourth, if necessary, in Schumacher also. Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens will be the scene of the fifth game, if needed.

Cobourg Juniors Beat Bowmanville

COBOURG, March 16 — Cobourg Collegiate Juniors defeated Bowmanville, 20-12 here to tie up the basketball play-off series. It was Bowmanville's first defeat in seven games. The deciding game will be played at Trinity College, Port Hope, next week. Bowmanville won the first game 38-24. Maize, with 10 points, was the high scorer for Cobough, with Barge of Cobourg scoring seven. For Bowmanville, the high scorers were Edgar and McIlveen with five.

The teams:

Cobourg — C. Barge, W. Maize, F. Rawlings, R. Craig, P. Troop, K. Anderson, D. Gummer, B. Harris, S. Wilson, N. Erskine, R. Charles, and R. Carey.

Bowmanville — Edgar, McIlveen, Brown, Cowan, Moffat Neal, Harnden, Sturock, Gilhooly, and Ferguson.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, March 16—(AP). — Double Duty Dough.—Sports announcers hereabouts are asking their listeners to send in contributions from one cent up to two-bits to buy tickets for soldiers to see the Joe Louis-Abe Simon scrap.... Having purchased a few minutes entertainment for the Doughboys, the dough then will go, with the rest of the fight profits, into the United States Army Emergency Relief Fund.

Today's Guest Star

John N. Sabo, Detroit Free Press. —"The dugout in Cleveland's municipal stadium has been moved closer to the diamond so that fans no longer can hear the comment of the players. After what some of the Indians are reported to have said to Manager Oscar Vitt in 1940, anything they say to Lou Boudreau would sound like Sunday school chatter."

John Ross, son of Boston Bruins' manager, is following the trail of the Kraut Kids and of his brother, Art Junior, into the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Monday Matinee

Maybe Kirby Highbe's idea about Havana food wasn't too far-fetched after all....After returning to Florida, Jerry Mitchell of The New York Post wrote: "The Brooklyn club shipped 400 pounds of special sirloin to Havana. But they forgot to tell their hotel chef there it was against the rule to coat each steak in creosote and fry it for two days."

Drawing a conclusion

Just before he left for Boston Braves' training camp, Sibby Sisti sat for a portrait by his cousin, Tony Sisti, the famous fighter-painter....That ought to qualify Sibby as a championship contender in one of the major camp activities —lobby sitting.

Red Ruffing Is An Absentee

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal pitchers, who have kept the mighty New York Yankee sluggers in check the last two days, have reached the point where they are able to hurl more than three innings, Manager Billy Southworth said as he nominated southpaw Howard Pollett and righthander Alvin Jurisich for today's game with Detroit.

MIAMI, Fla.—Tom Sunkel, Bob Carpenter and Ruber Fischer are Manager Mel Ott's choices for New York Giants pitching duties today against Boston Red Sox.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Kirby Higbe, the late reporting pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has been granted a vacation of several days in hopes the rest will remove a kink from his shoulder.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Pitcher Red Ruffing accepted the New York Yankee terms almost a week ago but hasn't appeared in camp and Manager Joe McCarthy is becoming a bit irked—especially after losing two straight to St. Louis Cardinals.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—If nothing else, Philadelphia Phils apparently will get good pitching. In the two exhibition games this spring against New York Giants and Boston Braves the Phil twirlers have turned back the enemy without a score in 17 of the 18 frames.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Manager Del Baker calls Murray Franklin, former University of Illinois star, the dark horse of the Tiger infield. "That kid," says Baker, "may break into our first-string lineup at second, at short or at third." In Detroit's game with Washington Sunday Franklin replaced Pinky Higgins at third and rapped out two doubles and a single.

Cowley Returns

BOSTON, March 16 (AP)—Bill Cowley, Boston Bruin centre, who has been out of action since he suffered a broken jaw in Detroit Jan. 22, will get back in action tomorrow night in the final scheduled National Hockey League game here with Brooklyn Americans. Cowley plans to wear a mask and continue in the playoffs, if his condition permits.

Keith Butler Captures Singles Crown

TORONTO, March 16 — (CP).— A series of upsets closed out the week - long Ontario badminton championships here on Saturday with new champions springing up on all sides.

Keith Butler of Kitchener won the men's singles crown, defeating the top-seeded Glen Thompson of Toronto Carlton 15-7, 15-10 in the finals. Butler was rated next to Thompson in the seeding.

But the biggest surprise of the day was reserved for the women's division where Pat Donovan, Niagara Falls ace, toppled Evelyn Effnert from her throne to take the singles title. Miss Effnert, a Toronto Boulevarde entry and a triple winner last year, lost 11-4, 11-1, in the finals.

Miss Donovan, paired with Barbara Templeton of Niagara Falls, grabbed further honors from her rival by winning the doubles 18-14, 15-7. Miss Effnert had Jill Cavenagh, Toronto Granites, for a partner in her event.

Miss Effnert, however, salvaged one title when she and Roy Smith of Woodstock defeated E. Marshall and Roger Banks, Toronto, 15-13, 15-5 for the mixed doubles.

The men's doubles went to Jack Nash, London, and Roy Smith. The Western Ontario pair defeated A. Phillips and R. Banks, Toronto Strathgowan, 17-14 15-6.

Senators Are Surprise Of Spring Camps

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)—Don't look now, but those boys cutting such fancy capers in baseball's Grapefruit League are your old friends, the Washington Senators.

Although they aren't on top of the standings, the American Leaguers who campaigned so vigorously for more night games are bouncing along at an .857 clip with six victories in seven starts—all against major league opposition and in broad daylight.

First place in the Grapefruit standings at the start of the third week belongs to the Chicago Cubs, who have only two games behind them but won them both with top-heavy scores and authority at the plate.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped three of their first four games, have won their last six in a row and hold third place among the 16 teams of both leagues.

The only others who have won more than they have lost are the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers, last year's world series opponents tied with five wins in nine starts, and the Philadelphia Athletics, with six victories and five defeats.

The Cubs, who have yet to test their own National League foes, crushed the Athletics, 11-3, yesterday after swamping the Chicago White Sox, 13-3, with a 16-hit barrage in their opener.

While it won't help much in the pennant drive, five of the Senators' six wins were against teams in their own circuit. Since losing two out of three to the Yanks in their first series, the Cards have divided a pair with Cleveland and beaten Cincinanti twice, Detroit once and the Yankees twice, the last time yesterday, 5-3.

In addition to their two out of three over the Cards and their split with Washington, the Yanks boast single victories over the Boston Red Sox and Cincinanti Reds for a total of five out of seven until they bumped into the Cards in the two games the past week-end.

Capitals Win Section Title

NEW YORK, March 16—(CP).—One of the tightest stretch drives ever waged for western division honors in the American Hockey League is at an end today and out of it all stands Indianapolis Capitals as winner of the favored spot.

Rated little chance of gaining sectional honors after a poor early showing, the Capitals waged an uphill fight through the past month and finished off their masterful performance by winning both week-end assignments to assure themselves of top honors.

The Caps will make their first bid for the league crown when they take on Springfield Indians, eastern section titlists, in the first game of a best-of-five series on home ice tomorrow. The second game of the series will be played in Indianapolis Thursday night and the third and fourth games are slated for Springfield Saturday night and Tuesday, March 23. If a fifth game is necessary, it will be played on a date yet to be chosen.

Indianapolis started its sweeping week-end performance by scoring a 4-2 win over Cleeland Barons who with Hershey Bears had formed the trio waging the close struggle for western section leadership these past several weeks. Then to finish off its schedule in fine fashion the Caps trounced Pittsburg Hornets, 10-3.

Cleveland's loss was its first of two on the week-end as Buffalo scored a 5-4 overtime victory last night to send the Barons into third place behind the Bears, who downed Washington 5-3 Saturday and 2-1 Sunday.

Buffalo started its week-end games by trimming the lowly Pittsburg Hornets, 3-2. The Herd finished in fourth place behind Cleveland.

Although having won the eastern section title some time ago, Springfield finished up in a spurt of glory by polishing off Providence, 7-4, Saturday, and again last night, 8-7.

New Haven Eagles finished up in second place behind the Indians when they split with Philadelphia Rockets. Philadelphia won 8-3 on Saturday, but dropped in the return engagement, 7-4, last night. Washington finished up behind New Haven, with Providence and Philadelphia following in order in the eastern table.

Indianapolis put on a real goal-getting show in turning aside Pittsburg as it scored seven straight goals before L. Roubell and Vic Grigg counted in order for Hornets. Then just to prove they hadn't lost any of their scoring touch, Caps picked up three more tallies in the final period, with Cecil Dillon rounding out Pittsburg's total.

Jack Keating, Joe Fisher, Ken Kilrea and Connie Brown each scored two goals apiece for Caps, with the others going to Gus Giesebrecht and Joe Douglas.

Although gaining a 2-0 lead on goals by Hank Lauzon and Jack Riley, Jersey had to put up a stout defence to hold out Washington Lions, who moved within a point of tieing the score on a goal by Leo Lamoureux.

Toronto Baseball Club Signs Whitehead As Spring Training Camp Opens In South

CAMDEN, S.C., March 16.—Despite the loss of five hours' traveling time due to a freight-train wreck just outside Philadelphia and the fact that he was greeted by a "very unusual" hailstorm, General Manager Lee MacPhail of the Toronto Baseball Club arrived at the Maple Leaf spring training site filled with enthusiasm.

MacPhail, having signed veteran Infielder Burgess Whitehead to a contract, en route here, promptly added another signature to his list by coming to terms with Righthander Harry Shuman, one of eight players who were in camp at an early hour last evening. Eight or nine more were expected to arrive by the late train last night.

Whitehead, although signed, isn't xpected to put in an appearance until Tuesday, while Mickey Haslin will probably make his arrival at the same time. The payers who have already gathered under the watchful eyes of Manager Burleigh Grimes are Outfielder Nick Gregory and Johnny Tyler, Pitchers Johnny Gee, Harry Shuman, Jim Davis and Max Samuely, Catcher Walter Ringhofer and First Baseman Bob Latshaw. They will hold their first workout Monday morning.

MacPhail has still not received word from Eddie Morgan, who shared outfield and first base duties last year. His contract was sent to his last-known address, but came back to the club. The player apparently has made no efforts to contact the Leafs, who are protected against any "free-agency" demands, because they have a receipt that the contract was mailed before the official deadline.

Hextall Closes With 56 Points

TORONTO, March 16 — (CP). — Bryan Hextall of New York Rangers, who has dominated top spot in the National Hockey League scoring list for the past several weeks, can almost be counted in right now as the 1942 champion in this department. Rangers finished off their regular schedule last night and Hextall added two more points to boost his total to 24 goals and 32 assists for 56 points. Nearest to him in the table are a pair of linemates, Lynn Patrick, who has 32 goals and 22 assists for 54 points and Phil Watson with 52 points on 15 goals and 37 assists.

The only player with an outside chance of catching Hextall is Detroit's Don Grosso, who with one game to play is seven points off the pace. Bill Thoms, Chicago, and Sid Abel, Detroit, are deadlocked in fifth place with 45 points apiece, while Toe Blake of Canadiens trails with 43 points.

Maple Syrup Is Quoted At $2.50 A Gallon

Housewives refusing to pay more than the pegged price of $1.75 for potatoes on the farmers' market Saturday, changed the price picture for the first time in weeks, and farmers who had been asking $2 a bag early in the day changed their prices before noon. Some sold, however, at the $2 price, but for the most part the price was $1.75.

Maple syrup made its first appearance of the year, with W. Whitegead, R.R. 2 Port Hope, having a limited supply, which he asked $2.50 a gollan, $1.50 for half a gallon, and 75 cents a quart. The enquiries were numerous, but the general feeling of the buyers was that the price was too high, and the syrup did not move very fast.

Eggs were steady at 28 to 33, with the bulk changing hands at 30 and 33c, and they were plentiful. Butter was 37 and 38, but one woman sold hers at 34c. Chickens sold at 30c a pound and there were a few gobblers at the same price.

Pork sold at 18 and 20c and beef showed no change from last week either. Headcheese was 15 and 20 cents for small moulds, and milk buns sold at 20 cents a dozen.

Allan Brown quoted the following prices for honey, and there was quite a brisk demand. White clover honey, 35c, 65c and $1.15 for the two, four and eight pounds sizes. The amber honey was 30 and 50c for two and four pound sizes.

Russet apples sold at 50c a peck; Baldwins, 60; Spies at 50 and 70c; Starks at 50c, and Talman Sweets at 50c.

Searchlight Men Learn How To Handle Nazis

Newspapers, meanwhile, warned that the battle for Australia was moving rapidly toward a climax and cited reports that the Japanese were sending troops out of China, presumably to strengthen forces gathering for an Australian invasion.

Observers said allied bombers were helping the Australian Air Force step up its assaults upon potential invasion bases, but they suggested the need for getting further reinforcements quickly was the chief motive behind the address which Prime Minister John Curtin broadcast to the people of the United States Saturday, when he said the fall of Australia would open the way for an attack upon the American west coast.

The announcement of the raid on the Japanese airdrome at Dili, about 450 miles northwest of Port Darwin, indicated that extensive damage had been done.

"All bombs fell in the target area," said a communique.

(The Japanese announced Feb. 20 that their troops had landed on Portuguese Timor to oust Australian and Netherlands troops dispatched there last December. Australia has reported bombing attacks on Japanese shipping off Dili and Kupang, capital of the Netherlands half of the island, but no previous mention of establishment of an enemy air base at Dili has been made.)

At Rabaul and Gasmata, Australian and American raiders, dodging through fierce anti-aircraft fire, were said to have plastered runways hangars and Japanese planes on the ground with bombs in daring low-altitude attacks. These bases, which help the Japanese control the vital waterway leading southward between New Guinea and New Britain, are about 800 miles from the Australian mainland.

No Air Opposition.

Dispatches from Port Moresby, strategic port on the south coast of New Guinea, said the raiders at Rabaul and Gasmata were not opposed by Japanese fighters.

Japanese offensive gestures during the week-end apparently were limited to attacks on Port Moresby and Thursday Island in the 100-mile-wide strait separating Australia from New Guinea.

Australian fighters broke up the attack on Thursday Island, 30 miles north of Cape York, shooting down one bomber and two fighters and damaging several others, the Air Ministry said, no casualties were reported.

Nine Japanese bombers participated in the attack on Port Moresby, but they were kept at a high altitude by anti-aircraft fire.

The Port Moresby correspondent of the Sydney Morning Herald reported the Japanese had used about 30 planes in their operations over Torres Strait yesterday. He said the size of this force indicated the Japanese were bringing up air reinforcements in preparation for large-scale attacks.

Meanwhile, the correspondent said, the Japanese seemed to be trying to test out the defences of Torres Strait without taking any unnecessary risks.

Other unofficial advices said the Australians in New Guinea were waging guerilla warfare against Japanese patrols in practically unexplored country along the Markham River near the Huon Gulf, about 150 miles north of Port Moresby.

The Japanese landed eight days ago at two places on the Huon Gulf —Salamaua and Lae.

Aussies Turn Bushrangers

Experienced bushmen, the Australians were said to have retreated from those places to cannibal-infested hill country to become raiding "bushrangers," sweeping down on the Japanese at night and forcing them to stay close to the coast.

(The Lyons radio said Japanese troops were advancing across New Guinea toward Port Moresby from bases established earlier at Salamaua and Lae, some 150 miles to the north, but there was no confirmation of this report from other sources.)

Melbourne had an air-raid scare yesterday when an unidentified plane appeared overhead and anti-aircraft guns went into action. It was announced later the alarm was caused by an Australian who had strayed off his course and was flying over a forbidden area.

Church congregations throughout Australia observed a nationwide day of prayer Sunday decreed by Prime Minister John Curtin, who called up his countrymen "not only to ask for help but for guidance in our way of life."

W. S. Wasserman, head of the United States lease-lend mission to Australia, conferred with Mr. Curtin today and said later in an interview that it was his mission to find out what Australia needs and see that she gets it.

Hitler referred disparagingly to the Riom trials of former French leaders charged with responsibility for France's fall.

"The characteristic of this trial," he said, "is that not a single word of guilt of those responsible for the war is mentioned and nothing but inferior preparation for war is talked about. We see in this a mentality, incomprehensible to us, but which, perhaps, is better than anything else in revealing the causes of the new war."

Thirteen Allied Warships Lost In Battle Of Java

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP). —Britain and the United States announced Saturday the sinking of twelve Allied warships, with a thirteenth believed lost, some in the battle to keep the Japanese out of Java and the others in boldly trying to escape from a tightly closed enemy trap in which they later found themselves.

Five British, two Australian, two United States and four Netherlands craft were casualties. These punishing reverses were offset in part by the destruction of or severe damage to eight Japanese warships.

Britain lost the gallant cruiser Exeter and the destroyers Jupiter, Electra, Encounter and Stronghold.

Australia lost the cruiser Perth and the sloop Yarra.

The United States lost the cruiser Houston and the destroyer Pope.

The Netherlands lost the cruisers De Ruyter and Java, and the destroyers Koertenaer and Evertsen.

The battle divided itself into three parts.

First of all the Allied fleet, whose total strength was not disclosed, engaged a superior enemy force on February 27 between Surabaya, the Javan naval base, and the Island of Bawean. Two destroyers, the Koertenaer and the Electra, were sunk. The Exeter was badly hit.

The second phase came in the dead of the night that followed. Lurking Japanese submarines despatched two cruisers, the De Ruyter and the Java, and the Jupiter, destroyer.

By that time, British Admiralty and United States Navy Department frankly admitted the battle wast lost. Next day the Japanese were in command of the sea and air. The remainder of the Allied fleet was bottled up in the area north of Java. The only escape was through comparatively narrow channels dominated by the enemy.

No Word Received.

Dispersed and attempting to run these straits in small groups, three cruisers, the Houston, the Exeter and the Perth and two destroyers, the Pope and the Encounter, were overtaken by enemy fleet units. No word has been received from them since, and the joint communique announced flatly that they were lost. Similarly, the destroyer Evertsen was so severely damaged that she was beached, and presumably is lost.

The destroyer Stronghold and the Australian sloop, Yarra, also are missing, and the communique said must be presumed lost.

The death list was undoubtedly large. The communique made only one mention of survivors from the great company of seamen in the thirteen ships.

Obituary

BILLIE HERBERT COPP.

HAVELOCK, March 16—(ENS).—The community was deeply shocked on Thursday afternoon, when word reached here of the sudden passing of Billie Herbert Copp, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Copp, Havelock. He was born in Havelock June 4, 1924, and has resided here until a few months ago, when he went to work in Peterborough. He was about his usual work in De Carlonis' fruit store, Charlotte Street, when he was seized with a heart attack, and died before medical aid could be summoned. He was educated in the local public and high schools, and clerked here before going to Peterborough. Billie was a great lover of outdoor sports, including hunting, fishing, trapping and bowling.

He leaves to mourn, besides his sorrowing parents, an only sister, Miss Cleo.

The funeral was conducted on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Knox Presbyterian Church by Rev. D. K. Perrie, thence to Maple Grove Cemetery for interment. The casket was banked with many beautiful floral tributes, which testify to the high esteem in which this young man was held in the community.

Pall-bearers were former school chums: Donald Ketchen, Charlie Currie, Bill Hubble, Bill Matheson, Walter Hobes and Glenn Price.

Relatives and friends were present from Toronto, Trenton, Smith's Falls, Campbellford, Harrowsmith, Lasswade, Madoc and Hamburg, N.Y.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

Fish And Game Inspector Dies

Born in Peterborough ninety years ago, John Watt, retired Fish and Game Inspector, died Sunday at the home of his cousin, Mrs. J. W. Hales, 635 Stewart street.

Son of Richard Watt and his wife, Ann McClelland, Mr. Watt had become one of the oldest residents who were actually born here. In an interview with an Examiner reporter a year ago, Mr. Watt recalled that after leaving school he became apprenticed in the printing trade, working for a time in the news rooms of the old Examiner when it was situated on Water street in the vicinity of the offices of J. F. Strickland, K.C. He admitted that some boyish prank suddenly terminated his ambitions in newspaperdom before he had become established in the first stage commonly assigned to the apprentice who was known in the trade as "printer's devil." Mr. Watt then turned to the confectionery trade from which he graduated to become a retailer in his own right and enterprise. In later years he was appointed fish and game inspector for the county of Peterborough, and after that engagement terminated he lived for a considerable time in Ottawa, returning to this city a year ago.

Mr. Watt was predeceased by his wife thirty-three years ago, and also by his sons, John and Richard. He is survived by his only daughter, Mrs. Arthur Laing, Montreal West. He was a member of the United Church and the Masonic Order.

The funeral will take place Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons, 305 Water street, to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street United Church will conduct the service.

Good Response As Men Seek To Join Rangers

"There was an exceptionally good response today," said Major J. R. Bolton of the Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) regiment, in speaking of the number of recruits who arrived at the armory and volunteered for active service with the unit.

In the space of less than a week the Rangers has turned over from the role of a reserve unit to that of an active regiment. This was exemplified today at the armory by the hive of industry in and about the many rooms of the building.

At the west end where the recruits were awaiting their medical exams, a long line stood while others kept coming into the recruiting office which has been stepped up to accommodate the men almost as fast as they come in.

Officially, men who have passed their medical exams are not on strength of the unit until their names have appeared on Part II Orders. This will not be issued until late this afternoon—too late for today's Examiner but it will be available tomorrow.

The Canadian Women's Volunteer Services of which Mrs. James Wharry is Peterborough head, has been doing an exceptionally good job in assisting recruiting authorities in making out the documents. Major J. R. Bolton expressed appreciation of the regiment for the fine service they have been doing. The ladies take alternate hours during the course of a day.

For the convenience of those seeking entry into the unit, the recruiting office will be open all day and from 7.30 to 10 o'clock at night.

Outside the office door of the unit, a large banner has been erected that is visible from George street. It reads: "Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) Peterborough Regiment."

Reporting Accident Driver Is Arrested

Following an accident on George street at the C.P.R. station Saturday night, Robert Hamilton, R.R. 11, Peterborough, driver of one of the cars involved, was arrested by city police and this morning in police court pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunken driving.

Hamilton was defended by Ralph O. Standish who asked for an adjournment. The accused pleaded not guilty.

By consent the case was enlarged until Tuesday of next week, Hamilton being released on his own bail of $1,000.

John Ascott, R.R. 8, Peterborough, with his wife and daughter in his car was driving south on George street Saturday night and was making a left hand turn into the C.P.R. station when Hamilton drove south on George street and his automobile collided with the Ascott machine. Ascott claimed the front wheels of his car were on the crossing into the station when the crash occurred.

When the drivers called at the police station after the accident to report Hamilton was taken into custody.

Small Boy Suffers Minor Injuries

Five-year-old Frank Bennett, 86 Park street, received bruises and shock but was not seriously injured when he was hit and knocked down by an automobile on Park street, Saturday. The boy was taken to Nicholls Hospital for observation.

Walter White, 2 Gladstone avenue, was driving south on Park street and had just crossed the C.N.R. tracks when he noticed the little boy running across from the west side of the street to the east. He slammed on his brakes and swerved his car to avoid hitting the boy but the right front fender of the automobile struck the lad and knocked him down.

White picked up the boy and drove him to the Standard Medical Clinic and afterward he was taken to hospital.

A BONANZA

If one tosses a crust of bread out on the snow, sparrows fly from all directions, but this is a mild comparison to a situation that developed in Port Hope on Saturday. It seems that Easter eggs, nice chocolate ones, fairly rained from heaven when a transport jack-knifed and spilled the load of Easter eggs and tubular steel on the highway. The news spread like wildfire, and boys and girls ran pell-mell to join in the scramble for the sweets. It was truly a pre-Easter bonanza, and considering that there is a restriction on sugar quantities, these kids were in a 7th heaven. The transport driver took one look at the mob of kids, then chuckled and said "goodbye, Easter eggs."—McG.

BAPTISM OF SMOKE

Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn had their first smoke from a corn cob pipe, but the youngsters of this generation are much more modern. The era of opportunity arrived when the fire-damaged cigars, cigarettes and other stock from the Campbell barber shop was dumped in the gravel pit on Rogers street in Ashburnham over the week-end. The cigarette boxes were charred but the cigarettes remained intact, and while the cigars were badly burned, the butts were big enough for a good puff—whew, there must have been a few sick boys, somewhere. One laddie found a quarter, and four others claim the cigarette lighters they discovered in the treasure will work, so all in all, it was a real find. Too bad there wasn't a few plugs of chewing tobacco and the cure would have been one hundred per cent.—McG.

Peterborough Woman Has Close Call When Car Struck By Train

Mrs. Clarence Manley, 705 George Street, Peterborough, escaped death by inches when the car in which she was the sole occupant was struck by a fast east-bound passenger train (C.P.R.) shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday morning at Port Hope, at the Smith Street crossing. Pinned behind the steering wheel she was carried nearly a quarter of a mile across the railway viaduct which bridges the Ganaraska valley. Trainmen extricated her before the car toppled 100 feet to the ground, smashed into junk. Mrs. Manley, who is in the Port Hope hospital suffering from a fractured skull, had been visiting with her sister, Mrs. E. J. Drinkwater, Smith Street, Port Hope. On LEFT shows place on viaduct from which car was toppled after being released from front of engine. On RIGHT the wreckage of the car on the ground.

200 Men Needed To Fill A.R.P. Units

More than 200 men are required to fill the ranks of the Peterborough air raid precaution organization and if there is a good response at once, the new members can start the second series of basic lectures which start in the Lyceum on Sunday next.

While there are upwards of 400 men and many women already enrolled, many of the men have failed to attend the five lectures, and until they absorb the information given at these lectures, they are of little value in the unit. There are only 25 per cent. of the firemen signed up to date, just half enough male first aid workers, and there is still a shortage of wardens. More trucks and drivers are required.

It has been reliably reported that bombing of Canadian cities may become a reality in the summer of 1942, and every city where war industries are located should have the air raid precautions organization trained to a high pitch of efficiency. The meetings are held on Sunday afternoons and again each Monday evening so that the greatest number possible may train. This is the one opportunity for the man who is in a key job, or too old for active service to get into harness on a project that is essential to Canada's safety.

On Sunday afternoon, Ross Dobbin was in charge of the meeting, and he introduced Hubert J. Eastwood, well-known building contractor, who has been named to take charge of demolition activities. D. J. Emery, B.Sc., C.G.E. engineer, gave an address on protecting food from the ravages of gas, and his talk was clear and educational. Following the lecture the men were given a working demonstration of an auxiliary pump for fire fighting. The demonstration took place at the rear of the Loblaw building on Charlotte Street.

Sunday's lecture was the concluding one in the first series of basic lectures, and the series starts all over again next Sunday. Following is the program of lectures with the topics to be discussed.

2nd Series of Basic Courses.

Sunday, March 22, or Monday, March 23—"Organization," "Protection Against Gas (Supplies)."

Sunday, March 29, or Monday, March 30—"Elements of First Aid."

Sunday, April 5, or Monday, April 6—"Incendiary Bombs," "High Explosive Bombs."

Sunday, April 12, or Monday, April 13—"War Gases," "Personal Protection Against Gas."

Sunday, April 19, or Monday, April 20—"Transportation Services," "Public Utility Services."

Sunday lectures at 2.15 p.m. and Monday lectures at 8.00 p.m.

Civic organization will sit on west side of Lyceum Hall.

All above lectures run in sequence to present lectures of present course except "Protection Against Gas (Supplies)" which has been moved up from last lecture of present course.

Captain Gordon Armstrong Takes Over Job At Operations Branch, Division Headquarters

Somewhere in England, March 16 (CP)—Member of the Black Watch from Montreal, Maj. G. P. Henderson of Montreal has taken over his new appointment as general staff officer (2nd grade) in the operations branch of a divisional headquarters here.

He attended the first Canadian staff course in England a year ago, went back to Canada to instruct at the staff college at Kingston, Ont., and returned to England for this divisional assignment.

Other new staff officers at this headquarters are Capt. J. G. Gauvreau of Montreal, aide-de-camp to Lt.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery, commander of Britain's southeast command and Capt. Gord Armstrong of Peterborough, Ont.

Special National Service Held In St. James' United Church

An inspiring service was held at St. James' Church on Sunday evening when the special patriotic service was dedicated to the men and women of the forces. Special prayers were offered by the minister, Rev. Fred Craik for all those engaged in the war services and for all people in civilian life who are contributing to the war effort. All the hymns used in the service were favorite selection of those on active service. A member of the R.C.A.F. requested the hymn "Breathe On Me Breath Of God." A soldier in the C.A.M. Corps asked for the impressive evening hymn, "Sunset and Evening Star," which was impressively rendered by the full choir. The minister called upon the large congregation to sing the people's hymn of prayer, "Give Peace O God, Give Peace Again." Women in the war services were remembered when the choir sang Florence Nightingale's favorite hymn, "The Son of God Goes Forth To War A Kingly Crown to Gain." An appropriate solo was rendered by Adjt. A. Bamsey, "Our Prayer for Canada." The male quartette rendered very effectively a selection in memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice in the war, "When We Stand Before the King."

A soul-stirring sermon was preached by Rev. Capt. T. W. Tyson, padre of Peterborough Military Training Centre. The chaplain took as a text 1st Corinthians, chapter 16, verse 13: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith be strong." He said: This trumpet blast sounds in our ears today as though it were a clarion-call to the Christians of today. We are living in gravely troubled times. The baser passions have become frightfully aggressive. We are all called to watch and be on guard. At the close of the last world war we felt the angel of peace was at our gate and that a terrible war would never overtake the nation again but as we look through that gateway we see the red fury of unprecedented strife and slaughter. And amid all this we hear the call, "Watch Ye!" Let us be continually on guard lest the enemy take from us those priceless things which belong to Christian national life among the peoples of the world, honor, freedom, righteousness and peace and the glory of life itself. In a strong appeal the padre called upon the large congregation to stand fast in the faith and to hold on to the sacred things of national life at any cost even though it may mean hardship, suffering, privation, and possibly for some of us the supreme sacrifice. Let us hold fast the principles of Christianity. The service ended with the singing of the people's hymn, "Abide With Me," which had been requested by a young man of the Royal Canadian Navy now on active service. As the organist played the well-known hymn, "Now the Day Is Over Night Is Drawing Nigh," the minister pronounced the benediction. This service was arranged by the session of the church in keeping with the days of national responsibility.

Huge Boarding House Planned To Accommodate War Workers

Accommodation for five hundred single men engaged in local wartime industry will be provided in an extensive building which has been authorized for Peterborough by Wartime Housing Limited, S. J. Longhurst, manager of the company's properties in this city, informed the Examiner today.

Site for the proposed Staff House has not yet been purchased, and the letting of a contract for the construction of the buildings has necessarily to be deferred until pending negotiations for land within walking distance of the Canadian General Electric Company have been completed.

"Peterborough has reached the saturation point in private boarding accommodation," Mr. Longhurst said. "Wartime Housing Limited has been considering this problem since last summer, hoping that the construction of adequate quarters for many single men could be avoided. However, we know of instances of three, four and five men occupying single rooms in private homes. No other homes have been available, and Wartime Housing decided to take the step which has been postponed from time to time."

The new building will be modelled on the Hamilton staff house which was built for five hundred single men, workers in war industries. Standard accommodation is for two men to a room which is furnished with two beds, rugs, furniture and other necessary articles. Reading and writing rooms, lounges, bowling alleys and a billiard rooms will also be provided with a cafeteria equipped to supply 1,500 meals a day. The charge for room and board will be $8.50 to each man.

The Hamilton building is designed for two storeys and basement, and from actual experience since its opening the accommodation has been greatly appreciated by the single men working in industrial plants doing war work. Nearly two tons of beef are cooked each week as well as large quantities of lamb, veal, fowl and bacon; other commissary details are sixty bags of potatoes a week, and 350 loaves of bread every day. More than 200 lunches are prepared daily for men who take some of their meals to work.

A snack bar open from 8 a.m. until midnight, tobacco and sundries counter in use from 6.30 a.m. until 11 p.m. are other Hamilton accessories. Laundering of towels and bedding is looked after by the staff house, and rooms are regularly cleaned as in a hotel.

Mr. Longhurst said it was expected that the Peterborough building might be completed by midsummer, depending on an early contractual undertaking and favorable spring weather.

School Concerts Raise $27.48 For War Victims

A number of schools in the districts around Hastings and Campbellford of which Albert Hazel of Campbellford is the music supervisor united to put on two concerts, one in Campbellford and one in Hastings in the interests of the Victory Loan campaign which concluded recently, and from collections taken at both, they were made also the objective of raising money to relieve the distress of air raid victims in Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund.

The concert held in Hastings town hall included pupils from the Hastings Public School of which Grant Sine is the principal, and pupils from schools at Trent River, Dutch Line and Brickley's.

In the second concert which was held at Campbellford, pupils from the schools at Meyersburg, Wilson Settlement, Burnbrae No. 1, Burnbrae No. 2 and Connelley's took part, and from them both a total of $27.48 was raised which is credited to them in today's list of receipts for the fund, which should also serve as encouragement to the boys and girls to do further work on behalf of the country's war effort.

Two Ashburnham lassies, both in their ealry teen,s Ruth Barrie and Dorothy Carpenter, have for some time been making felt novelties in the shape of small hats to wear or adorn ladies' coats and dresses, and from the sale of these at 10 cents each they have made a total of $9 for the fund which is included in the list today, showing just how industrious they have been in this labor of love for others, for it took the making and selling of ninety of these to make that amount of money.

St. Patrick's Dance

If you are out to celebrate or make merry on St. Patrick's Day, why not also make it the occasion to help the needs of air raid victims in Britain by attending the dance his Tuesday night at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, which is being sponsored on behalf of the fund, by the employees of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Department Stores. Tickets for this event are $1.50 per couple and music will be supplied by Jimmy Duffus and his eight-piece orchestra.

In conjunction with this event, the draw will be made on a 1942 model five-tube mantel radio set, for which they have been selling tickets for some time, also in the interests of the fund, so the last opportunity to get in on this will also be at the dance that evening.

GarageMechanic Crushed Under Big Truck

A superhuman feat of strength was performed today at Percy Edwards' garage in Ashburnham when Harry Clancy, a mechanic and Alex Willis, representative for International Trucks lifted the steel platform of a truck off a fellow workman, Frank Patterson after the truck platform had slipped, pinning the unfortunate man between the heavy steel platform and the dual wheels.

Patterson is given a fighting chance for his life at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was taken after being removed.

According to an investigation made by Constable Clair McGillen, Patterson who is employed by Edwards as a mechanic, was removing the springs from the truck, which weighs 7,040 pounds empty. He blocked the truck frame up, using a hydraulic pump jack with a block of wood on top. When the weight was taken off the springs, he removed the top set, then apparently moved around to the side of the truck and reached in over the dual wheel to lift out the bottom set of springs.

As he did so, the block of wood on top of the jack sprung out and the heavy platform fell lown, pinning Patterson across the back and crushing his chest. CClancy and Willis, who were in the garage at the time, rushed to his aid, and with a mighty heave lifted the platform enough to release the man, who rolled off the wheel and Cancy caught him before he struck the floor. How the two men managed to lift the truck platform is a mystery, because when they attempted it later, they could scarcely budge it.

Patterson is suffering from serious internal injuries, but it is reported he has a chance to recover. He is 49 years of age, lives at 90 Hunter street west, and is married. He formerly worked for Herb Magee and before that at Hood and Cumming Motors.

IN MEMORIAM

COUGHLIN.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. James Coughlin, who passed away one year ago, March 15, 1941.

Our mother is sleeping so free from all pain,
Oh, wake her not, sweet spirit, to suffer again.
She slumbers so soundly; Oh let her sleep on,
Her sickness is ended, her troubles are gone.
Just think how she suffered and moaned with pain,
In the long night hours we soothed her in vain
Till God in His mercy sent down from above
An angel that whispered a message of love.

—Ever remembered by her daughter, Margaret C.

OBITUARY

JEANNIE RENNIE

MARMORA, March 16—(ENS).—Amid manifestations of deepest sympathy, the funeral of the late Jeannie Rennie took place on Sunday afternoon. A brief service in which the order for the Burial of the Dead was alone used, was held at her late residence by Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell, who at the close spoke a few words of consolation.

Schoolmates of Jeanne acted as bearers Ivan Lavender, Donald Henry, Bert Gray and Robert Sanderson. Girls of her Sunday school class with Miss Jennie Gray, her teacher, carried the beautiful floral emblems which widely represented the affection in which Jeannie was held. Interment took place in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

Sympathetic reference to the passing of the winsome little scholar was made at St. Paul's Sunday School by Rural Dean Caldwell.

Do Your Letters Add to Friends?

Errors Make Poor Impression

What an unpleasant surprise! Could that charming girl really have written this silly letter?

Listen to what Alice writes: "It SURE was nice to HERE from you. I don't feel LIKE I'D been away been away but my BOY FRIEND says he missed me PLENTY."

Gracious, Alice! You should write SURELY instead of SURE—HEAR not HERE—AS IF, not LIKE. BOY FRIEND you use only in fun! And PLENTY, as you've used it, is simply ungrammatical.

But even if your spelling and grammar were correct, your letter's deadly dull.

Why not say: "It was sweet of you to write to me . . . Now I'm back in the home pastures it's hard to believe I ever strayed so far away. But my best beau—bless him—insists he missed me every minute."

Good letters give glimpses of your thoughts, feelings. They're the real YOU!

Our 32-page booklet tells how to make letters vivid with picture words. Helps you with beginnings, endings, and shows how to put a me-to-you quality into your letters. Includes samples of social and business letters to guide you in writing your own letters.

For your copy of "Good Letter-Writing Made Easy" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

JUST HOW GOOD A FIT

METICULOUS care in showing how well his hand fits his partner's major suit is urged by many a fine player. "My immediate raise of your suit, after hearing it bid only once," says such a detailist, "shows you I have four cards of it, and therefore enough for it to be a sound declaration even if yours is only a four-carder. When I raise it at a later stage, after I made some other bid on my first chance to support it, I am showing you only three cards of your suit, even if you have not indicated greater length than four. Bear that in mind then if you make another bid—that I have shown only three of your suit."

North: ♠ A 9 6 4 3 2 ♥ 10 9 8 ♦ 6 5 ♣ A K

West: ♠ K J 10 ♥ 4 ♦ Q J 10 8 4 2 ♣ Q 6 2

East: ♠ 8 5 ♥ A 6 3 2 ♦ A 7 3 ♣ 10 7 5 4

South: ♠ Q 7 ♥ K Q J 7 5 ♦ K 9 ♣ J 9 8 3

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

That was neatly turned bidding. South's 2-No Trumps on his second turn did several things which could not be done by his calling 3-Hearts. First, it showed more strength than 3-Hearts, which might be a sign-off effort with quite a weak hand, whereas South had quite a good one. Second, it notified his partner that he had some sort of stopper in both clubs and diamonds, the unbid suits. Third, it enabled North to show him exactly three hearts for support if he raised. Fourth, it enabled North, if he had less than three hearts, to bid 3-No Trumps if he was fairly strong, to drop it if he was not, or to bid spades a third time if he had six and his hand seemed hopeless at No Trumps.

When North showed his three-card support at 3-Hearts, South had just about enough to bid 4-Hearts, which he made, losing one trick each in diamonds, hearts and spades.

If North, for lack of four hearts, had gone to 3-No Trumps when South failed to rebid the suit, the contract could have been set easily. The natural diamond lead to the A, then a knockout of the diamond K, would have fixed South so that, as soon as he drove out the heart A, the defenders would have peeled off enough diamonds to set him two tricks.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

If the bidding gets under way on this deal with South's 1-Spade, West's 2-Clubs, North's 2-Spades and East's 3-Hearts, what should South do next, and why?

Extra Guards On

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP).—Numerous happenings, some of which have been kept secret, were said by President Roosevelt to have led to a belief that government buildings here and around he United States might be sabotaged.

Consequently, he told a press conference, orders have been issued to the proper authorities to guard against sabotage as well as to provide for blackouts.

The President said the cost of doing this probably would be $18,000,000, which Congress will be asked to appropriate.

Norse Gunners Fight 2 Subs For Half Hour

WEEHAWKEN, N.J., March 16.—(AP). — The captain of the Norwegian tanker Pan Norway, shelled and set afire by two German submarines 600 miles east of Bermuda, told yesterday how his gun crew fought a running battle with the U-boats for a half-hour before he ordered all hands to abandon ship.

Captain John Bach 43-year-old Norwegian skipper, arrived here yesterday with six of his men on the same ship that had picked up his entire crew of forty in mid-Atlantic and taken them to Lisbon.

Bach said "several hundred" shells were fired by the submarines, one on each side of his ship, and "I don't know of any that missed."

One of the submarines halted the neutral rescue ship to pass aboard a wounded seaman its crew had fished out of the sea.

One lifeboat capsized as it was being launched, spilling twelve men into the water, but all were picked up with the submarine's help. Two other lifeboats and a dinghy were launched safely.

Bach said he returned while the subs continued their shelling to save his papers and a pet terrier, "Hero of Norway."

A few minutes after he entered his cabin a shell crashed through the door and hit the dog, less than 5 feet from him.

The attack came about 8:30 p.m. January 26, in a calm sea. The Pan Norway's gun crew fired back at the gun flashes and the exchange continued for thirty minutes until a German shell hit the tanker's gun platform, damaging the sighting apparatus. By this time several fires had been started and Captain Bach ordered his men over the side. The gun crew demurred and continued firing the damaged gun until they saw it was hopeless to continue resistance.

Missouri Expert To Handle Alaska Road

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP). —A Missouri engineer with a distinguished record in the United States army, Col. William M. Hoge, is the boss for construction of the Alaska highway.

Army engineers said that engineer troops, under Col. Hoge, already have arrived in Dawson Creek, B.C., where the first main base will be established for survey and construction of a pioneer road over nearly 1,500 miles.

That job completed, the public roads administration will move in to build a crushed-rock motor highway 24 feet wide, following the pioneer road constructed by the engineers.

"This pioneer road," said one engineer officer, "will be passable—and not much else. It's essential, however, to make possible the movement of heavy equipment needed for the highway construction."

The route selected for the highway, announced last week in Ottawa by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, will traverse the wilderness of the Yukon Territory and enter Alaska at Boundary, well to the north of Yukon River.

At Dawson Creek, west of Edmonton, Alta., the engineers will establish their southernmost railhead, or base of supplies. Whitehorse, in the Yukon, will be the northern railhead, and surveying and construction crews will work north and southeast from Whitehorse.

From Dawson Creek On.

Beginning at Dawson Creek, where it will connect with the existing Canadian highway system, the Alaska highway will stretch north-westward through Fort St. John and Fort Nelson, B.C., to Watson Lake, just north of the Yukon boundary from Lower Post, B.C.

From Watson Lake the highway will go west to Whitehorse, and from there north-west to Boundary. The difficulties are suggested by the fact that this latter stretch, nearly 600 miles in a straight line, goes through territory which in large part has never been surveyed.

The boundary will be the northernmost point on the highway, which will drop from there southwestward to Big Delta on the Tonana River about 75 miles southeast of Fairbanks. A highway already connects Big Delta with Fairbanks, and the existing highway system of Alaska.

Col. Hoge, assigned to direct both surveying and initial construction for this huge undertaking, proved during the Meuse-Argonne offensive in the First Great War his ability to handle a tough assignment.

After reconnoitring personally the site for a pontoon bridge over the Meuse, in daylight and under direct shell fire, he ordered a train of wagons moved to the site under enemy observation, supervised construction of the bridge and the successful crossing of the train. The exploit won the Distinguished Service Cross for him.

The time necessary to complete the highway can not be estimated accurately until the surveys are completed for the entire route, engineers said, but preliminary estimates have been 18 to 24 months for the job, from start to finish.

Canada Nearing 100 pc War Basis

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, March 16 — (CP). — Canadian industry is rapidly approaching a 100 per cent. war basis in which factories will produce only war materials and essential civilian needs, reports reaching the Munitions and Supply Department indicate.

While war production is being stepped up, officials here say there is marked reduction in the output of plant meeting many civilian requirements, both through Government orders restricting production and by lack of materials.

"We are approaching the stage where our entire industrial capacity is either directly or indirectly producing for the war," said H. J. Carmichael, chairman of Munitions and Supply Production Commitee.

Unofficially it is estimated about 80 per cent of Canadian industry now is engaged in war work.

Official figures show 650,000 of Canada's 3,000,000 wage earners employed in direct war industries. Thousands more are doing indirect war work such as transportation, agriculture and essential services.

Many of Caanda's war workers are in plants which were non-existent in pre-war days. In peacetime Canada's gun production was limited to rifles and Bren guns. Now, Canadian plants are turning out more than twenty types of guns, ranging up to 25-pounders, and far outstripping British plants which have been in operation for more than a century.

Engineer Hurt In Switch Crash

LONDON, Ont., March 16 (CP)—A Canadian National Railways yard engineer received minor injuries on Saturday when he jumped from his cab as his engine collided head-on with the locomotive of passenger train No. 15 out of Toronto.

The injured man is Albert Thompson, 52, who is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken ankle and lecerations.

A. Woodcock, Sarnia, engineer of the passenger train escaped. Conductor was R. W. Drake, London. Railway officials said none of the passengers was hurt.

The passenger train was pulling into the downtown station, and is reported to have hit an open switch which sent it directly into the path of the slow-moving yard engine.

The train was travelling about 20 miles an hour.

Fronts of both locomotives were damaged, but neither left the rails.

Civilian Truck Output Ends

OTTAWA, March 16—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe announced Friday that no further manufacture of civilian trucks of any kind will be permitted after Saturday except by permit.

"The United Nations now can absorb all the trucks we can make," Mr. Howe said. "To meet these requirements and to conserve raw materials, production of trucks for civilian use must cease."

All trucks manufactured in the future will be designed for military purposes.

Mr. Howe made clear that "it will be virtually impossible" for a civilian to purchase a new truck when trucks built before March 14 have been sold.

"Any sales for civilian use will reduce the production of military vehicles," the Minister said. "Hence no permit will be granted unless it can be shown that a recondition truck would not serve the purpose equally well."

The new regulation, issued by J. H. Berry, motor vehicle controller, and approved by R. C. Berkinshaw, chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board, does not apply to manufacture of buses.

Seven Quilts Are Completed By W.A.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 16.—(ENS).— Members of the Zion W. A. met on Wednesday with 32 gathering at the home of their president and completed seven quilts during the afternoon. Busy as they were, members found time for a discussion of arrangements for their annual pie social which will be held at Petherick's Orange Hall on March 20. Anticipating a crowd of at least two hundred to match the attendance of last year's event the ladies were asked by Mrs. Petherick, who was named general convener, for a stack of 160 pies (six from each family in the congregation) and in addition they will provide sandwiches and coffee, it was revealed. Feature of the program will be a three-act play, "That Watkins Girl" to be presented by a cast from Ivanhoe, which has already given the performance 17 times this year.

The Woman's Association has already given 20 quilts to the Red Cross this year, and they hope the proceeds of the social will be well over $100, since it will be used largely for war work.

Closeups At The Capital

OTTAWA, March 16 (CP).—Odds and ends from Parliament Hill:—

Robert Fair (N.D. Battle River) joined the ranks of House of Commons poetry readers when he recited into Hansard an old North Dakota rhyme as he urged more government help for Western farmers:—

"I hate to be a kicker, I always long for peace,
"But the wheel that does the squeaking is the one that gets the grease.
"It's nice to be a peaceful soul, and not too hard to please,
"But the dog that's always scratching is the one that has the fleas."

During the wheat debate three members praised the farming ability of Percy Wright (C.C.F. Melford) and Mr. Wright's home district—the Carrot River Valley of Saskatchewan—came in for a boost too. A. M. Nicholson (C.C.F. Mackenzie) said it's "one of the finest areas anywhere in the Dominion."

Like private members, cabinet ministers represent electoral ridings and they, too, get letters from their constituents...Their experience has been that correspondents are asking fewer favors since the outbreak of war...But they do get requests for help...One woman sending a contribution for the war effort, added that she suffered from Neuritis and asked her minister-member if he could suggest a remedy.

In Serious Vein

Since Rt. Hon. Raoul Dandurand died, the bust of him which stands outside the entrance to the Senate chamber has added significance... Copy of a bust presented to the Senate leader early this year as a token of his colleagues' esteem and affection it was put in place while he was still alive...Now it is his permanent memorial in the Parliament Buildings, constant reminder to the legislators of his almost half-century of service to the nation.

One of the things veterans of the Hill remember best about Senator Dandurand is his sense of humor... he had one story he delighted to tell newspapermen, about a friend who once sat in the press gallery and later became a member of the House of Commons...He quoted his friend as saying: "When I was in the Press gallery I used to look down on the members of parliament with absolute contempt; but when I became a member I returned the contempt—a hundred-fold."

This and That

More orders-in-council are passed in Ottawa than London... the experts say it's because individual ministers in the British cabinet have more power than their Canadian counterparts and can do a bigger share of the country's business by personal order without cabinet approval.

Tornadoes Batter 7 States 132 Dead, 1,000 Hurt Ruin Millions In Property

Death Rides Warm Spring Air Of The South Strewing Path Of Destruction For Hundreds Of Miles West To Missouri

By The Associated Press.

Striking through warm spring air, tornadoes tore at seven southern and midwestern states yesterday, killing 132 or more people, injuring around 1,000 and smashing property worth millions.

Terrific winds cut across northwestern Mississippi where 59 were known dead and approximately 620 others injured. High winds also left a trail of death and destruction in Western Kentucky and Tennessee, struck Indiana and killed at least 20 in Illinois. The lethal winds cut across the northwestern tip of Alabama, killing two near Florence, and severe storms were reported as far west at Missouri.

The toll of dead and estimated number of injured by states:

	Dead	Injured
Mississippi	59	620
Illinois	20	170
Kentucky	14	11
Tennessee	27	100
Indiana	2	50

Mississippi, hardest hit, sent all available aid to the disaster zone, covering an area 150 miles wide and about 100 miles deep. The section, mostly rural with only a few scattered cities, was without communication for several hours in many places. Torrential rains followed the high winds and washed out many roads.

Uruguay Seizes Nazi Ship To Square Loss

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 17 — (AP). — Announcing that the 5,785-ton Uruguayan merchant ship Montevideo had been torpedoed off Haiti with loss of 17 men, the government to-day ordered the seizure of the interned German ship Tacoma in reprisal.

The 8,268-ton Tacoma was the supply ship for the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, destroyed off Montevideo by Hitler's orders after being defeated by British cruisers in December, 1939. The Tacoma has been here since.

The Montevideo, formerly the Italian Adamello, was sunk off Jeremie Haiti, and only 32 of her crew of 49 have been accounted for, the government announcement said.

Public Wrath Bars Call-Up Of Famed Cromer Life Crew

By DOUGLAS AMARON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

CROMER, Norfolk, England, March 17 — (CP). — Fifteen of the toughest men in England, members of the famed Cromer lifeboat crew, have outridden a storm of officialdom and won the right to continue their calling of saving lives at sea.

They received a reprieve from the call-up which threatened to take seven of these gnarled, weather-beaten seamen into the armed forces, breaking up a team which rescued more shipwrecked mariners than any other lifeboat crew in England.

This little Norfolk town, only 250 miles across the North Sea from Germany was up in arms when the call-up papers were served on the youngest members of the crew.

There were volunteers ready to take their place if they went, but only old men, men of 70 and 80, incapable of facing the hazards of a stormy sea with its hidden mines and low-flying, machine-gunning enemy airplanes.

Cromer is proud of its crew which in two years of war has saved 600 lives, and felt it could serve the country better in the lifeboat service than as individuals in the Army, Navy and Air Force.

"The height of folly," was the Town Council's comment and the press of England took up the call to save these men for the job for which they are best fitted.

Canny Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labor and National Service, soon realized he would have a storm on his hands if these men were taken from their job. He announced there was no danger of them being called up in the near future.

Paddles 40 Mi. With Hands

Flier's Boat On Course 15 Mi. To Go When Saved

LONDON, March 17 —(CP)—On Friday, the 13th, J. C. Carver, Royal Air Force squadron leader, whose Spitfire was damaged in a dogfight at 15,000 feet, radioed his mates, "Now I'm in a jam," and plopped into the sea near the Channel Islands.

At 3 a.m. yesterday a destroyer found him bobbing cheerily along in a tiny rubber boat on the pitching Channel, alternately singing about Mother's Apple Pie and blowing on a little tin whistle.

The air ministry news service told the story of the cruise in which the 26-year-old pilot, not only was captain and crew, but also navigator, propeller and ship's orchestra.

"What the devil did you pick me up for? I'm OK. I've got my course set for Portland Bill," Carver told his rescuers, mentioned a point of land jutting out from the English south coast. "I'd have been there by daylight anyway."

The destroyer's navigator checked up. Carver was on his course, 15 miles from his destination.

Since last Friday he had drifted up and down the Channel with each successive tide. But steadily, paddling with his hands, he had made 40 miles in a straight line.

He had a chocolate ration for food, a bottle of water and he found the tin whistle in his pocket.

"I whistled," he related, and I sang. I sang a song about Mother's Apple Pie because I got tired of chocolate."

New Army Rule

BERNE, March 17—(AP). —Hitler has taken the long-expected step of advancing his personal Schutzstaffel (Elite Guard) troops to equality with Germany's other three armed services —army, navy and air force — the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Neue Zuercher Zeitung concluded today from observations of Sunday's war memorial services in the German capital. If the correspondent's observations are borne out, recognition of the S.S. as an equal unit would mean that Hitler's personal bodyguards and the Gestapo may advance to a position of directing the entire war effort.

Toronto Swept By City's Worst Flood

TORONTO, March 17—(CP).—A torrential rainstorm that swept across Toronto and its suburban area last night caused one of the worst floods n the cty's hstory, flooding basements and first floors of houses, halting railway traffic at some points and blocking the drainage system altogether in some sections of the city.

The Don river in the city's east end overflowed its banks, halting traffic on the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National lines in the river valley. The entire river flats from the Bloor street viaduct to suburban Leasde were covered wth water deep enough for boating.

Damage in the city was counted in the thousands of dollars and additional thousands of dollars damage was done in suburban districts, where creeks and rivers overflowed early to-day after the overnight rain had added its effect to the spring thaw.

Almost the entre business distrct of Brampton, 20 miles northwest, was under 1½ feet of water from Etobicoke creek and residents there said damage undoubtedly was more severe than in 1929 when damage was $75,000.

Not "Niggardly" On Relief—Oliver

TORONTO, March 17 (CP)—The Ontario Government "is not open to the charge of being niggardly with the municipalities" in cutting relief aid to the latter from 75 per cent to 50 per cent of the total cost, Hon. Farquahar Oliver, Minister of Welfare, told a delegation of Ontario municipalities representatives last night.

Mr. Oliver, in announcing that the cut would go into effect April 1, said that if the reduction proves too much of a burden to the municipalities, the question can be discussed and reconsidered at the end of the year.

Mayor Fred J. Conboy of Toronto, who headed the delegation, presented to the minister a petition which had been prepared following a meeting of the delegation yesterday. In the petition, the delegation expressed the belief that relief should be shared and determined by the provincial and federal governments and that the municipalities should be relieved completely of every part of relief costs, which placed a burden on real estate and home ownership, the basic foundation of democracy.

Germans Close Norse Ports Sign Of Blow At Iceland Or Supply Lines To Russia

Nazi Battleship Pride Of Hitler's Fleet Believed To Have Escaped Damage In Recent Attack By R.A.F. Torpedo Planes

LONDON, March 17—(CP).—Closing by German authorities of all Norwegian ports from North Cape to Aalesund, a responsible source said today, makes "it appear ominously as though the Nazis are getting ready either for an assault on American-British supply lines to Russia or a move against Iceland."

The source cited these other German naval and military moves as indicating the likelihood of a new major campaign in the north.

Today's announcement by the Nazi high command of intensified fighting in Lapland, extreme northern area which at the Russian frontier is only 50 miles from the Soviet Arctic supply base of Murmansk;

Authoritative information that the Germans have sent strong reinforcements to their Norwegian garrisons;

Massing of Nazi warships at Trondheim;

This source said the Germans now are believed to have "between 150,000 and 200,000 soldiers in Norway, in comparison with the 100,000 reported there last autumn.

The Tirpitz Out

Britain was warned that the battleship Tirpitz, Germany's newest, biggest and most dangerous, now may be loose on the high seas.

An official source said the powerful warship "appears to have avoided" an aerial torpedo attack near the Norwegian port of Narvik eight days ago.

He said he had no information about the present whereabouts of the Tirpitz, sistership of the tough Bismarck which sank the British battle cruiser Hood and, in turn, was pounded to pieces last May 27.

The news had grave implications, since a warship as mighty as the Tirpitz is so grave a menace to sea convoys that strong naval forces, including battleships, must be diverted from other work to meet her challenge.

The importance attached to security of the northern sea lanes was indicated today in an Admiralty communique which disclosed that a British auxiliary minesweeper had shot down a German JU-88 in an attack on a Russian merchantman.

After the recent aerial torpedo attack on the Tirpitz, the official informant said, the German battleship retired toward the Norwegian coast under a smoke screen and was lost there among the fjords.

Bad Weather Helps Her

When the attack on the 28-knot Tirpitz was made, he said, she probably was within cover of fighter protection but "the attacks were pressed home under rather difficult weather conditions."

The Tirpitz and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen were located in a fjord

Finish Hitler Now

Speech Alibis Sign Of Weakness

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Herr Hitler's Memorial Day speech in Berlin Sunday has received less attention abroad than any other he has delivered since the war began, and yet it strikes me as being one of his most important utterances, for it is a tacit admission that things are going badly for the Fatherland.

The unconquerable Hitler finally has had to come before his people and admit in as euphenistic terms as possible the terrific beating which the Nazi armies have been taking at the hands of the Bolshevists. It no longer is safe or wise to evade the truth.

The Fuehrer blames his troubles on what he describes a the worst Russian winter in 104 years. That's a lot time to go back in weather records, and gives rise to the suspicion that it's calculated to antedate the great Napoleon's disastrous retreat from Moscow in 1812 and thus minimize the present misfortunes.

The Nazi chief's speech is fair indication that he is worried. Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles of the United States goes even further and declared that "there is implicit in every word and every phrase Hitler's own recognition of his impending downfall."

However, while all this in encouragement for Hitler's enemies, it would be a vast mistake to place any dependence on the weakness which his war scheme has developed, for he is still the greatest threat which the Allies face. You need to keep your fingers crossed when you even let yourself think that he may be on the way out, for he 's likely to prove most dangerous when he is cornered. The Nazi dictator isn't beaten yet.

The moral of Hitler's confession is that now is the time, when he is showing signs of weakness, to redouble the effort to finish him off before he has a chance to recover. As Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Ambassador to Washington, said last night in urging greater Allied efforts:

"Time is but a treacherous ally, ready to fight on either side."

The Bolshevists have given a fine example of what is called for. When the fierce Russian winter caught the Hitlerites unprepared deep in Soviet territory, the Reds struck at them wth all their might.

Chileans Blame Ship Loss Upon Blackout

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 17 — (AP).—Charterers of the 1,858-ton freighter Tolten, first of neutral Chile's ships to be sunk in the war, said today extinguishing of running lights at the request of a United States patrol boat was a factor in her destruction by a torpedo off New Jersey's Barnegat Point early on Friday.

The master, after discharging a cargo of nitrates at Baltimore, was reported in a Government communique to have made the Tolten subject to U.S. naval regulations—including a blackout order—by seeking instructions for handling her on the trip north to New York.

The charterers, La Compania Subamericana de Vapores, said:

"We must emphasize that all our ships have instructions to navigate with lights and to show the neutral flag. In this case the captain of the Tolten, in circumstances which will be cleared up, was obliged to change this order durin the four hours which preceded the disaster."

100 Bombs Kill Two At Darwin

MELBOURNE, March 17—(CP)—Two persons were killed and 12 wounded in the Japanese bombing attack on the North Australian port of Darwin yesterday, Prime Minister John Curtin announce today.

All were military casualties except for one aborigine, who was wounded.

Mr. Curtin said that the raid was directed solely against Royal Australian Air Force installations and caused some damage to buildings, but that no aircraft were destroyed. There was no attack on the township itself.

The enemy planes dropped about 100 bombs, most of them of the anti-personnel (scatter - bomb) type, his announcement said.

At the same time the Prime Minister declared that "contrary to rumors there have been no fresh Japanese landings in the New Guinea and Papua area."

Mr. Curtin also announced that daylight saving time would end the last Sunday in March with the coming of Autumn to Australia. Studies by experts showed that the long period of daylight after working hours increased fatigue to the detriment of industrial production, he said.

American General Arrives In New Field As Yank Troops Begin Pouring In; Brings Wife, Son From Philippine Hot Spot

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP). — The arrival of Gen. MacArthur in Australia to assume the supreme United Nations command in that region was announced by the United States War Department.

The assignment was requested by the Australian Government, the Department said, and President Roosevelt directed Gen. MacArthur on February 22 to transfer his headquarters from the Philippines he has been so brilliantly defending to Australia as soon as the necessary arrangements could be made.

Gen. MacArthur requested a delay until he could perfect arrangements within his Philippine command, and this delay was approved by the President.

He was accompanied on the plane trip to Australia by Mrs. MacArthur and their son; by his chief of staff, Maj.-Gen. Richard K. Sutherland; Brig.-Gen. Harold H. George of the air forces, and several other staff officers.

His command in the southwest Pacific region will include the Philippine Islands, the War Department said.

Direct command of the forces in the Philippines passes to Maj.-Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, the senior officer remaining in Bataan. A cavalryman, Wainwright, now 58, has been in the Philippines since October, 1940.

Nippon Invasion Armada Moving South

LONDON, March 17 — (CP). — Dispatches to some London newspapers from Australia today reported a Japanese naval force, including cruisers, aircraft carriers and scores of destroyers, which participated in the invasion of Java, is now moving southward.

Informed sources in London are unable to confirm the reports.

The dispatches reported the Japanese also are massing heavy air reinforcements in New Guinea for possible large scale air attacks preparatory to naval action against Port Moresby and Northern Australia. They said R.A.A.F. reconnaissance pilots reported the fleet movements.

Other dispatches printed in London said the Japanese are expected to launch an attack first against the Eastern Australian seaboard instead of attempting to invade from the north and fight a way across hundreds of miles of waterless desert.

Japan's forces in the navale battle of Java were composed to 14 cruisers, five aircraft carriers, 55 destroyers

Vichy To Intern All British In Morocco; Even Paris Raid

LONDON, March 17 — (CP). — Reuters reported from Tangier today that Vichy French authorities in Morocco have ordered interment of all British subjects between 18 and 50 residing in coast towns. The number involved is believed to be about 2,000.

Reliable sources said the step was taken in reprisal for the Royal Air Force bombing attacks on occupied France.

It was recalled that last summer the Vichy government ordered British nationals in unoccupied Southern France to move inland from all points on the Riviera and elsewhere along the Mediterranean coast.

An authoritative source in London said the British consul general at Tangier was "doubtless looking into" the reason for the internment of British nationals.

He said there was "no reason to doubt" the accuracy of the Tangier report.

The possibility that the reported internment may have been prompted by British bombing of armament factories in occupied France is only one of various reasons why such a step may have been ordered.

Segregation of Britons in the interior might be connected with possible developments in the French naval situation, particularly at the improved base at Casablanca on the Atlantic Moroccan coast. There, units of the party-disarmed French fleet have been waiting for months for orders from Admiral Jean Darlan, vice premier and navy minister of the Vichy Government.

These ships are available, after approval from the Germans, for defence of French possessions anywhere in the empire and could be sent, for example, to Madagascar in an attempt to maintain Vichy's control over the large island off the East African coast.

Morocco has also been known as a centre of Free French activity.

Britain Cuts Coupons From 66 to 51 In June

LONDON, March 17—(CP). — A reduction of about one-fourth in Britain's clothes ration starting on June 1—from 66 coupons a year to a rate slightly over 51—was announced today.

Sixty coupons will be issued for a 14-month period. Only 20 of these will be available between June 1 and October 10 and the remaining 40 must last until the end of July, 1943.

Coupons on the current card will be valid until October 10. The practice of giving extra coupon awards to workers with special needs will be continued. Children and some 10,000,000 industrial workers will not be asked to bear the full cost, most of them getting 10 supplementary coupons which will be valid after October 10.

A Government spokesman said the reduced ration would affect persons mainly in sedentary occupations and those living at home.

An order was said to be expected this week prohibiting double-breasted suits and trouser cuffs and limiting the number of pockets in garments.

Under Britain's rationing system the 66 coupons would buy a suit, raincoat, pair of pyjamas, pair of shoes, pair of socks, a shirt and two handkerchiefs.

HUNS BEGIN SURRENDERING AT HARD PRESSED KHARKOV FRONT

Reds Capture Key Hill At Staraya

MOSCOW, March 17 (AP)—The German 16th Army trapped by the Russians at Staraya Russa, south of Leningrad, has lost one of its most important points of resistance in heavy fighting, the Moscow radio reported today. Front-line dispatches identified the point only as "N."

The loss of this point was said to be particularly grave for the Germans as it is situated on the summit of a commanding height.

The Red Army has been steadily tightening its ring of steel around the Germans in Staraya Russa.

A communique said today that the Russian air force held an edge of almost four-to-one over German squadrons in fighting last week and several additional communities were recaptured yesterday by Red Army ground forces.

"In the period of March 8-14, 216 German planes were destroyed," the Soviet information bureau announced. "Our losses were 57 planes."

Dispatches from the Ukraine, where Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's southern army seeks to knock out a major Nazi base at Kharkov, said the Germans were surrendering in mounting numbers, some in groups as large as 60.

(Soviet war news, published by the Russian embassy in London, carried an appeal by 20 captured German officers urging the German army to overthrow Hitler and make peace while the nation remained sufficiently strong to "end this war honorably.")

The Moscow radio announced the 8,000-ton cruiser Krasni Kavkas' crew had been decorated for a surprise bombardment of German fortifications on an island in the Black Sea, an attack which was followed up with a raid by a landing party, the island was not identified.

(One of Hitler's tank commanders, Gen. Von Hartel, was said to have been severely wounded in recent fighting on the northern front. Two other generals, William Reinhardt and Rudolph Schmidt, were reported to have been promoted to Field Marshals after distinguishing themselves in counter attacks.)

the long battle line the winter still has a month or six weeks to run. And the Reds are redoubling their efforts to try to deliver the knockout.

To do that they need military equipment. That's America's cue. Every part that's added to a tank or airplane in North American plants is another nail in the coffin of Hitler's hopes, and since the Japs are riding on Hitler's coattails, his finish means theirs.

Production will play a large role in Russia's swelling offensive. The experts in Britain and American shops, whose technical training is essential to the production of war machines, may hold the balance of power between victory and defeat. And time is racing to the crucial spring.

to neutral ships unless the captain asks them and promises to comply," the communique went on. "By asking and receiving instructions as to the route the captain placed himself at the direction of the United States naval patrol service.

"Through the captain, the ship received instructions to proceed as close to the coast as safety would permit during the day and seek whatever refuge was at hand during darkness.

"If he considered it necessary to leave territorial waters during darkness he could proceed blacked out from sunset to sunrise. In addition to written instructions, he was orally told that if he passed Delaware Bay about an hour before dawn he could reach New York before sunset.

"The ship evidently failed to follow instructions to proceed without lights in the darkness. It did not pass Delaware Bay until about 2 p.m., March 12, and was halted about midnight the same day by a patrol boat and ordered to extinguish lights in accordance with route instructions with which the captain had agreed to comply."

The torpedo struck in the darkness between 3 and 4 a.m., the following day, the communique said.

causd authorities to throw guards around property of Axis nationals.

The ship was skippered by Capt. Rodrique Varela, a Uruguayan naval officer, who was rescued, and was partly manned by Uruguayan naval personnel.

Foreign Minister Alberto Guani who made the announcement, did not disclose where the survivors were landed.

Jeremie, on the north-western spur of Haiti, is about 125 miles across Mona Passage from Guantanamo, the United States' Cuban naval base.

Guani said he had no further details on the Montevideo.

Uruguay thus became the third South American nation whose ships have been attacked by Axis submarines.

Although Guani refrained from comment, informed sources believed the attack would result in some form of reprisal similar to Brazil's seizure of Axis property for the sinking of at least four Brazilian ships.

Guani's announcement came less than 24 hours after it was learned that a Chilean ship, the Tolten, had been sunk off New York harbor.

Uruguay already has severed diplomatic relations with the Axis.

Curtain Rings Down On Fine Record

The plain and rather cold figures of cheese production by the factories in the Peterborough area last season include an interesting personal reflection in the fact that the two plants under the management of G. A. Gillespie, Silverwoods on Aylmer Street, and Indian River, turned in two perfect score cards of 100 per cent first grade cheese. And that represents the climax and the end of Mr. Gillespie's long experience in the industry to which he gave unfailing interest from the time he made his first vat of cheese as a young man.

Mr. Gillespie would probably be more inclined to give the entire credit for the highly successful operations of the two factories to their respective cheesemakers, Albert MacAdam at Silverwoods and Howard Holmes at Indian River. However, both plants were under his supervision as the manager of Silverwoods interests in Peterborough in his last year of that active responsibility.

The local factory with cheesemaking a secondary consideration, made 983 cheese, of which 72 were listed with a 95-point score, the only cheese in this area to break into the 95-score column.

First grade cheese are those scoring 93 or 94 points, the difference applying to the amount of the Government's bonus, two cents a pound for 94-point and one cent a pound for 93-point cheese.

One other factory in the Peterborough district, Pine Grove, about two miles and a half east and north of Lakefield, attained the 100 per cent first grade category. Howard Andrew is the maker at Pine Grove.

In the 99 per cent first grade company was Daisy D factory, several miles west of Norwood where George Oitment was the maker last year, Bobcayegon with George Kelso as maker, and Warminster, north-east of Warsaw, where Donald Barker was the maker.

Port Perry factory led the district group of factories in production with 2,525 cheese and a score of 97.8 per cent first grade. Trent Bridge was second with 2,358, of which 663 were 94 per cent 1,395 were 93 per cent, and the score of first grade cheese was 91.7 per cent.

The accompanying table presents a summary of the 1941 operations, showing the number of cheese made and the quality as determined by the official grader:

near Trondheim before the Tirpitz sailed, he said.

The Prinz Eugen had been torpedoed on the passage to Trondheim, he added. Thus, he continued, the three ships that made the recent dash through the English Channel—the Gneisenau, the Scharnhorst and the Prinz Eugen — were accounted for.

"All were damaged," he declared.

British authorities previously had claimed that the battle ships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst were damaged in the run through the channel.

Now, the spokesman said, the British Home Fleet had to cover the possibility that the German ships at Trondheim might try to break out into the Atlantic or attack the British supply route to northern Russia.

He declared it was "not a practical proposition" to intercept with surface units a single ship like the Tirpitz near the coast unless she was "winged" by torpedo bombers.

As long as the main units of the German fleet are established on the Norwegian coast, he added, they must be constantly watched by ships of the home fleet.

fence of those islands, fighting the numericaly superior Japanese invaders to a standstill on the Pensua of Bataan.

In accordance with plans drawn pror to outbreak of the war, MacArthur withdrew hs principal forces on Luzon toward Bataan, where for weeks he has stalled all attempts of the Japanese to destroy his forces or push them into the sea.

From the crowded Peninusula of Bataan, barely 20 miles wide, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been transferred to a continent practically as large as the United States to fight the Japanese on broad Australian plains.

If he stops the Japanese in Australia, as he stopped them in Bataan, then the United Nations will be in a position to start a counter-offensive.

Japan still holds the advantage, but a diminishing one, in the line of communications. It is 4,700 miles by the most direct measurement from Hawaii to Cape York, northernmost point of Australia.

Japan is closer—less than 3,330 miles—but her warships and transports will be farther away from Tokyo than they ever have yet been before in this war of the southwest Pacific.

Japan may find opportunity to effect landings and secure footholds at isolated, unguarded points along the northern or western coasts.

Gen. MacArthur's job will be to prevent surprise landings along the most populous east and southeast coasts, and hold the most important cities and ports there until Allied forces are build up.

In this task he has plenty of room in which to manoeuvre, and a temperate climate to which American troops are accustomed. Autumn is approaching in Australia.

MacArthur's predecessor as supreme commander in the southwest Paciic was Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, whose reassignment to the command in India was announced on March 2.

At that time no mention was made officially of the possibility that MacArthur would succeed him, although Australian sources had suggested MacArthur from time to time.

Similar suggestions have been made by Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 Reupblican Presidential nominee; by members of Congress and by American newspapers.

Gen. Wavell's reassignment to India followed the loss of Malaya and the entry of the Japanese into Sumatra, separating India and Burma from the Netherlands East Indies. The transfer of all land, sea and air forces in the Netherlands Indies to the command of the Dutch was announced, but no reference was made to a supreme United Nations command in the South-west Pacific area.

It now develops that MacArthur already had been ordered to Australia. MacArthur has commanded the Philippine Army since 1935, when he completed a tour of duty as Chief of Staff of the United States War Department.

MacArthur, a native of Little Rock, Ark., had a noted career in the Army before his assignment to the Philippines. A brigade commander and later the Rainbow Division commander during the First Great War—he was 38 years old when it ended — MacArthur returned to the United States to become Superintendent of West Point in 1919. He was Chief of Staff at the age of 50, and retired from the army with the rank of general in 1937, although remaining a Field-Marshal in the Philippine Army. After the war with Japan started last December MacArthur was reappointed a general and commander of United States Army forces in the Western Pacific area.

Heavy American Reinforcements Reach Australia

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—United States forces have landed "down under"—in force—ready to fight side by side with the Aussies in the battle for Australia.

The force includes ground troops and air corps units "in considerable numbers," War Secretary Henry Stimson disclosed last night.

The use of the expression "in considerable numbers" had a heartening sound for Washington, for it was recalled that the official announcement of the arrival of American troops in Northern Ireland carefuly avoided any such mention of strength.

The belief here was that the convoys which transplanted the troops and the tons of supplies and equipment probably traversed some 12,000 miles in a sweeping arc through the trackless south Pacific before reaching the unnamed Australian port of debarkation.

Under normal circumstances a voyage from the Pacific coast to the Antipodes takes about 40 days, and a convoys pace is necessarily slower. It seemed likely, therefore, that the units now in Australia embarked from American ports some time in January.

Mostly Air Forces.

There have been reports of American units participating in previous operations in the southwest Pacific theatre, but these were almost exclusively air force commands with supporting ground personnel. Stimson's was the first official disclosure the United States had moved a considerable body of troops to reinforce Australia in her hour of peril.

The disclosure came at a time when congressional circles were urging that land-based and land-based SYDNEY, Australia, March 17.—(CP)— Maj.-Gen. Gordon Bennett, who commanded Australian forces during the Malayan campaign, said to-day that every man of the Australian Imperial Force Overseas now is needed at home to meet the danger of invasion in this country.

In a speech here, Gen. Bennett urged that Australia imitate the simplicity of Japanese military training methods and eliminate "baracks square principles," which he said trained the initiative out of the troops.

He criticizezd Allied Intelligence methods as being "the weakest possible kind," declaring that before the beginning of hostilities the Japanese knew everything that was going on in Malaya. Radio sets were in communication with Tokyo nightly, he said.

The petition further asked that no change be made in the government's present allocation until the end of the present calendar year, because most municipalities already had formulated their budgets for the coming year. The petition claimed that the step in cutting government contribution was one in the wrong direction and counteracted the former trend to relieve municipalities of the cost of social services.

Ease Property Owner Burden.

The brief contended that responsibility for the security of the people lies with the central government and should not be placed on the shoulders of the property-owner. A move in this direction was a further blow at the incentive to own a home, it said. There should be no dictinction made between caring for the old and the blind and caring for other unemployables, Mayor Conboy said in presenting the petition to the Minister.

Mayor Conboy said municipalities are not allowed to put estimates which are not actual expenditures in their budget and also they are not allowed later to add additional expenditures. Municipalities "view with alarm" the change in Government policy, he said.

Mr. Oliver said Ontario had decided to carry on the 75-25 per cent. basis when the Federal Government withdrew from the relief picture, but as present relief rolls were down to 32,000, the percentage had been cut. The province, with the help of municipalities, is trying to rehabilitate some relief recipients and train women for war work, he said.

British Columbia is the only other province in Canada paying unemployable relief and the Ontario Government had considered withdrawing its entire contribution and leaving relief entirely up to the municipalities, but had reconsidered and instead evolved the 50-50 plan, he said.

Mayor Conboy said he felt the decision of the Government was "disappointing" and unfair. The petition was prepared by a three-man committee headed by Mayor Conboy. Other members were Mayor C. W. MacOdrum of Brockville and Mayor Garfield Case of Owen Sound. Mayor Conboy called a meeting of mayors throughout the province to protest the cut and the consequent added burden to taxpayers.

beleved he suffered a weak spell when returning home last night and fel into the ditch.

In Toronto itself, blocked drainage caused the fooding of three homes on St. Clair street west in the north part of the city. Water was nearly five feet deep in the cellars. On Main street and Queen street east water rose to the level of store display windows.

Duffin creek roared over its banks during the night and put No. 2 highway at Pickering, about 15 miles east of Toronto, under four to five feet of water, stopping traffic. Trucks and cars were stranded on the highway all night until the water started going down about 10 a.m. Another flood tied traffc at Whitby.

The overflowing Etobicoke creek's banks marooned 25 suburban Long Branch families near the mouth of the creek, whose waters were raised nine feet by the rain and thaw.

Summer Cottage Raid Described

The story of a police raid upon a summer cottage on the River Road north of Nassau was told in police court this morning when a charge against James Collins, Douro street, of exposing or keeping liquor for sale was heard by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

Collins, who was defended by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Provincial Constable Price Morris, described the raid. When the officers got inside the cottage they found ten men and a woman there. There was $5 and a number of bottles of beer on the table and the police found a full case of similar beer in pint bottles and also five other bottles in another carton, as well as a number of empty bottles. Collins had locked up the place after the raid and put the lights out, the officer stated. He had also secured a hammer and opened a locked garage so the police could search it.

Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure corroborated this evidence. Mr. Gordon was curious about Max Vincent who was described by both officers as being among those present when the police entered the cottage.

Defence counsel wanted to know if Vincent had been charged or whether he had been taken to the poice station.

"He didn't keep his word," said Officer McClure, explaining that the men found in the cottage had been asked to drive down to the police station in the cars in which they had come and Vincent had failed to turn up.

D. B. Fleming, liquor vendor and Norman Hughes of the staff of the brewery warehouse, were called in connection with liquor and beer purchase slips and it was intimated when court adjourned for luncheon that there would be other evidence of that nature.

Major R. Archibald Back From Britain

GORE'S LANDING, March 17. — (ENS). — Major Roger Archibald, who has just returned from England, was a visitor to this village and his summer home here, Lilac Lodge, on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Archibald accompanied him. They had the unique experience of being married two years ago during an air raid in England, and Mrs. Archibald returned to Canada a year ago. Their baby daughter, born last August, has just made the acquaintance of her father.

Major Archibald, who is the son of Dr. Archibald of Toronto, has two brothers in England. Col. Brian Archibald, who was in military work in India prior to the war and whom the Major saw three weeks ago and Lieut. Thomas Archibald, who is in Col. Lloyd's Cobourg unit.

Lilac Lodge, Gore's Landing, has been the summer home of the Archibald family for many years.

See Gold Miners Plight Like Wheat Farmers

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, March 17.—(CP).—An argument for the continuance of gold mining in Canada was introduced into the wheat debate in the House of Commons last night by J. A. Bradette (Lib. Cochrane) who said he found some similarity between the position of wheat producers in western Canada and people dependent on gold mining.

If it were true that men engaged in mining gold could be better employed producing munitions, the same was true of many men engaged in growing wheat, he said. To close up the mines would throw 65,000 people out of work and deprive thousands of farmers of a market for their products.

Mr. Bradette was speaking in the debate on second reading of the government's bill to increase the minimum price of western wheat from 70 to 90 cents a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William. The measure may be put to a vote to-day.

He raised no objection to measures to assist western farmers but pleaded for a broader understanding of the problems of all parts of the country.

Move Not Possible.

On two or three occasions members of the Social Credit group whom he did not name had suggested a stop to gold mining. He said he would not object to such a move if the machines and men could be transferred at once to some other form of production, but that was impossible.

"How is it," he asked, "that western farmers will say that the gold mining industry should be destroyed, especially when the farmers of Northern Ontario are ready, satisfied and willing to co-operate with the government so that the farmers of the west will have their place in the sun?"

If farmers were to be kept growing wheat when there was a surplus, surely the miners should not

Drunken Driver Gets Seven Days

Seven days' imprisonment in the county jail was the sentence imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on Archie Stevenson after the latter had been convicted on a charge of drunken driving.

Magistrate Langley issued an order to the police to impound the accused's car for a period of three months.

Evidence of Constable John Moyes was that he had found Stevenson slumped over the wheel of his car on the Market lane, in a hopelessly drunken condition. "I had to almost carry him to the police station," the officer stated. He said that the engine of the car was running and the lights were on. He had seen the car move a few feet.

To Ralph Standish who defended Stevenson, the officer said that the accused was so drunk that he hardly knew what he was doing.

"He was almost in a state of coma?" questioned Mr. Standish.

Inspector James F. Reid corroborated the evidence as to Stevenson's condition.

"He was far too drunk to drive a car," Inspector Reid stated. Stevenson testified that on the afternoon of the day on which he was arrested he had seven teeth extracted in Lakefield and his mouth was so sore that he had taken several drinks of gin which helped to ease the pain for a while. When it returned he thought he would go to a beverage room and have some beer.

"How much did you have?" asked Mr. Standish.

"Four or five quarts."

"It is refreshing to have a man make an admission like that instead of the usual two glasses," commented Magistrate Langley.

Stevenson said that after drinking the beer he had become ill and he had gone to his car with the intention of lying down in it.

Mr. Standish argued that there had been no guilty intent on the accused's part, but Magistrate Langley registered a conviction.

GANARASKA RIVER ON RAMPAGE, FLOODS CELLARS AND STREETS

Store Cellars Filled On One Street

PORT HOPE, March 17. — A general alarm in the village brought merchants scurrying from their beds at 2 a.m. this morning when news was broadcast that the Ganaraska River had decided to celebrate St. Patrick's Day in undignified fashion by staging its annual rampage.

The river rose gradually under pressure of heavy rain, melting snows, and when the ice started to move downstream shortly before midnight on Monday evening a jam formed and the water backed up over Cavan Street. All merchants on Ontario Street were called out shortly before 2 o'clock and urged to remove stocks of supplies from the store basements. The warning was amply justified for at seven this morning the cellars were filled to the floors all along lower Ontario Street.

This is the third time so far this year that the river has risen, and it was felt for awhile the pressure would ease but it didn't. The ice is porous and most of it disintegrates as it strikes the bridge, at Ontario street. This bridge is lower than the Barrett street bridge and consequently the water backs up and has completely covered the railroad tracks on Ontario street. There is almost a foot of water on the main street, and residents claim it is the worst flood in five years.

Tree Blocks Creek

Cavan street residents were ordered by police at 3 a.m. to be ready to move, but this has not become necessary yet.

Logs at the file factory were raised and also at Canton to relieve pressure. At Canton the ice is still holding in the Corbett Pond and at the file factory the water had risen on the ground floor at one time during the morning.

Some distance up the river a tree had fallen and caused a blockade which had to be removed with much difficulty.

On Ontario street where the flood usually does the most damage the merchants have equipped themselves with iron clamps on their door fronts which have been utilized.

The river reached its peak at 10:30 a.m. when it came up six inches in five minutes.

Birthday March 17, Irishman Holidays

HASTINGS, March 17 (ENS) — Born in the city of Dublin and a Canadian resident since 1904, March 17 is a big day in the life of Joseph Mulholland, now living in Hastings. Besides marking the feast of his patron saint it is also Mr. Mulholland's birthday.

"I can still remembers my Dad taking me to kiss the 'Blarney Stone,' he told the Examiner. A life member of the Sons of Ireland he took part in St. Patrick's day parades in the land of Erin.

Mr. Mulholland is looking forward to the day when he will be able to return to Ireland for a visit after the war.

An employee of the Breithaupt Leather Co. here he is enjoying a holiday. "I have never worked on St. Patrick's Day and I don't intend to start now," was his smiling comment.

Cobourg Keeps Municipal Posts Separate

COBOURG, March 17.—(ENS)—Cobourg town council at a special meeting last night decided not to combine the jobs of tax collector and assessor. At a previous meeting of the town council, E. A. Hircock, tax collector, wrote to the council to advise that his salary as tax collector was not sufficient for his needs. Mr. Hircock suggested at the time that the job of assessor be added to that of tax collector. The extra remuneration as assessor would remedy the situation, Mr. Hircock said. However, council decided to keep the positions separate.

Climaxing her two-year masquerade as a man, Antoinette Arsenault, LEFT, married Mimi Ouelette, RIGHT. In a Montreal court Miss Arsenault pleaded guilty.

KINGS ROW

By HENRY BELLAMANN

RANDY HEARS TALES
CHAPTER XXX

Kings Row, too, was beginning to hear highly favorable things about Dr. Mitchell but the more they heard the less they saw of him. Someone said that he was a fine pianist. Everyone had heard more or less about his devotion to the unfortunate Drake McHugh. It was thought very fine of Dr. Mitchell to maintain a loyal friendship for a boyhood acquaintance.

Just lately there had been a bit of gossip about Louise Gordon. Kings Row knew that Louise had had a very bad nervous breakdown. Dr. Mitchell frequently walked in the late afternoon with Louise, and it was noticeable that Louise had "come out" amazingly

One startling piece of information emerged from Louise's chatter. It concerned the Towers. It puzzled Parris a little that Louise should be able to recall so much of what her mother had said years ago of other people. He brought himself quickly to attention at the first mention of Dr. Tower and Cassie. Then gradually he pieced together the casual fragments. He was unable to recall precisely the words of Dr. Tower's diary at this point, but he was certain now that the mysterious person or persons who had blocked his purpose of working at the asylum had been the Gordons.

In the fall Louise had an attack of bronchitis, and Dr. Saunders, one of Kings Row's older doctors, was called. Dr. Saunders happily ended Parris' worries about Louise. He advised Mrs. Gordon to take Louise to Florida for the winter, and when his own advices were added, Mrs. Gordon agreed.

Parris did not realize how tired he was until Dr. Nolan ordered a reorganization of his schedule. There were times when he felt too much outside of the life Drake and Randy shared in the little white house. They were happy; their business was successful.

Parris and Randy walked out toward the Old Cemetary one afternoon. Randy was troubled, but he waited for her to speak. They crossed the stone stile and came presently to a small square enclosed with evergreen that reminded Parris of the thickets where he used to play with Renee. Severe granite slabs in the square had only names and dates: ALEXANDER Q. TOWER and CASSSANDRA TOWER.

Parris was surprised that the plot was so carefully tended, with some sort of shiny-leafed vine covering the ground.

He looked at Randy. She colored and looked a little embarrassed.

"I've been taking care of these graves, Parris. Drake told me that Cassie and her father meant a lot to you."

They went back through the little green alley and across the cemetery to the slope where the sunshine was warmest.

"Well, Randy."

"I don't know how to begin, Parris. I've been hearing some stories that I don't understand—so I thought I'd better let you know."

Parris felt a curious chill of apprehension.

"Well, go ahead."

"It seems that talk sort of runs around and around and takes on first one meaning, then another. When I first heard Louise's name mentioned they said you were 'going with' Louise."

Parris nodded. He remembered his talk with Dr. Nolan.

"Then came the old stories again."

"Just—what were the old stories, Randy?"

"It was said that Louise said her father performed unnecessary operations just—well, just because he liked to, and that he did too many of them without chloroform."

"Um." Parris nodded again.

"People began to remember. You ought to hear the long lists of operation Dr. Gordon did without an anesthetic! It's always the same story. The patient's heart was weak."

"Strange!"

"But Parris—have you ever counted up the number of terribly disfigured people he left behind him?"

She had gone deathly pale.

"Drake!" she whispered. "Drake!"

Parris held perfectly still. Randy shook his arm violently.

"Parris!"

"Yes, Randy?"

"You've got to tell me!"

He shook his head.

"Then the stories are true?"

"Listen, Randy: there are strange cases in medical history—like this. But it doesn't follow that every operation Dr. Gordon performed was or could have been unnecessary. Do you know any of the details of Drake's injury?"

"He wasn't run over, if that's what you mean."

"He wasn't?"

"No. He was caught by the train—some cars were being switched. He was under the car—between two of them. As near as I know he was sort of—I guess you'd have to say pinched by a wheel that didn't pass over him. The cars sort of reversed and he was caught in the same way on the other side. But he wasn't run over."

"Strange. I thought he was. He never talked to me about it."

"He doesn't know."

"I see."

"Parris. I've got something else to tell you. I made some inquiries—after I heard those terrible stories this winter. Sam Winters helped Dr. Gordon."

"Yes, I know."

"So I got Sam Winters to talking about it. He said—"

Randy stopped and twisted her hands together.

"Go on, Randy. You have to get it said."

"Sam Winters said Dr. Gordon was a wonderful doctor and must have seen something he himself—Sam, I mean—couldn't understand. He said it looked to him like Drake was just badly bruised."

"Oh, Randy! I can't quite believe that!"

"Sam was sure of one thing—"

"Yes?" Parris said the one questioning word with difficulty.

"Sam was positive that there were no bones broken!"

Parris straightened himself.

"Now, listen. You've got to listen carefully. Sam Winter's testimony doesn't mean a thing."

"Are you telling me the truth, Parris?"

"Yes, Randy. Absolutely. Dr. Gordon must have done a crack job, or Drake wouldn't have lived. We have Drake, and Drake is in a way adjusted. It's all over and done with. Dr. Gordon is dead. We've got to forget it."

"Parris!"

"Yes, Randy. What?"

"I love Drake—better than anything in the world. I didn't marry Drake out of pity. He is—always will be—the only man in my world."

Parris took her hand. "It would be just like some meddlesome fool to drop some hint of this story about Dr. Gordon to him someday."

"I know, Parris. I've thought of that."

"It must never happen. I think the whole structure would topple down again, and that time we couldn't rebuild it. He'd be gone."

Parris thought for a few minutes.

"It's strange, or curious, or something, that wherever there is a ghastly or a grotesque tragedy in this town, you'll find Dr. Gordon somewhere in the story."

"You do believe—"

"Hush! Neither you nor I can ever know about Drake. There's no possible way. It's better we don't know. I've got to believe that it was a necessary amputation. So must you. We must, Randy. Don't you see that? He had no reason—"

"Yes, he did! Louise!"

"He had separated them, anyhow. That was over."

When Parris reached home he found a letter waiting for him. He opened it hastily and read:

My Dear Dr. Mitchell:

I am writing in order to make a rather melancholy report on Louise. Her general condition did not improve here and I called in the doctor recommended to me by Dr. Saunders.

It has seemed best, in his judgment, to keep Louise under close observation for an indefinite period of time, and we have accordingly

Baby Alleged To Have Died Of Neglect

COBOURG, March 17—(ENS). — Sittings of the Spring Assizes opened yesterday afternoon with Mr. Justice Plaxton presiding. The grand jury had two cases to consider, the defendants being Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horsburgh of Murray Township, who are charged with manslaughter in connection with the death early this year of their two months old daughter. The other charge against them is that of failing to provide the necessities of life for the baby involved in the first charge.

There are three civil actions on the docket: Dafoe vs. Chapman, a damage action for $30,000; Patterson vs. Smith Transport for $5,000; and Jewell vs. Smith Transport for $15,000. The actions are the outcome of a motor fatality which occurred last March in Cobourg, when a transport and a car collided, killing three people. The Patterson and Smith cases are grouped as one action. The third case is Marsh Transport vs. Cunningham Wells Transport; result of a collision last summer east of Brighton.

At the opening of court yesterday afternoon, Fred C. Richardson of Cobourg extended a welcome to Mr. Justice Plaxton on behalf of the local Bar Association. Mr. Richardson also congratulated the visiting Justice on his appointed to the Bench. His experience in the Attorney-General's Department at Ottawa made him very valuable on the Supreme Court Bench, and the province was to be congratulated on its wisdom in appointing him to that post, Mr. Richardson said. From a personal standpoint, Mr. Richardson said, it was a pleasure to have the opportunity of welcoming him to the local sittings of court, as he and Mr. Plaxton had studied law in the same years at law school.

His Lordship briefly addressed the grand jury, outlining its duties and explaining the nature of the cases which were to be considered at the present sittings of court.

"There is perhaps no more important duty of citizenship than that of serving on a jury," declared His Lordship. "The jury system is part and parcel of our judiciary system, handed down to us from the time of King John. It is part of our democratic way of life. It is the great bulwark of civil liberites and stands between the liberty of an accused person and any prosecution which might be motivated for malicious ends."

In view of the fact that the various institutions had been inspected by grand juries twice in the last six months, His Lordship stated that the present grand jury would be relieved of that duty at this time.

The members of the grand jury are Eric Oswald, Port Hope, foreman; F. Benedict, C. Bond, W. Brockenshire, E. Clarke, W. Duncan, F. Grey, L. Hill, W. Jewison, G. McKay, W. L. Clarke, G. Porter, and A. Smith.

Court adjourned after the grand jury retired, until 10:30 this morning.

Evening Auxiliary Names Delegates

PORT HOPE, March 17—(ENS).—The Evening Auxiliary of the United Church held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Mitchell on Monday evening, with a large crowd present.

The meeting opened with Mrs. George Ward, the president, in the chair, and the main item of business discussed was the election of delegates to attend the Womens Missionary Society of the Cobourg Presbyterial at Campbellford on March 24.

At the close of the business the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Lorne Plummer's group.

Mrs. Don Skitch, accompanied by Mrs. Gordon Garnett, sang a very pleasing number, "My Cathedral."

Miss Elizabeth Warburton then gave, in a most charming manner, her prize-winning speech that won for her the junior public speaking contest. A descriptive story of Life in China was then given by Miss Netta Brownlee.

Drive Shaft Breaks Giving Men Holiday

HASTINGS, March 17.—(ENS)—Forty of the 70 men of the local tannery are enjoying an enforced holiday today.

A broken drive shaft in the power house is the direct cause of the partial shut-down.

Fred Scriver, night engineer, discovered the break. "If any person had been in the power house at the time, it would have been just too bad," said the plant manager, Frank Daley.

Mr. Daley told the Examiner that an auxiliary engine was being installed and most of the men would be back at work Wednesday morning. In the meantime the plant's production is cut in two. A similar accident occurred about two years ago.

DROP QUEEN'S SMOKES

LONDON—(CP). — Cigarets in orange-colored packages inscribed with the letter "W" for Wilhelmina have been dropped by the R.A.F. in Holland for subjects of the Queen who is exiled in England.

Salvage Market Hard To Find

HASTINGS, March 17.—(ENS)—Local Red Cross officials have experienced considerable difficulty in finding a market for salvage. The matter was thoroughly threshed out at the meeting of the society held Monday night.

Several members explained that quantities of meal, aluminum, and rubber were on hand but could not be disposed of in a satisfactory manner.

President, Reeve L. E. Kelley, cited the example of a local man who collected 20 rubber tires, and eventually had to sell them for 5c apiece.

"As far as I am concerned we aren't going to sell the war memorial guns and other scrap metal to a dealer who will turn around and sell it for double the price," commented the Reeve.

The secretary was instructed to write the salvage department at Ottawa requesting further instructions re the disposal of salvage.

Thursday, March 26 was set as the date for a Red Cross euchre to be held in the town hall. A mat on which tickets are at present being sold will be drawn for the same eveling.

Following is the treasurer's report as read by W. H. Kumpf: Receipts, bingo proceeds, $35.92; disbursements: Hastings 5c to $1.00 store, material, $4.48; R. K. Tedford, material, $1.85; J. M. Baker, material, $4.15; Miss Plait, $3.47; Red Cross material, $4.31; stamps and postage, $4.50; bingo, prize, $1.50.

Two Transports Crash Head-On

PORT HOPE, March 17 (ENS)—Another truck smash took place on Monday morning about 10.40 when a small truck, driven by M. Stein of Toronto, proceeding east around Helm's Bend, just east of Port Hope, on Highway No. 2, skidded on a small piece of ice and was thrown in front of a Motorsways transport, causing the smaller truck to be completely demolished and the large transport was badly damaged.

Both drivers escaped any serious injuries. The driver of the transport was Ken Logan of Ottawa.

Schoolboy Hit By Car

PORT HOPE, March 17.—(ENS)—At noon on Monday, Jimmy Kearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kearn, Ellen street, was hit by a car on Walton street, and suffered facial cuts and the loss of a tooth. He is confined to the Port Hope Hospital suffering from shock.

PART of our war-time duty is to make sure we give our families the kind of food they require for health and energy, so this week I'd like to tell you of a specially nourishing, delicious food to include in this week's shopping.

We all know that Nature's almost perfect food is MILK, and realize that this should never be stinted in the home. Unfortunately, some children, and adults too, don't like drinking milk alone, so here's how to popularize this very necessary food. Simply serve it with Fry's Cocoa.

Fry's Cocoa is rich in Calories (the name given to describe the energy value of food) and is also rich in IRON. Now Iron is practically the only important constituent lacking in milk, so by adding Fry's Cocoa to milk you increase the amount of Iron consumed by 50%.

Plan to serve Fry's Cocoa every day—Its delightful chocolaty flavour makes it a most welcome food in your home.

Fry's Cocoa is very economical and today actually costs less than before the war.

See how easy it is to serve.

Fry's Cocoa

For each cupful required, mix together DRY, half to one teaspoonful of Fry's Cocoa, with sugar to taste. Add enough cold milk to make cocoa and sugar into a smooth paste. Pour on boiling milk and stir well.

Note: The flavour of Fry's Cocoa is improved by whisking with a rotary beater just before serving.

You can make 80 large cups from one pound of Fry's Cocoa.

Patriotic Criticism Or None

A newspaper originating, we believe, in Toronto, called the Evening Telegram has taken us to task rather severely for quoting in our Notes and Comments Section a remark by Professor Karl S. Bernhardt of the Department of Psychology of the University of Toronto. This is what Professor Bernhardt said:

"The loudest critics today of our war effort, our Government and many other things are those who have the least to do, and who do least. It is an old custom. When a person is worried, can't do anything and feels inadequate he goes out and criticizes someone."

We referred to this statement of "wise words," and our irascible contemporary thinks that we should not have done so. It says, indeed, "The Examiner consistently deprecates criticism of the Government." This is not true. We are quite prepared to criticize the Government whenever we think that criticism will be of help, but as an independent newspaper it is our task to support the Government in power as long as we can honestly do so. We believe that the present Government of Canada is doing the best it can to raise our war effort to the utmost, and to prevent a disastrous split in this country. We have evidence that Canada as a whole has faith in the Government in power, and although we may not approve of its actions in detail we will continue to support its general policy until we see fit to change.

We are more conscious than some of our contemporaries seem to be that there is no alternative to the present Government which is acceptable to Canada as a whole and we feel that bitter criticism of the Government from a point of view peculiar to some factions in Ontario is a form of sabotage against our country considered as nine equally responsible provinces. That this sabotage is unconscious we have no doubt but we await a dawn of consciousness with some impatience. We still agree with Professor Bernhardt and we feel that the present critical state of our national life demands criticism which is large-minded, well-informed and truly patriotic, or else none at all.

National Characteristic

In the editorial columns of our contemporaries we have noticed recently a number of calls for more enthusiasm, more zeal, on the part of Canadians in general in support of our war effort. It is not that the writers decry the scope and efficacy of that effort; it is simply that they would like to see more public demonstrations in support of it, more parades, more bands, more patriotic hullabaloo of all sorts.

We agree with this wish. But we do not feel that a lack of effusive demonstration is necessarily a sign of defeatism or indifference on the part of the Canadian public. Canadians take their pleasures and their moments of stress and glory sadly, as most northern peoples do. Canadians are anything but demonstrative; they rarely let their back hair down. But their feelings are as deep and their confidence is a rock-like as that of any other people among the United Nations. It is simply that they are not particularly fond of making a fuss about it.

Nevertheless, we feel that it is possible to carry this national characteristic too far. We may not care for, or need, as much public demonstration as other peoples do, but certainly we could have a little more without doing irreparable damage to our sensibilities. Summer is coming, and we are in a year which is certainly bound to be one of the most fateful in our short history; let us try a few parades, and a few bands, just to see if they do not buck us up a bit. Self-possession, like all good things, may be carried too far.

Germany's Industrial Weakening

One of the many important results of the magnificent Russian resistance is a slight but perceptible weakening in Germany's industrial organization, owing to a shortage of labor. An interesting survey of the German labor situation by Fritz Sternberg was published recently in the New York Times, and although this writer's estimate of the German difficulty is sober it provides some encouragement.

Everyone knows that, in a mechanized war, there must be several men in the factory for every man in the field; it is impossible to say exactly how many industrial workers are needed to keep the soldier supplied, but five is not too high an estimate. Germany has an army of about 9,000,000 men, drawn from a population of about 20,000,000 men between the ages of 18 and 48. It is not necessary for her to keep all her soldiers on active service at once. She used more men during the Battle of France than at any other time, and she is estimated to have had 6,500,000 in the field then. The soldiers who are not fighting are at home, working in the factories, and until recently the co-operation of the General Staff with the Economic General Staff has been excellent. But the great German losses in Russia have complicated affairs. Hitler set his losses at 1,500,000, and this may be taken as a very conservative estimate. But even so, says Mr. Sternberg, this means that Germany has lost, since the beginning of the war, the equivalent of three generations of German youth.

The extensive front now defended by Germany, the distance of supply lines and the necessity for maintaining armies of occupation means that Germany now need about 8,000,000 soldiers on active service. "Volunteers" from occupied countries are at work in German factories but they number less than two millions, and they are far from trustworthy. Older men and women are doing more and more of the work, and German production is lagging.

Practical wisdom teaches us never to put too much faith in the statements of economic experts; Mr. Sternberg may be quite wrong. Or he may be exceptionally well-informed and perfectly right in his estimates. If so, the wisdom of the R.A.F. attacks on German industry is immediately apparent. The more harm that can be done to this weak spot in German organization, the better.

But it is even more obvious that the opening of a second front would hasten the end of the war. A vast army in the field is powerless if it has insufficient supplies, and a war on two fronts would stretch the German lines even thinner. German industry may yet prove her heel of Achilles.

Britain's Might In The Air

Although the battle of the Pacific has gone against the United Nations because air power was lacking, Britain seems to have plenty of planes at home, and is making good use of them. The attacks on German-controlled industries in France, on German factories in the Reich, and on German shipping have been increased many times over in the past month, and there is assurance that they will become greater still. The attacks on Essen were of comparable ferocity to that made on Coventry, and the total tonnage of bombs dropped on Germany is approaching that which Germany dropped on Britain.

This is good news in its way, but the destruction which it causes has only an indirect effect upon the tide of war. In the course of three years we have learned that bombardment from the air does less damage than was at first supposed, and that its effect upon civilian morale may be quite the opposite to that which was intended. Air bombardment is most effective when it is used in military operations, in conjunction with attack on land or sea. The air attack on the Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau in the Straits of Dover did damage which is of immediate value to Britain, but it is doubtful if, in a war which moves as quickly as this one, the bombardment of factories causes the enemy much real inconvenience. Certainly it is no substitute for a second front.

Youth At The Prow

The public, which is in a mood just now for reforms which it would certainly never have countenanced in times of peace, has responded eagerly to General McNaughton's statement that the Canadian Army is to have younger officers. Certainly the idea has much to recommend it. In a country like Canada, which has no military ambitions, the army has no attraction as a career for young men of intelligence and spirit unless a war is actually in progress, and as a result the outbreak of war finds us with a group of officers who cannot be regarded as the keenest brains, military or otherwise, in the country. It is one of the disabilities of the professional soldier that he has no chance to practice his profession except at times when issues of the utmost importance hang upon it, and in a country which is markedly unmilitaristic in spirit he becomes rusty. In this war a young officer with intelligence, stamina and a grasp of the technique of modern war is worth far more than an older man with a quantity of outdated experience.

But the stone which General McNaughton cast into the waters of Canadian opinion has caused ripples to appear at some distance from its original mark. A contemporary, for instance, wants to know why we cannot have younger men in political life. The answer is to be found in the nature of democracy, which is notably slow in recognizing merit. It is a fact, also, that the strain of peace-time political life demands a store of diplomacy, practical wisdom and experience of public service which takes many years to acquire. A young man might do it if he were able to start in politics early enough, but the small monetary return of public service makes it necessary for most men to acquire a competence at least before they stand for Parliament. Few spectacles are more pitiable than a defeated candidate living in straightened circumstances; no successful politician dare depend upon his parliamentary fees for a livelihood. Few young men have the necessary wealth to begin a political career at the outset of life, and by the time that they have acquired the necessary financial security they are in early middle age, at least.

General McNaughton is certainly right in his contention that the army need younger officers, and we hope to see them in service soon. But let us not fall into that gross and futile error, the worship of youth for its own sake. The supreme desideratum in any man who is chosen for a high and responsible post is ability, and not youth. Age had nothing to do with the fact that Pitt was a great Prime Minister in his twenties and Gladstone a great one when he was over eighty; a man's ability must be the measure of his fitness to hold the reins. Let us pin our faith neither upon a man whose slowness, grey locks and infirmities give him an appearance of wisdom, nor upon a youth whose mere inability to sit still gives an impression of boundless energy.

Greece In Chains

Little is heard from Greece these days, but the scraps of information which make their way to the outside world may be pieced together to form a truly horrible picture. In Athens and the Piraeus district alone an average of 500 deaths a day is reported, and the majority of these are caused by starvation; the shortage of fuel makes difficult the distribution of such food as there is and brings nearer the day when the electrically operated water filtration system must stop working; this will almost certainly bring about an epidemic of typhoid.

Some attempts are made to relieve this distress, but they are necessarily few and have little real effect on the situation. Food is sent from Turkey, but only 7,500 tons have arrived so far and the Turkish ship which brought it has been sunk on her latest voyage. Germans and Italians eat well in restaurants which have been reserved for their especial use, and from time to time Axis food vans stop in the streets to distribute food; but after a few pictures have been taken for propaganda purposes the vans drive away and are seen no more.

It is hard for us, living in a land of plenty, to realize what starvation is; how many of us have known real lack of food, or have been in a situation where we could not get something to eat by asking for it? But in Greece those who have charity have no food, and those who have food have no charity. The spirit of Greece, which remained unbroken under attack, is now suffering the worse trial of life without hope.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A group of air-raid wardens in Britain who distinguished themselves during the autumn of 1940 have now, we hear, organized a dance-band. Of course their theme-song will be "The A.R.P. that once..."

A society note in one of our contemporaries reads: "Given away by her father, the bride's dress was of white and gold brocade with a family veil of old Limerick lace..." You'd think they would want to keep a valuable thing like that.

PERCH TIME

Some go in for deep sea angling,
Swordfish and the tuna seek,
Others think life's greatest thrill is
Dipping the suckers from the creek.
But though Isaak Walton's pupils
Have most varied tests of fun,
For me, the piscatorial peak is
When the perch begin to run.

Some cast flies for speckling beauties,
Tiptoe, sneak, from pool to pool,
Others try, with bob and sinker,
Whiskered catfish to befool,
No desire to catch such quarry
Makes me rise ere wake of sun,
With the lark I'm up and stirring,
When the perch begin to run.

You can have your lordly salmon,
You can have your muskellonge,
Fish renowned for acrobatics,
Trout that leap and bass that plunge.
You take the great sea's greatest
With the whale harpoon and gun,
But the time my pulse beats quickest
Is when perch begin to run.

An Author For St. Patrick's Day

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

As Stephen Leacock pointed out many years ago in his "Sunshine Sketches of A Little Town," the celebration of national holidays in Canada is a rather vague and indefinite business in which we all join with the greatest goodwill, whether we have any special reason to do so or not. Thus on St. Andrew's Day we are all apt to quote Burns and boast a little about our clans, and on St. George's Day we become enthusiastic about Shakespeare and the symbolism of the red cross on the white ground. So on St. Patrick's day even Orangemen may permit themselves to think sentimentally about the Ould Sod and citizens of the purest Anglo-Saxon ancestry greet each other in accents which they fondly imagine to be Celtic.

Many people send greeting cards on St. Patrick's Day, and these possess a certain amount of interest for the student of folkways. They are green, of course, and many of them are decorated with pictures of Irishmen. But what Irishmen! No one has ever seen such creatures in the flesh. They wear green top hats, they smoke short clay pipes, they carry murderous-looking clubs, and they affect a curious sort of green long-tailed coat, the like of which has not been seen anywhere but on a St. Patrick's Day card for a century or more. Yet we all look at this outlandish figure and recognize it immediately as an Irishman. Why?

This fantastic Irishman is really the invention of two genuine Irishmen who lived in the last century; one was the dramatist Dion Boucicault, who wrote many highly diverting plays about Ireland, and the other was Charles Lever, a novelist who wrote some really admirable Irish novels. In the works of these men will be found the original of that extraordinary being, the greeting-card Irishman. Boucicault's plays have had their day, though most playgoers of the older generation remember Miles Na Coppaleen and Shawn the Shaughraun, and they are not likely to be revived. The excellent work of modern Irish dramatists such as Lennox Robinson and Sean O'Casey has supplanted them. But Lever's novels are still well worth reading, and if you are looking for something odd and pleasant to take your mind off the war you could hardly do better than turn up 'Charles O'Malley" or "Harry Lorrequer" this very evening.

One of the great charms of Lever's novels is that the reader always knows what he may expect to find in them. There is no depth of psychological insight and no wearisome probing into the motives of the characters. They exist in the author's mind as clear-cut types, and they have an abundant and eventful life there. They are wonderfully active; they are forever doing something. There is a great deal to be said for Charles Lever as a novelist in comparison, say, with John Steinbeck or Ernest Hemingway; Lever never seemed to have a grudge against his readers, as appears to be the case with so many modern writers. His intention was to be amusing, and he succeeded admirably.

Any reasonably clever writer who was familiar with Lever's work could almost write an Irish novel of the Lever type himself. As a matter of fact, Thackeray did this very thing, with brilliant humor, in his series of parodies called "Novels From Eminent Hands." There is always a hero, a young officer in the army, well-born and wonderfully handsome, and there is always a heroine, equally well-born and well-favored, who rides magnificently, plays the harp to perfection and swoons whenever she hears a declaration of love. Both these paragons have a set of noble and haughty parents. They meet, they love, they are parted through an accident or a misunderstanding, and they are united at the end of the book.

The lovers are amusing in their way, but the real fun of the books is supplied by the members of a lower stratum of society, the comic Irish peasants and servants, the race-track tipsters, the petty lawyers, and the parish priests. Lever's priests are amazing creations; witty, learned, fond of the bottle, kind and generous, invariably in scrapes of some kind from which they emerge triumphant, they are brilliant but somewhat scandalous caricatures of a devoted and devout class of men. Lever never draws them in malice; the fun never leaves a bad taste in the mouth. But the description of Mickey Free's encounter with the priest in "Charles O'Malley," for instance, might bring roars of laughter from an archbishop.

To Lever, then, must be given the credit—if credit it is—for the creation of the St. Patrick's Day card Irishman. Boucicault had a hand in it, as has been said, and so did Samuel Lover and Maginn, but Lever gave the final shape to the figure. It is a type of Irishman which probably never existed; Lever closed his eyes to the distresses and grievances of his country except when he wanted a bit of pathos to set off his romance, but the rollicking, club-swinging figure is still a fair symbol of a part of the spirit of that indomitable and often bitterly perplexed island. Of its poetry, its harsh realism and its depths of melancholy Lever said nothing. But his was a brilliant, if narrowly limited genius, and Ireland may well be proud of him.

• Huns Bogged Till June

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—On any other Nazi lips but Hitler's a vow to defeat Russia during "the coming summer" would be but meaningless rhetoric. It could do little to reveal actual Nazi plans.

In Hitler's mouth, however, that commitment has meaning. His personal prestige, not only with his suppressed people, but with his army, is at stake. In Russia that army has tasted defeat for the first time, and under his personal captaincy.

Only complete and final victory in Russia could restore him to his pedestal in the eyes of his troops, and Hitler knows it. That was the price he paid for ousting his top generals and risking the dangers of "Napoleon's fate in 1812," he now admits.

Whether that danger is yet passed, as Hitler intimated, remains to be seen. There is considerable winter and a long spring thaw yet to be reckoned with in Russia.

DEFINITE COMMITMENT

Accept the view that his promise of complete victory this summer is a definite Hitler commitment to atone for terrible German losses, and it follows that every future German move, except against Russia, must be regarded as a diversion. Russian armies can be annihilated only in Russia, not on any other front.

Just when and where the summer drive will come depends probably on the weather. The unprecedented winter, the worst in a century or so, must be followed by an unprecedented spring. It will be late June probably before the ground is hard enough in the Central and Northern Ukraine, and northward to the Leningrad front, for mechanized warfare.

The weather moderates earlier in the Southern Ukraine. However, during the thaw season, that area receives the run-off drainage of all Western Russia south of of the Valdai Hills. The Black Sea and the Sea of Azov receive those spring floods, making every waterway a torrent, every marshland a morass. It probably will be late May or even mid-June before the Nazi "summer offensive" can get going even in the south, and that is the road to oil, the resources above all others Hitler soon must reach.

LIKELY TIME FOR JAPS

Oddly enough, June seems also the most probable month for a possible Japanese assault on Russia's Vladivostok fortress and Siberian armies. Ice conditions in the northern end of the Sea of Japan tend to forbid any earlier Japanese move to match a Hitler attack on Russia from the west.

That lends color to Chinese and other speculation as to a possible combined Nazi-Japanese squeeze against Russia. It gives added significance to Hitler's fulsome references to "heroic" Japanese victories in the Pacific theatre. It is what he hopes for, if not what Japan is yet willing to undertake.

Vladivostok, despite Russian-Japanese non-aggression pacts, is a menacing threat at Japan's back. But if Tokyo has some understanding with Berlin calling for a joint offensive against Russia, it must follow that further Japanese advances in the south against Australia or in Burma are to be restricted to what can be quickly attained. She dare not risk simultaneous major action on three far-separated fronts in addition to her China campaign.

The possibilities are that Tokyo would await development of the Nazi offensive in Russia and strike northward only if it appeared certain to be crowned with success.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

Then Saul arose, and went down to the wilderness of Ziph, having three thousand chosen men of Israel with him, to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph...And David arose and came to the place where Saul had pitched: and David beheld the place where Saul lay, and Abner the son of Ner, the captain of his host: and Saul lay in the trench, and the people pitched round about him....

So David and Abishai came to the people by night: and, behold, Saul lay sleeping within the trench, and his spear stuck in the ground at his bolster: but Abner and the people lay round about him....

So David took the spear and the cruse of water from Saul's bolster; and they gat them away, and no man saw it, nor knew it, neither awaked: for they were all asleep....Then David went over to the other side, and stood on the top of an hill afar off; a great space being between them.... And David said to Abner, Art not thou a valiant man? and who is like to thee in Israel? wherefore then hast thou not kept thy lord the king? for there came one of the people in to destroy the king thy lord....

And Saul knew David's voice, and said, Is this thy voice, my son David? And David said, It is my voice, my lord, O king. And he said, Wherefore doth my lord thus pursue after his servant? for what have I done? or what evil is in mine hand?

Then said Saul, I have sinned: return, my son David: for I will no more do thee harm, because my soul was precious in thine eyes this day: behold, I have played the fool, and have erred exceedingly. And David answered and said, Behold the king's spear! and let one of the young men come over and fetch it.

The Lord render to every man his righteousness and his faithfulness: for the Lord delivered thee into my hand to day, but I would not stretch forth mine hand against the Lord's anointed. And, behold, as thy life was much set by this day in mine eyes, so let my life be much set by in the eyes of the Lord, and let him deliver me out of all tribulations—I Sam. xxvi, 2, 5, 7, 12, 13, 15, 17, 18, 21-24.

DOROTHY DIX

DROP THE FIGHTING WORDS THAT MESS UP MARRIAGE

Many Family Spats can be Avoided and Life Will Be More Pleasant.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—We have been married a year and ever since my husband and I have done nothing but nag at each other, although we love each other very much. I wouldn't be single again for anything, but it would be so much better if we got along together. We both work and are making good money. One thing we quarrel about is that he doesn't like to go out very much. When I want to go to a football game, he says all I think of is spending money and going out and being happy and gay. Well, I do think of being happy and gay, but not in his sense. We are saving money to build a home and then have children and that is why he is anxious to save and says I spend too much money, but I don't. When we go out he acts so sweet, but the minute we step in our little apartment he says things that hurt me very much. How can we make our home happier? LUCILLE.

ANSWER—The cure for nagging is like the cure for drink. Stop doing it. It is simply a matter of willpower and using enough self-control to shut your teeth on the word that you know is the fighting word and that is just as good for a domestic brawl as a nickel is for a ginger cake. Marriage is a rummy business any way you look at it, but there is nothing so strange about it as that otherwise intelligent men and women bring so little commonsense to the solution of their problems. They know, for instance, that marriage is one of the acts of our lives whose consequences we can never undo. Even divorce does not end its effects upon one, for an unhappy marriage changes one's whole character and outlook on life. Hence it is of the utmost importance to every couple to make their marriage a success. Yet apparently the great majority of husbands and wives make no real effort to do so.

Daily Spat Is Avoidable

This is the more unaccountable because the universal hope that lures most people into mariage is of a quiet, peaceful home in which a man and woman who love each other live together in harmony and amity. Yet the number of husbands and wives whose dream comes true is so small that they are marked individuals in any community. In most households the daily spat is just as much a part of the ritual as the three meals.

It undermines the home, it destroys the family morale, it kills the love of the husband and wife for each other, but they do nothing to stop it, as they would do if any other danger threatened their marriage. Why they do not sit down together and work out a peace plan is one of the insoluable mysteries of the domestic relationship.

It is nonsense to say that the men and women who get along amicably with their bosses and their friends and neighbors can't get along with each other. They could if they would only treat their own the way they treat strangers.

Plight of Young People

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a stranger in a strange city where I have recently come to take a good job, and my problem is finding a way to meet young people of my own age, especially nice young men. Surely there are ways provided by the city in which decent young people can become acquainted. Boys on the street and in cars seem only too friendly to start a conversation, but they are not the sort of acquaintances a girl can trust. Lots of times I see boys on the streets who look just as lonely as I am, but that does me no good. I can't walk up to them and say: "Howdy you do I am lonesome and so are you. Let's step out together." There should be somewhere that would be a common ground where we could meet and become acquainted in a more conventional fashion. BARBARA F.

ANSWER — The churches have tried to solve this problem as far as they can. Virtually all of them have young people's societies and clubs and give weekly dinners and entertainments where young people can get together and get acquainted, but the trouble seems to be in getting enough young men to go around to attend these functions. So mostly they remain dove affairs, and that doesn't make it very exciting for the young women who have come to the city husband-hunting under the misapprehension that game was plentiful and easily snared in the canyons of the big towns.

As a matter of fact, eligible young men, or even young men able to show a young girl a good time, are about as scarce as hen's teeth in every big city, because it takes so much money to live on in a city that the majority of men have all that they can do to support themselves. Hence they put marriage as much out of their plans as they do setting up a yacht. Likewise, amusements come so high that most of them haven't the price of taking girls to the theatre or out to dinner, and somehow orange blossoms just don't seem to flourish in a city as they do in small places where youngsters get married because everybody is doing it.

If a girl has tremendous ambition and lots of ability, she may in the end get a better paying job in the city than she would ever have back home, but she will not have as good a time, nor will she have as good a chance of marriage as she would if she had stayed on Main Street.

England Answers Local Note Pinned To Dress

The Red Shield has been able, through its own work, and that of outside groups and individuals, been able to ship another generous shipment of articles to Toronto, from whence they will be shipped overseas. This latest shipment consisted of 44 quilts, blankets, etc., 176 articles of baby clothing, 94 children's garments, 23 adult garments and 127 knitted comforts for men in the services. Making a total of 464 articles.

The afternoon Women's Auxiliary has done a tremendous amount of work for the Red Shield and Mrs. M. Dobson, of 477 Bonaccord street, who gave a dress to one of its members, with a note pinned to it, has received the following letter from England:

Dear Mrs. Dobson: I do not know how to thank you for the very nice dress you kindly sent to England. My sister received it yesterday and is delighted with it. When she showed me the note pinned on it, I thought I would write to you.

It gives me great pleasure in writing this letter to a very kind friend in Canada, which I will never forget. We have had two sirens today so I hope Jerry keeps away for a bit now. By the way he is overhead low, and the guns are going very heavy. I am working in this hospital, the address is on the top of the page. My sister will be writing to you soon. Well, kind friend, I must bring my letter to a close now, as I am on duty at 4.30 p.m. God bless you all.

Tons of love from Joan Shacklady.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, March 18.

The lunar and mutual aspects for this day point to a surprising and dramatic turn of events, which come with sudden precipitancy and have far-reaching influence on the current affairs and future fortunes. Out-of-the-ordinary developments may be looked or both in business and private affiliations, possibly uprooting and calling for unforeseen change and movement or travel.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of sudden, surprising and exciting adventure, probably into the realm of romance and thrilling experiences of an unlooked for or unplanned nature. It is probable that courtship. elopements, or quickly arranged marriages are on the tapis, but business as well should have its romantic or dramatic moments.

A child born on this day may have much originality and creative talents of a high order, which may ensure a career of distinction or public acclaim.

removed her for the present to a private sanitarium where she can have the best of care. You can imagine, I am sure, my own great personal suffering when I saw my own child attempt to besmirch the memory of a great man and a great physician.

It is my wish that Kings Row should know fully that Louise is in no way responsible for whatever stories she may have told about Dr. Gordon, and that she has been confined in safekeeping. I have sent a note to Miles Jackson which I have worded discreetly, but clearly. I have also written to certain friends and acquaintances who will, I am sure, make mention of these late sad events and thus, in some measure, set wild tales at rest.

Let me assure you again of my gratitude for your efforts in behalf of my poor child. For the rest I can only trust in the Maker of all things who holds us all in the hollow of His hand.

Very truly yours,
Harriet Gordon

Parris turned back and read the letter a second time, carefully. The word "confined" stood out on the page as if written in red. He could guess a large part of what had happened in Florida. It could not have been difficult for Mrs. Gordon to drive Louise to violence. That Mrs. Gordon could deliberately make use of this event as she was now using it filled him with horror.

It was pretty clear that Mrs. Gordon was touched with religious fanaticism. If Louise's stories could be depended upon—and Parris was sure that they could be—Dr. Gordon, too, had had more than a trace of same fanticism. The two of them must have worked up some sort of misdirected fervor against what they considered evil-doing.

Parris tried desperately to direct his own attention away from certain dawning convictions. Sadism was common enough in many forms, but sadism coupled with religious fanaticism was particularly dangerous. Such a person with a surgeon's knife in his hands—

Above all he must keep Randy from guessing what he—he stopped and looked squarely at the question. Yes: it was true! Of course it was true.

He remembered Willy Macintosh's father and the screams coming from that upstairs rooms as Dr. Gordon operated—without chloroform. He remembered Ludie Simms, a harmless enough libertine, and the Gordon operation that paralyzed half her face.

How in the world had this man managed to go through a whole career in Kings Row without ever being called into question?

Leatha Miller Weds Basil E. Young

The wedding was solemnized at St. James parsonage of Leatha Helen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller to Basil Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Young of Bancroft. Rev. F. W. Craik officiated.

The bride looked lovely in a two-piece robin's egg blue crepe with hat to match and black accessories and a corsage of American beauty roses. Mrs. Joseph Dunkerley, matron of honor, was gowned in figured crepe with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Sgt. Joseph Dunkerley was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother receiving in a gown of wine crepe with a corsage of Talisman roses.

The happy couple left later for a short trip to points north. On their return they will reside in Peterborough.

CHURCHILL'S TIEUP SERIES WITH PORT HOPE BY 2 TO 1 VICTORY

Round Is Tie With 2 Goals For Each Team

Peterborough Churchills barged out a 2-1 victory over Port Hope on a water-covered sheet of ice at the Brock Street Arena, Monday night, to deadlock their O.J.H.A. semi-final series at two goals each. Port Hope had won the first game at Port Hope last week, 1-0.

The game, played before a crowd of about four hundred, at least 75 per cent of which was made up of Port Hope fans, was ragged on the hopelessly soft ice, and tempers and sticks were carried high by both clubs. Fisticuffs threatened to break out continually throughout the game, and midway in the second period a free-for-all started when an over-zealous Port Hope fan grappled with a Peterborough player on the rail. A couple of dozen fans swarmed onto the ice and sticks and fists were swinging merrily for several minutes before peace was restored.

The Churchills tied the round early in the second period after Port Hope had held a slight edge on territorial play in the scoreless first chapter. They took a short-lived one-goal lead on the round, scoring their second goal early in the last period, but Port Hope came right back with a nice goal while the Petes were short handed to tie the round and end the scoring. The teams will play a sudden death game in Oshawa to determine who will enter the finals.

The first period was ragged and neither team could get any kind of organized attack under way, the slow ice making real passing plays almost impossible. Port Hope carried a slim margin in the play throughout the period, the Petes battling hard but being a little disorganized on the offence. Port Hope threatened several time, particularly on a nice Ashby to Rowden passing play, but Leether put on a real show in goal, kicking out a half a dozen dead-on shots from close in.

The Churchills went on the attack to start the middle period and carried an edge on the play throughout. They turned on the pressure and bottled Port Hope up inside their own blue line, almost scoring twice during pile-ups in front of the goal before Anderson tied the round on a knee-high shot from the corner at the seven-minute mark that gave Burley little chance. The Petes continued to press and Anderson almost scored on Carpenter's perfect pass on a breakaway, but Burley came out to make a nice save. A free for all held up play for several minutes midway in the period and tempers flared, the Petes continued to press but failed to score, Ainslie just missing on a nice solo effort near the end of the period.

The Churchills took a 2-0 lead on the game and a one goal edge on the round, when Millen blazed one into the upper left hand corner from the blue line on Garvey's pass.

Port Hope went on the attack and almost scored several times with Leether making some fine saves. Anderson was penalized for tripping and Port Hope ganged up with the Petes a man short. They finally scored on a breakaway when Downey took Ashby's perfect pass and gave Leether no chance. Both teams opened it up and Carpenter almost banged in Anderson's nice pass out. Port Hope threatened several times but couldn't beat Leether and there was no further scoring.

Anderson and Millen up front, White on defence and Leether in goal all shone for the Petes with the whole team turning in a nice effort.

The Port Hope starting forward line of Ashby, Downey and Rowden stood out all night, and Burley made some nice stops in goal. The teams:—

Port Hope.—Goal, Burley; defence, R. Bailey, B. Bailey; centre, Ashby; wings, Rowden, Downey; subs., Keeler, Dotzko, Kelley, Ashby, Smith, Scott.

Peterborough. — Goal, Leether; defence, Ainslie, Lawson; centre, Anderson; wings, Carpenter, Close; subs., White, Millen, Garvey, Harris.

Referee—Rowden, Port Hope.

The Summary:

First Period:

Penalties: Lawson (2), Close, Rowden, Ainslie, R. Bailey, Downey.

Second Period:

Penalties—White, R. Bailey, B. Bailey.

Third Period:

Port Hope, Downey (Ashby). 8:00

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

It was a rather indigo motorcade of Peterborough hockey players that pulled out of St. Catharines late last night and headed along the rain-swept Queen Elizabeth Highway toward home. Frankly the Petes were a disappointed bunch. They had confidently expected to take Merritton Hayes Wire Redmen into camp on the Garden City Arena to take a 2 to 0 led and then finish the job at Oshawa tomorrow night but the program blew up in their faces when the team from the St. Catharines' suburb refused to curl up. Probably the Petes confidence or over-confidence had something to do with the final result. At all events the Soldiers, in spite of an edge in territorial play, had to accept a 6 to 3 trimming because the Redmen once more proved real opportunitists and wasted few of their scoring chances while the Ellis crew muffed enough openings to have won a couple of games. Now instead of a big lead on the series they have a real battle on their hands and tomorrow's game in Oshawa should be a torrid tussle. Merritton were a downcast lot last Wednesday night but since holding the Petes to a tie here and then winning last night the Redmen are no decidedly cocky and they will be carrying the mail in the Oshawa battle as they try to open up a lead in the series.

* * * * * *

Whatever the setup may be for the remainder of the games after tomorrow night's tussle there is little chance of another fixture in Peterborough. The championship will have to be decided on the road so far as the Petes are concerned. Strangely enough in all the years in which Peterborough hockey teams have won Ontario titles since the turn of the century the Petes have never won a championship on their own ice. Back in 1901 when the famous Colts won the junior honors from the Stratford team, the final game was played in Stratford. Next year when Peterborough won the intermediate championship the last game of the final round was staged on Galt ice. Again in 1906 when Peterborough and the Goderich Sailors clashed in the final series for the Ontario intermediate glory, the Petes had to battle in Goderich in their last appearance of the season. Jumping ahead to the great senior team of Bailey-McLeod and Company, not a game of the semi-final and final rounds was played in Peterborough. Parkdale were disposed of in two games in Toronto and then the Petes knocked off London by winning in Toronto 4 to 2 and then playing a tie game in London to take the title. After that they went on to beat New Hamburg in games at Niagara Falls and Toronto, before bowing out in the Allan Cup series to Varsity in two battles on Toronto ice. Again two years ago when the Petes won the Ontario intermediate A title, the final game was played in Kitchener and then they went on to win the Eastern Canadian title by beating Maxville twice in Ottawa.

* * * * * *

For the benefit of local fans who are going to Oshawa tomorrow night for the fourth game in the series with the Merritton Hayes Steel team the Peterborough Hockey Club has secured a block of reserved seat tickets and Treasurer Max Glover will have them on sale up to 9.30 o'clock tonight at the Peterborough Printing Company. With the series all tied up and what looked after the first game as a romp through the final round for the Petes turned into a real battle for the championship interest in tomorrow's game is at fever heat, and all roads will lead to Oshawa. Peterborough fans are preparing to take over the Motor City as they root the Petes to the front again in the final round. The local enthusiasts are confident that the Soldiers will come through. A St. Catharines story of last night's game says that the Soldiers had the edge in territorial play and that the "ace line of Kingdon, Tompkins and Heal was admittedly faster than anything Merritton produced," and that about sizes up the St. Catharines battle. The Soldiers in short, got none of the breaks in spite of doing most of the pressing and the feeling in the Peterborough camp is that kind of thing cannot happen all the time. The hope is general that the Petes will have recovered their putting touch tomorrow night and if they have there is only one answer. But it should be a swell argument and it rates the biggest Peterborough attendance of the season.

Play Earl Greys Next

Peterborough Outboard Marines have not been long in getting more action. Fresh from their victory over Kingston Combines they have been thrown in against the crack Toronto Earl Grey team, last year's intermediate A champions. The first game will be played in Toronto Thursday night with the return battle at the Y.M.C.A. gym here Saturday night, total points on the round to count. Earl Greys have just emerged from a red-hot series with St. Catharines intermediates, taking the round 81 to 76 by virtue of their seven point lead set up in the first game at Toronto. St. Kitts managed to nose out the Toronto cagers 44 to 42 in the return battle Saturday night but it was not enough. The Earl Grey outfit is sparked by the sensational Julian Fox and play fast, hard basketball all the way. They will be tough opposition for the Peterborough team but if the latter play back to the form they showed against the powerful Queen's squad this should be a sparkling series. The biggest cage crowd in years should be at the Y Saturday night for the second game of the round. The winners will meet the winner of the London-Windsor series in the final dash for the Ontario championship.

* * * * * *

Says Bill Walshe in the Kingston Whig-Standard: "Tip Roberts' Kingston intermediates can claim two hockey records for the week, with probably the latest and shortest hockey season in history. The Kingston intermediates played their first O.H.A. game on Tuesday and were eliminated on Thursday, which creates practically a three-day season. To make the Kingston hockey season all the more unusual a soldier replacement was permitted although the team was actually in action less than half a week. Between the first and last games Hi Parks, brilliant young Kingston athlete, was moved with his Army unit. He played Tuesday and Pte. Ken Murphy, star of the Kingston Combines' senior team, replaced him in the second game Thursday."

Churchills Tie Round

Peterborough Churchills, the city's only representatives in minor league hockey gave all they had last night in their game with Port Hope Ontarios to pull the round out of the fire but the best they could do was to tie up the whole thing and force a third game on neutral ice to decide the argument. It is a tough break for the plucky local kids that another trip is necessary to decide the series winners because trips cost money and the youngsters cannot hope to draw a profitable crowd in Oshawa unless Port Hope supplies the necessary fans. As a matter of fact there were far more Ontario supporters at Brock St. Rink last night than there were Churchill rooters present, a condition that does not show Peterborough any too favorably as a hockey centre. This year's juveniles are the future greats and they deserve better support than Manager Harris's team received last night while they were defeating Port Hope 2 to 1 to tie the round at 2-2.

* * * * * *

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Rex Stimers made a fine job broadcasting the Petes-Redmen battle at St. Catharines last night but the elements were against him....Bill Calladine wound up ninth in the American League scoring lists with 56 points but he was third in actual goals scored, potting 32 during the season....It was a tough night for Oshawa last night when Guelph Biltmores sprang a surprise on the Generals by beating them 5 to 1 in Oshawa and taking a 2 to 1 lead on the series while at Toronto U.T.S. eliminated the Oshawa Bees by playing a 3-3 tie and taking the round by one point....Hamilton have a two-game lead on Buffalo Ankerite Bisons, taking last night's game 5 to 1....The next two games will be played in the north....Apparently everybody in the rink last night saw Tompkins' goal scored—except the goal umpire—and Referee Beef McKay. Fortunately for the Petes Linesman Thompson saw the play....Referee McKay handed out four penalties to each team last night. The game was not rough at all and no one on either side was hurt....Fifty-six points was score enough to put Bryan Hextall at the top of the National League scoring list but the same total was only good for ninth place in the American League as Bill Calladine has discovered.

Tigers Appear Headed To 2nd Division

By GAYLE TALBOT,
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAKELAND, Fla., March 17 —(AP)—Del Baker's Detroit Tigers are undergoing such a violent and abrupt upheaval this Spring that it is difficult, seeing them in action, to realize they won the American League championship only two seasons ago and fought the Cincinnati Reds to the last bitter gasp in the World Series.

Seldom has a big team disintegrated so rapidly. What the war started by taking Hank Greenberg, the Tigers' greatest star, gathering age and salary disputes have just about combined to finish, so that now little remains. Tied for fourth with Cleveland last year, the club likely will tumble into the second division in the approaching race, there to await a happier day.

Only the presence in camp of two exceptionally fine-looking young infielders, Bill Hitchcock and Murray Franklin, bring an occasional gleam to Manager Baker's eyes.

In Hitchcock, rangy 180-pounder, the Tigers appear to have a great shortstop in the making. He is a truly brilliant fielder already. And the fact that he hit .296 for Kansas City last year indicates he can take care of himself at the plate.

Although less has been said about Franklin, Baker is inclined to rank him right along with Hitchcock. If anything Del becomes more lyrical about the University of Illinois boy, who was a college teammate of Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's new maney.

Hunting Hole For Franklin

Right now, the only difficulty is in finding the right spot for Franklin. He looks great at third, but Pinky Higgins, one of the few scattered remnants of the 1940 champions, has that spot sewed up for the time being. Hitchcock is a fixture at short, and Jimmy Bloodworth, obtained in a trade with Washington, is supposed to hold second.

First Baseman Rudy York ended his long holdout siege yesterday by signing his 1942 contract. It was reported his contract called for slightly more than $9,000 and a $5,000 bonus if he bats in more than 100 runs. Pitchers Louis (Buck) Newsom, Johnny Corsica and Luther (Bud) Thomas remain as the Tigers' only holdouts.

With Billy Sullivan sold to Brooklyn, the catching staff consists almost exclusively of Birdie Tebbetts. All Birdie hopes is that the big job of work he will have to do this Summer will win him back his salary cut.

With Barney McCosky back in left field and Roger Cramer, the veteran from Washington in centre, the team has two-thirds of an adequate outfield. Don Ross, who hit .310 for Montreal, is top candidate for the other post.

Dick Wakefield, the widely publicized college slugger who got $45,000 from the Tigers merely for signing a contract last winter, continues to find big league pitching an almost complete puzzle. Dick will have another season in the deep minors to try to iron out his difficulties.

Conn Is Inducted Into U.S. Army

NEW YORK, March 17—(AP).—Billy Conn, leading contender for heavyweight champion Joe Louis' crown, was inducted into the United States Army as a private yesterday and immediately was sent to Fort Wadsworth on Staten Island.

Conn, who went thirteen rounds with Louis last summer, quietly enlisted a week ago Saturday, five days after passing his physical examination for the Naval Reserve with much fanfare.

"I just changed my mind," said Conn, who was 24 in October. He married shortly after losing to Louis last June.

Conn, whose home is Pittsburg, was assigned to the 1205 Corps Area Servvice Unit as was his friend and bodyguard during training for important fights, Joe Becker, a Pittsburg detective.

Gas Low In Eire

DUBLIN, March 17 — (CP). — Eire cancelled on Monday the basic gasoline allotment for motorists, effective May 1, and announced that gasoline and oil imports would be reduced 25 per cent. Effective April 4, the sugar ration, now a pound for each person a week, will be cut to three-quarters of a pound.

C.G.E. Generals Take Lead In City Basketball League

C.G.E. Generals jumped back into sole possession of first place in the Ladies' Basketball League standings by winning a well-played 29-24 tussle over St. John's at the Y.W.C.A. last night. The Generals were deadlocked for top honors with Quaker but are now out in front all alone again by the slim margin of half a game. Generals held a wide edge on the play in the first period last night, running up a 19-6 lead in that half, and despite St. John's valiant rally in the last twenty minutes the losers could not quite catch up. The Generals had their sights on the hoop all through the first period and although St. John's had a fair share of the play, the C.G.E. edge on shooting earned them a big 13-point edge in that half. St. John's reversed the position in the concluding chapter and began to do a little sharp-shooting of their own. They managed to out-score Generals 18-10 in this frame, but could not quite make up the deficit. The winners, led offensively by two players, M. Ward and A. Craig, passed and shot well most of the way and earned the verdict on the all-round play but St. John's made it a battle to the finish. These two players, A. Craig and M. Wood, scoring 28 of the winners' 29 points, were the C.G.E. stars, and T. Law and A. Bowler stood out in a good effort for St. John's. The winners made three of their nine free throws and St. John's counted four times in 10 tries. The teams:

C.G.E. Generals 29 — M. Snowden, M. Hodson, A. Craig 13, M. Wood 15, C. Stalter, E. Harte, Maxwell, A. DeCarlo 1.

St. John's 24 — A. Bowler 8, D. Groombridge 2 E. Hewitt 4, E. Clark 2, M. Mason, T. Law 8, E. Foster, F. Gynane.

Referee—H. Macdonald.

Alsab Packing On More Weight

MIAMI, Fla., March 17.—(AP).—Alsab, the streamlined race horse, is picking up weight for his supreme effort in the Kentucky Derby.

"He'll weigh fifty or seventy-five pounds more in the Derby than he did when he ran in the Widener March 7," Owner Al Sabath said yesterday.

"He's filling out, and he's getting taller, too."

There was a lot of head shaking among turfmen when the 2-year-old champion of 1941 reported for the winter campaign with only a few added pounds.

"I told you so," was the general comment after the colt was beaten in his first four starts as a 3-year-old at Hialeah Park.

James Gets Mount.

But Sabath said that he was "not altogether disappointed" in Alsab's performance.

"You don't have any way of knowing when a horse will start growing," he said. "After all, Alsab was foaled April 28, which is pretty late, and he's just late in filling out."

Sabath revealed that Jockey Basil James, one of the ablest in the business, will ride the horse in the Derby.

MERRITTON EVENS SERIES WITH WIN OVER PETERBORO SOLDIERS

Inspired Team Backed By Goalie Who Could Not Be Beaten Defeat Petes In Final Round 6-3

By FRED D. CRAIG

The O.H.A. Senior B final series is all tied up. Last night in the Garden City Arena at St. Catharines where five night before they had been beaten by the same club, 9 to 4, an inspired Merritton team, battling to get back on even terms, held off repeated Peterborough assaults and cashed in brilliantly on their fewer opportunities to win the third game of the final round 6 goals to 3.

The Petes were not outplayed by anything like that margin.

As a matter of fact, they had more of the territorial play than the winners and more chances to score, but Aime Clement, the Redmen's fine goalie, put on a Stonewall Jackson exhibition in the nets, stoutly supported by Joe Desson, Louie Spancheff, and Morgan, and the Merritton attacking division, sparked by Bryan Robinson, former St. Catharines junior, who fired three goals, cashed in on their opportunities.

In the first period, for example, the Petes outshot their rivals 10 to 5 by actual count and most of the losers' drives were from close-in, and yet at the end of the twenty minutes the Redmen were in front 2 to 1, getting two goals inside of two minutes after the Petes had been storming around inside their blue line for minutes at a time.

The Break of the Game.

The real break of the game, however came late in the second period when Don Crowe drew a penalty for boarding a Merritton player, and while he was off the Hayes Steel outfit ran in two counters. They had a one-goal lead before that outburst and with the Petes roaring in repeatedly it looked like anybody's ball game. By the time Crowe got back the Merritton margin was 5 to 2, and the best the Soldiers could do in the final period was to split two goals with the winners, the Redmen's coming on a breakaway late in the session when the Petes were ganging up in an effort to pull down the lead.

The fourth game of the series will be played to-morrow night in Oshawa. What the setup will be after that has not yet been decided. It may be that the O.H.A. will have to step in and draft the remainder of the playoff schedule.

Last night's reversal of form was a surprise to St. Catharines and Merritton fans. They hoped that the Redmen might come through, but they did not fancy their chances enough to do any wagering, which is undoubtedly a fortunate thing for the few Peterborough enthusiasts who accompanied the team and who looked in vain for bets.

There was plenty of action, with both teams showing plenty of speed and opening out wide. The Petes fell down worst in front of their opponents' nets. They made smart plays to get into a scoring position repeatedly and then were foiled by clever stops by Clement or threw away their openings by inaccurate shooting.

Merritton on the other hand did not get inside nearly as often, but when they did they made good use of the breaks. That was the difference in the teams last night, and it explains why a club that was thoroughly beaten a few nights ago was able to hand the Petes their worst trimming of the year. Not before last night had any club set up a three-goal margin of victory over the Soldiers in 21 games.

Give Them Credit.

Give Merritton full credit for their win. They checked closely, fought all the way and when openings came their way they cashed in. Clement was great in the nets. He kicked out the long ones and flopped in front of the close-in drives in stellar style. Joe Desson, veteran defence player, who went practically the entire route without relief did a good chore behind the blue line and helped out with the attack as well while Spancheff played the best hockey he has shown against the Petes. Robinson, the youthful right-winger of the second line was the best of the forwards, although the whole starting line turned in a good card.

Honey Tompkins, who had scored six goals against the Redmen in the two previous games, came back with two more to lead the Peterborough attack. Art Heal set up the first one with a pass from behind the net while Kingdon and Tompkins combined for the other on perhaps the nicest play of the night. Bruce Bennett was the other Peterborough marksman to register.

On the defence Les Burton bobbed up with one of his best performances of the season, using a poke check to excellent advantage, and the other rear guards gave a good account of themselves.

Merritton Score First.

The Petes opened up as if they were going to repat their last week's performance and early in the period the Kingdon-Tompkins-Heal line were in for several glorious chances that were beaten off by Clement or were tossed away by off-the-target marksmanship. When the other line was sent out they too had a big edge in the territorial and Reilly and Nichols both failed to click with close-in shots.

Merritton only broke occasionally, and there was no particular sting to their earlier attacks. Half way through the period Heal was in the clear on a pass from Kingdon and sailed right in, but Clement made a smart save. It was about the best chance of the game up to that stage. More than half the period had gone when Merritton finally opened the scoring. Brant passed to Robinson in mid-ice and the young right-winger after circling in front of the Petes defence, suddenly whirled to his right and out-footed the rear guards to break inside and drive a beauty past Harding.

Increase Their Lead.

Less than two minutes later Louie Spancheff, big Thorold boy who performs on the Merritton defence broke out from behind his own blue line and ambled down left wing in a rush that did not look very menacing. However, the big fellow speeded up as he crossed into Peterborough territory and fired a shot as he cut in toward the net that had Harding beaten all the way. The drive caught the corner of the net to the goalie's left.

That put Merritton in front 2 to 0, and they held their advantage until the period was nearly over. Then Joe Desson drew a penalty, and while he was off the Petes broke into the score column. They put on a power play that hemmed the Redmen in and finally Heal passed out from behind the Merritton net to Tompkins who slammed the rubber past Clement. The Merritton goal umpire failed to turn on the red light, but Linesman Thompson saw the play and Referee Beef McKay of Hamilton awarded the goal, despite a protest from Desson, Merritton captain.

Once again in the early minutes of the second period, the Soldiers battling for the equalizer, were all over the Redmen. They had half a dozen real chances to sew up the ball game, but their attacks failed to jell. Finally after Heal had taken a pass and sailed in on what looked like a sure-scoring play, but that failed when the left winger got in too close and had to round the net instead of shooting. Merritton struck back, and on a semi-breakaway Saunders set Hand up with an accurate pass and the wingman cutting across the net caught the twine just an inch inside for a pretty goal to make it 3 to 1.

A Smart Peterborough Goal.

The Petes got that one back in a hurry when Kingdon and Tompkins teamed through the Redmen's defence on a neat passing play, and Tompkins lifted the rubber over Clement's arm as he dropped to try to save.

For the next few minutes the Soldiers did everything but tie the score. They lost a bunch of chances as they kept the rubber back of the Merritton blue line, but the puck stayed out of the net. Merritton were looking for breaks and got one when Saunders tore loose, but Harding made a gorgeous stop of his hard drive for the corner.

Then came the penalty to Crowe and two quick goals for the winners. Robinson got the first when he scooped the rubber into the empty net after Harding had thrown himself in front of a hard drive from Morgan. The rubber bounded to the side and Robinson who had been camped in front of the net had only to hoist the disc into the vacant cage. Twenty seconds later, with Merritton still ganging up, Desson fired a low shot through a flock of players. The drive caught the net and Harding, whose view was completely blocked, did not have a look-in on that one.

Soon after Crowe came back Godfrey drew a penalty for elbowing a Merritton player, but Blewett and Nichols fore-checked smartly and the Redmen failed to cash in on that chance.

Go After Goals.

The Petes went out for goals in the third period, with everybody up but while they made it hot for the winners they hadn't much luck in a scoring way. Kingdon Tompkins, Blewett and Nichols all failed to cash in on nice openings. Over seven minutes had gone before the Petes finally registered to cut the lead a bit.

Nichols and Blewett combined inside and while Clement stopped the shot the rebound came out to Bennett who promptly golfed the disc back into the cage to put the Petes within striking distance. When Spancheff was chased soon after the visitors staged a ganging attack that had Merritton in hot water, but they weathered the storm. They were not taking any chances at this stage, waiting for the breaks as the Petes opened up to try to get goals. Finally they got one when Desson dashed out from behind his own goal line and catching the Petes with only one man back fired a long pass to Bryan Robinson who was in the clear and coasted in to pull Harding out and net the puck smartly for the last score of the game. Spancheff was banished again with only a couple of minutes to go, and the Soldiers made it close but failed to register.

News From Training Camps

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Asked today if the placing of Jerry Priddy at third base instead of the veteran Red Rolfe didn't increase the defensive possibilities of his infield, Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees snapped to newsmen, "You can say that, but I can't. If I did, everyone would expect us to win by 50 games."

SARASOTA, Fla.—After appraising the pitching performances of Oscar Judd, Ingersoll, Ont., product, Yank Terry and Andy Karl in their 2-1 12-inning victory over New York Giants yesterday, Manager Joe Cronin of Boston Red Sox consoled himself today over the condition of Tex Hughson. Hughson, expected to be a starter this season, has a sore arm and is being treated by a specialist.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers is nursing a badly-bruised big toe on his right foot, the result of a foul tip in a recent batting practise.

Heavy Checking Red Wing

EDDIE BUSH

Bush is the heavy-checking defence player of the Detroit Red Wings of whom much has been written. He is already rated one of the hardest jolters in the league, but, in addition, he is a fast skater and hard shot. One of Bush's assets is a coolness that has developed since he first appeared with Wings in 1938. He has learned to feint, drawing the opposition out of position, before he lets the puck fly. He can wait now until he gets a real opening.

Bush went to Pittsburg, then a Wing farm, in 1938, after a trial with the Wings. The following season he was sent to Indianapolis. Then he was sold to Providence. It didn't take Manager Jack Adams, of the Wings, long to realize he had made a mistake, as reports of Bush's developments into a puck carrier, borne out by the scoring figures, reached him. Since last year Adams has been eager to get him back. But Providence officials knew they had a good man and they drove a tough bargain for his return, taking Bob Whitelaw and Buck Jones, both defencemen, and a couple of minor leaguers yet to be delivered.

Hextall Corners Scoring Honors

MONTREAL, March 17.—(CP). — Bryan Hextall, New York Ranger right-winger, who wound up in second place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring list last season, practically clinched the top honors in the list during the last week by scoring two goals and assisting in two others to raise his total to 56 points.

The league's weekly statistics issued to-day showed that Hextall's linemates, Lynn Patrick and Phil Watson, in second and third place, respectively, Patrick with 54 points and Watson 52.

Patrick tallied once and obtained an assist in the two games winding up the Ranger schedule during the week to break a second-place tie with Watson which lasted several weeks. Watson remained scoreless.

Detroit's Don Grosso remained in fourth spot by scoring a goal and picking up two assists to raise his total to 49 points, 21 goals and 28 assists. The Red Wings, as well as all the other teams in the league besides Rangers have but one game to play in their schedule.

Syd Abel, Grosso's linemate, moved into a fifth place tie with Chicago's Bill Thoms by counting once while the Black Hawk forward remained scoreless. Each has 45 points to his credit.

Still the penalty box's favorite dweller was Brooklyn's Pat Egan with 104 minutes against him, the same total as a week ago.

DELAND, Fla.—Don Gutteridge, who came to the St. Louis Browns training camp with a round-trip ticket on a "make good or go home" basis, has torn up the stub now that Johnny Lucadello is a Marine. Fielding perfectly at second base in two games, Don poled out one hit, a double.

Majors Wallop Bisons 5-2; Second In Row

HAMILTON, Ont., March 17 — (CP). — Buffalo-Ankerite Bisons headed home to Schumacher, Ont., today with as heavy a responsibility as any Senior hockey team ever carried.

The Northern Ontario Hockey Association champions are two games down to Hamilton Majors, Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" titlists, in their best-of-five series in Canadian Senior hockey championship eliminations. The third game of the series, at McIntyre Arena in Schumacher tomorrow night, will be the most important test the Bisons have faced this season. Defeat would mean elimination.

Bisons were beaten 5-2 last night in Hamilton by a splurge late in the third period by Major's first-string forward line, Doug Runions, Johnny Conick and Dillon Brady. The game was close most of the way—much like the first game of the series, which Hamilton won 3-2—until the halfway mark in the third. Then the Runions-Brady-Conick line solved the Buffalo-Ankerite defence, and Majors romped home from there.

Herbie Carnegie, one of Bisons' three Negro stars, was outstanding in the game. He scored the Northerners' first goal early in the second period, after Polly Niocinovich counted for Hamilton in the same period. Robertson sent Hamilton ahead again soon after Carnegie's goal and Majors carried a 2-1 lead into the final period.

Carnegie Adds One

Ossie Carnegie, linemate with Herbie and Manny McIntyre on the All-Negro line, scored early in the third period with a swift dash around the Hamilton defence and a shot from a few inches ouside of the goal crease.

Carnegie and Smack Allen were banished for roughing a few minutes later and when they returned to the ice they tangled again. Carnegie was given another penalty, and while Bisons were short-handed Dillon Brady sank a pass from Doug Runions to send Majors into a lead that was increased a few minutes later on a goal by Johnny Conick. Brady bagged the last goal of the night.

Fourth game of the series, if necessary, will be played in Schumacher Thursday night and the fifth, if necessary, in Toronto Saturday.

Americans Must Win Tonight

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Red Dutton will make his annual choice between hockey and the contracting business tonight, depending on how his Brooklyn club fares. He won't have any direct influence on the decision, as usual, unless he climbs over the boards at Boston and kicks in a few pucks himself. That is illegal and ridiculous but with Red, not impossible.

Red's Americans have come to the fork in the road. A win in Boston tonight will keep alive their slim hopes of reaching the Stanley Cup playoffs, with complete fulfilment depending upon the game between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs in Montreal Thursday night. A win for Brooks tonight will lift them into a sixth-place tie with Canadiens, but if Canadiens pulled even a single point out of their encounter with Leafs the spell would be broken. Brooks could go home, and Red back to his contracting business in Calgary.

The game means nothing to Boston, except as a warmup for Bill Cowley. The Boston centreman will make his first appearance in action since his jaw was shattered in a collision with Syd Howe in Detroit last Jan. 22.

There are no soft spots into which Mr. Cowley can be dropped for his tuneup at this stage of the season, and the entertainment tonight is liable to be quite rough. Brooks stopped Toronto Maple Leafs in New York Sunday night in a determined manner and much as Generalissimo Dutton hates to trust Toronto Maple Leafs he must be hoping today that his previous judgment has been partially wrong, that the Leafs are not all heels, and that they'll beat Canadiens Thursday.

The playoffs will start Sunday night, with Rangers and Leafs in New York for the opening game of the best-of-seven semi-final series while Chicago travels to Boston to start one of the best-of-three quarter finals. Detroit will be at home to either Canadiens or Americans in the other.

QHA Teams Face Tough Grind To Beat Deadline

MONTREAL, March 17—(CP). — Teams remaining in the Quebec Senior Hockey Title hunt today faced a staggering schedule over the next six days in their efforts to declare a provincial champion in time to continue the Allan Cup hunt in the Maritimes, March 31.

The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association drew up a revised schedule early this morning, after the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association refused to allow the Quebec branch more time to declare a champion.

The schedule calls for the Quebec Senior Hockey League winner to play four games between Wednesday and Sunday, while the Montreal and District Senior "B" winner may be called upon to play this week starting tonight, and Sunday afternoon.

Under the revised schedule the Q.S.H.L. series between Ottawa Senators and Quebec Aces opens in Ottawa tomorrow night and continues in Quebec Friday night. If a deciding game is necessary in the best-of-three series, it will be played in Ottawa Saturday night, with the winner meeting the Senior "B" winner in Montreal in a sudden-death provincial final Sunday afternoon.

Should the Q.S.H.L. winner be declared in two games, the provincial final will be a total-goal affair, with the first game on tre Q.S.H.L. winner's home ice Saturday and the second in Montreal Sunday afternoon.

To meet the provincial final dates, the Senior "B" teams must declare a winner by Friday, with the Montreal and District League winner meeting the Eastern Townships' winner in a home-and-home series Thursday and Friday nights.

Oshawa B Squad Washed Up Losing To U.T.S.

TORONTO, March 17—A third-period tally by Winger Don Bark, his second of the game, gave University of Toronto Schools a 3-3 tie in the second game of their playoff series with Oshawa Bees at Maple Leaf Gardens last night and vaulted the Toronto team into the next round of the O.H.A. Junior "B" playoffs with a 6-5 margin on the round.

Outplayed for the greater part of the second period as the Oshawans forged from behind into a 3-2 lead, the Students capitalized on a tripping penalty to Defenseman Vern Bowen to notch the all-important goal early in the final frame. They stood off Oshawa's desperate sorties for the remainder of the tilt with tight defensive hockey.

Houston Nets First

Bill Houston shot U.T.S. into an early lead in the first period, firing home Chad Bark's rebound from the wire screen behind the Oshawa goal. The visitors swarmed right back to notch the equalizer two minutes later when McIntyre poked Stew Reid's pass behind Goalie Dick Ball.

The Blue and White edged in front again at 3.05 in the second frame as Don Bark flipped home Geoff Gordon's relay while Don Bouckly sat out a tipping penalty. McIntyre and Bouckley came right back with two fast counters before the session was half over to give the Oshawans the lead for the first time in the game and it appeared as if they had finally hit a scoring stride. Defenceman Chad Bark and Johnny Ratcliffe rose to the occasion though and sparked their teammates in a checking display that held the visitors off the score sheet until the final whistle.

Goalie's View Blocked

Don Bark's deciding goal climaxed a sustained ganging attack that could not be denied. Bark drilled Ratcliffe's rebound through a maze of players to give Goalie Phil Burkhart no chance.

Oshawa—Goal, Burkhart; defense, Bouckley and McMullen; centre, McIntyre; wings, Reid and Furey; subs, White, Sawyer, Bowen, McConkey Batten and Barker.

U.T.S.—Goal, Ball; defense, C. Bark and Ratcliffe; centre, D. Bark; wings, Lawlor and Gordon; subs, Houston, Firstbrook, Fox, Pugh, Brown and Robson.

Referee—Hugh McLean, Hamilton.

Pierse Pledges War To Hit Right In Japan

NEW DELHI, India, March 17.—(CP). — Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, the new R.A.F. Chief in India, pledged to-day that the United Nations will fight an aggressive air war in the Far East, with Japan herself the ultimate objective.

Sir Richard, former Chief of the R.A.F. bomber command in Britain said that as one step in this direction a United States air headquarters has been set up in India.

The quietly-confident Air Marshal told, in a press conference, a story of growing aerial might and of determination to make it help turn the tide of war on the Asian mainland from the defensive to the offensive for the United Nations.

"We are going to carry the war into the enemy's country, into Japan," he asserted. "We are not going to be content to put up an umbrella and sit underneath for the enemy to come to attack us."

The arrival in increasing numbers of the latest models of British and American planes was announced by Air Marshal Peirse, who gave this estimate of the air situation:

"Reinforcements are coming through faster. Our plans are being accelerated. As far as the enemy air force are concerned, aircraft for aircraft, the British and American types are superior. Man for man, I don't think we have any fear of the enemy....If we can meet him on anything like equal terms we can beat him from the skies."

200 Japs to 42 Allies

He praised the American Volunteer group, saying that "they and the Royal Air Force, since the Burmese campaign started, have accounted for 200 Japanese planes for a loss of 42 themselves."

Air blows were proving effective, meanwhile, in smashing Japanese canoe convoys in the rivers and truck convoys ashore moving northward to attack the British and Chinese forces strung across central Burma 60 to 80 miles north of enemy-held Rangoon.

At the same time, the colonial office in London announced steps to shape up the defence of Ceylon, the so-called "back-line fortress" against Japanese invasion of India, by naming Vice-Admiral Sir Geoffrey Layton commander in chief of all British forces on the Indian Ocean island.

It said Sir Geoffrey, 58-year-old former commander, of Britain's China station, will direct naval, military, air and civilian defence operations, in other words "all measures necessary" to safeguard the island.

Actually, according to a Reuters report from Colombo, capital of Ceylon, Sir Geoffrey assumed his new post a week ago but has not yet intervened in the civil administration of Governor Sir Andrew Galdecott.

be thrown out of work. Gold mining enabled the north country to come through the depression and 300,000 people were directly interested.

"There is a ready market to-day for the gold we can produce and this is lucky for Caanda," said Mr. Bradette.

Plenty of Outlet Yet

"I have no fear the United States will close this market as at the present time that country is spending millions in gold in South America, but if this market should be cut off then there would be only one thing for this country to do—build up a gold reserve of $5,000,000,000 or $6,000,000,000 in order to keep this industry going."

Yesterday's sitting brought criticism of the Government's wheat program for C.C.F. and New Democracy members, but Resources Minister Crerar defended it. He said it was essential for Canada to emphasize the production of con-concentrated foods he said he meant of Britain and other war allies. By concenrated foods he said he meant meat, particularly bacon products, dairy products, canned fruits and vegetables.

Mr. Crerar replied to an earlier attack upon himself from Harry Leader (Lib.-Prog., Portage La Prairie), by outlining his stand on various issues relating to wheat since 1925. He said he had no motive except to promote the best interests of the farmers of the West and suggested that while Mr. Leader was sincere he allowed his prejudices to sway his judgment.

"It is impossible to chart a long-term policy for wheat," said Mr. Crerar. "We do not know what sort of a world we may be living in when this war is over.

Hope For The West

"If, happily, we can get the world organized in such a way that we can have peaceful trade throughout the world then I think Western Canada will come back to its old place in the supplying of wheat.

"If this condition is not to obtain then we will have to consider a future program for that large part of Western Canada which has been accustomed to make its living by growing wheat."

Both J. A. Gregory (Lib., The Battlefords), and Roy T. Graham (Lib., Swift Current) noted a certain defeatist attitude, which they deplored, in certain parts of Eastern Canada about the wheat lands of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Gregory predicted Saskatchewan once again would produce great crops and said the contribution it had made to Canada's development in the past did not warrant its abandonment in the present period of poor crops and distress.

Mr. Graham said all Canada was interested in a great experiment now being tried in the Palliser triangle, the area subject to drought where 1,000,000 people lived. Through land utilizations studies, research and moisture conservation, development of suitable varieties of wheat, and water conservation developments under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, an effort was being made to conquer drought.

Mr. Graham predicted the experiment under way would be crowned with ultimate success and that the Palliser triangle would again become a great asset to Canada.

Share The Losses.

J. A. Marshall (N.D., Camrose) said he thought mortgage companies should be made to share "50-50" with the farmers the loss occasioned by wheat acreage reduction. Acreage reduction last year had deprived farmers of $100,000,000 in income and the Government should have required the mortgage companies to write off $50,000,000 in farm indebtedness.

G. H. Castleden (C.C.F., Yorkton) said Western farmers asked only for simple justice when they asked for "parity" prices, and that the bill before the House failed to provide a parity price for wheat.

Anthony Hlynka (N.D., Vegreville) said the Government's policy was not satisfactory to the farmers; it was the duty of the Government to produce the results the people wanted once the people had made their wishes known. A Government which failed to do so could not call itself democratic.

F. D. Shaw (N.D., Red Deer) said he was opposed to curtailing production. If the Government did not want farmers to grow wheat it should not pay them to leave their land uncropped but should get them to produce something else, perhaps sugar beets. There should be more planning and organization of agricultural production.

Liguori Lacombe (C.D.N., Laval-Two Mountains), leader of the new Canadian party of which he is sole House representative, attacked Premier Godbout of Quebec and said the Quebec Government was controlled by trusts and high finance. He complained that Mr. Godbout had not fought to secure exemption of farmers and farmers' sons from compulsory military service.

air power be massed in the south west Pacific area to counterbalance the heavy loss of United Nations' naval strength in the costly sea battle with a Japanese fleet off Java.

Legislators frankly looked on the destruction of 13 Allied vessels as nothing short of a major disaster, but Senator Allan Ellender (Dem.-Lad.), a member of the Senate Naval Affairs committee, said the defeat might be offset at least in part by pouring air forces into the defence of Australia.

Need Carriers Too.

That meant, Ellender declared, that the remaining United Nations naval vessels now operating around Australia, as well as the reinforcements presumably en route, must have the protection of a strong screen of planes from carriers as well as land based craft.

There have been indications that heavy U.S. land-based bombers have been operating in the area in limited strength, but no indications that U.S. carriers have reached that theatre, and few signs of land-based fighters in action.

On the later score, however, there was some encouragement in an Army communique yesterday, which reported that nine U.S. fighters accounted for three Japanese aircraft on Saturday in an aerial dogfight with a much larger enemy squadron north of Australia. Only one U.S. plane was lost.

This engagement, plus the reports that U.S. warplanes were reaching India for action on the Burma front led to the hope htat quiet progress was being made in building up air strength in both important theatres. A major weakness in the Allied fight to hold Java was the insufficiency of fighter planes.

several hundred yards and overturned. The driver was injured severely.

Two storms struck scattered areas in East-Central Illinois. The first ripped through three Eastern counties, and the second blasted a trail about 100 miles to the north and west. The latter storm hit the centre of Alvin, a town of 339, leaving at least eight dead, and passed through Lacon, 1,600 population, where six were known dead and about 100 injured in that district. Property damage was heavy in those areas and near St. Joseph, where three were reported dead.

Half Million in Illinois

Damage in six Illinois counties was estimated at more than $500,000.

Tennessee's 20 known dead and more than 100 injured were reported from western communities in the rich cotton land bodering the Mississippi river.

Flying glass injured 12 persons at the West Tennessee State Hospital at Bolivar where damage was estimated by hospital officials at $100,000.

Dr. W. D. Martin, superintendent of the institution, said "it was a miracle" no one was killed when the high winds ripped a roof off a ward and cracked walls of one building.

Nine persons were reported killed when a tornado struck Browder, West Kentucky coal mining community.

Two were know dead at Bardstown, Ky., and Drakesboro and Greenville, Ky., each reported one death.

Indiana's tornadoes struck freakishly in two areas about 150 miles apart. Two were killed at Goshen, a city of 10,000 in the north-central part of the State.

Full force of the tornado ripped through a residential section of Goshen, causing fires and heavy property damage. At least 10 homes were flattened.

Basement Saves 17

Seventeen women and two children, attending a church meeting at Lacon, Ill., saved themselves by scurrying to the basement, but had to be dug out of the building's wreckage later by rescue workers.

When a second tornado whirled into Baldwin, Miss., Mrs. Tom Abbott, mother of a half-hour-old baby, felt her house being blown away. She left her bed, grabbed up a two-year-old child and led another by the hand to safety. A neighbor cared for the new-born babe. A recent widow, Mrs. Abbott is the mother of nine children.

Near Huntingdon, Tenn., Mrs. Wayne Bedwell saw the storm approaching, seized her two small daughters and ran toward a neighbor's house. Unable to reach the home, she tossed the girls into a roadside ditch and lay down across them. The wind roared over them.

Niagara Blast Kills 2 Men Injures Five

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 17—(CP). — Investigations were proceeding to-day into an explosion yesterday in an isolated building of the Welland Chemical Company about seven miles south-west of here. Two men were killed and five injured.

Steve Keleman Dienes of Port Colborne, Ont., and Alfred Lever of Merritton, Ont. were fatalities in the explosion, with Donald Brooks, Paul Campbell, Paul Scott, George Smith, and Paul M. Reilly injured. Addresses of the injured men were not available. Campbell and Brooks, with severe burns and lacerations, were more seriously injured than Scott, Smith and Reilly.

The explosion was caused by a rupture in cooling coils and was felt in a 10-mile area around the company property. The building in which it occurred was wrecked but only slight damage was believed done to other buildings of the plant.

It was the second explosion within seven months at the plant, in which about 2,000 persons are employed. Three men were killed and 13 injured last September 3 when a faulty pressure-valve caused an explosion.

Clothing was burned from the bodies of Dienes and Lever. A preliminary investigation was made yesterday by Dr. E. T. Kellam, coroner, and an autopsy was performed on Dienes last night.

Plans for an inquest have not been announced. Attorney-General Gordon Conant informed Federal Government officials last night he would defer his decision regarding an inquest until he received instructions from Ottawa.

Dienes was 21. Funeral services will be held for him in Port Colborne on Wednesday. Funeral arrangements for Lever have not been completed.

Duke Of Atholl Private Army Owner Dies At 70

DUNKELD, Scotland, March 17—(CP). — The Duke of Atholl, 70, died Monday at his Perthshire home, Eastwood.

The Duke was a member of Parliament for seven years prior to his succession to the dukedom on his father's death in 1917, and was Lord High Commissioner to the Church of Scotland 1918-20. For a brief period in 1922 he was Lord Chamberlain.

He served with the Egyptian Cavalry in the Nile Campaign just before the turn of the century, winning the Distinguished Service Order, and in the South African War he commanded the 1st and 2nd Scottish Horse. In the First Great War, as a Brigadier, he served in Gallipoli and in Egypt.

The Duke was the only man in Great Britain with the right to maintain a private Army. This privilege has been enjoyed by the Dukes of Atholl for centuries.

His wife, the Duchess of Atholl, was a member of Parliament for 15 years resigning in 1938 in protest against the policies of the Chamberlain Government. She stood again in the by-election but was defeated by the Government candidate. Her vigorous espousal of the republican cause in the Spanish Civil War won her the sobriquet "Red Katie."

The Duke's titles fall to his 62-year-old brother, Lord James Stewart-Murray.

Bird's Eye View of Berlin

As the R.C.A.F. bomber pilot swings his plane around over Berlin, he sees clearly the details of his target below him through a windshield of plastic material—"Lucite". For this moment of "chickens coming home to roost", a crew of bright faced Canadian lads became avengers of the skies, an infant Canadian aircraft industry grew up overnight, and a product of Industrial Chemistry went to war.

"Lucite" is one of a group of many new materials generally referred to as Plastics. It is transparent as crystal, but is only half the weight of glass. But—vital in aircraft use—it will not shatter like glass.

"Butacite" for safety-glass manufacture, and "Plaskon" Resin Glue for the fabrication of plywood for aeroplane manufacture, are two other important Plastics vital to our war effort.

For some years before the war C-I-L was introducing Plastics of various types to industry. They went into such products as safety-glass, toothbrush handles, combs, radio and automobile trims and accessories. Now Plastics are rendering yeoman service in the cause of the United Nations.

LOST OVER CHANNEL.

Otonabee residents who know Gnr. Harry Hodkinson will regret to learn that his brother died serving in the Royal Air Force and his body was recently recovered from the English Channel. Harry Hodkinson, who is now overseas, also worked for Howard Smithson in Otonabee and for Harry Rutherford Transport.

CURB THIS DISEASE.

A woman was noticed in one of the local grocery stores with three large baskets of canned good, six of each variety to be exact. When asked by another shopper why she wished the large quantity, the woman replied, "Oh, I intend to build up a reserve." This in any language is plain hoarding, the one thing that the government wants to avoid, and which may become a serious offence, as it is already if one hoards sugar.

ROAD IS FLOODED.

The creek flowing from the brickyard pond, under the canal and down through the northern end of Ashburnham into the river this morning was taxing the capacity of the tunnels and culverts. At the junction of Caddy and Centre Streets the water was racing over the road in torrents, and at an early hour members of the Board of Works department were on the job relieving the ice jam.

ENLISTS WITH R.C.A.F.

Dave Whittaker, a civil engineer on the Trent Canal staff, has been accepted for duty by the R.C.A.F. a d left on Monday to report for duty. Mr. Whittaker served with the Royal Canadian Engineers in World War 1, and has been granted the rank of flying officer. His home is at 15 Manning Avenue.

CROWS ARE CALLING.

The raucous calls of crows greeted early risers in Ashburnham this morning, and several of the crows were in the pines on Armour Hill. More of them were down near the Engleburn section on the banks of the river, and all were noisy, but while there is little melody to their squawks, it is a welcome noise after the long months of cold weather.

GETS SERGEANT STRIPES.

Hedley Childerhose, who formerly operated an electrical appliance shop [illegible] George Street, is now serving [illegible] wireless instructor in one of the R.C.A.F. schools at Montreal. He received his stripes as sergeant-instructor a short time ago. Another local man who is reported to be making excellent progress is Sam Carewe, who before the war operated the Kawartha Motorcycle Shop on Hunter Street. He is also a wireless instructor.

POOLING CARS.

Members of the Peterborough Lions' Club who meet for luncheon at the Kawartha Club every second Monday, have decided to pool their transportation facilities. In future on meetings nights all members will meet at a downtown location to be chosen, and just enough cars to carry the group will be taken out to the Club. At the meeting on Monday evening, Victor Gallon, Lawrence McCarthy, Fraser Watson and Edward Bent were initiated into the Club.

BEAT THIS ONE.

A lady telephoned a grocery store a few days ago and asked that a delivery boy call at her house for two empty pop bottles and to bring ten cents to cover the rebate. She did not purchase the soft drinks at the grocery store and it would have meant a sizeable trip for the boy. The manager of the store refused, and then wound up his remarks with a little reminder to this woman that the country is at war, and delivery services have been curtailed.

DID NOT SAVE HIM

The fact that it was March 17 did not help Michael O'Brien very much in police court this morning, for Magistrate Langley sentenced the transient to ten days in jail on a vagrancy charge. The man's record showed a number of previous convictions for the same offence.

Dr. Ralph Honey Quits Dental Work To Enlist

Dr. Ralph C. Honey is closing his appointment book and setting aside his dental instruments for some indefinite period, the end of which is beyond visualizing.

"Dr. Honey is not making any more appointments except for some special work which he has not yet completed," was the information received by telephone this morning from his office secretary.

Major R. C. Honey is about to substitute the King's uniform of khaki for the professional white coat associated with the practice of his profession. The brief announcement from his office signified that he had offered his services as an officer in the organization of the Prince of Wales Rangers, recently commissioned to be recruited on a war footing.

This enlistment required Dr. Honey to sacrifice one of the busiest dental practices in the city. Some of his patients have told the Examiner that for many months his time has been fully occupied with appointments accepted three weeks in advance, and it has been generally recognized that he is giving up just about the most lucrative dental practice in Peterborough.

"Splendid," was the comment of Dr. J. E. Middleton, "but in one aspect it is really too bad that Dr. Honey has to abandon a work in which he has established a high reputation. He has been president of the Peterborough Dental Association, and is very highly regarded by his fellow dentists. In fact, we all love him. That is the type of man he is, and I know that his patients will greatly miss him. They will also feel very proud of him."

George Gimblett Head Of Legion

George Gimblett was re-elected president of the Canadian Legion, Peterborough branch, after an election was held in which he was opposed by Arthur Nokes. The vote count was not revealed. A good attendance was present and it is believed to have been one of the best meetings of the Legion here.

Other officers elected were Doug. Loomis, first vice-president; Arthur Burrows, second vce-president; executive committee, Melville Morrow, Bob Hotrum, Arthur Nokes, Andy Rutter, Sr., Pete Wallace. Sergeant-at-Arms is Oran Varty.

Much correspondence was read and reports on the various committees were given by Tom Rogers, financial report; Bob Hotrum, Property committee, Poppy fund and Buckeshee fund; sick committee by Pete Wallace, who said he furnished many cigarettes for sick members of the Legion.

Garfield Torrance was complimented on his work as secretary-treasurer for the branch. It was pointed out that his books were in first class shape when they were audited.

In the financial report, it was revealed that a shortage of $3,800 stood against the Legion branch here. The greater part of this has been erased since George Gimblett was first elected president. The amount now has been reduced to $1,000.

Eight new members were initiated into the club last night.

Floods Sweeping Through Eastern Section

A tremendous volume of brown muddy water from the Brickyard Pond reservoir swept through Ashburnham this morning, overtaxing the concrete tunnel which extends under Rogers street west to the river, and the water overflowing took the old course south through the built up section. Unfortunately in a way in recent years many garages, houses, and barns have been built directly in the old creek bed, and all suffered from the murky flood today.

The creek overflowed despite the fact that the tunnel was carrying a torrent of water right to the roof, and the flood swept south across Clifton street, then swished around Jim Conroy's stable, and encircled three bungalows built on the west side of Armour Road, just north of Munroe Avenue. At this point the water had to climb, and after filling the valley swept out on to Armour Road where the catch basin went to work and relieved the situations.

Jim Burgess, with his corps of Board of Works employees kept the ice and garbage which floated down, from clogging the basins, and in the block half way between Carlisle and Munroe Avenues and Douro street, six catch basins emptying into a trunk storm drain handled the water so that scarcely any ran below Douro street. Even Alderman Curtis, chairman of the Parks donned rubber boots and aided in confining the flood.

Homes Isolated

Fred Cusimano, Joe O'Toole and the home of George Hall who is on active service with the R.C.A.F. had their cellars filled, and garages were isolated by water almost three feet in depth. Foot traffic was impossible along Clifton street, and up at the junction of Caddy and Centre streets where the water was over the road.

Years ago water flowing down this watercourse had a clear path to the river, and tunnels were placed south of Douro street to handle the water as the district added more houses. However it is believed that these tunnels are no longer in existence judging from the amount of waters that is lying behind Art Chartren's and Dan Kennedy's places on Rogers street, between Roger and Armour Road. This water is just surface water but it has formed a tremendous pool in the low lying back yards.

Up at the junction of Downie and McDonnel streets, cellars were flooded, and this condition prevailed generally along the Downie street creek although the creeks were flowing clear. It just happened that the rain of last night coupled with melting snows, ice and frost relieved such a volume of water that existing drains could not handle it.

A Heavy Rain

Spring rain in torrents fell on this area last night to the extent of 1.55 inches, according to A. O. Phillips, official weather recorder. The precipitation was greater last night than all other days in March put together.

Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan council told the Examiner there was more water than he had ever seen before on the land today but it was running away because there was no snow to hold it. The creek flowing near his home rose to the bridge but had not to his knowledge overflown.

Flour Damaged

Damage was caused at Dewart's grain elevator this morning when the water backed up into the flour mill and wet a quantity of flour. At Whitaker's Wool Importers, the cellar was flooded but no damage was caused because the stock had been placed high enough that the water did not reach it.

The creek that parallels the highway and flows south under the highway at Western avenue went crazy again today, flooding cellars along New Chamberlain street and it continued on its wild rampage past Romaine street and down through the DeLaval property where considerable more damage was done by the flooding. This creek parallels Park street south to find its way into the river, and a suggestion made years ago that it be routed west of the city proper, seems to become more sensible as the years roll by.

Jackson Park was behaving although running almost filled to the edges.

Obituary

MISS SARA ROBINSON.

A lifelong resident of Peterborough, Miss Sara Robinson of 525 Weller street, died at her residence Tuesday following illness of about a year and a half. She was born in Peterborough, a daughter of the late Thomas W. Robinson and Jane Morgan. Miss Robinson was a member of George Street United church.

Surviving are: One sister and two brothers, Miss Abbie M. Robinson and Walter M. of Toronto; Howard W. Robinson of Toronto.

Funeral service will be held at her late residence, 525 Weller street, Thursday at 2.30 p.m. with the Rev. H. L Roberts officiating. Interment winll be made in Little Lake cemetery.

Expert Curler Archie Moore Is Buried Today

The funeral of Archibald Richard Moore took place this afternoon from Nisbett's Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte Street, to the Little Lake Cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart, and the pall-bearers were: A. A. McIntyre, Harold Baptie, Clarence J. Snider, Percy Graham, G. Snowden and J. Steinkrauss.

Mr. Moore died at his home, 283 King Street, Sunday in his 76th year. He was born at Bobcaygeon, son of Richard Ross Moore and his wife, Margaret King, and had lived here since he was a boy of nine years. Mr. Moore's health had been declining since last November. He is survived by one son, Orville, who is at present living in Montreal, and two grandchildren, Annette and Leonard of this city.

"Archie" Moore was a roofing contractor, and had been engaged in the building industry all his life until his retirement some years ago. In his younger days he was a member of the Peterborough Volunteer Fire Brigade under the leadership of the late Thomas Rutherford, and was one of the best curlers the Peterborough Curling Club ever produced. He was also a good bowler, and as a youth was a noted sprinter in track and field events especially in the one hundred and two hundred and twenty-yard dashes. One of his friends recalled that Mr. Moore had run the hundred yards in ten seconds. At one time he had a collection of thirty-six medals and eighteen silver cups, trophies of his athletic prowess. One of those souvenirs was won in a points competition in curling, and only curlers know what that signifies. He was actually an expert in the draw game, and in fact his aptitude for sports gave his curling an all-round finish that has been rarely equalized by members of the Peterborough Curling Club down the years.

Mr. Moore was also engaged as high county constable for a long time. In his heyday, too, he was widely known as a master of ceremonies at dances throughout this district.

Farmers Urged Get Seed Ready

Farmers should get their grain ready at once for seeding, the executive of the crop improvement association advised at a meeting here Saturday. They recommended especially Erban and Cartier oats, Nobarb and O.A.C.-21 barley, and mixtures of barley and oats for a maximum yield of grain for feed, such as one bushel of Erban with a bushel of Nobarb, or equal parts of Nobarb and Cartier.

Use of fertilizer on any field that is to be seeded for hay is suggested as a means of getting maximum quantity. Farmers should plan to improve their fields with humus barnyard manure, and should plow down green manure.

The committee also proposed more general adoption of hybrid corn. Their reports from local experiments verify the claims that hybrid varieties establish a better root system than the standard varieties and are thereby more resistant to wind. It has also been found that their yield is larger than other varieties. Some of the hybrid varieties mentioned are: Wisconsin 606 and 625 and Kingscrost. Peterborough farmers who have tried the hybrid corn are convinced of their value in withstanding high winds.

Maximum yields of feed crops, including grain and hay, should be a major objective in this year's farming, and the committee emphasized the fact that a bonus is paid on fertilizer that is applied only to livestock feeds, a special inducement for investment in that direction.

Rotarians Hear Own Voices Mirrophone

The roar of molecules "lining up" under the influence of a permanent magnet was made audible through a loudspeaker by George L. Long, historian of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, speaking before the Peterborough Rotary Club yesterday.

This demonstration was one of a series made by Mr. Long in the course of an address on the mirrophone, a magnetic tape recording device, which permits people to study their voices and so improve their speech.

Speech is the commodity in which the telephone company deals, and therefore Bell Telephone Laboratories, the telephone research organization, have made it their business to investigate all its ramifications, Mr. Long pointed out. Despite the complexities of speech, anyone can improve his diction by a little study and practice, he said.

We all have two basic elements of speech—vocal sounds and breath sounds. Given these two sounds and enough intelligence to be able to talk, there is practically no limit to what one can do with his voice. The quality depends on the use he makes of the tongue, teeth, lips, jaws and resonant chambers of the throat, mouth and nose.

Mr. Long illustrated his point by means of the artificial larynx, which enables a man whose larynx has been removed to speak once more The artificial larynx is used by about 50 people in Canada who have had to undergo an operation for the removal of their vocal mechanism, he said.

Mr. Long described some of the problems of transmitting speech over a telephone line. The energy of the average voice, he said, is measured in insect power. It would take five million people, all talking at once, to generate enough energy to light an ordinary incandescent lamp. In the telephone, it must be amplified, or it would not be heard by the person at the other end of the line. On one Transcontinental route, the voice will be amplified one trigintillion times—or whatever one followed by 75 zeroes is called.

After outlining the precautions taken by the telephone company to ensure good transmission, Mr. Long showed how the subscriber can distort his voice by not holding the transmitter close to his lips.

The speaker described and demonstrated the mirrophone, latest development of Bell Telephone Laboratories in sound recording. This device enables anyone to listen to his voice just as he would look at his face in a mirror, because it permits a recording to be made and reproduced immediately after. At the conclusion of the address, many of those present had the unusual experience of hearing their voices as others do.

A tiny horseshoe magnet, like a bent one-inch nail, lifting an iron bar 112 times its own weight, demonstrated the magnetic properties of vicalloy, the metal used as a record in the mirrophone. The recordings are not made on a hard rubber disc, as in the phonograph, but on an endless belt of vicalloy tape, he explained.

The mirrophone is used by the telephone company to train operators to speak clearly and pleasantly, Mr. Long said. It has been used to train R.C.A.F. instructors who have to give orders through microphones. It is the hope of the telephone company that its use will result in a widespread improvement in the tone of telephone service.

Mr. Long was introduced by M. H. Riddle, district manager of the Bell Telephone Company. At the conclusion of his talk, a hearty vote of thanks was extended by Bill Eastwood and this was conveyed by President Dr. G. S. Easton.

Postage Stamps Are Of No Salvage Use

The postal department is receiving consignments of cancelled postage stamps which are being sent in by persons who heard an appeal, said to have been made over the radio some weeks ago, in which it was represented that such stamps were valuable for salvage purposes as the dyes could be recovered from tehm.

Canadian postage stamps are printed from inks coloured by mineral pigments, They do not contain aniline dyes and it is useless to send them in for salvage purposes as the mineral colours they bear are not recoverable except at prohibitive cost. There is no shortage of the colours used in the manufacture of Canadian postage stamps.

The radio appeal mentioned above was not made on the authority of the Post Office Department of Canada, nor was the Department consulted before it was made.

Perhaps it related to the stamps of Great Britain and was intended for the people of the British Isles. The Department regrets that it cannot make any use of the stamps sent in and advises the public not to forward further consignments.

Recruits Flock To Enlist Stand In Line

Recruits are filing through the recruiting office at the armoury fast enough to keep the examining medical officers busy. Last night the examiners were on duty until after 11 o'clock handing something like forty men in the course of the day. There were 27 men who applied for enlistment with the Rangers at the recruiting office yesterday and the balance of those who were boarded, passed through the recruiting office prior to yesterday.

Paymaster of the Rangers, Lt. W. T. McFetridge of the Royal Canadian Army Pay Corps has arrived to take charge of that end of the work for the present. His home is Winnipeg but he came to Peterborough from the officer's training center in Brockville.

Privates E. Elias and E. P. S. Cavagh have been transferred to the Rangers as clerks from district depot 3A at Kingston, having received a course in clerking.

The recruiting office is under Lt. Col. A. H. Bounsall, officer commanding 2nd Midland Regt. Jack Duignan and 2/Lt. A. H. Heideman are members of the recruiting staff. 2/Lt. Heideman is looking after the Rangers recruiting in the office.

Captain C. Howes, ordnance inspection officer for this district, has been at the armoury for two days setting up the stores and active force accounting system. He acted in an advisory capacity to 2-Lt. H. Borland, acting quartermaster. Captain Howes left Peterborough today upon completion of his assignment.

Part 2 orders of the Rangers issued late yesterday contains the following names of men taken on strength of the unit:

- Pte. ANDREW JACKSON, 655 Aylmer street, to be acting regimental sergeant-major.
- Pte. JAMES WALTER FIELD, 73 Robinson street, to be acting regimental quartermaster-sergeant.
- Pte. JOHN CHARLES STEADMAN, 459 Murray street.
- Pte. ROBERT GEDDES HARPER, 581 Gilchrist street.

Reginald Harran Given 2 Months

Reginald Herran was found guilty by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., of taking a young girl from the custody of her father and was sentenced to two months' imprisonment in the count jail.

Evidence in the case was heard last week, and judgment reserved until this morning.

Magistrate Langley said that the accused had been very ably defended by W. R. Philp, but on all the evidence he felt that Herran had taken an active part in the placing of the girl in a Lasswade home and out of the custody of her father, and that there should be a conviction against the accused. Having regard to all the circumstances, however, he did not consider that a severe sentence would be justified.

Herran had previously pleaded guilty to assaulting the father of the girl in the case, and on that charge he was sentenced to ten days in jail, to run concurrently with the other sentence.

Members of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A.F. and A.M., are requested to meet at the Comstock Funeral parlor on Wednesday, March 18th, at 2.30 p.m. to attend the funeral of our late brother, John Watt.

Members of Sister Lodges are invited to attend.

War—25 Years Ago

(By the Canadian Press.)

MARCH 17, 1917 — Germans on the Ancre retreated along a 100-mile front, British occupying Bapaume, Nesle. Chaulnes, Peronne, and other villages; Roye, Noyon and Lassigny captured by the French. Zeppelin L39 destroyed at Compiegne. French Premier Briand resigned.

Range Boilers Rumored In Profiteering

Even some householders are selling their range boilers at prices up to $25 and $30, cutting off their hot water supply for indefinite periods until they order and obtain new ones at pegged prices. This is a report heard in the plumbing trade, indicating a disposition to profiteer in spite of the government's restrictions. Presumably it is not a general practice.

"The idea that building supplies cannot be secured because or war priorities is not true," Alex W. Archibald told the Examiner today. "Of course there are more prior needs than retail plumbing, and the trade is saying nothing about that. We are accepting that condition, and adjusting ourselves to it; but that does not mean supplies are shut off entirely."

It is understood that considerable delays probably have to be regarded as an inescapable condition, but with patience even these needs may be secured. At any rate the story of the range boilers being sold from homes at $30 and replaced later at half that price indicates a violation of the maximum prices regulations for which the utmost penalty is $5,000 a fine, or two years imprisonment or both.

Mr. Archibald quoted the following paragraph from a story in "Canadian Plumbing and Heating": "It seems timely in view of these rumors reaching us from responsible people to warn "CPH" readers again of their responsibilities under this war time legislation. It would also seem advisable for the Trade to warn the public wherever and whenever second-hands goods are offered by individuals as in the case of the range boilers mentioned above."

The price ceiling was fixed at the levels obtaining during the period of September 15 to October 11, 1941.

Farmers Resume Sugar Making

Reports from all parts of the Peterborough district indicate that a greater number of maple trees than ever before will be tapped this year, as farmers plan to co-operate with government officials by producing more maple syrup, and maple sugar in substantial quantities to alleviate the sugar rationing.

While a few farmers are reported to be a little hesitant about resuming syrup making operations, because of a shortage of help, the majority are either well into the job of collecting the sap or else intend to start this week.

People wtih a special sweet tooth for maple syrup need not fear they will have to pay an increased price for it this season. A statement of clarification from the offices of the Region Prices and Supply representative issued a few days ago at Lindsay emphasized that maple syrup is definitely under the ceiling, except when it is sold by the primary producer to dealers, processors or manufacturers.

"In other words," the statement read, "maple syrup cannot be retailed at a price higher than that prevailing during the basic period. Moreover if it is sold by the primary producer directly to the consumer through public market and otherwise, the price must not be higher than the maximum retail price established during the basic period for the same product in the same area."

Unlike cane and beet sugar, maple sugar does not come under the rationing regulations, it was pointed out.

Only $60 Needed To Complete Next Donation

The Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, with today's list of receipts, now requires but $60 to complete the next donation of £500, which when completed, will mark the sixteenth time that money has gone forward from the people of this city and district to relieve the distress of air raid victims in Britain, through the Lord Mayor's National Air Raid Distress Fund.

Since January 29, 1941, the Box in the Bell Telephone Co. Ltd. Office has been collected seventeen times with the one recorded in today's list which yielded $3.75, making in all a total of $57.68 that has come to the fund from this one source, making an average of $3.39 a collection, which ran from a low of $1.78 to a high of $5.08.

The girls in the Robt. Neill Shoe store office have been good steady contributors to the fund, the $5 listed making their sixth donation of a like amount to be listed to their credit.

Two personal donations are listed under the name of "Somerset and "E.M.F." both of these also being regular contributors to the fund.

In point of number of cotributions to the fund, the employees of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. Ltd. have excelled themselves, the $10 in their name today marking the 40th time they have helped the fund, to make a grand total of $520, which is an average of $13 a time, and when one considers this has been accomplished through an overwhelming amount of the smallest of coins in the aggregate, it demonstrates particularly what really can be done with persistent effort.

With the advent of warmer weather, it would not seem out of place to anticipate more activity on behalf of those who suffer from air raids in Britain on the part of our children, whose endeavor in this respect called forth admiration from all, and it would not be out of place to remind them that the market stall so kindly placed at the disposal of the fund for the purposes of raising money is still available for such purpose, and except for the Saturday before Easter when it has been spoken for by the Lily Lake Sunday School and Christian Endeavor, it can be procured on application to the secretary of the fund.

RADIONIC EXAMINATION

by the Radioclast, will detect the cause of Neuritis or other diseases of the body. Radionic treatment will eliminate infections in any part of the body. No permanent relief of this painful ailment can be had unless the infection or any other cause is removed.

Careless Manners Hold You Back

Knowing Etiquette Gives Poise

You can see from their manners that Fran and Bud don't belong to the same social set that Dick and Louise do.

Poor Fran is thrilled by a chat with Bud, who doesn't even know it's correct to get out of his car when a girl stops to talk.

Of course Louise is amused. She's used to boys l[illegible] Dick, who take off their hats when they meet a girl on the street, remain bareheaded while they chat.

It's differences of this sort that stamp Fran's friends as socially not quite "acceptable."

At restaurants the girls make themselves conspicuous, walking to a table arm in arm with their escorts. At parties the boys rudely leave the girls to shift for themselves when a dance is over.

Not so Louise's poised friends! At restaurants where there is a headwaiter the girl precedes her escort, following the headwaiter to a table. After a dance, the boys take their partners back to friends or wherever the girls wish.

You can make your manners just as smooth. Our 32-page booklet has rules of etiquette for dances, theatres, office, parties, visits, dates. Gives advice on the petting problem.

For you copy of "Etiquette for Young Moderns" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

A REGULAR SHILLALEH

ON ST. PATRICK'S DAY it is appropriate to chronicle the use, by a real fighting Irishman, of probably the fightingest kind of weapon that can be used in a contract bridge auction. It is known as the "forcing pass." Easy to identify, it is marked by your passing an opponent's call at a time when your partner knows you could make a perfectly safe bid. He must interpret your action then as telling him he must either double that bid, or else make for you the bid which he knows you could have made.

North: ♠ A Q 5 4 ♥ Q 10 7 2 ♦ 9 6 ♣ J 10 5

West: ♠ 6 3 ♥ K J ♦ Q 10 ♣ K Q 8 7 6 4 3

East: ♠ 9 7 ♥ A 9 6 4 3 ♦ K 8 7 3 2 ♣ 2

South: ♠ K J 10 8 2 ♥ 8 5 ♦ A J 5 4 ♣ A 9

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1♠
2♣	2♠	3♥	Pass
Pass	Dbl	4♦	Dbl.
4♥	Dbl

Colonel J. J. O'Hare, who was known as "Red" when he played almost the entire side of the West Point line, who later won the bridge championship of Cuba when he was the military attache of the American embassy in Havana, and who now is a member of the general staff, was South on this deal in a rubber game, and made that devastating pass of East's 3-Hearts.

Since North had made a free bid over West's 2-Clubs, he knew his partner was able to bid spades again, but nevertheless passed, to give North a crack at the bid, which was much too high for overcallers against a pair that possessed enough strength for an opening call by one and a free bid by the other. Notice East's panicky call of diamonds when he found he was doubled, also how West felt he had to shift to his partner's first suit to minimize the punishment.

As it developed, the contract was set four tricks, with two in spades, two in hearts, two in diamonds and one in clubs. That produced 800 points, whereas a game for South would have brought only a score worth about 420, which would have been the result if the Colonel had bid 3-Spades instead of using the forcing pass. It turns out that 4-Clubs by West might have been set only one trick, but just when would he bid that? And would East leave it in?

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ A 10 4 ♥ Q 9 6 5 ♦ A 5 ♣ 7 6 5 2

West: ♠ Q J 8 7 6 2 ♥ K J 10 8 ♦ K 6 4 ♣ None

East: ♠ 9 ♥ A 4 2 ♦ 9 7 ♣ A K Q J 9 4 3

South: ♠ K 5 3 ♥ 7 3 ♦ Q J 10 8 3 2 ♣ 10 8

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

If South's overcall of 1-Club by 1-Diamond is the only hostile bidding, how should East and West carry on the rest of the auction on this deal?

No Canuck Snag To Alaska Rd., Says US Officials

By J. F. SANDERSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, March 16 —(CP) —An exchange of notes between the United States and Canadian Governments giving final approval to construction of the proposed Alaska highway is expected "within the next few days," the Canadian legation says in a lengthy review of negotiation between the two governments.

The statement, issued last night was issued, the Legation said, in view "of certain erroneous reports which have been circulated on the subject of Alaskan communications."

Under the heading, "Alaska highway," the statement said that "far from holding up the United States proposal, the Canadian Government in fact agreed instantly to the commencement of surveys and in exactly one week from receiving the recommendation of the "Joint Defence Board had approved the whole project."

It added that "to meet the need for Air Communication between the United States and its Alaskan bases, the Canadian Government, during the season of 1941, established at its own expense a line of air bases extending from Edmonton to White Horse."

Agreed Same Day

On Feb. 13, it said, the United States "intimated" that a highway to Alaska was "imperative" and "the Canadian government agreed the same day that the United States might begin initial surveys."

Under the heading, "North West Airlines," the statement reviewed the detention and subsequent release of a North West Airliner which it said arrived at Edmonton "without notice of any kind," its occupants intimating "their intention of setting up radio facilities betwen Edmonton and Fairbanks and of establishing their own route."

"Following inquiries," the statement continued, "it was learned on March 2 that the United States Army Air Corps proposed to give a contract to North West Airlines to carry military personnel and supplies to Alaska. To this proposal the Canadian Government gave immediate consent on the explicit understanding that the service in question would be confined strictly to military transport."

The Legation added that two civil airlines now operate between the United States and Alaska and that the United States and Canada "are in complete agreement that any application to establish a new civilian line to Fairbank's must go through the normal channels."

Master Sammy Bell celebrated his 8th birthday on Friday, March 13, and Master Ralph Heard celebrated his 10th. The boys entertained their friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bell. Those present were Sammy Bell, Ralph Heard, Billy and Lorrie Mann, Lois and Arnold Murray, Sally Ann Hartman and Peter Chown.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—draggy—low in vitality—lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. 112

Summary Day Set By W.I. For Havelock

TRENT RIVER, March 17 (ENS) —The March meeting of Trent River Women's Institute was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. George Brooks, with 18 members present. Three new members were welcomed. The meeting opened with the Ode and War Prayer by Mrs. F. McLaughlin. The roll call was "Do's and Dont's for Children."

Mrs. H. Mann reported for War Workers, receipts of $125.80; expenditures of $28.05; balance, $97.75. Literature was distributed concerning the price ceiling and a discussion on this important subject will be held at the next meeting.

Mrs. M. Wight gave an interesting reading on "Health and Child Welfare," explaining new government health regulations and the need of concentration on well-balanced, nutritional meals for all the family during war time.

The Sick committee reported fruit sent to several sick members. The usual $1 was donated to a new baby. It was decided to hold the War Workers next meeting on Thursday, March 19 next, instead of Tuesday.

The secretary announced the Institute "Summary Day" is to be held in Havelock on May 8. Mrs. F. Ruttan and Mrs. E. Little were appointed delegates.

A clipping sent by Mrs. Henry Pollock was read, describing the need of patchwork quilts in England and the delight taken in them by the folks in the Old Country. Mrs. Earl Greenly gave a reading entitled "Busy Boy." A quiz contest was won by Mrs. Thomas Brown. Following the National Anthem, lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames R. J. McNeely and Thomas Wight.

Personals

Master Donald Steenburgh is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. Steenburgh at Cordova.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Northam and son, Joey, of Whitby, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tedford.

Miss June Steenburgh of Peterborough spent the week-end at her home here.

Mr. Douglas Farnsworth of Lockport, N.Y., was a week-end visitor with Mrs. J. Sedgwick and Frances.

The trapping season opened Saturday morning, but the bad weather held up commencement of operations somewhat. However, most local trappers were out getting things in shape. The marshes are not open as yet so what trapping is done for a few days will be confined to the open water.

A kitchenware shower and presentation was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Brown, Seymour West, on Saturday evening last in honor of Miss Evelyn Brown, who is to be married this month. A large crowd of friends and neighbors were on hand to express their good wishes and Miss Brown was the recipient of a large assortment of useful and lovely gifts. During the evening members of the Girls' Class of the United Church presented the bride-to-be with a beautiful hymnary. Miss Brown thanked the assembly with well chosen words, and a pleasant evening of entertainment was enjoyed by all.

Pte. Jay Brown, R.C.O.C., of Ottawa was a week-end visitor at his home here.

An American-built M-3 30-ton tank, attached to a Canadian armored division, is shown plowing up the ice in a frozen stream during tests "somewhere in England." These tanks are known as "General Lee" type and are named after the famous Confederate general of Civil war. WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

ATTENTION, SCOUTERS

The district commissioner would appreciate immediate action on the return of reports as sent out three weeks ago. It is essential that the lists should be in his hands at the earliest opportunity. Please act at once.

LOCAL ASSOCIATION

The executive of the local association will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday night of his week at 7.30 p.m. sharp. All members are requested to attend.

SCOUTERS' CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the Scouters' Club was held on Wednesday. A very good attendance was recorded with two new members in Douglas Stoker, formerly of Hamilton, and Alvin Post from Havelock. A paper on Cubbing was given by Akela Mrs. Langhorne, while President Pete Dominik pinch hit for Stan Leggitt with a talk on Patrol System. We would urge that more scoutmasters attend these meetings, as they are growing in interest all the time.

ST. LUKE'S

A busy bunch of boys were at the jungle with wood and fret saws as they started to prepare for the coming craft display. Assistant Commissioner E. Wolfe and his aide-de-camp the Skipper gave a talk on the coming craft show, and left lists for the boys to study.

Ken and Doug Johnson have joined the pack on transfer from the Mark Street group. The following service stars were presented: two-year stars to Allan Northcott, Ralph Bigelow, LaVergne Butcher, Wayne Ferguson, Allan Payne; one-year star to Bobbie Payne; three-year stars to Billie King and Bob Wyatt. Also two-year service stars to Baloo and Akela. Wayne Ferguson also received his second star and has now both eyes open. George Gough and Hewitt Hamilton were absent through sickness. George will receive one-year service star and his first star when he returns to the pack. All cubs are requested to bring the fret saws and models to the next meeting, and done forget the magazines.

MURRAY STREET

Friday last was a banner night for the cubs and scouts of the 14th group when some 50 parents met to witness the working of the pack and troop and also to interest the mothers in the forming of a parents' auxiliary. The pack opened the meeting with the grand howl followed by inspection and a report on good turns done. Games of balloon, and staff relay, and shoulder charging demonstrated the cubs' skill and caused much laughter. Red-flower was carried out with some good singing and solos; D. Pollock gave a recitation followed by a guitar solo by Cub Whatley.

The scouts in turn demonstrated various first aid bandaging and stretcher work, followed by knotting and signalling. The cubs and scouts were then dismissed.

Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe called the parents together and turned the meeting over to W. G. Shiner, chairman of the group committee. Mr. Shiner spoke briefly on the main item of interest, namely the forming of a ladies' auxiliary, and introduced Mrs. G. E. Groombridge and A. Hope, both of whom gave a very concise and descriptive talk on the position of and the work of the ladies' auxiliaries in scouting. Mr. Shiner thanked the speakers, and asked the meeting if it was their wish to nominate some present to act as president of the new auxiliary, this honor going to Mrs. Frise, with three other ladies chosen to act as a committee for the formation of the group. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

GEORGE STREET GROUP

The parents of Don Lavis and Neal May were present to witness their sons' entrance into the brotherhood of scouting as these boys took their cub promise to do their best during an investiture ceremony that took place last Tuesday evening.

At the same time Alan Lavis was invested as sixer to a new six, with Cecil Morrow as his seconder. The color for the new six will be announced later.

Assistant Commissioner E. Wolfe and his worthy supporter spoke to the pack on the coming scout craft show. Several games were played and a story told by Akela.

MAGAZINES

The following is the standing of the packs, including all magazines received up to Thursday last:

SCOUT CRAFT SHOW

Assistant Commissioner E. Wolfe, accompanied by the Skipper, visited nearly every pack and troop this week to give a talk on the craft end of the activities and getting real response from every boy. Literature was left behind after every talk that every patrol and evevry six as well as the cub and scout leaders will be able to study the various items for entry. It must be remembered that any boy who has something he feels that is worth entering, although it is not listed, should communicate with his leader on the matter and we feel that he will be allowed entry. If every boy keeps his promise with one entry we can be assured of about 400 articles to be displayed.

The committee of the scout displays and other activities is called for next Monday night at 7.30 p.m. March 30, 1942, in the home of the Skipper.

All member are requested to attend, and bring their reports of activities with them.

If unable to attend, please notify Mr. Wolfe.

LEADERS WANTED

There is still an urgent need of leaders in both our cub and scout groups. Although the work is still carrying on, some packs are feeling the need of leadership. Any old scout or man interested in boys' work should get in touch with our commissioners at once, or phone the Skipper at 3067.

Leaders are needed at St. John's, Sacred Heart, Mark St. and others.

Your work will be appreciated.

Havelock School Aids In War Work

HAVELOCK, March 17—(ENS).—All the teachers and pupils in the Public School on Friday afternoon held a patriotic social which was a huge success, both socially and financially. There were about 110 visitors and the receipts of the afternoon amounted to $30.70, which is for war work and will be divided between the Red Cross and the Patriotic Asociation.

In Miss Wing's room the visitors were entertained at a fish pond and very shortly every "fish" was caught. In Miss Buchanan's room there were on display all the beautiful knitted articles and layettes, afghans, crib quilts, etc. which have been made by the pupils of the school and were much admired by the visitors. In Miss McNeely's room there was the sale of home-made cooking, preserves and pickles, which all looked so tempting they were quickly disposed of. In Miss Watson's room a dainty afternoon tea was served by the girls of Grades 6 and 7, and in Mr. Sutherland's room was conducted the rummage sale, and needless to say every article soon disappeared.

Also in this room the pupils of the entrance class cleverly demonstrated first-aid bandaging, which they have been studying this past month.

The class rooms were all decorated for the occasion with Easter colors, and the parents were at liberty to examine the work books of the pupils.

Springville W.A. Plans Supper

SPRINGVILLE, March 17. —(ENS).—Mrs. J. F. Everson was hostess to the W.M.S. for its March meeting, held on Wednesday.

Mrs. Everson, the president, conducted the opening exercises. Rev. Everson led in prayer.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. S. S. Staples, with Mrs. A. Hunter's group in charge.

Mrs. Hunter read the scripture and Mrs. Gilmour and her group took charge. Mrs. J. Grandy and Miss M. Southam rendered a lovely duet, "More About Jesus." Mrs. Gilmour gave the third division of the study book. Mrs. Shaw gave a reading. Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Grandy brought thoughts on temperance and christian stewardship. Mrs. H. Cathcart and Mrs. J. Schaeffer, delegates to the Presbyterial, reported.

Plan Chicken Supper.

Mrs. Rae Wood held a brief W. A. meeting and it was decided to hold a chicken pie supper in the basement of the church on Thursday, March 19. Half of the proceeds are to be donated to the British War Victims' Fund.

The Friday night meeting of the Y.P.U. was under the leadership of the Christian Culture Department. The topic under discussion was "A blind minister, a blind hymn writer, a blind poet and our own blindness."

Jim Hunter spoke on Dr. Matheson, the blind minister and Raymond Kelk sang his hymn, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." Margaret MacNeill told the story of Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn writer, and a number of her hymns were sung.

In the absence of Miss Galbraith, Helen Samis gave the life of Milton, the blind poet, and concluded with 'On His Own Blindness.'

Bruce Davis took the scripture. Janet McIntosh dealt very ably with the subject, "Our Own Blindness"

Dorothy Cathcart closed the meeting.

Training Carrier

CHICAGO, March 17—(AP). — The United States Navy will take over the 500-foot Great Lakes passenger ship, 'See and Bee,' and convert it into an aircraft carrier for training naval pilots, naval headquarters announced. "Among the plans for the ship are to remove the upper deck and superstructure above it, shift the stacks to the side and construct a flight deck so that the ship may be used on the Great Lakes to train navy pilots in flying tactics from carriers" the announcement said.

Surprised When Syntona Gave Long-Sought Relief

Describes Tortures of Severe Rheumatic Pains and Sleep Disturbed by Kidneys. Had No Energy.

MR. ALFRED STEVENSON

Every man or woman in Peterborough and vicinity who suffers from backache, sore joints, and painful muscles; every person whose sleep is disturbed, should follow the example of other citizens who have taken Syntona and got grand relief. Here is another of the REALITIES of what Syntona can do for you, as reported by Mr. Alfred Stevenson, well known farmer at Freeman, Ont.

"I had rheumatic pains so bad, I couldn't put on my own shoes or take them off. When I lay down I had to have my legs lifted and a pillow put under them so I could rest comfortably. I was troubled somewhat with constipation and my kidneys disturbed my sleep quite often at night. I felt all used up and everything I tried to do seemed so hard.

"I have only taken four bottles of Syntona and already I feel much better I can hardly believe it. My joints are so much looser, I can dress myself with ease and I have more energy than I've had in years. I get more sleep now because my kidneys do not call me up."

If you suffer like Mr. Stevenson did, make up your mind to begin taking Syntona to-day. See how it will help you, too. Sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Aussies Buckle Down To War Under 3 American Chiefs; Brett Assumes Air Command

Premier Bans Racing, Sports And Movies For Duration Of Invasion Crisis; New Air Alarms Sound At Port Darwin

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

MELBOURNE, March 18—(AP).—Australia confidently and willingly accepted today an American command of all her defences—land, sea and air—under the leadership of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The Australian army will retain its identity within the Allied framework under an Australian commander answerable to Gen. MacArthur. Administrative details probably will be shaped by an Allied war council in the Australian-New Zealand area, with Australian and American commanders of the separate branches as members under Gen. MacArthur's chairmanship

With the enemy already at her gates and the first phases of the battle for the continent being waged in the seas and skies off the north coast, the Commonwealth was electrified by news of MacArthur's arrival.

Besides Gen. MacArthur, who assumes responsibility for the defence of Australia and also general command of all United Nations operations ashore, aloft and at sea in the southwest Pacific east of Singapore, are:

Lt.-Gen. George Brett, whose assignment to command the air forces of the United Nations in the Australia-New Zealand area and as MacArthur's deputy supreme commander, was announced today by Prime Minister John Curtin;

Vice-Admiral Herbert Leary, U.S. navy, who has been in command of the Allied sea forces in the Anzac zone for more than a month.

This triumvirate, at the head of "most substantial American reinforcements," infused the Commonwealth with new optimism.

Mr. Curtin looked beyond the smashing of any Japanese attack and, in acclaiming Gen. MacArthur and the United States ground and air forces here, foresaw an eventual Allied counter-drive from Australia's shores.

No Racing, Sports, Movies

The new command takes over in an hour of peril which was accentuated by the Prime Minister's announcement today that there will be no racing, organized sports or motion picture performances for the duration of the emergency.

For the present, the only action of the developing invasion front reported by the R.A.A.F. were aerial skirmishes by both sides.

"Allied Aircraft"—which, in the past, usually have meant United States planes were participating—scored hits yesterday on the Japanese-held airdrome at Kuping, capital of Netherlands Timor.

Air alarms were reported both at Port Darwin, on the Northern Australian coast, and at Port Moresby, on New Guinea across the Coral Sea from Northeast Australia, but no bombs fell at either place.

Enemy aerial reconnaissance also occurred over three towns on New

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur is facing an extremely formidable task in directing the Battle of Australia, military experts here declared today in cautioning against a wave of false optimism.

In all analyses of the situation, the most these authorities would venture was that the Japanese would be in for the fiercest campaign of the war if they attempt to smash Australia as they have smashed Singapore and the Netherlands Indies.

The expectation is that the enemy will risk the campaign. If the Jap-

Japs Speed Air Aid To Burma

NEW DELHI, India, March 18 —(CP). — The British left wing in Burma has drawn back about 30 miles it was disclosed to-day in a communique which announced that "our forward troops are in action with a strong enemy force south of Kanyutkwin."

Kanyutkwin is about 30 miles north of Nyaunglebin, the previously announced position, and about 40 miles south of Toungoo. Toungoo is about 220 miles south of Mandalay, on the main Rangoon-Mandalay railway, and appears to be the objective of the Japanese advance.

(A military commentator in London said Japanese troops in Burma had received "strong reinforcements" in planes and personnel which the Japanese are now able to spare from Java. A Japanese claim to "complete air superiority" in Burma was termed exaggerated, however.)

On the British right wing of the Burma front defending Prome, the Japanese appeared to be making no advance.

Britain To Reap Benefit Of Beaver's Talents Go-Getter To Help Pool War Resources In US

LONDON, March 18—(CP).—Lord Beaverbrook is being sent to the United States to aid in pooling war resources of the United Nations, Clement Attlee, Dominions Secretary, announced in the House of Commons today.

The announcement dispelled recent doubts whether Lord Beaverbrook would continue to lend his talents in war production after his rejection of a place in the War Cabinet.

In addition to his work on pooling resources, it was explained that Lord Beaverbrook would perform "such other duties as may be entrusted to him from time to time by the War Cabinet."

The nature of these duties was not disclosed.

Prime Minister Churchill said last week that Lord Beaverbrook was "understood" to be prepared to undertake a mission in Washington.

Some doubt was left, however, that Lord Beaverbrook, a chronic sufferer from asthma, felt able to go.

Argentine Pleads With Japs To End Ban On Red Cross Aid To Captives

BUENOS AIRES, March 18—(AP).—Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu announced last night that Argentina has requested Japan to modify its opposition to the shipment of a special Red Cross cargo of food and clothing for British prisoners at Singapore and Hong Kong.

The Argentine Foreign Office, representing British and Canadian interests in Japan, had made inquiries concerning the treatment of prisoners following British charges of atrocities at Hong Kong The Japanese said British prisoners of war were given the same food and clothing provided Japanese troops.

On the question of a Red Cross ship, Ruiz Guinazu said that Japan, while not giving a definite answer, indicated the request would be refused. He added that Argentina would press the matter—"in view of the humanitarian purposes of the negotiations."

The British Ambassador, Sir Esmond Ovey, conferered with Acting President Ramon Castillo today, presumably in connection with the mediation efforts. Argentina, it is known, also wishes to place an observer at Hong Kong to get first-hand information on the treatment of prisoners.

2 Yrs. As Man Net Girl 23 Months

MONTREAL, March 18—(CP).—A etwo-year deception had its climax today when Antoinette Arsenalt of Ottawa, who masqueraded as a male and who went through a "marriage" ceremony with another woman, was sentenced to 23 months in jail on each of two counts to which she had previously pleaded guilty. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Dressed in feminine apparel, the 34-year-old munitions plant worker was sentenced by Judge Gustave Marin of the Sessions Court in the Judge's private chamber. Newspapermen were not permitted to attend, being informed of the sentence later by Judge Marin.

Miss Arsenault, known to fellow workers at a Ste. Therese, Que., munitions plant as "Andre Arsenault," had pleaded guilty last Saturday to charges of falsifying her birth certificate by making the name read "Andre Pierre Arsenault," and to causing false information to be inserted in the marriage register.

The woman was arrested ten days ago, a few weeks after the marriage, following complaints by the bride, 19-year-old Mimi Ouelette, to church and police authorities in Ste. Therese.

Sees Eire In War

MONTREAL, March 18—(CP). — Grattan O'Leary, Ottawa journalist, told the 108th banquet of the St. Patrick's Society here last night that Eire, with 150,000 of her sons already enrolled in the British army, "will officially be in this war when the strategic time comes."

"Irish arms on Irish shoulders will never attack England as long as De Valera is head of Eire," he added "It is sheer preposterous nonsence to think that De Valera is pro-German."

Over 4,750 Slain In New Battles Right To Crimea

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, March 18 — (AP). — The Soviet Armies of the Centre were reported to-day to have encircled a German garrison at Gzhatsk, 100 miles west of Moscow and closest foothold to the Russian capital still retained by the Nazi invaders.

It was to Gzhatsk that the Germans withdrew after their disastrous defeats at Mozhaisk and Borodino. On the rail line from Moscow to Smolensk, Gzhatsk lies 100 miles west of the capital and 35 miles north-east of the key German defence position at Vyazma.

More than 4,750 Germans were reported to have been slain in a series of actions ranging from Leningrad to the Crimea and the Moscow radio said Red Army men had recaptured five more communities in the Smolensk area.

(A Morocco radio station broadcast a Moscow report that heavy fighting was under way in the suburbs of Kharkov, German-held industrial city of the Donets Basin, 400 miles south of Moscow).

Nazi survivors of the southwestern fighting, the site of which was not specifically located, were said to have retreated.

At the upper end of the battle line, in the Leningrad region, the Soviet information bureau said 2,000 German officers and men were destroyed in two days of fighting.

Hard Battle in South

(The Crimea is the scene of especially heavy combat, said a Bucharest dispatch to the Vichy news agency. Russian tank and artillery crews were reported keeping German and Rumanian troops under continuous fire along the 20-mile front between Arbatskya Strelka and Feodosiya.

LONDON, March 18 — (CP).—The mother of Lt.-Cmdr. Eugene Esmonde, who was killed while leading six Swordfish torpedo bombers against German warships in the Straits of Dover February 12, has received from the King the Victoria Cross awarded her son.

She was wheeled into Buckingham Palace in a chair pushed by two sons. His Majesty, who had handed Esmonde the Distinguished Flying Cross a few days before he met his death asked Mrs. Esmonde how many sons she had in the armed forces.

"Four now Your Majesty," was the quiet reply.

Mrs. Esmonds was brought from Ireland by plane. She returned the same day.

Pack Of 3 Subs Corner, Sink Freighter

NORFOLK, Va., March 18.—(AP)—Three enemy submarines, one large and two small pocketed a medium sized American merchant ship off the Atlantic coast early Sunday and sent her to the bottom with two torpedoes placed accurately in the engine room.

Six members of the crew lost their lives in the attack, the fifth naval district said in announcing the sinking today. Thirty-three survivors landed at Morehead City, N.C., after being adrift on life rafts from three to nine hours.

The loss of life resulted from the second torpedo which struck below one of the life boats as it was lowered into the water.

The submarine that fired the second torpedo was about 280 yards from the ship Captain Theodore Bockhoff reported.

"They could see us as plainly as we could see them, and they knew that the lifeboat was being lowered," the captain said. He said that "both torpedoes were placed very accurately in the engine room."

Bockhoff said that the attack was carried out by three submarines, two small and one large. They covered the ship on three sides in such a manner that as she continued to move forward she got deeper into the pocket they had formed.

The first torpedo struck aft on

Only One Plane Lost In Crippling Blow Main Bag 3 Cruisers, 5 Transports, Jap Loss Now 174 Ships Off The Island

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP).—The United States Navy announced today that a Japanese invasion force concentrated near Salamaua and Lae, New Guinea, had been smashed by American and Australian Air Forces with the sinking or damaging of 23 Japanese vessels, including 12 warships.

"The heavy losses inflicted on the enemy by the combined American and Australian forces were accomplished with the loss of but one plane," said a navy communique.

The same communique, reporting on activities in other areas disclosed that the American submarine Shark has been overdue in the Western Pacific for more than a month and "must be presumed to be lost."

Next of kin of those aboard the Shark, including Lt.-Cmdr. Louis Shane, Jr., of Tacoma, Wash., have been notified of the loss of the vessel.

Further, the communique disclosed that the American submarine Sea Lion had been so damaged at Cavite, in the Philippines, as to necessitate her demolition to prevent her use by the enemy in event of capture, and the U.S. destroyer Stewart, 1,190-ton First Great War type ship, was demolished at the Netherlands Indies base of Surabaya to prevent her falling into the hands of the enemy. There were no personnel casualties in the cases of the Sea Lion and the Stewart.

An Impressive List

In the American-Australian raid on the Japanese forces at New Guinea, the navy reported, ships "sunk" and "probably sunk" were 2 heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, five transports or cargo ships, one gunboat, one destroyer, and one mine sweeper—a total of 11 consisting of six warships and five other ships.

In addition two destroyers were listed as "possibly sunk." Ships damaged were listed as one cruiser, one large destroyer, two transports which suffered direct bomb hits, one troop ship, three transports, one aircraft tender, one gunboat—a total of 10, consisting of four warships and six others.

Moreover the Allied attackers demolished "many small boats" probably motor boats, and three enemy seaplanes were shot down and shore installations including aircraft runways and anti-aircraft batteries were damaged.

The terrific blow delivered against the Japanese at New Guinea raised to 174 the number of Japanese ships of all types which have been sunk or damaged by United States Army and Navy action and, in this last case, with the help of Australian forces. This figure does not include damage and sinkings inflicted by British, Netherlands or Australian forces in previous actions.

Loss of the Shark, Sea Lion and Stewart raised to five the number of United States warships announced as lost in the western Pacific fighting, the loss of the cruiser Houston and the destroyer Pope having been announced Saturday.

Pulp, Road Jobs For B.C. Japs Loom In Ontario

TORONTO, March 18 (CP)—British Columbia Japanese may be brought into Ontario for certain work if Federal authorities will take responsibility for policing them and Ontario is assured there will be no charge to the province or the communities concerned, Premier Hepburn said today.

The Japanese would work chiefly in the pulp industries, where a definite labor shortage exists, and on a section of the Trans-Canada highway near Schrieber, Mr. Hepburn said, adding "I'm looking favorably on the proposals providing these guarantees are made by the Dominion."

If the plan is adopted, Mr. Hepburn said, the Ontario Government would form pools such as the manning depots in the Royal Canadian Air Force to receive the Japanese and from which they would be distributed to pulp camps. They would be paid prevailing wages.

If some declined to work, then Ottawa would have to decide whether they should be moved into internment camps, Mr. Hepburn said.

Sub Lights Ship For Torpedo

CHARLESTON, S.C., March 18—(AP). — The Uinted States Navy said to-day a merchant ship was torpedoed by a submarine off the Atlantic coast at 1:22 a.m. last Sunday after being lighted up by red and green very lights from the submersible.

The ship carried a crew of 36 including the master.

Three were killed and five listed as missing, three of whom were reported picked up by rescue craft. The other two were presumed hit while in a lifeboat. Fifteen were injured and nine of these still are in a hospital here.

The master, Capt. T. R. Hennevig of Brooklyn, N.Y., said as soon as the torpedo struck the ship caught fire, and the crewmen jumped into the water or abandoned ship in the No. 1 lifeboat.

Men were ordered into another lifeboat, but before they could climb into it, the submarine began shelling the ship. At the same time another U-boat came up on the port side and began shelling.

RCAF Grows Up—Vital Cog in Spring Test

Scores New Squadrons Wholly Made Up Of Canucks As School Pours Men Across

By D. E. BURRITT
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, March 18—(CP Cable).—Whatever phase of war spring may bring to Britain, the swiftly-developed strength of the Royal Canadian Air Force will be utilized to its full.

And by then the score or more fully-trained squadrons which swing into action will be distinctly Canadian:- In the men who fly in the machines, the men who maintain them, and those who command.

Under the able direction of Air Vice-Marshal Harold Edwards, Canadian blood is being injected as rapidly as it can be assimilated by the young but sturdy body which less than two years ago had only a single squadron overseas.

The English accent usually predominant at most R.C.A.F. squadrons is almost disappearing and taking its place is that of Canadians withdrawn from R.A.F. squadrons or sent from Canada under the Comomnwealth Air Training Plan.

This "Canadianization" of the R.C.A.F. was one of the first tasks undertaken by Vice-Marshal Edwards on his arrival four months ago. Since then he has devised many other impending changes to make the organization truly Canadian. A brusque and rapidly-spoken veteran of the Air Force, the commander discovered for himself what the R.C.A.F. and its personnel wanted and needed.

Immediately he arrived in London he decided the headquarters building was too small, too crowded and ill equipped. Within days the entire staff was rehoused in one of London's most modern buildings, requisitioned from an insurance company.

It happened just like that. No long-winded discussion, no red tape. It was an amazing departure from the customary British ritual of "sub-committee consideration."

Then Edwards started on a fast tour of all stations. In an airman's fur coat, he trekked through mud and slush to talk to everyone from fitter to commanding officer. He listened to suggestions, learned all their complaints, and made notes of special instances.

One day he ordered to headquarters all officers commanding Canadian squadrons. To them were outlined the plans for impending changes designed to overcome difficulties the Air Vice-Marshal had discovered

Hospitalization of R.C.A.F. officers and men was to be centralized. The medically unfit were to be repatriated more swiftly. Plastic surgery cases were to be provided with the "world's best" treatment. Even the Canadian dental services were to be extended.

Sometimes Canadians are posted to isolated sections and these were to be given an increased number of chaplains and auxiliary service officers. Mail delivery, often impeded by posting or transferring of the men, was to be speeded up.

Questions of promotion and pay, involving particularly R.C.A.F. Canadians attached to the R.A.F., would be dealt with by Canadian officers experienced in handling and understanding Canadian youths. Blunt and outspoken in his demands and suggestions, Edwards considers the

9 Million In Lottery Draft

War Chief Stimson Draws First In U.S. Call-up

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The United States first draft lottery of the war, a step toward classification of about 9,000,000 men for possible military service, ended at 7:10 a.m., E.D.T. today, a little more than 13 hours after it started.

Only 6,998 numbers, two less than was planned, were drawn from the oversized draft goldfish bowl.

Selective Service officials immediately went into a conference to determine whether addition capsules would be drawn to bring the number up to 7,000.

The lottery was held to determine the order in which qualified men will be called for examination leading to military service. Those affected are between 20 and 44 years of age and who had not registered for the 1940 and 1941 Selective Service drawings.

After War Secretary Stimson and some 30 other officials and representatives of service organizations had drawn numbers, the lottery was turned over to the soldier-sailor-clerk teams. A soldier, sailor or marine did the actual drawing.

Bay Of Biscay Full Of Mines

LONDON, March 18.—(CP).—The Admiralty issued a warning to-day that all of the Bay of Biscay, except for a 20-mile strip along the Spanish coast, and thousands of squares miles of Atlantic ocean south-west of England "are dangerous to shipping."

In defining the danger area, the Admiralty said that any vessel disregarding the terms of its notice would do so "at its own risk and peril."

Such a notice usually would mean that the defined zone has been mined.

The new danger zone takes in roughly 160,000 square miles.

The Admiralty said its limits run from the French coast just south of Brest to a point north-west of Bishop's Rock off Land's End in Cornwall; then roughly west for 240 miles to a point in the Atlantic; south from there for 200 miles; east to a point 20 miles off the north-west coast of Spain, and then back to the French coast, leaving free a 20-mile stretch along the Spanish coast.

NELSON PROMISES TO ELIMINATE INTERFERENCE IN PRODUCTION

Management, Union Tieups All Under 'Big Stick'; Plane Output Gains 50 p.c.

Charges Axis Agents Out To Slow Machine Strew Baseless Fears Among Public, Steel Answers Call For Bigger Output

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP).—Donald M. Nelson has given the United States a new promise—to knock down all interference to war production, whether from management haggling or union slowups.

In a broadcast message last night the war production chief said the country's factories already are turning out war goods in large volume and that plane production had gone up more than 50 per cent. since December 7.

"But this is no reason for false complacency," he said. "We need more and forever r·ore of these weapons, and we need them now. We have got t realize the value of time.

"Here is what time is worth. A machine-gı factory in full swing can equip a whole regiment in a day and a half. Thirty-six hours of work. That's why hours are important.

"Yet some manufacturers have come to the War Production Board to plead for just a few extra months before going into war production. Some of them want to delay over details. Some of them argue before awarding a subcontract. I know of a case where 26 days were wasted this way. You and I will not stand for that.

Nelson said Axis propaganda agents are trying to wreck the government's speed-up drive and cautioned that "groundless fears of a few people could bog down the whole effort."

It was understood he referred to claims by the Berlin radio that the production drive, with its joint labor-management committees in war plants, was a scheme to Sovietize American industry.

Nelson said the program was "not a management plan, a labor plan or any other plan. It is a War Production Board plan.

During the next two weeks the program is to be explained to labor and management groups in a series of regional meetings.

Among the first groups to respond was the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee (C.I.O.) which notified Nelson it was ready to meet with management committees to map an immediate program for increased steel production.

Guinea—Ambasi, Dogura and Amari. (CBS heard an Australian broadcast that Japanese air raiders also had attacked two points on the Solomon island which flank New Guinea and the supply route to Australia.)

Maj.-Gen. Gordon Bennett, who commanded the Australian Imperial force in Malaya, called Gen. MacArthur's arrival in the Dominion "the healthiest and most welcome sign we have had."

Official Notification

The letter in which Gen. Brett informed the Australian Prime Minister officially yesterday of MacArthur's arrival in Australia said: "The President of the United States directs that I present his compliments to you and inform you that Gen. MacArthur to-day arrived in Australia from the Philippines.

"In accordance with the President's directions, Gen. MacArthur has assumed command of all U. S. army forces here.

"Should it accord with your wishes and those of the Australian people, the President suggests that it would be highly acceptable to him and pleasing to the American people to nominate Gen. MacArthur as supreme commander of Allied forces in the Southwest Pacific.

"Such a nomination should be submitted simultaneously to London and Wahhington.

"The President regrets that he has been unable to inform you of Gen. MacArthur's pending arrival but feels certain that you will appreciate that his safety during his voyage from the Philippines required the utmost secrecy."

Although MacArthur had not yet reached new headquarters he took over command at once

It was disclosed that the General, along with his wife, four year old son and a dozen members of his staff, made the flight here through the aerial war zone from Bataan in a United States Army plane.

2,000 Mile Hop.

By direct route the flight would have been 2,000 miles to Darwin, nearest Australian base. With MacArthur were Maj.-Gen. R. K. Sutherland and Brig.-Gen. Harold George

(Exchange Telegraph reported in a dispatch from Canberra that MacArthur arrived at Alice Springs, road-rail junction of the defence highway from Darwin to South Australia, yesterday, and was expected to confer with government officials in Canberra soon.)

The location of United States fighting forces, which have arrived at various ports, could not be disclosed, but they were scattered to camps throughout Australia as they moved up to battle zones. In some camps they were quartered alongside Australian troops.

Official disclosure that the Americans are here brought profound relief to the Australians—who, of course, have known it from the start.

"We have not known how to treat you," one Australian merchant said. "We have seen your boys—hundreds of them—in hotels, restaurants and stores, but there had not been a line about them in the papers.

"We were supposed not to know you were here. Now that it is being published, we can make you our friends. We now can begin to show how grateful we are that the Americans are here."

Lt.-Col. Lloyd Lehrbas, army press officer, said MacArthur's arrival in Australia did not mean that American forces are "pulling out of the Philippines."

Will Keep on Holding Them

"We have been holding the Japanese in the Philippines," Col. Lehrbas said, "and we intend to continue holding them in the Philippines."

Gen. Brett predicted that Australia could be held against the largest scale Japanese attack. He declared that all possible jumping off points for such an invasion were being watched and said Australia was being supplied with as many aircraft as possible.

It was disclosed that Gen. MacArthur's command already includes "most substantial American reinforcements" troops and air forces which have been arriving at irregular intervals for several weeks and which still are coming in a stream.

Besides urgently needed fast pursuit and attack planes were pilots and the skilled mechanical crews to keep them flying.

The ships bringing them have been docking at numerous ports, from which the men and supplies are sent inland to huge camps where they are comfortably housed and fed.

the port side, disabled the engines and brought the entire crew to the deck. The captain said the crew was calm under threat of another immediate attack. Boats were made ready to lower but were held aboard until the ship, with her engines stopped, lost enough headway to assure that the lifeboats would not capsize.

"As the starboard lifeboat hit the water with six men in it," Captain Bockhoff related, "the second torpedo came under her striking the ship with a tremendous explosion that blasted the boat to bits. The boat itself was not seen again, although the airtanks were found later, floating near the scene, by one of the rescue vessels."

John C. Smith, chief mate, described the attack as something "we just had to sit and take." One of the submarines was so close, he said, that it looked "like the back of a whale."

anese do not attempt it, or if they make the attempt and fail, then the great island continent down under remains in the hands of the United Nations as the southern jumping-off point for a major offensive once sufficient men and material have been massed.

If MacArthur can hold Australia for such a day, the experts said, the Australian, British, American and Netherlands fighting men serving in his command have a long and costly job ahead, with plenty of reverses to match they successes they may win.

For the undertaking, MacArthur has many advantages he did not possess in the Philipines, and probably as many disadvantages.

The Australian Setup

The advantages:

He has more troops and better air strength at his command.

He can organize his ground defences in great depth because of the vast area of the country.

He can expect reinforcements, whereas it was virtually impossible to get them to the Philippines.

He can develop numerous air bases—the important ones beyond reach of fighter-protected Japanese bombers—whereas in the Philippihes his air bases were few, vulnerable and compactly situated.

He is not apt to be hampered by any Japanese fifth column or espionage activity.

The disadvantages:

He has to defend a vast, sparsely-settled country with a long coastline.

He has an enormous problem of supply because of the great distances and meagre transportation facilities in much of the country. Moreover, he must use some of his forces to protect the long route running northward through the continent to the Darwin area from the Brisbane-Sydney-Melbourne industrial region in the southeast corner.

His life-line to the United States is likewise extremely long and the Japanese can be expected to exert every effort to harry it.

He faces an enemy that still holds the initiative and heavy numerical superiority.

It is considered doubtful that MacArthur—even if he tried—could prevent establishment of enemy beachheads along Australia's long, exposed coastline. A static cordon defence would require an astronomical number of men.

Mobile Shock Troops

Rather, it is believed that he will meet such threats by counter-punching with fast, hard-hitting mobile ground forces, backed up the aerial blows of fighter and bomber commands held in reserve at salient bases for just such an emergency. Thus, if the Japanese landed, they would have the difficult assignment of exploiting their advantage in the teeth of strong Allied air and ground opposition.

Strategists here said that so long as Australia could be held by such tactics and as long as reinforcements continued to arrive there, the Japanese could not undertake a major offensive in any other direction without grave risk.

Shifting their forces for an all-out drive against India, for instance, would leave their southern flank lightly protected while the Allies built up their strength or an offensive from Australia.

Similiarly an attempt to mass troops for a knockout blow at China or to end the constant threat of Russia by starting a campaign against the Soviet maritime provinces would also leave the southern vulnerable attack and give the Allies time to mount one.

Some experts familiar with western Pacific problems declared that the main Allied concern, on the other hand, must be to get an offensive started so that the Japanese will not have time to consolidate their gains in the south.

These persons estimated that if the Japanese were unhampered by large-scale counter actions during the next three or four months they would be able to establish themselves so firmly all the way from Burma to New Guiana that the war would be indefinitely prolonged.

Self-Discipline Greatest Need Ilsley Contends

TORONTO, March 18.—(CP). — The Ontario Federation of Agriculture annual convention entered its second day to-day after a busy session yesterday which was featured by a radio address from Ottawa by Finance Minister Isley.

Mr. Ilsley's radio address to members attending the annual banquet was substituted for his scheduled personal appearance. Unfavorable weather conditions made it impossible for him to fly to the meeting.

In his address, Mr. Ilsley urged self-discipline as 'democracy's greatest need' and cited control as an example of the necessity of discipline on a national scale. Compliance with the rules of price control and the utmost exertion on the part of the farmers of Canada to meet production demands are two of the prime ingredients of victory, he said.

Carl R. Hutchinson, Ohio farm bureau director of education, said the Federations co-ordination of farm groups into a nation-wide organization reflected 'the readiness of the Canadian farmer to submerge

Britain Boosts Farm Acres By Six Million

LONDON, March 16 (CP)—Robert Hudson, Minister of Agriculture, said in the House of Commons today that when this year's plowing season is completed the United Kingdom will have approximately 6,000,000 more acres under cultivation than before the war.

"The harvest of 1942 might well be a critical factor in the future history not only of this country but of the world," Mr. Hudson declared.

He said tens of thousands of small farmers whose land did not exceed 150 acres, constituting 80 per cent of Britain's farms, are "working as hard as anyone in the country, many of them making little more than, if as much as, a farm laborer."

The Minister said the present number of vegetable garden allotments is nearly 1,750,000, or almost double the pre-war figure, and said that "at a very conservative estimate they can produce vegetables to the value of £10,000,000 ($44,500,000) to £15,000,000 a year."

After Record in Sugar Beets

Mr. Hudson gave these 1941 acreage figures for the country as compared with 1938 and predicted a further increase in them all this year: Potatoes, more than 1,000,000 compared with 700,000; vegetables, 4,000,000 compared with 2,500,000; oats, 4,000,000 compared with 2,500,000. He said the country is aiming at a record of 405,000 acres of sugar beets this year.

"We have now, taking the country as a whole," he went on, "pretty well reached the limit of tillage acreage that we can manage with such supplies of labor, machinery and fertilizers that are in sight. Our main task from now on is the much more difficult one of improving the general management of farms and increasing the yield of existing arable and remaining grass."

He said the United States has sent over a drainage expert to determine what technical machinery assistance could be given. He announced that plans have been made for using on farms all possible supplementary help, including the school boys and girls, more Italian prisoners as they become available, and voluntary land club members."

Allandale Flood Ties Railroad

TORONTO, March 18 — (CP).— Suburban villages on the Canadian National Railways line between Georgetown and Allandale are still without train service today due to yesterday's flood. All available section hands are working repairing damage to bridges and the roadbed.

All freight and passenger service was cancelled yesterday between Georgetown and Allandale. Most serious damage was reported to have been caused to a bridge crossing the Credit River in the heart of a swamp one mile north of Inglewood.

Damage was also reported to a bridge near Milton. A section of the roadbed was washed out at Vine, near Barrie.

Children in many rural areas were unable to get to schools yesterday.

At Caledon East, another stop on the Georgetown and Allandale line, no mail has been received since Monday. Railwaymen said that it was the first time in their memory that this service had been halted for an entire day on the line.

Retail Stores Limited To One Delivery

Peterborough grocers met last night for the purpose of setting definite regulations with regard to store deliveries, but the meeting broke up after more than two hours without having accomplished anything in that direction. Primarily the meeting was called for the express purpose of arranging for one delivery a day, but that matter was settled before they convened — a government order issued yesterday make it unlawful for any store to make more than one delivery a day to any district in the city beginning today.

The order was made public in a board statement which said the move signified the launching of a "campaign to conserve rubber and motorized equipment."

"After March 18 no retailer may make or cause to be made on behalf of either himself or a customer more than one regular delivery a day over any particular route or in any particular area except with special authorization of the administrator," the board said.

"Authority is also required for any type of special delivery.

"Delivery of daily newspapers, fuel including coal, coke, oil and wood is exempted, as are deliveries to hospitals, railways and steamships or to the Deparements of National Defence or Munitions and Supply.

"Drugs or medicines prescribed by doctors or physicians may also be delivered without special permission."

Mr. Stewart was quoted in the statement as saying:

"The order does not mean that if a retailer has only one vehicle it can go out but once a day. But it may not cover the same territory more than once a day. Nor may an organization with a number of vehicles have more than one in the same territory oftener than once a day unless authorized.

"People have been asking what they can do to help the war effort. By carrying small purchases instead of having them delivered, by ordering early and in quantities sufficient to avoid repeat orders, women can assist retailers in meeting this new condition. At the same time they will be rendering a real service in the conservation of vital materials.

"Before long the carrying of parcels may be looked upon as a badge of patriotism."

Mr. Stewart said the restrictions imposed under the order "are but a preliminary step to further action which will be taken as the transportation situation of each industry or trade is studied."

Restrictions of deliveries to private homes has been anticipated for some time. Many stores already have reduced deliveries to one a day.

"We are here," James Geraghty told the retailers' meeting last night," for the purpose of formulating plans that will suit all." Despite all efforts to arrive at a harmonious agreement, nothing of the sort was reached nor even an approache in that direction.

It was outlined that since only one delivery a day can be made, it would be best to set a deadline up to which time orders would be received—this to be general throughout the city. With different deadlines, a housewife failing to get an order delivered as she wanted it, might call another retailer whose delivery service had not been in her district that day, and thus defeat the end for which the order was issued.

Ernie Braund suggested and made a motion that orders be placed the day before for delivery, and when a vote of the hands was taken only four of the 20 present were opposed. It was not determined how many favored the move, but they were in the majority. Some did not vote.

J. A. Jebson told the meeting the public should be well educated before retailers should undertake a hard and fast rule. Retailers at the meeting suggested a few days of advertising as a means of aiding them in their problem, and this appeared to be the only suggestion that stuck with the meeting when it broke up.

Despite every effort to reach a mutual agreement, there were a few dissenting voices that agreed to none of the opinions that met with most approval. Retailers selling meat said it would be hard to educate the people to buy meat on Friday for delivery Saturday, or to order on Saturday for delivery Monday. "People don't know what they want that far ahead," said one man.

Another voiced opinion that it seemed to be a problem for the meat men to settle among themselves, but a reply came that it had to be a problem faced by all retailers collectively in order to prevent overlapping.

One by one, men attending the meeting began to leave, and the meeting finally concluded without a motion for adjournment.

Charlie Saunders and Denis Fitzgerald were present at the meeting, but since it was for the purpose of getting grocers in line, they took little part.

An agreement has been reached among certain lines of business such as dry goods that only one delivery will be made a day and the deadline for getting your order in is ten o'clock in the morning. If you place a dry goods delivery order after ten a.m., don't expect it to reach your house until the next day. The retailer just can't do it.

Uruguayans Riot Against Germans

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 18.—(AP)—Crying "death to the Axis countries" and singing the Uruguayan steamship Montevideo, Uruguayan national anthem, crowds of students demonstrated again this morning against the sinking of the torpedoed off the coast of Haiti.

Reinforced police guarded the German legation.

(Youths also rioted in Santiago, Chile, in protest against the sinking of the Chilean freighter Tolten last Friday outside New York harbor. They smashed windows of shops belonging to Axis subjects and suspected sympahizers.

(The youths called for an immediate diplomatic break with the Axis. Chile and Argentina are the only Pan-Amercians nations which have not broken off relations.

(Fifteen of the youths were arrested in front of the Conservative paper El Imparcial, at which stones were thrown.

(Extra guards were placed before the German consulate and German stores.)

Some 200 youths attacked a toy shop here operated by a Spaniard allegedly belonging to the pro-Fascist Falangists. Then the crowd swarmed toward the offices of the Nationalist newspaper El Debate, crying "to jail with Herrera."

They referred to the Nationalist leader Luis Alberto Herrera, an opponent of inter-American cooperation.

Several demonstrators were slightly injured when police used sticks to break up the riot.

House Tackles 3 Billion War Cost Bill

OTTAWA, March 18 (CP)—With Finance Minister Ilsley's money bills before it, the House of commons today turns to the provision of billions of dollars for direct war activity and aid to the United Kingdom.

The resolution preliminary to introduction of the bill to authorize a gift to the United Kingdom of $1,000,000,000 in food, muntions and supplies is the first order of business for today and Mr. Ilsley indicated last night he hopes the bill will pass before Easter so the appropriation may cover supplies to be sent during the present month, last of the fiscal year 1941-42, as well as to shipments in the following fiscal year and part of 1943-44.

The Finance Minister made his statement on the resolution dealing with the main $2,000,000,000 war appropriation bill for the coming fiscal year and said the government's war program would represent the country's utmost capacity, the maximum Canada could carry out with the physical and economic resources at its disposal.

"That capacity," he said, "increases each year as the war goes on, as existing plants are expanded and new plants are constructed to produce war equipment and supplies, as labor is trained and administrative skills are developed, as civilian expenditures are more and

HOUSE TACKLES

FDR Opposition To 40-Hr. Week Backed in Senate

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)— President Roosevelt's blunt opposition to any immediate changes in the 40-hour-week law in the United States found important support in the Senate today, but the House of Representatives still seemed bent on taking matters into its own hands.

The House manifested every intention of pushing ahead with consideration of legislation which would suspend all maximum-hour laws in war industries, and some administration backers privately were dubious about the chances of defeating such a measure if it also contained drastic provisions for recapture of all corporate war profits over six per cent.

In one preliminary study of diverse problems, a Senate Appropriations subcommittee called high government officials into a closed session today for testimony on whether strikes should be outlawed and the 40-hour work week modified.

The President told a press conference yesterday there had been "an amazing state of public misinformation" on the 40-hour-week question. He spoke out against any change in the law at the present time because, he said, things are going along pretty well.

Urges Caution

Mr. Roosevelt conceded, in response to a question, that some legislation on the 40-hour-week and strikes might be required in time, but advised against rushing things.

He said that Congress could not pass a law to make a man produce more. As for misinformation, he said he had received five letters from editors of small newspapers asking why the wage-hour law did not permit anyone to work longer than 40 hours a week. Everyone knew the law did not prohibit anyone from working longer than that, he said, adding the editors evidently had been misled by speeches in Congress and things they had read.

Senator Lister Hill (Dem., Ala.), chairman of a subcommittee in charge of wage-hour revision bills, agreed with the President's statement and advised legislators to "go awfully slow lest they upset what is now a very favorable situation."

JURYMAN IS FINED $20 FOR DISCUSSING CASE WITH A WITNESS

New Trial Is Ordered With New Jury

COBOURG, March 18—(ENS).—First instance of its kind in Cobourg courts as far back as can be remembered, a criminal case was halted and the jury dismissed because of evidence that a juryman and a witness had discussed the case before its conclusion. The incident took place yesterday during the trial of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horsburgh of Murray Township, on a charge of failing to provide the necessities of life for their two-months-old child which died January 6 of this year. When Crown Attorney Harry Deyman informed the court that he had overheard the juryman and the witness discuss the case during the lunch recess, Mr. Justice Plaxton fined the juryman $20, warned the witness, and ordered a new trial with a new jury. The trial was later traversed to another court, date to be set later.

When court resumed late on Tuesday, Crown Attorney Harry Deyman of Cobourg reported the irregularity to the court.

"I must draw to Your Lordship's attention a matter which occurred during the noon adjournment and which materially effects the conduct of this trial. While lunching over at the hotel today I saw a juryman speaking with a witness. Under the circumstances I felt that I had no alternative but to so inform the court," declared Mr. Deyman.

Identifies Two Men

"Do you know the juryman and the witness?" asked the judge.

Mr. Deyman replied that it was Juror Bateson, and the witness was K. Hodgert.

Mr. Hodgert is the superintendent of the Children's Aid of Northumberland and Durham Counties and is a witness in the Hosburgh case in connection with his inspection of the premises where the baby died. He had not been called prior to the dismissal of the jury.

When the juryman stood up in response to his name, the judge asked him if he had had conversation with Mr. Hodgert at the time referred to by the Crown Attorney.

"Yes, I was talking to Mr. Hodgert, but we didn't discuss the case particularly," answered Bateson.

"What did you say about it?"

"I don't think we said anything much about it," replied the juryman.

"I told all the jury before we adjourned, to refrain from discussion of this case, yet you go over to the hotel and talk about it to Mr. Hodgert," commented the judge.

"I can't say that there was any talk about the case," stated Bateson.

"Did you discuss the home of these people to Mr. Hodgert?"

"Well, I can't say that we didn't talk about that," answered the juryman. "I believe there was something said about the cot," he added.

"Did Mr. Hodgert know that you were on the jury?"

"I didn't tell him I was," answered the juryman.

"You deserve punishment for your actions for contempt of court and I fine you $20 and costs payable forthwith," ruled Mr. Justice Plaxton.

His Lordship then asked that Mr. Hodgert be called.

"Did you talk over the case with Bateson today?" asked the judge.

"I would say that I did. I knew Mr. Bateson in connection with a case we were on at one time.

"Did you discuss the condition of the cot with him?" asked the judge.

"Did you know that he was a juror?"

"No. I didn't know it at the time," was Mr. Hodgert's reply.

"It would be very reprehensible if you did," commented the judge.

At the outset of the trial, the grand jury brought in a verdict declaring no bill on the manslaughter charge and a true bill on the other.

Child Emaciated

Dr. H. C. Rundle of Brighton, who was called to the Horsburgh home on January 5, the day the baby died, said he found the child greatly emaciated. When he delivered it at its birth, the baby weighed eight pounds.

"Mrs. Horsburg told me that the baby had been taking its feeding all right up until the day it died. She told me that when she went to feed it, she found it dead. In my opinion, it would take a month or more for the child to reach such a condition of malnutrition," stated Dr. Rundle.

E. T. Minaker, owner of the tenant farm occupied by the Horsburgh family, testified that they got free rent, free wood, milk and vegetables and in addition received $27.50 per month. On December 1, 1941, Horsburgh went to Trenton to work, but they continued to reside at the Minaker home, the witness said. On the evening of January 5, witness stated that he brought vegetables, eggs, apples, butter, bread and milk for the Horsburgh family.

Brief evidence was given by Godfrey Scott, Belleville, who photographed the baby's body after death and by B. E. Brintell and his son, Donald, Brighton, who corroborated Scott's evidence in regard to the pictures.

Provincial Constable David Adair of Cobourg, who investigated the death of the baby, testified that the couple with their four children were living in the house. When he was there, the only food in the house was a half-loaf of bread, a can of dextra maltose and a tin of condensed milk. The house was very dirty and the children ragged and dirty also, stated Constable Adair.

How About A Can Of Grass For What Ails You Cerophyl At $140 A Ton Full Of Vitamins

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, made a little gesture on Tuesday to St. Patrick's Day by opening a can of Cerophyl, a new concentrated natural food, green as the grasses from which it has been processed with an eye to its vitaminic potency.

Of the various virtues of Cerophyl which Mr. Paterson bought from the Ontario Agricultural College it is rich in Carotene, and most of the vitamins except D, if you know your alphabetical way around the vitamin family, which seems still to be increasing. It is said to be good for "lack of pep," low blood count, and other deficiencies.

One of the strongest recommendations for this patented grass concentrate is the fact that it is fed to animals and chickens, and it is worth $140 a ton. Laugh at it, if you like, but the poultry industry does not scorn it. Possibly the equivalent of Cerophyl could be made from meadow grasses, but this stuff is compounded of young and tender stalks of rye and oats, mostly oats, cut when they reach joint.

You can spread a spoon of Cerophyl over your porridge, or mix it in water or orange juice. It is a lush green, and in its odor is suggestive of the grassy smell from a can of fresh June milk. Its qualities have been tested and proved as a cattle feed, and some one conceived the idea that it should be good for human beings, too. Just remember that business does not usually waste any money on poultry and cattle feeds, and after all it is the vitamin content which approves Cerophyl for just common folks like the most of us.

Red Cross Tea Planned For Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 18 (ENS)—The Campbellford and Seymour branch of the Red Cross will open their drive for funds here with a tea at the home of Mrs. F. F. Long. The effort designed to augment local needs was announced several weeks ago and it will embrace several card parties, teas and bingos for which the people of Campbellford and the surrounding vicinity have been asked to loan their homes beginning on March 25th. In urging all who are able to cooperate in this drive the branch points out that the money is required for a very important purpose—providing clothing for bomb victims.

Threshermen To Hear Milk Board Head

John B. Nelson, secretary of the Milk Control Board, Toronto, former agricultural representative in Peterborough county immediately preceding F. C. Paterson, will be the guest speaker at the Threshermen's dinner in the Canadian Legion Hall Friday evening.

This will be the concluding event of the Brotherhood's convention which opens in the council chamber Thursday morning, but the social feature will be enlarged by a dance following the dinner Friday night. The proceeds from this dance will be given to the Red Cross Society. Galloway's orchestra has been engaged for the dinner and dance.

Among the convention speakers will be Professor Blackwood of the O.A.C. Department of Engineering; John McLeod, of the crops, weeds and seeds branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture; A. MacLaren of the Dominion-Provincial youth training school, and others.

The Thursday night program will be mainly motion pictures by the Imperial Oil Company and the J. I. Case Manufacturing Company followed by discussions.

Farmers and others are invited to attend the sessions, and the public is reminded of the dance Friday night in the Legion Hall.

Multiple Births At Harris Farm

GORE'S LANDING, March 18 — (ENS). — Glenlynden Farm, home of Mr. and Mrs. William Harris, is continuing to set records for producing live stock in multiple lots.

Recently, in a flock of sheep, three sets of triplets were born, five sets of twins, and only one single lamb. Unfortunately, two lambs in one triplet birth died and one lamb in another set of triplets failed to live, but the rest of the triplets and twins are frisking around in early spring frolics.

In the triplet lambs, several were carefully bottle fed with a formula at the start by a competent nurse, and this unremittant care has been rewarded.

Last fall a sow on this farm gave birth to 21 pigs.

St. Patrick's Tea Is Very Successful

PORT HOPE, March 18 (ENS) — The Annual St. Patrick's tea was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday afternoon, March 17, by the Altar Society of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church.

The centre table was prettily decorated with a large shamrock plant in the centre, surrounded with green cellophane holders containing tall yellow candles, and from this large table tea was poured by Mrs. B. V. Coleman, Miss Emily Foy, Miss Irene Quinlan and Mrs. Fitzgerald. About fifty smaller tables, at which a delicious salad plate was served were also centered with green candle holder and yellow candle.

The tearoom assistants were the Misses M. Sheehan, Mary Kearns, M. Sintuta, M. Buttler, Sheila Woodlock, Agnes Collins, A. O'Neil, I. Quinlan, E. Curran, Margaret Kearns, Mary Waters and Mrs. K. McMahon, I. Devin, J. Cleary, Mrs. Norgate, Mrs. J. Sheehan, Mrs. Sweanor, Mrs. McGillis, Miss Marie Cancilla.

A well laden talent table was in charge of Mrs. Marshal and Mrs. Finnegan, at which was displayed for sale all kinds of delicacies.

Mrs. John Horrigan was in charge of a most exciting White Elephant table from which were picked many surprises.

Tickets were sold by Miss Carrie Gordon. This tea was under the convenership of Mrs. J. Hozack, to whom a great deal of its success is due. A large crowd attended and the proceeds were most gratifying.

LONDON, March 18 (CP).—British military circles today hailed Gen. Douglas MacArthur's appointment to supreme command in Australia as a demonstration of "the co-ordination existing between the Empire and the United States."

MacArthur's prestige in Britain is probably higher than that of any other American soldier, with the possible exception of Gen. George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff.

At Russia Next

Chungking, China, March 18 (AP)

A CHINESE Army spokesman, restating the Chinese contention that an early Japanese attack on Russia is probable, said today that two Japanese divisions had been transferred recently from Korea to Manchoukuo while Japanese troops in the southern, or Japanese, half of Sakhalin Island had been moved northward toward the Russian border.

He told a press conference that Chinese military intelligence reports also had told of a meeting of district chiefs of staff of armed forces in Manchoukuo. The Russians are aware of it.

Hymn Writers Are Discussed

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18 — (ENS).—"Hymns and Their Writers" was the topic presented before members of the Tabernacle Church (English Line) Y.P.U. on Monday evening. Clarence Grills was the speaker and he gave some interesting data presented in a lucid manner that held the interest of the gathering. President Alex. Stephens presided and was assisted in the devotions by Miss Helen McMullen and Mrs. Alex. Stephens. Further plans were made for the Young People's banquet to be held March 23. Messrs. T. Chadwick and Gerald Mitchell were named as a reception committee, while Edwin Grills and Austin Stephens will form the ticket committee. Rev. George Williams of the Toronto Mission office will be the guest speaker of the evening. A St. Patrick's contest was conducted by Miss Helen McMullen at the close of the meeting.

Sewing Circle Meets.

Material that will be made into girls' blouses was handed members of the Rylstone Red Cross Sewing Circle at their Tuesday meeting held at Mrs. Chester Meiklejohn's. In addition to piecing two quilts the ladies turned in 3 shirts and a 4 pairs of boys (6 years old) trousers during the afternoon. Thanks was expressed to Mrs. Essie Reid who donated an all-cloth top to the branch and this together with the other quilts was turned over to the Springbrook Red Cross to be included with their shipment to headquarters this week. The president, Mrs. Everett Heath, presided during the business period and Mrs. M. Meiklejohn acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Andrew Thomson. Though the next meeting is scheduled for April 21 it was announced members may have to cancel it if many are engaged in their spring house-cleaning at that time. However, an extra meeting would be held later in the summer in order to keep up their schedule of quilts.

St. John's Y.P.U.

Citizenship Conveners Glen Maxwell and Jack Bleaker arranged the program for the weekly meeting of St. John's Y.P.U. held on Monday evening when the highlight of the meeting took the form of an address by Lieut. Alex. Turnbull, local Salvation Army head, who also contributed to the recreational period by leading in community singing. Gerald Sloggett assisted the two conveners with the devotional period by reading the Scripture, and Lieut. Turnbull contributed a cornet solo, "Danny Boy." The program included a violin solo by Bruce Elmhirst and a vocal solo by Mrs. Ed. Bates. Lieut. Turnbull added considerable interest to his remarks on the church by making some interesting comparisons between its various organizations and the parts of a fighting ship.

Floods Inundate Ontario Highways

Lashed by gales a driving rain caused floods to sweep central and southern Ontario. Houses were flooded and motor vehicles marooned as swirling water covered many of the highways. This scene was photographed in the Toronto area.

Floods Put Out Furnace Fires

COBOURG, March 18 (ENS) — Many a furnace went out in Cobourg yesterday and various boxes and containers sailed up and down the cellar when heavy rains overnight backed up and ran into cellars. The creek which runs through the centre of the town was swollen with the extra water but didn't reach the level of other years. The rain came down so heavily that it couldn't run away fast enough with the result that it entered cellars. However damage was not extensive. The night porter discovered the water coming in the cellar of a local hotel and removed the electric motor from the stoker just in time to prevent the water reaching it and damaging it.

Waters Subside Leaving Debris In Wake

PORT HOPE, March 18.—(ENS).—Late afternoon on Tuesday saw the roaring waters of the flooding Ganaraska gradually going down, leaving behind on the river banks and the flooded main streets of the town, river debris and large blocks of ice.

Some sections of Cavan street were still blocked both with water and ice, while Ontario street looked the usual wreck it does after a flood and the merchants were busy cleaning up their store fronts. Walton street south also looked very dirty, while Mill and Barrett street were piled high with ice blocks.

With the ice still in Corbett's pond at Canton Flour Mills and the quantity of water still roaring down the river the townspeople can't yet feel that all danger is over

Will it Happen Here?

The Canadian people must think themselves exceedingly lucky if no part of this Dominion is the subject of Axis attack before the war is ended. General warnings have been given in considerable numbers, but the first concrete one which we have so far encountered appears in the editorial columns of Canadian Aviation and is expressed thus:

"German bombers will unload explosives onto power stations, munitions plants and aircraft factories in Montreal, Toronto, Detroit, Buffalo and New York in the early summer of 1942. They will take off from Norway, flying via Iceland and Greenland. After depositing their loads on objectives which today are circled on Luftwaffe maps of Canada and the United States, the bomber crews will land in some isolated region of Canada. They will then make as much trouble as possible, such as attempting to take over a prison camp. Eventually they may surrender as prisoners of war after scuttling their planes and equipment."

It would be possible to dismiss this by saying that the editor of this magazine had been to see "49th Parallel," and that the film had jangled his nerves; it would also be foolish. In spite of the opposition which such attackers would undoubtedly meet at Iceland and Greenland it might happen here. The question is, Will it? and if it should happen would we be able to do anything to prevent terrible damage to our war industries?

The source of Canadian Aviation's knowledge is "a recent exile from Germany who in the early part of this war, has flown with the Lutfwaffe" and he made his statement to "a group of reputable business executives in Detroit," one of whom repeated it to a representative of the magazine. Certainly this announcement of the Axis intention reaches us by a rather roundabout course, but it cannot be dismissed as fantastic on that score. In this war it is the fantastic which always happens and the Axis might be willing to sacrifice quite a number of planes to do damage here and to give us a bad fright.

It has been suggested by another source that Japan might make bombing attacks on such non-military objectives as hospitals and schools on the West Coast in order to demoralize the population and to tie up large forces of men who might be needed elsewhere. We should certainly not like to see the people of this country living in hourly expectation of such happenings, but they should be prepared for them and should know what to do if they come. It would also be interesting to know whether we have any effective defence for our industries if they should be attacked.

Indiscretion

Having occasion to travel to Toronto one day last week we took a seat in the chair-car just behind a young officer who was apparently going there for the week-end. Opposite him sat a lady whom he apparently knew slightly; for almost an hour he conversed with her in a voice sufficiently loud to be heard above the noise of the train, and by the time he had finished we knew quite a lot about him, and his work, and his training, and his anticipated future moves. In the most charming manner possible, and seemingly without the least consciousness of what he was doing he had made a good deal of information the property of anyone who chose to listen to him.

It was obvious that he was no fool; certain distinctions of uniform made it clear that he was, on the contrary, better than the average at his job. But he was careless, and these are no times for anyone to be careless. It is hard for us, in a country where we are used to talking freely, to become close-mouthed; it is hard for young officers to resist the temptation to make themselves important, especially to ladies. But it must be done. Quite possibly nothing which he said could have been of use to a spy; we do not know about such things. But a man who talks freely in a train will talk even more freely at a party and all sorts of people turn up at parties.

We hate to stress the obvious, but this incident convinces us that there are still people in Canada who expect spies to go about in green spectacles and beards which fasten over the ears with visible wire hooks. Those happy days of espionage have passed, and anyone whom one does not know may easily be an enemy agent. For all that the young man knew, we might have been a spy; certainly we felt like one as we listened to him.

Books For The Troops

We should like to draw our readers' attention to the fact that Post Offices will accept books for distribution to men in uniform. If you have any books which are of no further use to you, and which would be acceptable in camp, will you not contribute them to this good cause?

Although their numbers are few, there are always some people who regard an appeal of this kind as an invitation to dispose of rubbish. Let it be said now, therefore, that the boys in the camps will certainly not be interested in old almanacs, government reports or souvenir booklets of Old Home Weeks. Neither will they care for complete sets of Elsie Dinsmore or the works of Hall Caine. But they will be glad to get modern fiction (which may include anything published since 1930) and good classical fiction, such as works of Dickens, Thackeray, Tolstoy, Dumas and others of similar lasting quality. They will also be glad to have technical books, if these are not outdated, and works of biography and history.

If you would like to help in this excellent work and cannot bear to part with any volumes from your library it is possible to buy admirable cheap reprints of good books for the purpose. Five Penguins will cost you a dollar, and five men can read each book before it begins to be worn out. If you are really anxious to help, we recommend this latter scheme strongly.

Wishful Thinking

The news these days is terribly confusing; it is clear that we have been badly defeated in the East Indies, both at sea and on land; it is equally clear that Russia has dealt crushing blows to Germany and that Germany may never recover her former power to strike. The shipping situation, which was greatly improved in the summer of 1941 is now very serious. Matters in India have reached a highly critical stage. The news is a hotchpotch of violent incident, and not more than a handful of men anywhere in the world have any really valid idea of what will happen during the next few months. The rest of us are limited to guessing, basing our guesses upon such information as we may be able to glean.

In fact, the time is admirably propitious for wishful thinking, for scaremongering and for rumor, and we are being amply supplied with all these commodities. It is impossible to live a normal life without being infected to some degree by one or all of these evils, but we must be as discreet as possible. The world is full of people who cannot see beyond tomorrow, and who delight in tales of destruction and imminent disaster; they seem to derive a curious kind of mental stimulus from these. Their counterparts on the other side of the fence are those who take immoderate comfort in "human interest" news items, telling of captured Nazis who predict the fall of Hitler or of Nazi petty officers who reveal to their captors all the secrets of the High Command.

Hitler's speech last Sunday has provoked a flood of comment and prophecy, ranging from the sober confidence of Mr. Sumner Welles to the wild outbursts of those who found in the dictator's words an admission that he foresaw his own downfall. Hitler is tough-minded; he will not see his own downfall until it happens, and we cannot see any reason for assuming that it is imminent. The worst sort of complacency is that which allows the desire to become father to the thought. We will not win this war by waiting for the Axis to lose it. We can only win by taking the offensive and, since guessing seems to be the popular sport of the day, our guess is that we will take it, in some form or other, before next autumn. That will be time enough to begin optimistic interpretations of Hitler's speeches.

A Blow Struck For Moderation

A well-bred controversy on the subject of women's clothes has made its appearance in the columns of the Ottawa Journal; Mrs. Dorise Neilsen, the M.P. for North Battleford, has rebuked the newspaper (in the most ladylike manner) for running a supplement on Spring Fashions, and the Journal has replied (in the most genteel terms) to Mrs. Neilsen. It is the lady's contention that this is not precisely the time to spend money on new clothes and precious hours putting them on and taking them off to the greatest advantage; the editor replies that clothes are necessary, that stylish clothes help morale, and that clothing manufacturers are also God's creatures and have a right to live.

We have no wish to involve ourselves in this mild disagreement, but we should like to quote a remark from the newspaper's editorial defence which we consider well worth a few minutes' consideration. "A woman has to wear something, presumably," says the Journal, "and if she has to wear something she might just as well try to wear something attractive." Precisely; dowdiness does no good and may possibly do harm. No one wants to see women tricked out in feathers and lace just now, but there are "sensible" clothes for the present time which are very attractive. The alternative to frivolity is not sackcloth and ashes.

There are few actions in this life which cannot be performed with style, with that extra touch of dash and taste which raises the heart of the doer and gives pleasure and encouragement to all about him. Many men and women have shown us that it is possible even to die with style; too few of us make any attempt to feel or think with style. But, alas, the word and what it stands for has suffered greatly from extremists who debase style into frivolity and insincerity, and from their opposite numbers who regard any attempt to give form and grace to life as an offence against humility and a tempting of those stern, unbending Powers whom they have set in place of God. We congratulate the Journal on a blow struck for the difficult course of moderation.

A Footnote Comes To Life

Anyone who has browsed through the Canadian Almanac must have noticed a footnote on page 278 which says: "The title of Baron de Longueuil existed prior to the Treaty of Paris (1763) and was duly recognized by Queen Victoria pursuant to that treaty." And in the Canadian Honor List is to be found the name of Ronald Grant de Longueuil, Baron de Longueuil. But to how many of us was this footnote more than a pleasing reminiscence of a past age, an echo from New France which was faintly heard in a babel of statistics?

A dispatch from The Canadian Press in London has brought the footnote to life, and has made the echo a stirring voice in the clangour of war. The heir to the ancient Barony, Lieutenant Raoul de Longueuil, has been killed while on active service with the Royal Navy; he was a naval airman and he was twenty-two years old. He died fighting for New France, and for Old France, and for freedom everywhere and, paradoxically, through his death a footnote which never lived before is given warmth and breath for eleven million Canadians.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Religion and patriotism support and strengthen each other" says an eminent ecclesiastic. Except in India, of course.

Harvard Observatory announces the discovery of a gigantic red star, 100 times brighter than the sun. If the Red Star isn't that much brighter than the Rising Sun we are greatly mistaken.

The New York World-Telegram ably sums up some of the evils of late years and sounds a warning note: "We will not get maximum production unless, first, we fully realize our awful peril; and, second, get over the gimme of recent years. Gimme shorter hours, gimme higher wages, gimme bigger profits, gimme more overtime, gimme less work, gimme more pensions, gimme greater crop benefits, gimme more appropriations and patronage, gimme plants for my Congressional district, gimme fees and dues to work for Uncle Sam, gimme ham 'n' eggs, gimme share-the-wealth, gimme $30 every Thursday. France had the gimmes too—had them till the Germans were close to Paris. Then everybody went frantically to work—too late. France has no gimmes today—except gimme food for my baby, gimme a place to lay my head, gimme death.

OUR ABSURD PAST

How funny people seem when we review
The eighteen-eighties and the nineties, too!
While some played poker, drank and bet on horses,
They looked askance on multiple divorces,
And though conflicting tendencies were tending,
Believed in saving rather than in spending.
They harbored strange ideas of entertainment;
Their lack of bridge deserves severe arraignment,
For friends could spend an evening merely talking;
They bicycled, they even stooped to walking!
The critics did not feel obliged to utter Hurrahs for books in language of the gutter,
And though some liked burlesque shows gay and gaudy,
None ever praised a play for being "bawdy."
How quaint they were; How much our world has brightened
Since we're sophisticated and enlightened!

Views Expressed By Britain's Press

PERHAPS Christianity is incapable of a counter-dynamic to the totalitarian. It is lamentably true that the tolerant society was established less by positive Christianity than by negative, less by the will to love than by deprival of the opportunity to hate. Possibly, it takes the tolerant society for granted, because it did so little positively to achieve it. It will rue the loss of it none the less. So that it should be deeply concerned to discover and release a counter-dynamic, if one can be found. The clamour for the revival of religious education is beside the mark unless it means an entirely new kind of religious education. The dynamic of totalitarianism is not so much mental as socio-physiological. The only kind of Christian education that is relevant is an education into the reality of a modern industrial society, into the necessity of releasing the machines from the impediment of individualism. Unless that release is planned by an act of creative and discriminating imagination, it will come automatically, as a convulsive reaction to a situation produced by inertia; and the machine will triumph not over individualism merely—that is probably its mission—but over the individual as well.—John Middleton Murry in The Fortnightly (London).

A WOMAN who runs a small business, a dress shop, sent 158 coupons to the proper authorities—and lost them in the post. (This was just before the official warning that such precious packets should be registered.) In due course, she completed the necessary formalities, and received back less than half the number of coupons that had been stolen.

This was a serious blow to her and her little business. "Why was my word not believed?" she wanted to know—a point, doubtless, irrelevant to the red tape tangles of officialdom.

But her story was not ended. Some of her customers hearing of her plight, got together, each contributing one or two coupons to help to straighten affairs, as a little gift from friends. That is one of the oddest, nicest wartime "pools" of which I have heard.—The Scotsman, Edinburgh.

WARDENS are being urged to make house-to-house calls in a campaign to get people to carry their gas masks.

A Civil Defence official told me: "In one main shopping centre of a large town I watched for 10 minutes and found that only one person in 12 had a respirator—and with on exception those who had them were either children or elderly people."

Wardens are asking for more street gas tests, but stress that they should be given without warning.

"Those who think that because Hitler is busy in Russia there is no longer any gas risk in this country are fools," one official said. — London Evening Standard.

Letter to Daily Telegraph

SIR,—My recent suggestion that the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury Cathedral should devote a mass of platinum and diamonds, known as the Canterbury Treasure, to practical use in the war against paganism has apparently failed to elicit a response. Should the cathedral authorities continue to ignore this appeal, their attitude will be open to an obvious and most unfortunate interpretation.

Meanwhile the designer of the Canterbury Treasure protests against the idea that this object should be "offered upon the altar of Moloch." May I commend to his consideration the fact that for lack of adequate equipment, thousands of his fellow-countrymen have already laid their lives on that same altar?

IT IS one of the enigmas of Hitler's nature that he combines such smallness with greatness. He is vulgar, mendacious, and basely cunning. For the awful things the Germans have done in the regions they have occupied, they as a nation are responsible—and he with them. Such deeds are part of his method and reflect the cruelty of his nature. But it is the method he used to deal with his own Germans—and, at the same time, the method they approved of, in him, their chosen leader, the method that is part of the system of government in Germany. He is a man of inconceivably crooked malignance. And yet, those who, bearing his past achievement in mind, heard him speak on December 11th, will not deny him singleness of purpose (a purpose that is as selfless as it is prodigious), calculated audacity, immense resolution, and, although combined with narrowness and superficiality, a certain breadth of vision and piercing insight. His sense of being the instrument of Providence has grown, but he is, if anything, less arrogant than heretofore. He has even begun to show a certain humility towards Providence and its mysterious workings—it may be that the menace of disaster in the East has begun to teach him that. — The Nineteenth Century (London).

THIS is the month when the seeds go in. In village gardens up and down England the planting of 50,000 special packets of them has begun.

They are a gift from Mrs. Roosevelt, sponsor of the "American Seeds for British Soil" movement — vegetable seeds, of course, and chosen to come up in rotation, from early spring lettuce to late winter sprouts.

The Women's Institute of England are already handling three tons of them (with more to follow). Last year they distributed no less than 17 tons of seeds from the United States. In addition to that splendid bit of generosity, U.S.A. sent 30 bags of superphosphate, each holding 100 lbs. of the fertilizer, and 500 canning and sealing machines for storing the fruit gathered by the Institutes. The women preserved 4,480,000 lbs. of fruit and vegetables last year.—British Industries Bulletin.

• New Chapter In Pacific

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 18 —(AP)— Arrival of General "Doug" MacArthur, the Lion of Luzon, in Australia as supreme commander of an Allied force including substantial American contingents opens a new chapter in the Battle of the Pacific.

It does more than foreshadow a knock-down-drag-out defense of Australia; more even than lend the tremendous stimulus of MacArthur's name and fame to the Allied troops he commands. Their morale has never been questioned.

The move, clearly foreshadowed from the hour the impending fall of Java fractured the United Nations defense front, is the first definite step toward countering Japanese aggression with offensive action by land, sea and air.

It means a beginning has been made in Australia on mustering the means ultimately to crush Japan. That, too, under the personal leadership of a battle-tested soldier whose name already has ill-omened meaning for the war lords of Japan.

SYMBOL OF DEFIANCE

It goes without saying that MacArthur left with regret the fortress he has made of Bataan Peninsula and the gallant comrades, American and Filipino, he inspired to such doughty deeds of defense there. He is first of all a soldier with a soldier's sense of duty, however. From the hour General Wavell, his British predecessor, was reassigned to India, MacArthur must have anticipated both the Australian request for his assignment and Presidential approval.

There is another reason to urge MacArthur's selection for his new command and his unquestioning acceptance of its great responsibilities. He has fought a defensive fight in this war, and has become the living symbol of high-hearted and undaunted defiance of fantastic odds. At heart, however, he is an apostle of the offensive, not the defensive. He does not believe in leaving the initiative to the foe, tactically or strategically. He has no liking for trench warfare, and is at his best as a military leader in a war of movement.

He proved that again and again both in France in the first Great War and in his masterly retreat into Bataan. His technique even on the defensive is to strike when his soldier's intuition tells him an opportunity for a stinging blow is present.

ELBOW ROOM IN AUSTRALIA

That quality and his uncanny ability to sense instantly even in the heat of action the meaning of enemy moves set MacArthur's foot on the ladder of military fame in France two decades ago. It won him his first star of a brigadier, paving the way for the row of four symbols of rank that now gleam on his shoulders.

There can be no question but that a MacArthur defense of Australia will be attuned to that trait of character. And there is elbow room for full exercise of his genius for a war of movement in which daring and a swift appraisal of each problem of manoeuvre can have scope.

This writer first knew MacArthur well as a young major of the general staff in Washington before the first Great War. Even then he was a rebel against army old-fogyism and military dogma. In his sixties he is still young and eager in mind and body, a young soldier's soldier — and the man for the job to which he has set his hand.

• Class Marks and Success

POPULAR biographers have "discovered" that Winston Churchill was not a good all-round student in his school days. In spite of the handicaps imposed by a formal educational system, he persisted in studying what he wanted to study, and let a lot of the rest go hang. Not having been cast in a common mould, he declined to allow himself to be jammed into one. Hence, no doubt, his subsequent success in life.

Apropos of this, Dr. W. S. Learned, appropriately named educational authority of the Carnegie Foundation, reports once more that there is necessarily a close correspondence between school examination marks and later achievement. It has always been that way, and, until the educational system is radically and realistically changed, will remain so. The fact that a boy or girl has the ability to score high marks in class-room tests may augur well for his or her chances later on. But the rule is not infallible. Some of the brightest pupils, judged solely from the point of view of marks turn out to be rather useless workaday citizens, whereas some young people who were the despair of their teachers surprise the world by measuring up rather well to its demands and standards.

But, in any case, extremes are poor examples upon which to base general conclusions. Dr. Learned clarifies the situation in these words: "It is fairly clear that the average 'grade' in college, or at least an examination index of mastered knowledge, is usually a factor of some importance in predicting a student's success, but....to be significant, the measure of a student's knowledge must be considered in the setting of his moral and emotional qualities, and in the light of his dominant attitude; it must be supplemented with an estimate of his skill in arriving at fruitful insights and of his willingness to respect and pursue them."—Brantford Expositor.

• Shop Lifting Problem

WHILE shop-lifting has now become a serious menace to big and little shops all over the country, magistrates, the shopkeepers complain, still do not take the matter seriously and are too ready to accept the excuse that the thief hardly realized what she was doing. With severer penalties, they believe, the evil might be checked.

There are three reasons for the present success of the shop-lifter. The ration scheme is a great temptation to obtain clothes without having to surrender coupons; because of the shortage of shop assistants there is much less supervision; and the final blow to shop-keepers is the prohibition of the use of wrapping paper when goods are sold. That makes it extremely difficult to say whether or not a customer has paid for the things she carries.

The thief can always plead that she has paid but has thrown away her bill; and it is difficult to check her claim, even if the shop were willing to risk insulting an innocent customer who might bring a case for defamation of character. It is reckoned that 99 per cent of the customers are honest people. In the vast majority of cases the shop-lifters steal the goods to sell; it may be to their friends, but much more often to pass them on to receivers.

On the whole it is an organized theft business, two or three women working together. One will walk to a counter, where she engages the assistant in conversation while a second woman covers the thief, and the third, having effected her theft, gradually edges away. When the first woman sees that the others have gone she walks off. Shop detectives in the big stores usually have a sort of sixth sense about thieves on the prowl, but few shops are big enough to employ them, and the little shops suffer severely. Rationed goods, mainly clothing, are the thieves' main plunder, but hats are frequently stolen, handbags, and other small stuff, and lots of umbrellas.—Manchester Guardian.

Rev. A. Herbert Describes Eskimo Life

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18. — (ENS).—A comprehensive and enlightening talk on his experience of ten years among the Eskimo Northern Canada was given by Rev. A. C. Herbert of Hastings in an address before members of the Campbellford Rotary Club at their noonday luncheon held on Monday. The speaker held the undivided attention of the gathering as he told of his life as a missionary 150 miles above the tree belt in a country where the mail man called but once a year and communities of a couple of dozen people were looked on as towns. Although in the past five years some effort was made to develop the interest of tourists in this country it still is and probably will be for some time to come a land that is known primarily to trappers.

Of the Eskimos, Rev. Herbert spoke of their difficulty in adjusting themselves to the customs of the wheat man, and hence the Government had done little to disturb conditions in this frozen area. The post at which he landed comprised a small house, a store, two warehouses and the mission in a community of nine whites situated 120 miles from the nearest settlement in the Eastern Arctic. Each post of this type forms the trading area for from 50 to 100 families and here they bring the pelts of white foxes, seals and other game which they exchange either for articles they need or cash. Hunting is necessarily their principal business, and agriculture is out of the question since the short summer season does little more than support the growth of a type of moss which the caribou feed on. He characterized it as a "country with a beauty of its own and probably contains untold mineral wealth."

Dog Team Tour.

During the months from January to May the missionary begins his tour over his assigned territory, taking with him a dog team and a native guide. He avoids taking food in cans, thus cutting the weight of equipment down to the minimum but instead may leave the trail to take a shot at a deer, the meat of which will subsequently be enjoyed by the natives when he reaches camp, for it is the custom for the visitor to do the entertaining in this country. Most important items to be considered in travelling in Canada's north are assuring food for the dogs and having the co-operation of the natives, the speaker explained, adding that he had slept in a fur sleeping bag inside an Eskimo snow hut at temperatures as low as 58 degrees and assured them there was no more healthful occupation than spending a couple of months on the trails

Rotarian Harry Fowlds moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker.

Buried On Sunday.

Funeral services were held here on Sunday afternoon for the late Albert James Beavis, 79, a native of Asphodel township, who died at his home here last Friday. The deceased, who was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Beavis, came to this town 35 years ago from Hastings, where he worked as a clerk for a number of years. In Campbellford he was principally employed as a caretaker for several banks and other buildings and his integrity and ability earned him great respect from people in all walks of life. He married his now sorrowing widow, the former Annie Milligan, of this town, fifteen years ago. Mr. Beavis retired in 1932 and since then has spent most of his time in gardening and other less active pursuits. He had been a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters for over 40 years and belonged to the United Church. Surviving besides his widow is one brother Henry, of Lakefield, and a sister, Mrs. Annie Lang, Norwood.

The funeral service was conducted from the family residence on Simpson Street by Rev. G. N. Maxwell, and interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Six nephews were the pall-bearers: Gordon Beavis, Colborne; Percy Beavis, Asphodel; Howard Beavis, Lakefield; Milton and Wilbert Beavis of Hastings, and Harold of Norwood.

Flower - bearers were grand-nephews: Ralph Beavis, Lakefield; Lurie and Lorne Beavis of Asphodel; Glen of Colborne.

Visited Soldiers.

Having received word that the Midland Regiment which has been on guard duty near Niagara-on-the-Lake for several months was about to leave that district abruptly, several car loads of Campbellford people motored to the camp at Allenburg on Sunday. Word that they were moving reached town on Saturday and precipitated a flood of messages to wives and parents from the boys, many of whom were regular visitors to this town during the past year.

Gifts To Canucks Admitted Free

OTTAWA, March 18 — (CP). — Trade Minister MacKinnon said information just received from London confirmed that gifts to Canadian soldiers in United Kingdom units in Britain would be admitted free of customs duty, provided the parcels are addressed to the individual "c/o Canadian Auxiliary Services, 6 Dilke street, Chelsea, London, S.W. 3."

The information, from the London Custom House, also confirmed that these gifts are exempt from United Kingdom regulations of last May. These imposed a weight limitation of five pounds on food parcels in general and provided that not more than two pounds of any one foodstuff could be included.

Gifts to Canadians serving in units of the Canadian forces in the United Kingdom receive similar concessions, but may be sent direct to the man concerned, in care of his unit.

TAMBLYN
SUGGESTS TOOTH QUIZ

How are your teeth? Are you neglecting them? Have they been checked recently? Are there some that need attention? Are you abusing them? Those are a few of the questions we should be asking ourselves continuously, because our teeth can add or detract from our appearance, and if not functioning properly can impair one's health. Teeth, primarily, were given us so that we could properly masticate our food. That is a big job and requires the most efficient teeth. Teeth in poor condition cannot hope to satisfy the demands and might be the cause of undermined health, while good teeth are an asset both in the matter of health and appearance. Unquestionably they should be checked frequently, but one should, of course, also give them the protection of a sufficient supply of Bone Vitamin—Good Brushing—and with the correct cleanser. The requisites for healthy—attractive teeth are a feature of the Tamblyn Drug Stores merchandise, and so we recommend that you make sure you have the correct equipment for the maintenance of healthy teeth, all of which may be purchased at such economical prices as prevail in this list of

'Y' GYM GIRLS DEFEAT ELECTRICS IN FINAL GAME OF SCHEDULE

Six-Point Lead Built Up In First Half

"Y" Gym, building up a six-point lead in the first half, held off a last half C.G.E. rally to beat the Electrics 21-18 in the final scheduled game in the Ladies' City Basketball League schedule. The playoffs for the senior and intermediate championships will commence on Friday night with Quakers and C.G.E. Electrics meeting for the senior title and Westclox and "Y" Gym coming together in the other bracket.

Electrics made a gallant comeback in the final twenty minutes of last night's games, but found the "Y" team's lead from the first half too big to overcome. "Y" Gym held a decided edge both on the attack and defensively in the opening period and took much better advantage of their scoring opportunities to earn their 13-7 margin at the half. Electrics came back strongly as the last period opened, and went on the attack, holding an edge all through the last half. They reversed proceedings in the matter of shooting and began to take advantage of their scoring chances but the best they could do was cut three points off their first half deficit. It was a fast, open affair wit both teams going all out for a win, with checking by both clubs being on a par with their strenuous offensive play. "Y" Gym had 10 free throws and made three of their tries, while Electrics potted four of their 13 chances. R. Hewitt with 10 points, B. Flynn and I. Young played well for the winners, and F. Merrett, E. Craig and B. Dobbie stood out for Electrics. The teams:

C.G.E. Electrics (18)—B. Stalter, E. Craig 3, M. Holson, F. Merrett 8, M McCarthy 1, D. Shultz, J. Castle 1, B. Dobbin 5.

"Y" Gym (21)—I. Young 2, R. Hewitt 12, R. Sullivan, B. Flynn 5, D. Bestard, I. Stewart 2, N. Smith.

Referee—L. Grose and W. Thirnbeck.

Divers To Ease Shortage Of Golf Balls

MIAMI, March 18 —(AP)—The rubber crisis has boosted the retrieving of golf balls from water hazards into the realm of a big business which today received official recognition from the Professional Golfers' Association.

Fred Corcoran, tournament manager for the P.G.A., entered an agreement with a trio of men who have retrieved as many as 75,000 lost balls in a single day. Their salvage operations in water holes on golf links averages them about 500,000 balls a year.

They use a diver's helmet fed by a gasoline-driven air pump, and, if the pickings are good, move in a dredge that lifts balls by the hundreds from their hiding places. They estimate that some golf courses have as many as 1,000,000 lost balls in water holes today, and any number have up to 500,000.

The P.G.A. tournament director entered an agreement with the three —J. C. Rainey and Paul Thill of Miami, and Rainey's son-in-law, R. E. Mills of California—to work with local club professionals throughout the country on one of three plans: The club to receive a percentage of the retrieved balls, receive a flat sum for the concession, or employ the retrieving crew and take all the balls recovered.

Mills said that many balls lifted from water hazards had been there 10 or more years, but are excellently preserved. They bring from 12 to 25 cents each now, whereas formerly they sold for 3 cents each.

While Corcoran watched, Thill put on his diver's helmet and in 20 minutes recovered more than 100 balls from a Miami Biltmore course hazard.

News From Training Camps

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18—(AP).—Funniest incident of the Spring training season happened yesterday, when New York Yankees' shortstop, five-foot five-inch Phil Rizzuto, argued with six-foot four-inch Umpire Cal Hubbard about a third strike.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — St. Louis Cardinals, seeking their ninth straight Grapefruit League triumph, designated Bill Lohrman, Lon Warneke and Harry Breechen to pitch today against Boston Red Sox. So effective were Max Lanier and John Beazley in yesterday's 1-0 triumph over Cleveland the Card outfield had only two chances.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—New York Giants came here today for the first of 15 games with Cleveland Indians, who are gloating over the pitching ability of Ray Poat, up from Cedar Rapids of the Three-Eye League. Poat yesterday limited St. Louis Cardinals to one hit in five innings.

SANFORD, Fla.—After watching Nanny Fernandez, Boston Brave rookie third baseman, develop a sore right arm, Casey Stengel chided him. "Oh, it is nothing," the youngster said. "Just keep me in the lineup and I'll work it out."

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — President Bill Benswanger of Pittsburg Pirates, terms "preposterous" the report that the club would let Jim Wasdell go to the Philadelphia Athletics. Wasdell, last year a utility player with Brooklyn Dodgers, now looms as the Pirates' regular right fielder.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Frank Melton took over in the seventh yesterday when the Syracuse Internationals threatened to go ahead of the Phils and struck out six in the ensuing 3⅓ innings.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 18. —(AP)—Legislation that would permit use of wood tires on automobiles using Pennsylvania's 50,000 miles of highway was placed before the general assembly today. The bill would amend the motor code which now requires rubber tires.

Man o' War Nears 25 Mark

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 18 — (AP).—Man o' War, the first equine citizen in the land (at least officially in the bluegrass) lives an easy but well-regulated life.

As the horse approached his twenty-fifth milestone on March 29 Harrison B. Scott, manager of Samuel D. Riddle's Faraway Farm, asserted the great thoroughbred is in "fine" health. At present he weighs 1,375 pounds, and is 16 and 2¾ hands (about 5½ feet) in height.

Man o' War is quartered in a comfortable barn, just across the road from Riddle's six-bedroom "cottage" and office, with three other horses, War Admiral, American Flag, and Trace Call. War Admiral and American Flag are two of his most famous sons.

This is a fair example of Man o War's daily schedule: 4:30, Breakfast (the details of his menus are secret); 5:30: Five to six mile workout, with a 126-pound boy on his back.

Then back to his stable, fresh hay and a grooming. After that he is ready for any visitors and later for a graze in a paddock. 11 a.m.: Lunch.

Has Good Manners.

The afternoon is passed with a rest period in his stall and freedom in the pasture, weather permitting. 4:30 p.m.: Supper, and after that bedded down for the night. No more visitors.

Scott described Man o' War as "well-mannered," and other horsemen say he does not appear to have any of the violent character that marked his sire, Fair Play.

Last year Man o' War was mated to fifteen mares and this year he will be mated to about a dozen. Man o' War's stud fee is a flat $5,000 and Owner Riddle is reported to have turned down many a handsome offer for his star's services.

The Philadelphia sportsman gives many matings free of charge to his friends and sells few matings. Incidentally one pay mating is more than sufficient for Man o' War to earn his keep for a year. Scott wouldn't divulge what it cost to keep "Big Red." Generally the upkeep of stallions is between $100 and $150 a month.

Once Riddle cheered his old friend, Joseph E. Widener, while the latter was ill with this telegram: "While you're doing nothing, think of the mare you want to breed next spring to Man o' War. I'm giving you a free season."

Wider Matings.

Some turf authorities opine that Riddle's refusal to permit a wider range of matings has kept Man o' War from producing even finer horses than he has. But the records speak eloquently of Riddle's system.

Man o' War first saw light of day on the late Major August Belmont's bluegrass farm in 1917. From the first, it is related, the yearling was highly regarded by Belmont and his entire farm menage. But he was sold along with the other crop of youngsters at Saratoga in 1918 because Belmont was heavily engaged with war work, and did not have time to devote to racing.

At the sale Riddle saw Man o' War for the first time and determined to buy him at any cost. And for $5,000 Riddle bought the colt that was destined to become the most brilliant star in a sport studded with equine luminaries.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Merritton-Peterborough senior B final series really starts all over again at Oshawa tonight when the two finalists come together for the fourth time. From now in it is a two-out-of-three game affair, and tonight's winner will have a big jump on its opposition. That should make the Oshawa tilt just about the classiest battle of the season for both crews will turn it on early in an effort to grab off a victory in this all-important struggle. The Petes, a bit crestfallen as a result of the unexpected beating they had to take Monday night in St. Catharines are determined to wipe out that defeat by a clean cut win over the Redmen tonight and Coach Ellis's team will throw the throttle wide open from the opening whistle. By the same token that win Monday night has given Merritton a lot of heart too and the battling Steelmen will be harder than ever to take from now on. The two teams play fast open hockey with little rough stuff and the tilt on the big Oshawa cushion should produce plenty of thrills and excitement.

* * * * * *

The lineup of the two clubs will be practically the same as faced each other in St. Catharines Monday night. The only change in the Peterborough battle order will be that Eddie Starr will likely be the extra forward used. Merritton will stand pat with their regular dozen who have performed in all three games against the Petes. For the benefit of Peterborough fans who would like to identify the opposition players we publish a list of the Merritton squad as follows: Clement, goal (2), Morgan, defence (10), Saunders, centre (4), Melville, wing (7), Hand, wing (6), while the alternates will be Robinson (14), Brant (5), Spooner, (13), J. Rocco (8), D. Rocco (9), Spancheff (12). Both teams came through Monday night's tussle unscathed and they are in the best of shape for the battle of Oshawa. It should be a thriller-diller.

* * * * * *

It looks like the biggest trek of Peterborough fans of the season. Everybody and his wife seems to be planning to start for the Motor City as the shades of evening fall and the Soldiers will not lack vocal support when they sail into action. It is expected that at least 300 fans will travel to Oshawa by the special C.N.R. train which leaves here at 6.30 o'clock and arrives in nice time for the face-off while that many or more will motor to the scene of hostilities. It will be Peterborough night in Oshawa with a vengeance and the game should attract the biggest crowd that has seen the Petes perform in the Motor City arena this season. The surprising comeback of the Merritton Redmen has put fresh spice in the playoff broth. Peterborough fans realize now that the team which knocked the Windsor Spitfires for a loop are nobody's pushovers and that the Petes have a real task in front of them. Nobody doubts the ability of Coach Ellis's squad to do the job but the squad will have to come through with their best stuff to grab off two more wins over Hayes.

* * * * * *

A formidable quota from the Trenton Flyers who played against the Petes in this Senior B group are now with Belleville No. 5 I.T.S. squad in the intermediate B division. Browne, Fleet, Livingston and Dixon are among the former Senior B players who are now playing in the lower bracket. The Belleville Airmen toppled the Kingston intermediates out of action and now are billed to clash with the strong Markham team in the next round of the Ontario competition.

They're Taking Chances

St. Catharines fans think a lot—and rightly so—of this young Bryan Robinson, the Timmins kid who starred for the St. Catharines juniors this season and was picked up by Merritton for use against the Petes as soon as the junior Saints were eliminated. Robinson who plays right wing for the Redmen's second line is a clever stick-handler with a puzzling shift and he is plenty smart in front of the net. He was the spearhead of the Merritton attack Monday night with three goals. And all that brings us to the point. We have an idea that St. Catharines is taking quite a chance in trotting out a kid of that calibre right in front of the eyes of the Oshawa fans. They are star-grabbers in the Motor City, especially in the junior A division, and if Robinson happened to come back tonight with a repeat of his Monday night performance—and both for the sake of the Petes and of St. Kitts as well we hope he doesn't—we have a hunch that Tracy Shaw and his associates are going to be more than mildly interested in the boy from Timmins, in which case he may have to change the address on his registration card come next fall.

The Outboard Marines are facing the acid test in Toronto tonight when they meet Toronto Earl Greys, last year's Dominion intermediate champions, in the first of a home-and-home game O.A.B.A. intermediate A semi-final series. The game was originally announced for tonight, then changed to Thursday night and finally was shifted back to tonight. It will be staged in the Danforth Tech. gymnasium with the return game in the Y.M.C.A. here Saturday night. Coached by Bubs Horton who is given credit for the great showing of the Trenton R.C.A.F. against Tip Tops, the Earl Grey squad is powerful in every department. Julian Fox is the outstanding performer but the Toronto quintet is no one-man team. However the Outboard Marines have been facing senior opposition all season and have learned a lot and they are confident of giving Earl Greys a real battle. The second game here Saturday night should be a hummer.

The Amerks Are Out

Boston Bruins kicked Brooklyn Amerks' mathematical chance of getting into the National Hockey League playoffs right out of the picture at Boston last night by handing Red Dutton's team an 8-3 trimming. The development put Amerks into the discard and gave Canadiens the sixth and last playoff berth. The Bruins with Bill Cowley back in the game for the first time since he sustained a fractured jaw many weeks ago were much too much for the Brooklyn club last night. Jack McGill, the rookie who was a linemate of our own Julian Wade with the Boston Olympics earlier in the season scored two goals for the Bruins and promises to be a big help to the Rossmen in their struggle for the Stanley Cup. The Bruins' chances of repeating their win of last season are not bright but any club that has Frankie Brimsek in the nets is going to be tough to beat. And that Cowley-Conacher-Wiseman line is not so bad either.

* * * * * *

Playoffs in the Ladies' Basbetball League will get under way Friday night in the Y.W.C.A. with a double-header that should be brimful of action. The Westclox and Y Gym teams who are the finalists in the intermediate section will meet at 7.45 o'clock in the first game for the championship of that series. The C.G.E. Generals and the Quakers will face each other at 8.45 o'clock in the first game of the senior finals. The two games should be hard-fought. The teams are well-balanced and have been staging exciting battles all through the regular schedule.

Puck Larceny As Amerks Defeated Leafs

Murray Armstrong, of the Brooklyn Americans, LEFT, attempts to skate the puck past the Toronto Maple Leafs' defenceman, Bucko MacDonald, but the Toronto lad stole the puck right from under Murray's nose. This happened while the Americans were beating the Maple Leafs 6-3 here at Madison Square Garden.

Four Ex-Dodgers Out To Prove Durocher Slipped

By ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Cport Writer

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 18 (AP)—There are four gents with Pittsburgh Pirates this year who would like to make a bum out of the leader of the Brooklyn Bums—Leo Durocher.

The four are Outfielder Jim Wasdell, Catcher Babe Phelps, Pitcher Luke Hamlin and Infielder Pete Coscarart, who comprise the Pittsburgh booty in the Arky Vaughan trade.

This bum-making business isn't exactly an impersonal matter with some of these fugitives from the Dodger fold, and it's no idle phrase that everyone of the group would be pleased to have a good year with Frankie Frisch's Pirates, thereby casting a reflection on the masterminding of Durocher.

There are definite opportunities for the quartet in Frisch's plans. He believes Phelps and Al Lopez give him the best catching staff in the National League.

He thinks Wasdell in right field will have a great season at the plate; that 35-year-old Luke Hamlin will serve on the mound, and it's a toss up between Coscarart and young Al Anderson for the shortstop berth.

His Two Worries

The short field and third base, incidentally, are Frisch's main worries at this moment. He lost a whizzer prospect for short when Bill Cox joined the army. Anderson played a lot there last year but Coscarart may take over the steady assignment this season.

At third, Lee Handley may recover from a shoulder injury suffered in an automobile accident last December. If so, well enough. Meanwhile, six-foot Bob Elliott, called in from the outfield, has looked very good this spring.

Frisch looks for good hitting and good pitching. He'll have to better his field.

"We made 196 errors last year. That's ...." He went on to explain in his own inimitable style just what that was, and it wasn't good.

The Pirate outfield of Maurice Van Robays in left, Vince DiMaggio in centre and Wasdell suits Frisch on paper, but back of them he has four others — Ed Stewart, Johnny Barrett, up from Hollywood; Cully Rikard, who joined the Buccos from Memphis last fall, and John Wyrostek, a New Orleans clouter. Frisch has lefthand hitting this year for a change.

Max Butcher, a 17-game winner, heads the hurling staff. It shapes up as most promising, with such flingers as Rip Sewell, John Lanning, Bob Klinger, Bill Clemensen, Henry Gornicki, Aldon Wilkie, Dick Conger, Ken Heintzelman, Nick Strincevich, Lloyd Dietz, Hamlin and a couple of others.

BRUINS BLAST AMERKS OUT OF N.H.L. RACE BY 8-3—CANADIENS IN

Leafs, Rangers Swap To Open Sat. In Toronto

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Vanishing Americans have completed their annual March display of expert vanishing, leaving the National Hockey League's sixth place and last playoff spot safe in the clutches of Montreal Canadiens.

Red Dutton's Brooklyns took their last dusting of the season in Boston last night, with Bruins winning 8-3 after piling up six goals before Amerks counted their first. The result gave Frankie Brimsek his second Vezina trophy and wiped out Brooks lingering hopes of catching Montreal and the sixth playoff berth.

Americans will disband today while the league's other six clubs prepare for the Stanley Cup playoffs, scheduled to start in Toronto Saturday night and Boston and Detroit Sunday. Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers completed a deal by telephone last night whereby the opening game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series will start in Toronto Saturday instead of in New York Sunday.

Boston will meet Chicago Black Hawks in one best-of-three quarter-final series while Detroit Red Wings and Montreal tangle in the other.

Rookie Jack McGill continued the hot pace he has been setting with Bruins by scoring twice and assisting on two other goals as the Brooks of 1941-42 gasped for the last time. Desse Smith, Roy Conacher, Jack Crawford, Dutch Hiller, Harvey Jackson and Herb Cain were other Boston scorers. Tommy Anderson, Wilf Field and Harry Watson counted for Americans.

Boston's star centre, Bill Cowley, went into action for the first time since he suffered a fractured jaw in a game at Detroit last Jan. 22. He wore a special protector over the lower part of his face, and made the play for one of Boston's goals.

Brimsek won the Vezina trophy with 118 goals, a higher winning total than any since the trophy was placed in competition 16 years ago. He won it previously as a rookie in the 1938-39 season, with 76 goals scored against him.

Only Five Leafs Shy At Camp All But 2 Signed

CAMDEN, S.C., March 18.—Only five players were absent as Toronto Maple Leafs went through their second workout of the spring training campaign here yesterday under Manager Burleigh Grimes. The missing members were Burgess Whitehead, Mickey Haslin, George Windsor, Joe Vance and Eddie Morgan.

Jim Walkup and Lloyd Brown, veteran hurlers, were also among the missing, but General Manager Lee MacPhail of the Toronto Club didn't include them in his list because they simply don't figure in Toronto's plans for the 1942 season, except as possible trading material.

The unsigned ranks have dwindled to pleasing proportions in MacPhail's eyes. Disregarding the above-mentioned pitching oldsters, only Vance and Morgan have yet to sign or accept terms. Vance apparently will not accept the contract offered him, and MacPhail is just as determined not to boost the ante. The latter doesn't expect the pitcher to report.

The Toronto boss has a feeling that Morgan will drop into camp unannounced any day, but in the meantime he has finally got a line on the first baseman-outfielder. Morgan apparently spent part of the winter with Ollie Carnegie, veteran outfielder, recently reelased by Buffalo Bisons. MacPhail has written to Carnegie, asking for some word on Morgan's wherabouts.

The workouts Monday and yesterday were confined to a few calisthenics, running exercises, and easy warm-up tosses. Jimmy Russel, who may crash into a regular outfield berth, missed Monday's drill because of a slight cold, but was on hand Tuesday.

While considerable interest centres around the condition of Johnny Gee's talented left arm, there will be no definite news concerning that member for a time. The towering lefty certainly hasn't experienced any difficulty as yet, but then no trouble was anticipated until the moundsmen had rounded into sufficient shape to "cut loose."

Players in camp at present are Pitchers Jim Davis, John Gee, Ralph McCabe, Harry Shuman, Joe Talley and Max Samuely; Catchers Jimmy Grilk and Dewey Williams; Infielders Joe Mack, Bob Latshaw, Lynn Myers, Jim Bucher, and Outfields Frank Colman, Nick Gregory, Jimmy Russel, John Tyler and Ed Yount.

Indians Flatten Caps 4 to 2 In Series Opener

By The Canadian Press.

The playoff trail for hockey's Little World Series is underway today and riding the coveted positions ofter first games are three clubs which have done consistently well in their respective divisions through the regular schedule.

Springfield Indians, who had little trouble in clinching first place honors in the eastern section, served notice they are going to be tough to beat for league honors, when they hung a 4-2 defeat on the western division champs, Indianapolis Capitals, in the first of their best-of-five game series last night.

On the other two league fronts last night, however, western section clubs held forth as Hershey Bears turned aside New Haven Eagles, 3-1, in the battle between second-place teams and Cleveland Barons trimmed its rival third-place finisher, Washington Lions, 4-1. Both these series are to be best-of-three game affairs.

While the Indians looked impressive in turning back a hard-fighting Indianapolis team, the highlight of the night's performance was supplied by Bill Summerhill, veteran right-winger, who spent a short time in the National Hockey League with Brooklyn Americans.

Noted as a money player, the former Toronto amateur, labelled as one of the real comers in the Big Time when he jumped to pro ranks with Canadiens back in 1938, came through with three of the Indian goals to personally account for his team's victory.

His first goal tied the score late in the third period after Ed Keating had given Caps an early lead. Then at 3:51 he put Springfield ahead, with Bob Dill scoring again for Indians in the same period. His third marker came after Keating had tallied his second goal of the game, late in the closing session.

Barons Going Strong

Although weakened by loss of several players due to injuries, Cleveland Barons looked anything but crippled as they waltzed through Washington's Lions.

The veterans, Norm Locking and Joffre Desliets put Barons in front in the initial period and from there on Cleveland held sway with Rod Lorrain scoring the only Lion marker, which was followed by additional Cleveland goals from the sticks of Les Cunningham and Stan Smith.

Maybe the Barons were inspired by the pre-game announcement from President Al Sutphin that he was adding $3,000 to the players' share of the playoff pool, win, lose or draw.

It took Hershey until the second period before they could dent Goaler Phil Stein's armor for a pair of goals by Phil Hergesheimer and Wally Wilson, which gave them a lead they never relinquished.

Bill Allum, on loan from Buffalo, spoiled Nick Damore's chance for a shutout when he tallied a freak goal on a shot intended as a pass to a teammate. This tally was nullified in the last period by Hergesheimer's second goal of the contest.

All three series will be resumed tomorrow night. Springfield again plays at Indianapolis; Cleveland remains at Washington and New Haven switches to Hershey.

Charges Critics Guessing, Helping Axis

COLCHESTER, Eng., March 18—(CP) — Lord Croft, parliamentary secretary for the war office, told Britons Sunday they must "stamp out fretful, querulous criticism" of the Empire's armed forces because that is "simply playing the enemy's game."

He called attempts to lay the blame for defeats in the East Indies and Pacific war zones "mere guesswork" and said such criticism "is as helpful to Hitler and his Japanese fellow criminals as if the critic were a Quisling in their pay."

"When in an hour, seapower was wrested from the Americans and the Allies in the East, our whole strategic defences crumbled for the moment," he said in a speech here.

"I am shocked to read aritcles trying to lay the blame on British forces—naval, military or air—when we have not as yet a title of evidence to prove they failed their country.

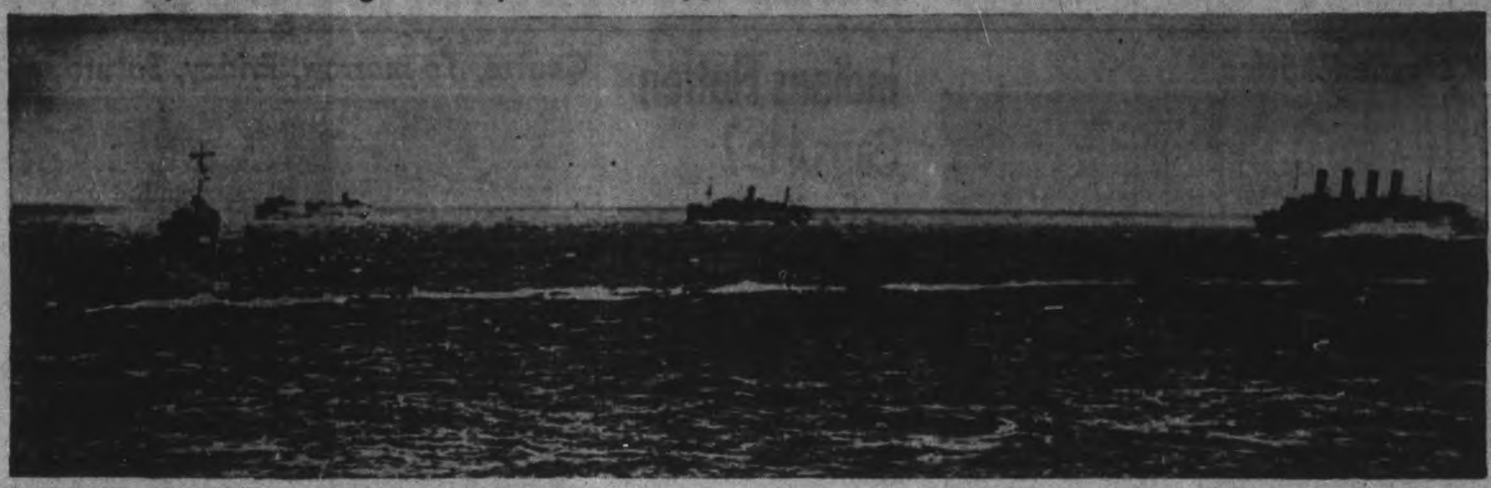
"I have seen suggestions that troops in Singapore should not have surrendered at the end of "only seven days fighting."

Lord Croft declared many of these men actually had been fighting all the way down the Malayan Peninsula for 10 weeks against great odds and had suffered many casualties.

"The full facts have not reached us yet and all judgment should be suspended," he concluded. "But for the honor of the army and its leaders who fought and died and who never yield until they are cut off from water, ammunition and supplies, I hope these base calumnies will be treated not only with contempt but with righteous wrath."

(According to CBS, which heard the broadcast in New York, Lord Croft said that British forces in the Mediterranean theatre had inflicted casualties of "over 400,000 and probably approaching 500,000" on Axis troops. This figure was given as covering killed, wounded, missing and prisoners, but apart from "the German and Italian reinforcements which the navy and air force sent to the bottom of the Mediterranean.")

U.S. Navy Escorts Large Convoy Of War Supplies Across Pacific



While a U.S. warship stands by, a convoy moves steadily towards its destination somewhere in the Pacific Ocean. Convoys such as the one shown here, aided by the U.S. navy, have managed to keep Uncle Sam's lifeline open and a steady stream of supplies are reported to be reaching Australia in anticipation of a Japanese drive against that country. This photo has been passed by the U.S. navy censor and approved for publication.

House Tackles

more restricted and as our economy generally is more and more converted into a war economy."

The House reached the financial question after disposing of the wheat problem for the time being by giving second reading to the bill to raise the minimum price of Western wheat from 70 cents to 90 cents a bushel, and referring it to the agriculture committee.

$1 Amendment Ousted.

An amendment to the second-reading motion sponsored by the C.C.F. group, seeking to commit the House to a $1-a-bushel wheat price was defeated on a straight Liberal vs. Opposition division by a vote of 125 to 44.

The Senate met during the evening and heard many tributes to Rt. Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Government Senate leader, and Hon. E. N Rhodes (Con., Nova Scotia), both of whom died since the last meeting of the Upper House a week ago. Several minor bills were considered and then adjournment was taken to March 24.

Mr. Ilsley gave a breakdown of war expenditures by departments in the current fiscal year and also of proposed outlays for the new fiscal year. He said the outlay for the present year will run to $1,431,000,000 and he proposes to introduce a supplementary war appropriation bill for $135,000,000 to take care of the excess over the $1,300,000,000 votes last session.

Against an outlay of $515,000,000 on the army in 1941-42 the Minister said $997,000,000 will be spent in 1942-43. The navy required $139,000,000 this year and will need $259,000,000 next year. The Air Force required $258,000,000 this year for training and Canada's share of the British commonwealth training plan in addition to $156,000,000 for home war and overseas establishments and will need $585,000,000 for these purposes in 1942-43.

The Munitions and Supply Department will spend a total of $252,000,000 this year and $355,000,000 next year. The Minister placed expenditures by other departments in the present year at $111,000,000 and estimated their outlays in 1942-43 at $146,000,000.

In addition to the main expenditures of the three defence branches in 1942-43 he estimated there would be sundry expenses amounting to $21,000,000.

More Restrictions

"To carry out the program, to achieve our objective will involve an ever-increasing restriction of the human and material resources that we devote to the production of goods and services for civilian satisfactions," said the minister.

"In other words, an ever-increasing reduction in our standard of living for the time being and until the struggle for survival in which we are engaged has been won.

"I am confident that no Canadian will hesitate to approve this appropriation because of this fact."

The government's 1942 wheat program which, besides the increased price, calls for continuation of the wheat acreage reduction bonuses, a limitation on deliveries to 280,000,000 bushels, and minor changes in the Prairie Farm Assistance Act which deals with crop failure acreage bonuses, now is entirely in the hands of the agriculture committee.

Want Full Probe

Before the wheat price bill passed Conservative House Leader Hanson, later supported by M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. House Leader, and E. E. Perley (Cons. Qu'Appelle) urged a full inquiry by the committee into operations of the Canadian Wheat Board. Mr. Perley, however, expressed a preference for establishment of a smaller and more select committee than the 60-member body now existing.

Mr. Hanson charged the Wheat Board operates contrary to the Wheat Board Act in buying futures after it has sold wheat. He said also that he had been informed the Board is paying sums of money to people deprived of commissions in handling of grain by the war and the Board's operations, and that large sums of money go to people who do little or nothing to earn them.

Trade Minister MacKinnon said he would see that members of the Wheat Board and of the Board of Grain Commissoners are available to the Agriculture committee for questioning on the points raised by Mr. Hanson. He suggested, however, that the same criticism had been made an investigated fully in 1936.

Hanson Outlines It

Mr. Hanson's speech on wheat was a long one and touched on all phases of the problem. The principle points of policy he enumerated were:

The government could and should lay down a wheat program for the war period which would let producers know where they stand;

The 90-cent price is not satisfactory (he supported the C.C.F. amendment);

The Prairie Farm Assistance Act is a relief measure and should be on the basis of individual need, rather than on a "blanket" basis which pays bonuses to farmers who can well carry themselves;

As an agricultural country Canada can not continue indefinitely on a policy of bonusing farm production;

Canada should maintain a reservoir of wheat against possible war and post-war needs but should not increase the present surplus;

The government should call on the wheat board to operate in accordance with the law.

Mr. Hanson said the price-ceiling policy was adopted at a time when prices were on an uneven basis. Had proper consideration been given then to the wheat price the farmers would have had $1 wheat. The government now was on the horns of a dilemma! It had to choose between bonusing millers or bakers to maintain the bread ceiling price and giving farmers a fair price for wheat.

Be brought Mr. Coldwell into the debate by suggesting that farmers could judge the value of a planned economy by considering their position under the price-ceiling plan.

"If we are to have a planned economy after the war, if we are to have a national plan fixing prices, such as our friends of the C.C.F. are urging....Would not the farmers of Canada generally find themselves out on a limb as the wheat farmers of the West find themselves today?" he asked.

Mr. Coldwell said in reply later in the day that all civilized nations would have to plan their economy to a greater degree after the war. The only alternative to a planned economy was unrestricted free trade.

National Health is Vital to Victory

A VITAL factor in Canada's war effort is the ability of men and women to meet the unceasing demand of industry, agriculture, and the armed forces. Ill-health definitely reduces this effort. According to Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and National Health:

"Sickness last year cost Canada more than the Commonwealth Air Training Plan. Fifty thousand workers in industry are constantly ill and unable to work." (The loss in productive labor of 50,000 man-days equals the time required to build seven medium bombers.)

Daily newspapers in all parts of Canada are co-operating on a National Fitness Campaign during March. They are helping grocers and druggists to feature products vital to health and designed to improve efficiency.

REDUCED MORTGAGE

In Tuesday night's report of the Canadian Legion annual meeting it appeared that there had been a "shortage" of some $3,800.00 which had been rduced to $1,000.00 since Fire Chief George Gimblett took over the office of president. This should have read that there had been a mortgage of $3,800.00 which under his management had been reduced to $1,000.00.

CELLAR FLOODED

Mrs. Joe O'Toole of Armour Road left the baby's galoshes on the second top step of the cellar stairs yesterday morning and by noon water flooding the cellar had swept one of the pair away. The furnace was out, and the house was without electricity as well. Much damage was done to a new baby carriage, and furniture in the cellar. City workmen pumped the cellar during the night with a power driven pump, but the water is rising again.

Head of the Zellers Limited chain of retail stores, he has been acting as deputy to the co-ordinator of the textile group in the prices administration. Mr. Zeller will be attached to the head office in Ottawa, and serves without remuneration or expenses.

Who Will Do Tree Trimming?

"Still a matter for discussion" is the understanding of Alderman Dutton regarding responsibility of the Board of Works for all trimming and removal of trees. On the other hand Alderman Curtis remarked to Examiner that the Property committee was being relieved of this detail with the exception of the trees at Nicholls Oval.

"That includes the care of the Crescent street boulevard," Alderman Curtis saida. "That's one job I'm not keen about if the council is going to insist on keeping the rip-rap clear of little wharves for the convenience of people on the south side of the street.

Alderman Dutton said that it should be a simple matter to determine a policy in regard to the planting and removal of trees.

"One thing we simply have to keep in mind begins with the planting of trees," he stated. "Usually you have to consider who is under them and above them, and that is how the Board of Works is affected because if eventually the root system grows until it interferes with water and sewer connections then we have to give it attention. There are also the wires above, and so on."

Reserve Judgment In Collins' Case

After a hearing that lasted all day Magistrate Langley on Tuesday reserved judgment until next week in a charge against James Collins, Douro Street, of exposing or keeping liquor for sale.

At the afternoon session evidence was called by the Crown to show liquor and beer purchases by the accused during the past two months.

The charge against Collins arose out of a raid made by a squad of Provincial and City Police upon a cottage on the River Road in Douro Township during which a quantity of beer was seized.

There is a second charge against the accused of operating a common gaming hcuse.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for Collins and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

WHY THE SPINE?

BECAUSE it is the keyboard of the nervous system and has a controlling influence on the strength and activity of all parts of the body.

BECAUSE spinal segments are subject to slight derangement and may cause constriction of spinal nerve fibers.

BECAUSE interference with spinal nerves diminishes the supply of vital energy to tissue cells and contributes towards weakness and lack of proper function in those tissues.

BECAUSE spinal manipulative treatments have proven definitely helpful in bringing better health and greater comfort to those who suffer.

Rangers Hold First Parade As Active Unit

The medical board examining recruits for the Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) will sit all day and from 7.30 to ten o'clock at night. Similarly, the recruiting office will remain open the same hours each day for the present at least, Major J. R. Bolton told the Examiner today. This will be for the sake of those working in the daytime who are unable to get to the armoury until evening although it is not limited to the factory workers.

The unit had its first parade this morning since becoming an active force regiment. A number of the men took part in a physical training drill at 8.15 a.m. It is expected this will be a daily routine from now on.

To Save Paper

Lt.-Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., E.D., officer commanding the Rangers has ordered that all waste paper in and about the armoury be saved each day. None is to be wasted as a part of the war effort. The paper will be turned over to the Salvage Department of the Civic War Service Council.

A certain popular senior officer of the Rangers was observed today smoking a tobaccoless pipe. It appears he has been trying to break from the smoking habit and to do this he has adopted the idea of carrying a pipe in his mouth with no tobacco in it. We'll see how he makes out.

A former reporter for the Examiner, a Toronto paper and later connected with a paper in London, England, Sergeant Harold Robson has been taken on strength with the Rangers on transfer with the A and T staff with which he served since June 1940.

Sergeant Robson has served with the Rangers since May 1939 in the same capacity. He now has the rank of orderly room sergeant.

Other names of those accepted in today's list for service with the Rangers upon successfully having passed their medical examinations were:

PTE. DONALD WINTON HULL, 162 Parkhill Road.
PTE. WILLIAM HENRY CURTIS, 531 Parnell street.
PTE. WELLINGTON HUGH WOOD, 735 Aylmer street.
PTE. HAROLD BERNARD CORRIGAN, R.R. 6, Peterborough.
PTE. BERNARD GERRARD MEAGHER, R.R. 1, Douro.
PTE. DAVID GEORGE CLARK, 97 Princess street.
PTE. WILBERT HAYES, Park St. South.

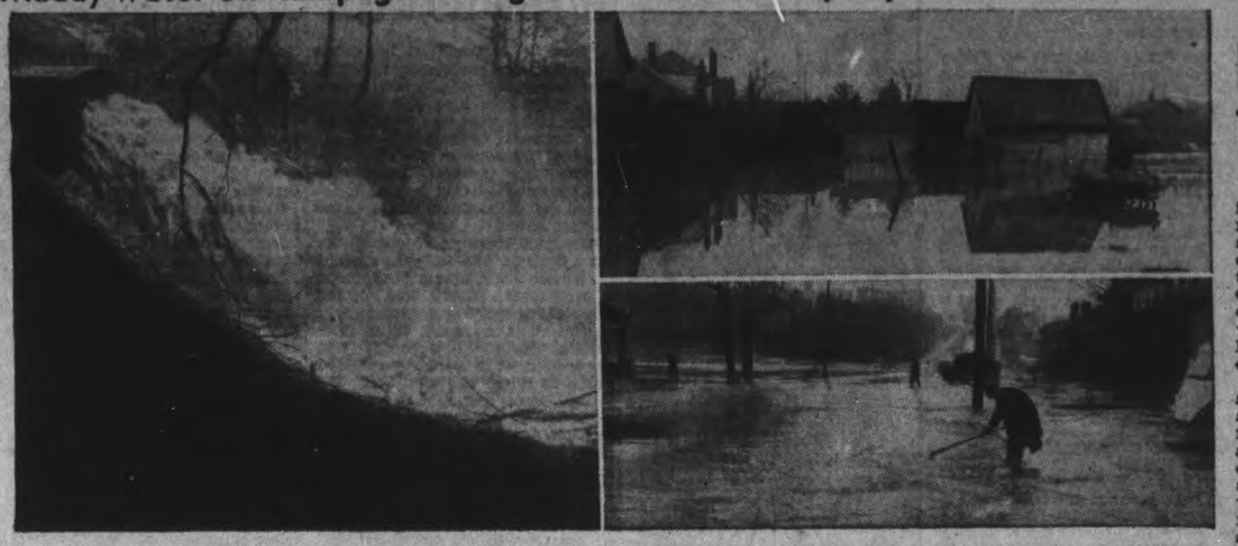
Muddy Water On Rampage Damages Ashburnham Property



Floods swept Ashburnham north of Douro Street on Tuesday when the trunk tunnel on Rogers Street was unable to carry off water from the Brickyard creek, and the creek overflowed, flooding a large section of property. On the LEFT is a view of the tunnel mouth on the east bank of the river, below the London Street dam, which is running full to the top, like a mountain torrent. On the RIGHT, Alderman Floyd Curtis is shown in rubber boots, keeping a storm drain catch basin clear on Armour Road, two blocks north of the Westclox, while the water flows across the road several inches deep. In the other scene taken from Clifton Street, facing south, a barn owned by James Conroy is shown with water halfway up to the hayloft. Mr. Conroy got his horse out, and found other stable accommodation.

Kawartha Dance Nets Fund More Than $100

Close to 400 people attended the annual St. Patrick's dance held at the Kawartha Club on Tuesday evening by the staff of the Canadian Department Stores in this city and a feature of the program was the draw for a mantel radio donated by J. H. Jamison, manager of the store, to raise money for the Peterborough City and District British War Victims Fund.

Fred G. Mann, administrator of the fund, was on hand to make the draw, and the winner was Vince Hughes, 565 Douglas Avenue. The sale of draw tickets on the radio will bring a substantial sum to the fund, and following the dance Mr. Jamison presented Mr. Mann with a cheque for $100 as the first payment.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Perry Laird, Miss Doreen Hogg and Master Kenneth Simmons entertained the gathering, singing the currently popular number "Rose O'-Day." They followed up with a waltz clog, and capped their performance with a fast moving military tap dance. The hall was donated by the Kawartha Club officials as a contribution to the fund, and Hugh Davis provided free transportation for the entertainers. Harold Howay and his trained dog put an a brief and interesting little program.

Ration Books Move Slowly

J. J. Dorris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce said Wednesday morning that motorists are neglecting to secure their gasoline ration books, and rationing starts in twelve more days, namely on April 1.

There are close to 7,000 passenger car and commercial vehicle licenses sold so far this year in Peterborough but less than 2,500 people have obtained gasoline ration books. Mr. Dorris believes that this will result in a last minute rush, that cannot be handled. The average driver, who falls in "A" category is the worst offender, as most of the people who fall into special categories by virtue of their profession or work are securing ration books early.

All that a motorist needs to do to obtain a ration book, is to pick up a specail Government form at the Post Office or at the Chamber of Commerce, and fill in the answers to all questions asked. Then if the motorist is an A category driver, he takes the completed form to the Chamber of Commerce and obtains a ration book on payment of one dollar. Motorists in other categories must submit the applications to the Regional Office of the Oil Controller at Toronto, and when it is returned and approved, they take it to the Chamber of Commerce and purchase a ration book in the same manner as described above.

Where Is The Gadget Announced To Save Gasoline For Motorist Several Years Ago?

Whatever became of that gadget people used to talk about that would boost to three or four times the mileage one could get on a gallon of gasoline? One of the popular answers to the query is that oil companies bought it up because it would cut down on gasoline sales. If this were the case, why not bring it out now when the necessity of saving gasoline is so urgent? You got us on that one, but a reporter overheard a satisfactory explanation Tuesday that set his mind at ease. The answer is that there never was such a thing. Does it still seem incredible that there never was such a thing or that there was one? Choose your sides, folks, while we attempt to unfold the story exactly as we got it.

Some years ago in the city of Hamilton there appeared one day a smart salesman, who claimed to have a gas saving device and that all he wanted was a chance to show what it would do. After he shooed all kibitzers aside, he proceeded to instal the device to the car of a Hamilton man. On the try-out the machine did 125 miles on a gallon—or so it then appeared. Well known motor car manufacturers were consulted on the matter, but Mr. Salesman refused to give a demonstration again unless someone would offer to purchase the device at a price. It was not clear whether a sale was made, but when anyone else attempted to start the car, the motor refused to roll over even once.

An inspection of the machine not made in the presence of its inventor showed that he had disconnected the gas feed line from the tank to motor and had substituted a one gallon tank from which it appeared the car had done 125 miles on. Okay so far, but, folks, there was a catch in it. The salesman had concealed another line to the regular gas tank and it was from this he was able to produce such phenomenal results with his gas saver. Of course, all that was visible on first inspection was the "gas saver" and its one gallon tank. And so, if this was the only gas saver offered to the motor trade, there never was such a thing.

Citizens Urged To Seize Rifles

An appeal from the Peterborough Humane Society asks that the general public co-operate with the society against the illegal use of air rifles and 22 calibre rifles.

"Spring is approaching when our song birds will all come back to this country. Already several boys have been noticed with air rifles. A warning is issued to parents and children alike that the above mentioned rifles are not allowed either inside or outside the city. It is the duty of every citizen to take away air rifles, etc., from youngsters and give them to the police. Of course the citizen must not commit an assault.

A Toronto citizen wrote to a Toronto Daily in these words: "A few days ago, a neighbor's son brought in four chickadees and two nuthatches that he had shot. The same day a person stated that a flock of chickadees he had been feeding all winter had all been destroyed by boys with rifles. This sort of thing exists in all parts of Canada. We have laws pertaining to the use of rifles by boys under the age of 15 years but, like many other laws, they are hard to enforce as rifles can be purchased in any hardware store."

Where does the blame lay?—to a very great extent on the parents. Upon investigation, we usually find the parent's excuse is that the rifle was given to the boy to use at a fixed target but the average boy delights in shooting at living objects and gets a thrill out of it when a living thing has been killed.

In spite of the notice in the Examiner regarding stamps, the Humane Society will be most grateful for any stamps given them as they are still wanted in England.

Stray dogs and cats are still plentiful. Report for the month is: dogs brought to shelter 25, horses examined 125, dogs destroyed 20, dogs claimed by owner 1, cats brought to shelter 15, cats destroyed 10, animals examined 260, complaints investigated 20, emergency calls 50, warnings issued 7, stables inspected 11, phone calls 350.

Aged Landlord Fined In Court

Harry Wills, 91, pleaded guilty in Police Court this morning to charge under the rentals regulations of collecting a rent higher than was just and reasonable for a property on Park Street, and the aged man was fined $25.00 by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

"He doesn't look the type of man who would knowingly break the law," said the Magistrate. "and I am not going to impose any costs in this case."

"I hope the press takes note of the type of person who is being prosecuted under these regulations," commented John A. Bradshaw.

Mr. Bradshaw told the court that although a number of improvements had been made to the house without a request from the tenant, the accused had not raised the rental when he might have done so, but waited until the tenant was making a better salary.

The charge was laid by Inspector Robertson, who investigates cases under the rentals administration regulations.

Taxi Drivers Given Licenses

Here is a group of names that passed an examination board here recently. These men were applicants for drivers' licenses in the taxi business. They were approved by the Police Commission.

Albert Reid, 19, Sophia street, for Herb. Stinson, whose son Max left his father's taxi service to enlist in a corps of engineers now overseas.

Orville Hardy for William Woodward; Alphonse O'Connor for Hugh Davis.

Harold Lavery, 20, 413 Sheridan street, for Hugh Davis.

Mervin Brown, 18, Harvey street, for Herb. Stinson.

The Commission also granted two additional owners' licenses to Hugh Davis, and instructed the secretary, City Clerk Outram, to write Harry Finnie that his license will be revoked unless he carries on a 24-hour business.

Some comment was expressed that Hugh Davis or persons in his employ are over-reaching their rights in trying to keep automobiles from parking in front of his taxi office on George street.

"He has no authority to order any one from in front of his taxi office," Judge Smoke said.

The secretary was instructed to consult Chief Constable Newhall about weights of cloth for summer uniforms, and also to arrange for calling for tenders for the suits.

16th Donation Is Cabled To War Victims

Tuesday was Irishman's Day, and in this city named after an Irishman, but bearing the name also of an old English city, Irishmen (and others) made merry in a dance at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, sponsored by the Employees of the Canadian Department Stores whose operations are under the leadership of J. H. Jamieson, also of Irish extraction.

In the midst of the festivities surrounding this event, Mr. Jamieson presented the secretary of the fund with a cheque for $100, representing but a small part of what will come to the fund through the dance and the draw held in conjunction with it, in order that the 16th donation of £500 could be completed and cabled to the Lord Mayor of London today.

Accordingly, this was done, and the following message sent to advise the Lord Mayor of London of its despatch, "Citizens of Peterborough and District today cable you 16th donation of £500 to alleviate distress of British Air Raid Victims. More follows, signed, James Hamilton, Mayor.

This sum now makes a total of £8,600 that has been sent to date, and there is a balance of $40 to start off the next donation with.

V. Hughes Wins Radio

The draw for the Radio, the sale of tickets for which had been going on for some time by the C.D.S. employees on behalf of the fund, was made by the secretary of the fund, and resulted in ticket number 1731 being the winner, and held by V. Hughes who was present, and it was presented to him by J. H. Jamieson.

A further report covering the whole of these very successful joint efforts on behalf of the fund will follow shortly.

The fund has been offered a beautiful Afghan, made by six ladies in the south-end of the city, in colors maroon and grey, as large as a Kenwood Blanket, and the secretary of the fund would be pleased to hear from any group who would sponsor the sale of tickets for a draw on it.

Previously acknowledged	$36,450.72
Employees, Canadian Department Stores, part proceeds of draw and dance	100.00
Total to date	$36,550.72

Two Lawyers Enlist With Rangers

Two more of Peterborough's young professional men, both lawyers, Alex L. Elliott, M.P.P., and Ralph O. Standish, are preparing to relinquish their practice to enlist with the Prince of Wales Rangers, of which they are qualified officers.

Mr. Standish, who has been associated with T. J. Carley, K.C., has passed the medical board, and is now engaged in the details of winding up his affairs as a preliminary to orienting his thoughts and life to active military service.

Mr. Elliott may be able to attend the remaining sittings of the provincial Legislature. He is the only lawyer on government side of the committee which was appointed to study revisions of the assessment act, whose recommendations cut a wide sweep through long established municipal practice, assuming that amendments to the act are adopted.

The second quilt, which has been made from old socks and sweaters is now near completion and will be on display in a local store in the near future. More old socks and sweaters are required, so if anyone having either socks or sweaters would call Mrs. W. E. Fanning or Mrs. D. Loucks, arrangements could be made to pick them up. The next meeting will be held April 20 at the home of Mrs. R. E. Macdonald, 437 Downie avenue.

Hon. F. Oliver To Address Children's Aid

The monthly board meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held on Tuesday afternoon with the president, Mr. James Dutton, in the chair.

It was announced that the Hon. Farquhar Oliver, Minister of Public Welfare had accepted the Board's invitation to speak at the annual meeting of the Society to be held on Tuesday, April 21. A committee composed of Rev. F. E. Craik, Mrs. James Wharry, Mrs. J. S. Fanning, and Mrs. F. J. Lynch, was appointed to look after arrangements for this meeting Mr. Ross Dobbin, Mrs. R. E. Cutting, Mrs. W. B. Tucker, and Mr. W. J. Grady were appointed as a nominating committee.

In the supervisor's report, Miss Rachael Young reported that ten families had come to the attention of the Society during February, involving 13 children. Miss Young also reported that although the demands of industry do not yet make it necessary for mothers to leave their children and go to work, more mothers are doing so and leaving their children alone, or in the care of unsuitable persons. Miss Young feels that these mothers should be appealed to to accept their responsibilities on the home front."

During the month one child was made a temporary ward and five children were admitted to care on an adoption basis; and adoption was completed for three. One child was taken to the Sick Children's Hospital for special treatment; two have required hospitalization; and several have had their yearly dental and medical examinations. Two children were placed in foster homes.

Lyceum Dramatic Club Presents Irish Comedy

"Rose O'Kildare," a charming comedy-drama concerning the trials and tribulations of a pretty colleen who married a lord and went to live in Dublin city, was presented by the Dramatic Club of the St. Alphonsus Lyceum on Tuesday evevening. The play was remarkably well directed by George Lynch, assisted by J. McCabe and Charles Duffus.

The plot concerns chiefly pretty Rose Creigan, who has been brought up by her uncle, Colum McCormick, a prosperous farmer, and is the apple of his eye. She meets and falls in love with a young artist from Dublin, Maurice Fitzgerald, who use the excuse of a slightly sprained ankle to spend two months in the village, wooing her. After some slight obstacles he wins her and carries her off to his home. Here Rose finds becoming a fine lady not so easy or so pleasant as she had first thought it might be, due to the effort of an old flame of Maurice's, Lady Agnes Barriclow, who is bent on breaking up the marriage.

The lovely Rose was delightfully played by Miss Nora Moher and the part of her sweetheart was played equally well by Clem Galvin. Rose's uncle, Colum McCormick, and her aunt, Anne Mary McCormick, were played most capably by Bob Baldwin and Eleanor Collins. Most of the comedy in the play is supplied by Pegeen Burke, a family servant with a sharp tongue and a soft heart, and Shawn McGilly, a lazy, philosophical hired man, and widow Hannigan, the "lady" of the village, who is bent on marrying Colum and seeks entice him with the remark that she has "money in the bank."

These three parts were played with a consistent skill that showed real talent, by Mrs. William Prindible, Tom Garvey and Annie Simons.

Maurice's gentle sister, Eileen, was well played by Rita O'Connell, and her devoted suitor, an impossible but very amusing Englishman, by the name of Archibald Pennywitt, was played by Pat Anglesey, who did very well indeed, except when his super English accent ran away with him. Theresa Corbett was sufficiently catty as the thwarted Lady Agnes Barriclow and Ted Devine was good in a brief appearance as Terry Creigan, Rose's brother.

The entire production was well managed, the Irish brogue, though better in some cases than in others, was consistently good throughout and the play provided a very pleasant evening's entertainment.

Music for the intermission was supplied by a small but quite good orchestra and Mr. Ken Lemaire and Mrs. D. Campanaro sang some very fine vocal solos.

April 14. Dr. A. E. Armstrong will show newly prepared slides of the Burma Road and a treat is in store for all attending this meeting.

The spring rummage sale will be held this Friday and all who can help either afternoon or evening are asked to do so.

Our church is responsible for three ladies, each Wednesday afternoon, to be present at the Salvage Headquarters for the sorting of salvage. This is a very necessary work and can be done without the need of 'experience,' and can be a means for those who do not knit or sew to contribute to our church's concerted war effort.

Mrs. J. W. Pierce gave the talk on the study book. She gave an interesting and concise review of the chapter 'Cities of Refuge.'

Miss Frances Wells gave an appropriate piano selection and tea was served during the closing social half hour by Mrs. J. W. Pierce and helpers from Mrs. H. V. Dobson's group.

Baby Band Hears Talk On Korea

A pleasant and interesting meeting of the George Street Baby Band was held yesterday at the parsonage with Mrs. H. L. Roberts as hostess. The meeting opened with a hymn and a prayer led by Mrs. W. H. Morton.

After discussion of work on hand, scripture was read in unison and Mrs. A. Hastie read a further portion of the study book.

The president, Mrs. D. O. Lavis, then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. D. B. Avison, formerly a missionary in Korea, with her husband, Dr. D. V. Avison. Her informative talk was most instructive. Her topic was her experiences as a mother and housewife in that country, and she also compared the life of Korean native mothers with that of Canadian mothers. Mrs. Avison went on to say how Christianity has helped them in so many ways, such as marriage customs and up-bringing of children. The talk was illustrated with photographs. She also told of the hardships of the people under Japanese rule. There followed an earnest prayer for the victims of such ruthless oppressors by Mrs. Lavis.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Allison and her committee.

Gerrard, when Mrs. F. Harris, president of the Presbyterial, will be a guest of the Circle.

Miss Phyllis Kidd led the worship service. Its theme was "What the Lord's Supper Means to Us." Miss Kidd then told of an early morning Communion service she had attended which had made the meaning very clear to her. Miss Irene Graham and Miss Jean Hair both told of Communion services they had atended.

Chapter of the study book, entitled "The Chinese Church Comes of Age," was under the direction of Miss Gertrude Lancashire. She was assisted by the Misses Ruby Kidd and Mrs. V. Smith and Mrs. C. Ross. The chapter was presented as an annual meeting of the Szechuan Synod of the Church of Christ in China. The members assisting impersonated officers and delegates in attendance at this meeting.

For Thursday, March 19

WHILE MATTERS generally seem to move along securely in accustomed grooves there are signs of a sinister state of affairs tending to undermine and craftily uproot the most methodical and safe endeavors. It would seem as though this menace were well organized, with strategic policies little suspected or foreseen. Public or community issues are at stake, and probably the best way to avert open as well as deep seated duplicity is on a policy of "dog eat dog," although there are promises of unexpected assistance.

Those whose birthday it is may find that on the surface all things are progressing in routine lines of endeavor, with seeming prosperity and stability, but underneath is a sinister antagonism aimed at uprooting and disabling the best directed effort. Such undercurrents may be personal as well as organized by cliques, political, or biased business interests, and the public or the community welfare may be menaced. However, there is a sign of strange or unlooked for assistance to turn the tide to progress and gratification.

A child born on this day should have fair abilities and ambitions, and should have moderate success in life, although beset by much underhand and subtle antagonism.

MARRIAGE BONDS SHOULD NOT BECOME JAILER BONDS

"Lack of Freedom" Causes More Marital Upsets Than Any Other Cause

THE big thing that is the matter with marriage is the lack of freedom it entails. Not the freedom for extra marital adventures, for there are not many either masculine or femine philanderers and most people when they marry are ready to settle down and go domestic, but the lack of freedom to do as they please about little things. Since the henpecked husband and the doormat wife are familiar figures in our midst, it is a strange thing that they do not stand as such an awful warning of the risk of losing one's personal liberty by marriage that the world is not filled with old bachelors and old maids. But such is not the case. Perhaps love makes even the cautious foolhardly, or the optimistic believe it is a catastrophe that couldn't happen to them. Anyway the wedding bells jingle merrily on, though for most brides and bridegrooms they are the death knell of their last breath of freedom. Now husbands and wives do not deliberately set about enslaving each other. They do not plan with malice aforethought to alienate each other's affections and wreck their marriages. Yet, if they did, they could find no quicker, surer, more deadly method of doing it than by constituting themselves their mates' jailers and making marriage a prison out of which even a worm of the dust would long to escape.

Resent Loss of Freedom

Not without reason do we speak of the marriage bond. For millions of husbands and wives marriage IS bondage. The tie that binds is a steel fetter that cuts into the flesh and makes a festering sore that never ceases to ache, that hampers their every movement and turns what should be a joyous companionship into a bitter rebellion or a sullen acquiescence.

KINGS ROW TYRANNY

CHAPTER XXXI

PARRIS was acutely surprised to find an entirely new and strange feeling about Kings Row.

What held him here The hospital? Was it Drake and Randy? Was it Dr. Nolan? Was it his memories of his grandmother, of Renee and Tom Carr, and Cassie, and of people like Colonel Skeffington? No: he was clearly convinced that it was no one of these things, or even all of them. It was something less easy of access, less tangible maybe, something that had to do with the early making of him which, as parent soil, held him fast.

They had stayed on, those who were here before him. Herr Berdorff, lonely, perhaps homesick at times for the idyllic Germany he remembered; Isaac Skeffington, talking of the civilized charm of country life in his Virginia; his own great-grandfather Mitchell bred in the fastidious and exacting life of a great family tradition—all of them. They stayed on.

He had had a bad time in Kings Row. Tragedy and disaster came too early. He had been like a field of young wheat blown down by spring storms. He had straightened but slowly. But somehow he knew that he was rooted.

A CALL from Herr Berdorff begging Parris to see Vera Lichinska, who had given up her playing and returned without warning, began for him another contact with Kings Row tragedy.

"Her papa says she iss—crazy," Herr Berdorff said. "Mr. Lichinsky pulls his hair, Parris. Vera says she cannot play. Cannot play!"

Parris sat in the little living room above the jewelry shop where the Lichinskys had lived ever since Parris had first known them. Vera's fine strong hands lay rather inertly in her lap. It was rather hard to believe, as she told him her story, that this poised, lovely young woman was the colorless little Vera who used to slump awkwardly along the street with her violin case under her arm.

"I cancelled my tours. I couldn't play," she said. "All at once I seemed to hear myself as if—as if I had never heard myself before. I asked myself a question—and I couldn't answer it—and then, I couldn't play any more."

"What was the question you couldn't answer?"

"I—I simply asked myself why I played a passage just the way I did."

Parris waited quietly. "And then?"

"I tried to play again and it wouldn't go any way at all. I sounded suddenly like a child—a beginner—no meaning."

Vera seemed to understand why it had all happened. As a child she was a prodigy, playing wholly by intuition, but without real education. Later, abroad, she tried to fill in her background with reading, theatre, exhibitions, things she learned a great artist should have. Yet these arts expressed emotions—grief, pain, love, sorrow—that she had never experienced. She had only been frightened as a little girl, much and often, by her family's sense of inferiority; by her father telling her she must work hard—harder — harder, or "What will Kings Row say?"

"We passed the asylum once. I remember the barred windows—vividly. I asked my father what the place was, and he said it was there they 'locked up crazy people who ain't smart no more.' I decided then that I knew why my father was so afraid I wouldn't be 'smart,' and do well with my fiddle. Simple in a way, isn't it?"

"Ye-es. Childish fear. But you learned soon enough what 'crazy' meant. Wasn't the fear gone then?"

"No, Parris. The things I feared are not in Kings Row, but here—inside of my own head! I have broken a connection between my fingers and some hidden source of music which was what had been called my talent. I cannot play."

"Do you want to play "

"Yes." She spoke the word out of an immeasurable despair.

"It will come back. You'll have to rest, then begin again, quietly, simply, like a child."

"What I seem to be most afraid of, Parris, is the asylum here in Kings Row. I've taken a room in Carrier street so that I can look right out on it—all the time. I've got to stare it down. I stand every night and look at it until the lights are out. I can't let it get the better of me, Parris!"

PARRIS was disappointed in his efforts to aid Vera. Her family considered her trouble an "unwillingness to go on" and united against her in a kind of inquisitorial persecution. It was not long before Vera shut herself up for good in the little room on Carrier street.

Parris explained to Herr Berdorff, who spread his hands with a gesture of incredulity. "One day she iss a great violinist; the next day she cannot play! I do not understand!"

The two men talked, each somewhat surprised after years of acquaintance at what he found in the other. Herr Berdorff was a little distressed to find in Parris a strain of something that seemed at times not quite bitter, but perhaps verging near it. Something a shade disillusioned and doubtful.

These darker tones in Parris were deepened when Herr Berdorff returned to Germany. His little congregation did not want him any longer. They wanted someone who was less devoted to music—someone more of a pastor.

Parris had begged him to stay, to take the chair of German at Aberdeen.

"Parris!" Herr Berdorff's voice was stern. "I am a preacher. My real work—that is for God. I could not do something else—never."

Parris stood up. "I'll have to go. I can't talk now. I'll cry like—I'll see you tomorrow."

Parris hurried away. At the gate of the parsonage he stopped and looked out across the lower part of town where most of the professor's people lived. "Fools, fools — thickheaded — destructive fools!"

HERR BERDORFF had been gone two days and Parris was burning with a wearisome mixture of resentment and regret when Cary Whitehead called him. Whitehead, a lawyer with Colonel Skeffington's old firm, had called at the suggestion of Mrs. Skeffington, who hoped he might be able to do something for Benny Singer.

"Doctor, he's in serious trouble," Whitehead said. "Seems that a gang of half-grown kids around Jinktown have been nagging him, playing jokes and the like for a long time. This afternoon they were at it again, and this Singer fellow got a gun and shot into the gang—just outside of his gate."

"Any of them seriously hurt?"

"He killed two of them, Dr. Mitchell."

Parris was favorably impressed with Mr. Whitehead. The young lawyer was intelligent-looking, quick and sympathetic. He seemed to understand Benny's case almost as well as Parris, although Parris reviewed for him the boy's early persecutions by Fulmer Green's gang and others; Madame Von Eln's employment of Benny; the Colonel's interest in him. Benny had worked on for Mrs. Skeffington after the Colonel died.

The commission appointed to examine Benny Singer and pass on his responsibility for his acts consisted, to Parris' extreme dismay, of an antagonistic doctor, a pompous one, a substitute professor of psychology, a law partner of Fulmer Green, the new prosecuting attorney, and the Reverend Mr. Cole, with whom Parris had had words when he first returned to Kings Row.

Parris, acting chairman, controlled himself with the greatest difficulty through the courtroom proceedings. The discussion was personal, vindictive, unintelligent and stubborn. Parris had no hope of conciliating these inexplicably prejudiced men. Yet he elaborated his thesis of temporary insanity, basing his arguments on Benny's life as he had known it from the days in primary school. He argued hospital and rehabilitation against prison or gallows. He reminded them of society's duty to the weak and the deficient.

They were tight-lipped, unyielding. Dr. Cole, indignant and self-righteous, pivoted his judgment on a chance to repay Parris for that old altercation. Dr. Cole finished his expression of opinion with, "It is our duty to hand this murderer over to the arm of the law, and beyond that to trust in the mercy of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Parris arose and bowed slightly. "You have helped this afternoon to hand a helpless man over to legal murder. I seem to recall that another judge in circumstances not entirely dissimilar first washed his hands. I doubt, Dr. Cole, that such a simple procedure would serve to cleanse your own."

The color partly faded from the minister's face. He half choked over his words as he faced Parris.

"Do you realize that you are actually likening this idiot murderer to Christ in—in this ridiculous and insulting comparison?"

"Dr. Cole, some of the simple people of this world—simple but deep and rich in wisdom—always speak of the mentally deficient as 'God's children.' You may remember that the man whose name you use rather recklessly said: 'In as much as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me.' Remember?"

He turned to the staring group of men. "Good afternoon, gentlemen. I trust that all of you may be able to sleep well tonight."

Parris elbowed his way out of the crowded courtroom.

Benny had not really realized what was happening. He had smiled and looked real interested through the whole day, while Fulmer Green ranted, rabble-roused, made jokes about the evidence, clowned, played for the death of a human being. Fulmer's gang behind him again, Parris told Drake and Randy. The pack—closing in for the last time.

"They're wild animals who have a thin coating of civil behavior," he went on. "Drake, I hate their kind of tyranny—a tyranny laid on the mind of man. It's deeply dangerous. Cole does it through religion and cant. Fulmer Green does it with demagogic methods that are as old as the world. Somebody has to stand up and call these things by their right names once in awhile."

There was no saving Benny. Sam Winters built the gallows. Parris walked with Benny up to them one balmy afternoon in early May, holding his arm and talking quietly.

Benny looked down at the group of upturned faces. Fulmer Green was there. Wardlaw, editor of the Chronicle. A small crowd had gathered on the roof of Hoxey's feed store overlooking the enclosure. A little of the bewildered look came back to Benny's eyes, and then he smiled—a childish, almost welcoming smile.

"Hello, everybody," he said.

Ex-Grove Pupil Has Near Call Raiding Germany

LAKEFIELD, March 18 (ENS)—A former Grove student and well-known in Lakefield, Pilot-Officer Thomas Dench of Kingston was the observer of a Hampden bomber in a recent raid over Germany. With him was the pilot, Pilot-Officer W. B. Brown of Victoria, B.C.

On reaching their target they found their bomb doors had jammed. Twice in the face of intense flak, they made runs over the target, but the doors refused to budge. On the third run the doors opened and the load was dropped. But their troubles were not over. Another barrage of anti-aircraft fire left one engine unserviceable and a gas tank was pierced. They made the return trip of 300 miles on one engine and landed at their airdrome with tanks virtually empty.

Pilot-Officer Dench is a cousin of B. Q. Dench of Lakefield, and son of the late Frank Dench of Kingston. Known as "Dempsey" Dench he enlisted in the Canadian Forces at the beginning of the war. He flew to England in a bomber and was later transferred to an R.A.F. bomber squadron. He has made 25 bomber trips over Germany.

Need More Coal

LONDON, March 18 — (CP). — Britain now is consuming far more coal than before the war and will have "a very difficult task to meet next year's demands" for the fuel, David Grenfell, Secretary for Mines, said to-day.

He foresaw no difficulty for the present winter, however, despite increased consumption and said there had been no stoppage of essential industries.

Gambling $2,610,000.

TEMPLE CITY, Calif., March 18 —(CP). — Santiago Suviate, 134-year-old Arizona Indian died today. Records of the Luiz family indicate Suviate was born in Arizona in 1808, kidnapped by Apaches when a boy of 10, and sold as a slave to General Florencio Luiz of Mexico about 1879, when he was described as an elderly man.

Examiner Carriers Continue High Sales War Savings Stamps

The remarkable thing about the campaign to sell War Savings Stamps on their paper route voluntarily taken over by all Examiner carriers is the consistently large total weekly sales. It was naturally expected by the War Savings Committee that the sales would drop after the initial first effort, but such has not been the case with these boys and girls. Their enthusiasm has increased and the sales in like fashoin. Last week's total is the substantial sum of $590.75.

The boy who brought in the largest individual contribution to this amount is last month's trophy winner, George Clark of 331 Sherbrooke street. The week's sales turned in by George were $55. A young fellow from the north end, Dan McIsaac, made a great showing for second place with a total of an even $50. A newcomer, Lorne Eakins of 493 George Street South, with an Examiner route in the south end, made the very commendable effort for the week of $44. We expect to see this boy in these columns often in the future. Victor Doughty of 150 Hart avenue is again in the money with $38.50 and Keith Orde, Reid street, last month's second prize winner, is here once more with the nice figure of $28.75.

A Real Go-Getter

A boy with consistent sales that show real ability, though his route is a large one is Wilbert Edgar, 577 Sherbrooke street. His last week's effort amounted to $27.50. Bill Leahy is next with $20.50, followed mentioned here, Clare Galvin and Donald Pagett, with $20 each. Another new carrier who took over a route in East City carried by his brother Ralph for some time previously, is Rudy Pollock, who gets into his stride with a total of $15 and Douglas Burrows in the north end of the city again comes through with $14.75. In the south end again, Adrian Langhorne makes a valuable contribution with a further $11 and Bob Noble with a central route brings in $10.50. Bob Shadgett pops up again with a $10 total and our young lady salesman with the smallest route in the city, Bertha Bradley makes a distinct effort with another $9.50, an average of approximately 40 cents per customer. Two active youngsters, Bob Outram and Cyril Robinson tied up with $8.25 each and close behind is Wallace Manbeck with $8. Stewart Brown in the north end is again mentioned for a total of $7.50 and two others, Allan Payne and Bob Sudgen with $7.25 each. Others worthy of mention are Tom Douglas, $6.25; another newcomer, Wellie Borland, with a like amount, Gerry Field and Grant Finnie with Ken Hopkins, $5.50; Ross Cutmore, $6 each; Fred La Plante with $5.75; $5.25 and Lewes Russell, $5.

A much appreciated newly-announced monthly prize is to be a large box of Lowney's chocolates donated by Mr. Victor Gallon of Gilmour street. This prize is especially for the girl whose sales are the highest per capita on her route each month. This encouragement to the girls among the Examiner carrier force will give an extra incentive to their already splendid efforts in the War Savings Stamp campaign.

"Viscount Bennett"

OTTAWA, March 18 — (CP). — The name of Canada's last Conservative Prime Minister is going to grace the bow of a big Great Lakes freighter.

A Department of Transport notice published last night in the Canada Gazette discloses that Colonial Steamships Ltd., Port Colborne, Ont., has been authorized to change the name of the steamship Berryton to "Viscount Bennett."

The ship, registered in Toronto, is listed in Lloyds as a vessel of 5,023 net tons, with a keel length of 480 feet, beam of 52 feet, and depth of 30 feet.

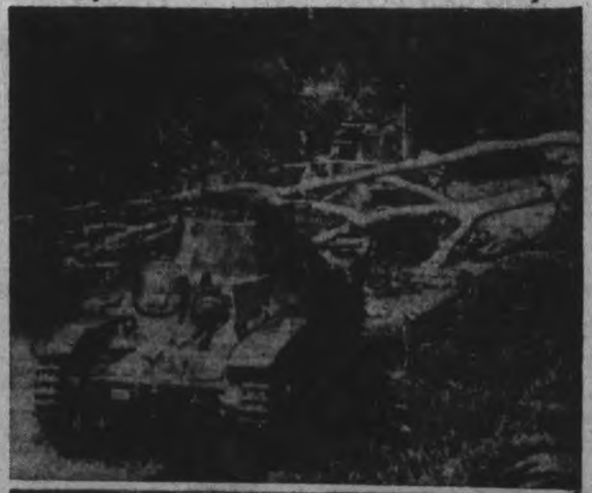
NEW YORK, March 18—(AP). — The United States Navy is gambling $2,610,000 on the possibility of salvaging the fire-twisted, waterlogged former French liner Normandie from its Hudson River mudbed. A cheque for that amount was deposited yesterday to pay the City of New York for Pier 88, alongside which the 83,000-ton giant toppled on February 9 while being converted as the naval auxiliary Lafayette.

As Empire Forces Battled For Malaya



These photographs are among the first to arrive from Malaya to show how Australian Imperial forces battled against the Japanese invaders as the Empire still fought to hold Malaya. The BOTTOM photograph shows an Australian anti-tank gun in action, dominating a road down which clanks a column of Jap tanks. A road block of felled trees delays the tanks long enough for the gun to pick them off like ducks in a shooting gallery. At the TOP the tanks are shown—after having served as targets for the gunners. A dead Jap lies beside one of the shattered tanks.

If you would ask a hundred married men and women what was the thing in marriage that they resented most, if they answered truly they would say: "The loss of our freedom." And the man would add: "When I married I never suspicioned that I would have no more liberty thereafter than a dog on a leash. I don't mind the work it takes to support a family, nor the sacrifices it calls for, but it gets on my nerves that I cannot indulge in any of my individual tastes, nor do any of the little harmless things that I enjoy doing.

"I can't go fishing because my wife doesn't approve of men going off anywhere without their wives. I have had to throw away my collection of butterflies because they littered up the house and my wife thought it silly for a grown man to be interested in butterflies anyway. I can't stay downtown for dinner without asking my wife's permission. And Heaven only knows what would happen if I took an old woman friend out to lunch.

Old Friends Denied

"I wouldn't dare to ask one of my old cronies to pay me a visit. I haven't had a suit that I liked since my wedding clothes wore out. I wear the garments my wife picks out. We go with the people she likes no matter how much they bore me. She selects the invitations we accept, even the movies we see. I am not allowed to eat the food I like. Even my soul isn't my own. My wife runs it. And I don't mind telling you that I get mighty fed up with being bossed and wonder what made me fool enough to put my neck in the noose."

And the woman would say: "What makes me green-eyed when I look at the women who have espoused a job instead of a man is their freedom. They have some personal liberty which a wife never has. They don't have to ask any man's permission to go to see their mothers or to join a club. They don't have to let any man dictate to them about the kind of dress they buy, or whether they shall have their hair permanently waved or wear it stringy, or use makeup on their faces or go about looking like a corpse that has been dug up for the second autopsy.

"They don't have to stand for any man's criticism about their red fingernails, or his jibes about their do-funny hats. Nor do they have to wheedle and cajole the money they have earned a dozen times over by their services in the home out of a tightwad's pocket.

"The bitterest disappointment that a woman gets in marriage is in finding out it is peonage instead of the state of freedom she thought it was going to be."

And if you doubt for an instant that it is the lack of freedom in small things that husbands and wives deny each other, that put the mar in marriage, consider the widows and widowers of your acquaintance who almost invariably seem to be miraculously rejuvenated by the loss of their mates. They loved their Johns and Marias and miss them, but they are tasting the first liberty they have had in years, and the eternal passion of the human heart is for freedom.

Definition of a "Brat"

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I never fail to wince when you speak of children as "brats." No doubt you have a reason for doing so, but I think it would be a lot nicer to refer to them as "children," and let it go at that. A READER.

ANSWER—All children are not brats. The brat is a distinct species of youngster. He or she is the spoiled, fresh, smart alec, whining, howling juvenile who makes you regret that there are no Herods around. A brat differs as far as possible from a sweet good, well-mannered child.

New Slip Cover Revives Old Sofa

Spring Style Made Pin-On Way

Like a humble bud bursting into bloom—your plain sofa in its flowery spring slip cover!

It's easy to make, because you just pin on the goods without cutting a pattern. And it's thrilling to see out-dated lines, such as curlicue legs, disappear under a crispy modern flounce!

The pin-on way of making slip covers is explained in our booklet. You first remove all cushions, then work section by section.

Pin the fabric—chintz and cretonne are practical and lovely—to top-back of one section of sofa; now pin down inside-back and seat and cut 1½ inches around pins. Allow a 4-inch tuck-in at back of seat.

In the same way, pin fabric to other sofa sections and to arms, sides, back and cushions.

Finally pin, then baste, ALL the pieces together. When cutting flounce, add 5 inches on each side for the pleats and another inch on each side for seams.

Our 32-page booklet explains and diagrams every step of making a slip cover—from estimating material to finishing. Shows how to cover chairs, too, and auto seats. Illustrates making different kinds of seams, flounces.

For your copy of "How to Make Slip Covers" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

"The Authority on Authorities"

TRY TO AVOID MINORS

PREFERRING No Trump game tries to those in minor suits is not a mere matter of prejudice. It is sound bridge. The more you play, the more you will realize the accuracy of the statistics which indicate that, when the side has a safe enough suit, it will usually produce one more taking trick at a trump contract than a No Trump, but not two more. In fact, there are many more deals in which you can take nine No Trump tricks than those in which you can take eleven tricks playing at suit. Hence, you should favor major games most often, No Trump ones next, and seek minor ones only when the others are not hopefully in sight.

North: ♠ A 10 4; ♥ Q 9 6 5; ♦ A 5; ♣ 7 6 5 2

West: ♠ Q J 8 7 6 2; ♥ K J 10 8; ♦ K 6 4; ♣ None

East: ♠ 9; ♥ A 4 2; ♦ 9 7; ♣ A K Q J 9 4 3

South: ♠ K 5 3; ♥ 7 3; ♦ Q J 10 8 3 2; ♣ 10 8

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

	Pass	3♣	Pass	3 NT
2.	Pass	1♣	1♦	1♠
	Pass	2♣	Pass	2♥
	Pass	5♣

At the first table reported, East realized that a third bid of his club suit would not be a sign-off, since a player who made an opening bid still has the same hand which was good enough to open, and also since the rebid of a minor just below the 3-No Trumps level is not necessarily a weak bid among good players. It does not deny ability to go higher, but indicates that maybe the bidder is still hoping his partner can try No Trumps if he has a set of stoppers in other suits.

West read clearly that a No Trump try was in order with a diamond stopper, so he made it. Now, if East's suit had merely been inordinately long, and nowhere near to a set-up suit with a lot of tricks at No Trumps, he could have bid 4-Clubs. The No Trump game was a sure thing, even if North illogically underled his spade A to the K and South switched to his top diamond. West would still be safe by ducking the first two diamond leads.

At the table where 5-Clubs got tried, there was never a chance, as two diamonds and a spade set the contract at the outset.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ A K 8 6; ♥ J 9 6 3; ♦ 9 8 2; ♣ 8 7

West: ♠ Q 10 4; ♥ K Q 5 2; ♦ Q 4 3; ♣ 10 9 5

South: ♠ J 9 7; ♥ A; ♦ K 7; ♣ A K Q J 6 3 2

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West leads the heart K against South's overbid 6-No Trumps, why should declarer make his contract, and why would he be a poor player if he did not?

La Rogue Urges McNaughton Become Premier

VANCOUVER, March 18—(C).—Hertel La Roque, of Montreal, said at a public meeting here last night that Canada needs at this time "courageous leadership."

He suggested that Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Corps Overseas, leave his command and take over the duties of prime minister of Canada.

"The time for politics has gone by and what the country needs now is not a politician but a leader."

Mr. LaRoque, one-time secretary to former Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal, spoke at the first of a series of public meetings he and Elmore Philpott, Victoria author, plan to hold across Canada.

"We have built walls between provinces," he continued. "And on each side of the walls are politicians who put party before the interests of the country."

Travelling across Canada Mr. La Roque said he had the impression after leaving Quebec of travelling in a foreign land.

"I was snubbed as only you Anglo-Saxons can snub when you want to," he said.

He added he was assured by the size of the audience here (approximately 900 unofficial estimate) "that we can still understand each other and I believe we still can have maximum defence of this beautiful country of ours."

"Conscription today is an issue that may split the country in two, at the very moment when every man and woman should be ready to put up a unified fight for our very existence.

"That is because of the appalling lack of courage on the part of our leaders.

"Instead of collaborating we may go down fighting among ourselves like dogs."

Toronto Firms Debating Turn To Horses

TORONTO, March 18.—A survey of larger business institutions facing gasoline rationing delivery problems indicates that every merchant in the country has considered or is considering the horse versus gasoline puzzle, but not more than one in twenty has come to any definite conclusion about it.

The main reason for delaying definite decisions seems to be uncertainty as to the precise conditions which are to confront them in their delivery problem, and particularly the possibility of Federal orders which will further restrict deliveries. Also, there was the big question in the mind of a representative coal dealer, and no doubt in the back of the minds of many others, "Where are we going to get the harness and the rigs and the horses?"

The concerns consulted yesterday included larger stores, dairies, bakeries, coal merchants, and even the Toronto Street Commissioner's department, but except in one instance, that of Caulfield's Dairy, Ltd., the answer was either definitely or indicatively the same—it is under consideration. Caulfield's are definitely switching to horses, already have swung over ten out of eighty-nine trucks, and intend going ahead with the rest as fast as they can.

"Problems Within Problem."

A number of the firms have stayed pretty well with the horse-drawn vehicle and hence have no problem one concern reporting 95 per cent. horse deliveries. But that there are problems within the problem is clarly indicated by the reply of a representative coal merchant.

"Certainly we have considered it," he said, "but where are we going to get the harness and the wagons, let alone the horses? You can't just conjure up all this equipment. We thought it over, but as far as I can see it would take 1,000 horses and wagons to handle deliveries in Toronto. I would think there are probably 400 to 500 gasoline-driven trucks working in the coal business. Tire necessities are still another problem, and we are looking to Ottawa for that answer."

Street Commissioner Harold Bradleys reply was typical of the general situation — a switch to horses is being considered by the department, but decision, apparently, is awaiting a little more light on the actual conditions which will confront the transportation problem.,

Is Under Consideration.

"The administration," he said, "has the matter under consideration at the present time. It will be a matter of policy to be settled in the light of a number of factors."

The street commissioner's department has about thirty-one horses, against 383 in the days around 1930, after which there was a gradual motorizing of the department. More than 400 horses would be needed today, and one of the questions in Mr. Bradley's mind is whether the farmers are in a position to release from the farms the number of animals which would be required. A good team of horses to-day is worth from $400 to $500, he said, or about the same as in 1930.

A spokesman for the bread companies pointed out the difficulty of immediately deciding just what to do inasmuch as orders might be issued to curtail deliveries to a few days a week, in which case there might be sufficient equipment in the hands of all the bakeries to handle the job. "We are all on the fence at the moment," was his analysis. Another bakery executive said: "We are considering equipping with horses, but there are so many things happening and pending we don't know just what to do."

Hog Production Rallies Shaping

TORONTO, March 18—(CP).—V. S. Milburn of Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, today told the annual meeting of the O.F.A. that it had been decided to hold hog production meetings in counties of Brant, Oxford and Waterloo, to organize the hog producers of the province.

Organization will be extended to other districts as soon as the first "block" has been established.

"The provincial government, in recognition of need for a hog producers organization, has granted to the Ontario Federation of Agriculture $500 as an initial contribution toward organization of hog producers of the province," he said.

Wilford Bishop of Norwich has been appointed field secretary for the work.

A committee on membership expansion has also recommended organization on a commodity levy basis of farmers in the field of beef cattle, poultry, grain, fruits and vegetable production, said Mr. Milburn.

Reviewing the farm labor shortage throughout the province, Mr. Milburn said a meeting convened by the Ontario Department of Labor last season had discussed the use of young people and women's groups on farms as well as exemptions for key or essential farm help.

Farm prices advanced during the year, he reported.

"In some instances prices of farm products have been helped by direct subsidies or bonuses provided by the Provincial or Dominion government," he continued.

"Ceiling prices on retail food products were not high enough to assure the farmer enough money for his product to encourage him to maintain production. There has been definite evidence that there would be a shortage of supply not only for our commitments to Great Britain but also for our home markets as well."

Life Among Eskimos Told By Minister

?ROOSENEATH, March 18—(ENS).—The illustrated lecture on Life Among the Eskimos held on Friday night in the Town Hall was well attended. The entertainment was held under the auspices of the W. A. of St. James' Anglican Church, and the rector, Rev. A. C. Herbert, delivered the lecture. In addition to descriptions of the customs and the primitive conditions of life under which the Eskimos live, Mr. Herbert disclosed that these people possess many fine qualities, loyalty to friends, and strict adherence to the Christian religion once they embrace it.

This is the second time Mr. Herbert has spoken to a Roseneath audience and his reputation as a gifted and humorous speaker has been established.

Mrs. Ross McCracken, W.A. president, conveyed the appreciation of her society to the audience for their patronage.

Before The Fall Of Java

This photo was made at Batavia only a short time before the Japanese began the series of moves that have put them in control of the Netherlands East Indies. Dr. H. J. Van Mook, Lieutenant-General of the Indies, is shown, RIGHT, chatting with Rear-Admiral K. B. F. Doorman. Today Java has gone to the Japs, Admiral Doorman has gone to the Valhalla of fighting sailors aboard his flagship De Rayter, which was one of the 13 Allied warships lost in the Battle of Java straits, and Van Mook is in Australia, still hurling defiance at the Japs.

Women Urged To Watch Retail Prices

MILLBROOK, March 18—(ENS).—Atendance at the March meeting of the Women's Institute was larger than for some months past, the gathering being on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Edmund Ball, with the president, Mrs. E. C. Richards, in the chair. Literature relative to the members' individual responsibility in connection with the price ceiling on household commodities was distributed, the letter accompanying the booklets asking that "every member make a list of prices paid and report having done so to the president. Thus it will be known that, as Institute women, we are doing our part in this effort to avoid inflation."

Letters of thanks for parcels sent to local boys overseas at Christmas were received from Herbert Scott, Lloyd Peel, Robert Fickling, Mervan Kennedy, and William Ridge. Mrs. H. Blakely personally expressed her thanks for remembrance during her recent illness. The treasurer, Mrs. Melville Ball reported receipts from the dance held in January as $39.40, expenses $34.05, balance $5.35; from the one in February, $33.25, expenses $30.78, balance $2.97.

The president reported that she and Mrs. Ball had waited on the Council and had been given use of the Town Hall for the dances without charge, since the proceeds had been for war work and with unfavorable weather profits had not been enough for the purpose in view. The Council had asked the Institute to do something about buying a new flag for the pole at the Town Hall, and it was decided to hold an afternoon tea and home baking sale in the waiting-room on Saturday, March 28. It is hoped by this event to meet the deficit on the war work, and to also have money toward the flag.

Canvassers are: Mrs. G. O. Fallis, west end; Mrs. P. Handley, east end; Mrs. M. Ball, country; Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, centre of village. Table conveners: Mrs. T. G. Harkness, Mrs. W. E. Ball, and Mrs. M. Armstrong.

Mrs. Harkness displayed a handsome quilt top donated by Mrs. John Allen, charter member of the branch which will be completed in the near future, and put to some useful purpose. It was decided to prepare another layette for the Red Cross, the roll at the next meeting to be answered with a donation toward this object. Mrs. H. A. Earle, convener of the Standing Committee on Health, will have the program at the April gathering, and the district president Mrs. Ira Lowe, will be invited as guest for the occasion.

Mrs. P. Handley was in charge of the program on Saturday, giving some interesting information on her subject, "Legislation," and Mrs. Armstrong giving information on "What Public Offices May Women Hold in Canada"; apparently women are taking advantage of the fact that they may sit on practically any council board of trustees, etc., and represent constituencies in Parliament, or be appointed to the Senate, provided, of course, their education is equal to the demands of the office.

The offering for the Red Cross was taken up and the hostess served candy during the social hour.

Guests are expected from Cobourg and an interesting program has been arranged. Miss Emily Pratt will be the soloist with Mrs. Meggs as accompanist. The Guides are providing the supper and making all arrangements.

Plebiscite Plan Well Under Way

OTTAWA, March 18—(CP).—Preparations for holding the manpower plebiscite April 27 are well under way and supplies now are being forwarded to returning officers, Jules Castonguay, chief plebiscite officer, said last night.

Instructions and supplies have been sent to returning officers in the more distant constituencies and all officers will be supplied by the early part of next week, Mr. Castonguay reported.

Appointment of enumerators will be made shortly after instructions are received, it is expected, and the enumerators will commence their house-to-house canvass April 13 and be required to complete it by April 18.

Use Lists of February 9.

"No fresh enumeration will be made in the electoral districts of York South, Welland, Quebec East and Montreal-St. Mary where by-elections were held February 9," Mr. Castonguay said. The revised lists used in the by-elections will constitute the voters' lists for the plebiscite.

In urban districts, voters will be advised on the location of their polling station on the enumeration notice left with them. Rural voters will be informed verbally by the enumerators.

Qualified voters whose names do not appear on the list will still be eligible to vote if they take the prescribed oath and are vouched for by another qualified voter whose name appears on the list for that polling division. The voter whose name was omitted will be required to show his registration certificate.

Advance Polls Determined.

Advance polls will be in the same locations and under the same conditions as at the last general election, Mr. Castonguay said.

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and on the day of the general vote returning officers in city and semi-urban electoral districts will be required to make a preliminary compilation of votes and provide the press with progressive bulletins as the ballot boxes are received.

The votes of members of the active service forces, to be cast between April 16 and 25, will be totalled in the offices of the special returning officers as soon as the ordinary polls close in Canada.

"EXTRA-SOAPINESS"
for those extra dirty parts

WEEK after week as you look over your wash, you find that whenever clothes are at all badly soiled it is nearly always in the same places. Here and there the dirt has become almost ingrained and while ordinary washing methods suffice to remove the ordinary "all over" soiling, these extra dirty parts just won't come clean without the help of Sunlight!

Sunlight has a wonderful "extra-soapiness" that enables you to get right at the soiled parts at once. Just a touch leaves a thin soapy film in contact with the dirt. As the clothes are washed, this thin soapy film lathers instantly into rich thick suds that speedily loosen every last speck of grime.

That is the Sunlight method—a method that saves so much time and work you'll want to use it for all your washing and for your household cleaning as well! Sunlight is all-pure soap—gentle and safe for everything you wash—gentle to your hands, too.

Decisive Battle Near For Prome Oil; Refugees Choke Roads

MANDALAY, Burma, March 19—(AP).—The big Battle of the Prome River—key to Burma's Yenangyuang oil fields—seemed today ready to burst momentarily as Japanese troops streamed up the Irrawaddy Valley for an assault on the new British positions.

(Reuters said unofficial advices from Burma reported that British and Indian forces had withdrawn from Tharrawaddy, 60 miles north of Rangoon and almost half way to Prome up the asphalt-paved western branch of the Manadalay Road.)

Marshalling their forces for the new attack, the Japanese were moving up the broad Irrawaddy by boat, up the road by motor columns and cross-country by mule train.

There are no natural obstacles along the lowland road to help the defence. Washes which will be deep with flood waters during the midway monsoon now are dry and can be crossed by tanks.

Other strong Japanese forces are moving northward along the east branch of the Mandalay Road toward Toungoo. A sharp clash between British and Japanese advance forces on this road occurred yesterday south of Kanyutkwin, 40 miles south of Toungoo.

Much Up to Chinese.

Most observers here now are convinced that whether an Allied foothold can be retained in Burma depends in large measure upon the Chinese troops which Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek sent into the Shan States at the northern flank of the Japanese drive.

Chinese and British commanders are known to be discussing the coordination of these veterans from

MacArthur, Family, Aides Run Luzon Coast 3 Nights In Motorboat Before Air Escape

NEW YORK, March 19—(AP).—Small but fast motor torpedo boats carried Gen. Douglas MacArthur, his wife and child, and a small group of aides on the perilous first leg of their journey from Bataan Peninsula to Australia, according to a copyrighted Melbourne dispatch published today by The New York Herald Tribune.

The correspondent, Allen Raymond, learned that the MacArthur party left Bataan by night on March 11 and travelled south along the coast of the Philippine Islands for two night, hiding in Bayous during the daylight hours, to reach the rendezvous with the big planes which carried the group to Autsralia.

Three days of the one-week journey was spent in waiting for the planes, it was said.

At times the little boats were pounded by heavy seas, Raymond learned. He quoted a member of the party as saying: "We took a terrific pounding—in spots it was like riding in one of those outboard-motor racing boats."

The point of their arrival in Australia, Raymond wrote, naturally is secret, but the planes which landed the MacArthurs and their party in Australia kept clear of Darwin, Northern Australian port, which has been under repeated air attack.

Girls Post Nazis' Letters

Smuggle Prisoners Camera, Developer—5 Let Off In Court

ESPANOLA, Ont., March 19.—(CP).—Three of the five young Espanola girls charged under the Defence of Canada Regulations for communicating with prisoners-of-war in a Northern Ontario internment camp mailed letters in German for the prisoners to the United States which "might have contained information very valuable to the enemy," Corporal Jack Burger of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police testified to-day.

The girls pleaded guilty and were placed on suspended sentence after Burger related to Magistrate E. Arthurs and Crown Attorney E. D. Wilkins of Sudbury, 35 miles east of here, the story of a series of letters exchanged between the girls and the prisoners.

Mash notes, described by Burger as "silly, love-affair things" which contained nothing incriminating, given the prisoners when the girls came upon them during road work, started the exchange.

Magistrate Arthurs said "it may mean the loss of thousands of lives overseas," referring to the girls' actions in mailing letters out of the country.

Crown Attorney Wilkins said "it is amazing that such a thing as a camera from the outside world could be got into the compound."

"Just what else could be smuggled in if the camera got in!"

"A letter may have reached a German mastermind in the United States and Espanola might feel the results of it in time, in common with other centres in Canada," he said.

Even Bought Him a Camera.

But one of the girls, Burger said, had mailed letters to the United States for the prisoners, had bought a camera for one of the prisoners with money sent her from the United States for that purpose and later purchased a developing outfit for the German.

Burger described the girl who bought the camera and mailed the letters to the United States as "the ring-leader of the whole thing" and "it has been difficult to obtain information from her."

She did not know the contents of the letters she had mailed, Burger said, but they might have contained "very valuable" information for the enemy

Answering the Crown Attorney, the girl said she had mailed the letters and bought the camera because "I was afraid."

She had been told by a guard that the prisoners would remain in Canada even after the war and she was

Two Jap Fleets Near Australia?

LONDON, March 19.—(CP).—Radio stations in unoccupied France continued to-day to report huge Japanese invasion forces moving toward Western and Eastern Australia in a gigantic naval and aerial pincers, but the reports lacked confirmation from any other sources, Allied, Axis or neutral. (The Vichy radio and other French stations have carried many unfounded reports of Japanese developments).

The Lyons radio said: "Two powerful Japanese invasion fleets are off the Australian coast, according to unofficial but reliable sources. They include hundreds of transport ships. Their protection is assured by considerable naval forces including aircraft carriers."

The broadcast added that "the first of these fleets is reported to have left Java and, after having crossed the Timor sea, is threatening the west coast of Australia."

"The l other fleet," it said, "is passing through the Coral Sea northeast of Australia. It is not known whether its goal is the archipelago east of Australia or the continent itself."

The Vichy radio said a 99-ship flotilla had been steaming south from Java and then reported later that an invasion squadron had been sighted 200 miles off the west coast of Australia.

Nazi Counters Break Retreat In South To New Fortified Line

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, March 19—(AP)—Soviet guerilla forces reported today to Pravda that they had wrested back control of some 6,000 square miles behind the German lines at Leningrad and are so strong that the Germans cannot come into the area.

(Although this report published in the Communist Party newspaper did not otherwise identify the section, the Baltic state of Estonia lies just west of the Leningrad front. Six thousand square miles would be one-third of the area of that Baltic State which the Germans over-ran in their drive against Leningrad.)

Reports from the front told of German counter attacks in sector after sector, but declared these failed and in many places the Red army still pushed on to the west.

One of the fiercest battles developed on an unidentified salient on the southern front. Dispatches said the Germans attempted a large-scale counter-attack supported by tanks, artillery and bombers, in an effort to relieve several German units which had been cut off.

Trapped Units Desperate

The counter-attacks were repulsed and the position of the trapped units became increasingly desperate, the Russians reported.

Red Star reported that on another sector of the southern front the Germans had been forced to fall back to a new fortified line.

On the central front Red army forces attacking through a snowstorm were said to have encircled the German garrison of an important settlement. It was not identified.

The newspaper said the German 225th infantry division sent from France to bolster the hard-hit Nazi lines had lost 45 per cent of its men since the end of January and the 5th Jaeger division, also from France, has lost half its strength.

Adolf Summons Fired Chiefs To Help Him Out

BERNE, Switzerland, March 19—(AP).—Hitler has called back nearly all senior officers who resigned or were removed last winter to map a gigantic offensive expected to be launched soon on the Russian front, a Berlin dispatch to the Swiss newspaper Basel Naitonal Zeitung reported today.

Among them, it said, is Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch, who was displaced by Hitler himself as the German army chief when the drive on Moscow bogged down last December. Von Brauchitsch was said to be still ill, officially, but available in Berlin for consultation.

Others named were Field Marshals Karl von Rundstedt and Fedor von Bock, both of whom have been reported out of favor with Hitler for failures in the Russian campaign; and Erwin Rommel, who won a Field Marshal's baton for his exploits in North Africa.

The dispatch said the meetings are in session now and most signs point toward plans to concentrate on the eastern front, possibly — in view of Rommel's presence—with a surprise also in Libya.

Berlin dispatches in the past few days have quoted informed sources as saying the Nazis are planning new, surprising methods far different from what they have shown so far in Russia.

Th German army le. iers supposedly in disfavor were said by the National Zeitung to have been shown in German newsreels arriving at Hitler's headquarters. It said Rommel had been seen on the streets of Berlin.

Battle Fury Is Redoubled As Allied Fliers Blast Isle Bases Off Australia

Nazi 'Churchmen' Guide Japs Over Mountains In Blow For Air Fields About Pt. Morseby; Nipponese Hit Darwin Again, Bomb Solomons

MELBOURNE, March 19—(AP).—The battle about Australia's northern tip broke into new fury today with Allied air attacks on the Japanese at several islands points, Japanese raids on Northern Australia, and the Solomon Islands, and sensational reports from German missionaries are leading an overland Japanese invasion in New Guinea.

Messages from Port Moresby on Southern New Guinea, said the German missionaries and their Nazified native pupils were guiding the Japanese in a drive from the north coast.

The Germans were declared to have maintained secret radio transmitters and a factory for making Swastika regalia and flags at their missions around Finschhafen and Alexishafen. Australian authorities recently smashed one transmitter and seized more than 400 Nazi flags.

(Northeast New Guinea was a German colony before the first Great War. A 1939 census showed 473 Germans there.)

The missionaries were said to be leading the Japanese westward from Lae, on the east coast, through the Markham valley. It was believed this was intended to take over a system of good airports in the valley, although it might develop into a southward swing toward Port Moresby.

Japs Back At Darwin

The Japanese launched their first air attack, reportedly without damage, on Cape York across Torres Strait from Port Moresby, struck again at Darwin, and bombed Tulagi, Florida island, in the Solomons.

Meanwhile Allied aircraft attacked Kupang, Netherlands Timor, and damaged a heavy Japanese cruiser at Rabaul, New Britain island, to add to the score of 23 ships sunk or damaged off New Guinea.

(A Berlin radio report quoted by the British Exchange Telegraph Agency claimed the Japanese advancing overland in New Guinea had occupied about 30 air fields in the south of the island and had put them "into working order for operations against the Australian mainland.")

Fleets Reorganizing

There were no reports of new action today by or against Japanese war vessels and transports. It was assumed that Japan's invasion fleets were reorganizing after one had been wrecked on the New Guinea sea approach to Australia and another crippled yesterday with a direct hit on a heavy cruiser at Rabaul, New ritain.

At Port Moresby anti-aircraft fire disturbed the aim of the Japanese bombers and at Darwin the raid was directed not at naval facilities but at residential quarters. The Port Moresby attackers were characterized officially as "medium forces" while the Darwin raiders were a "small force."

The threat to Port Moresby, which the Japanese would like to turn into a springboard for invasion of Australia proper, was emphasized by a dispatch in the Sydney Sun from its Port Moresby correspondent—report that a considerable force of Japanese was advancing overland toward that city over difficult terrain from Lae to the north.

Red Press Calls For Quick Allied Assault

MOSCOW, March 19—(AP)—An appeal to Britain and the United States for opening of an offensive against Germany was sounded today.

The Moscow News, English-language organ published in Kuibyshev, advocated simultaneous attacks with all the forces and resources of the anti-Hitler coalition to capitalize on gains made by the Red army through the icy winter.

"Not Hitler but the anti-Hitler front can and must determine the future progress of the war," the newspaper said. "This cannot be achieved by invocations and inconsequential speculation about the future organization of the world."

1,000 Quit Ships False Pay Tip

RICHMOND, Calif., March 19—(AP)—About 1,000 men had quit their jobs today at the Todd-California and Richmond Shipbuilding Corporation and Company officials said they believed they had been lured by false rumors of more money on 10-hour shifts at competing shipyards.

Union and federal officials said the rumors might have been started by subversive groups seeking to hamper war production.

Union leaders condemned the resignations, which began late yesterday and continued until midnight.

Company officials said they had received a telephone call from Paul R. Porter, chairman of the Shipbuilding Stabilization Committe of the War Production Board.

"The men who tonight walked out of the Richmond shipbuilding yards in defiance of the union leaders are stabbing their country in the back," Porter said.

"Any rumor that the men will find work elsewhere on a 10-hour shift is without foundation. There can be no change from the three eight-hour shifts to the two 10-hour shifts without tht approval of the W.P.B., the Navy and the U.S. Maritime Commission."

Serbia Fighting Costs 195 Lives

BERNE, Switzerland, March 18—(Delayed)—(AP)—German news dispatches reported today that 195 persons had been killed in recent fighting in the southern part of Axis-occupied Serbia.

In addition to 440 Yugoslav soldiers previously reported killed in fierce fighting at Toplica, 116 later were slain and eight more were captured and shot, DNB said. Seven Serb puppet police were said to have been killed and eight wounded.

The Europa Press said 52 Yugoslavs were killed near Nisch, while more were reported slain and four executed in another locality. Among those listed as killed at Toplica was one of the leaders of a Serb "self-protection unit," described as a colonel in the Yugoslav army.

R.A.F. Strikes Convoy

CAIRO, March 19—(AP).—Torpedo-carrying planes of the Fleet Air arm staged a successful attack on enemy shipping in the Central Mediterranean on Tuesday night, setting one merchant ship on fire and scoring a hit on a larger vessel.

A communique from Middle East Air Headquarters gave no further details of the operation.

R.A.F. bombers raided the Axis airfield at Martuba, Libya, while fighter patrols were active, the communique said.

Blizzard Cripples The Isles

Worst Since '82—2 Months Of Arctic Weather

LONDON, March 19.—(CP Cable).—The worst blizzard in 60 years swept Northeast England and East Scotland March 5-6 as a dying kick of the most severe winter in memory. Some districts were isolated several days, including six English villages and some in the Perthshire area of Scotland.

Announcement of the blizzard was permitted by authorities to-day.

The Arctic-like weather lasted more than two months and was broken by rain March 8. Snow storms blocked roads and streams were frozen. The upper reaches of the river Tyne were ice-bound.

Some roads were impassable for more than nine weeks and the snow was so deep in some sections that vehiclar traffic was brought to a standstill, although railways were not handicapped seriously.

Scores of sheep were lost in English mountain drifts.

Mail was transported by horse-back in one section of Scotland. Farm work was stopped in another area where potato planting was about to start. Many rural communities in Scotland were short of provisions and supplies were sent to them by cart, horseback and tractor.

Axis, Slipping, Resorts to Terrorism

Barbarities In Poland, Russia, Sign Hun Out To Win By Savagery As Arms Fail

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The heavy and continued destruction of Japanese invasion ships off Northern Australia by Allied air power, the successful inauguration of the MacArthur command after an epic break through a well-nigh air-tight blockade, the further gains reported today in the fierce Russian offensive against the Hitlerian forces—all these are milestones marking the downward trail of the Axis.

And so, because the enemy is at a critical passage where desperate means are likely to be employed, is is a matter of grave concern to see the claims of Axis atrocities piling up. The news today contains two more cases—the atrocities charged against the Germans in Poland by the Polish government in London, and the Russian military report that the Nazis have slain 30,000 civilians in the strategic southwestern city of Gharkov since the occupation on Oct. 24.

The conclusion must be that, if these barbarities happened as charged, the Axis powers are deliberately resorting to savagery in an effort to win by these means a war which they have been unable to win by arms and which very definitely is slipping away from them.

Ths naturally gives rise to the thought that the nearer the Axis comes to defeat, the greater may be the employment of terrorism.

The Polish charges form part of a note addressed to the Allied and neutral governments by the Polish Foreign Office, and set forth a story of barbaric brutality. The government alleges, and produces documentary evidence and affidavits in support, that 200,000 people have been murdered in cold blood; that 1,000,000 more have been driven from their homes; that there have been many instances of collective rape; that countless Polish girls have been sent to brothels in Garmany.

This comes on the heels of the sensational charge made in the British House of Commons a few days ago by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that the Japanese had been guilty of wholesale atrocities in occupied Hong Kong. Mr. Eden said that 50 British officers and men had been bound hand and foot and then bayoneted to death. Women were raped and murdered. These things, he said, were confirmed by eye-witnesses.

There is another class of atrocity which is being conducted so openly that the whole world can see it plainly. That is the starvation of entire populations through the stripping of their countries of food.

Mass starvation is widespread throughout Europe because countries have been robbed of their food supplies, but the example most often cited is that of Greece. Greek officials in Cairo on Monday estimated that starvation, exposure and executions had taken a toll of 150,000 to 200,000 lives in Greece in less than a year of German-Italian occupation. In February deaths in the city of Athens alone reached 1,500 daily.

Released To Produce Guns

Austrian Now Has 75 Million In U.S. Contracts

NEW YORK, March 19—(AP).—The Herald Tribune said today that Antoine Gazda, Austrian inventor, arrested December 9 an enemy alien, had been released in custody of the United States War Department because the army considered his talent for gun-making and his inventions essential to the war effort.

Gazda came to the United States a year ago with the [illegible] manufacturing rights of the Oerlikon gun, developed by the Oerlikon machine tool works at Zurich, Switzerland, which he headed.

The Herald Tribune said the gun, said to fire 600 explosive shells a minute, was in d mand by the U.S. navy and the British Government late last year and that Gazda reputedly holds contracts for $75,000,000 worth of the guns on order in the U.S.

The newspaper added it had learned that the inventor would stay in the parole of an army captain at Providence, R.I., where the factory for his company in this country, the American Oerlikon Gazda Corporation, is turning out guns.

AUSTRALIAN AIRMEN SUCCESSFULLY BOMB A JAP HEAVY CRUISER

Allied Planes Rake Japs Ceaselessly

Air Attack Catches Big Warship In Rabaul Harbor

MELBOURNE, March 19.—(CP)—Another Japanese heavy cruiser has been smashed by Australia's defenders in a new air attack aimed at wrecking the gathering enemy forces of invasion before they can sail against this continental mainland, Prime Minister John Curtin announced today.

Besides the cruiser, hit on the stern and left belching smoke in the New Britain island of Rabaul, a communique said other shipping also was bombed successfully there and "near misses were observed on two other large vessels."

The communique identified the raiders in the daylight attack yesterday only as "our aircraft"—without specifying whether they were Australian or American units of the force now welded into one under the supreme command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

This assault was part of the ceaseless aerial pounding of footholds the Japanese have gained off Northern Australia, whose growing might was indicated by the United States navy announcement in Washington yesterday that 13 Japanese ships had been sunk or possibly sunk and 10 others damaged.

It was separate from those raids, however, which were on enemy ships in the New Guinea harbors of Salamau and Lae.

Their bombs were like flaming exclamation points to the confidence which has swept Australia with news of the flow of manpower and weapons from the United States to help convert both Australia and New Zealand into island fortresses.

The communique said aerial scouting also was carried out elsewhere on New Britain and a night air attack on Japanese-captured Kupang, capital of the Netherlands Timor—the second in two days—inflicted damage to runways and buildings and spread large fires.

Only One Plane Down

From all these operations, it said, only one plane was missing.

The Japanese reconnoitered the New Guinea air front throughout the day, the communique added, and quickly followed up reconnaissance of islands near Cape York in northeast Australia with an at-Work Slowly for Hitler.

(The announcer told residents of Nazi-occupied nations that "if you must work for Hitler, work slowly." He announced the inauguration of a new "F" campaign, based on the British V-for-Victory line. He pointed out that the German "F" stands for both friede (peace) and freheit (freedom).)

Possibly referring to the previously-reported encirclement of Gzhatsk a German-garrisoned city on the Moscow - Smolensk highway 100 miles west of the capital, the Soviet Information Bureau said about 3,000 Germans had been killed in a five-day battle on a sector of the central front.

Dispatches from the south-western front declared that German troops had recently killed 16,000 Kharkov civilians bringing to 30,000 the total slain in that industrial city since the Nazi occupation began last October.

The Soviet Information Bureau's mid-day communique reported the sinking of a 3,500-ton enemy transport in the Barents Sea by Russian warships.

Of tha land fighting, however, it said only that "during the night of March 18-19 no essential changes took place in the situaiton at the front."

A supplementary announcement said an important point was occupied on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow. The position was not identified.

Injuries Fatal To F. Patterson

Frank Patterson, 49-year-old garage mechanic, died shortly after 1.30 today from injuries received on Monday morning.

Patterson was employed at Edwards Service Station in Ashburnham, and had been removing a rear spring from a large truck when the mishap occurred. It seems that in attempting to life out the bottom half of the spring, he reached in from the side of the truck over the dual wheel, and when in this position, the heavy truck platform fell on him. It is suspected that a block on top of the hydraulic jack sprung out, releasing the heavy load, and the mechanic was pinned there. He was removed by Harry Clancy, another mechanic, and Mr. Willis, the agent for International trucks.

The man suffered severe internal chest injuries, and his condition has been critical.

He came to the city a few years ago from the West, and lives in the large frame house just east of St. John's Church on Hunter street. He is survived by his widow, and three children. Before starting to work for Edwards, the late Mr. Patterson had worked for Hood & Cumming Motors and for Herb Magee as a garage mechanic.

No Crack At Turks Now?

Two other significant steps possibly denoting spring activity were citcd in the newspaper Basler Machrichten. One was an appeal by Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering to farmers to concentrate as never before on utmost production. The other, taken in some quarters to mean that any plans against Turkey have been sidetracked for the time being, was the report that Franz von Papen, German Ambassador in Ankara, will not make an expected visit to Berlin.

A Berlin dispatch to the Swiss Socialist paper Die Tat said German military circles made it clear that the Nazis did not expect to have strong forces cut off from their main body of troops on the Soviet front. These units, "some of regimental and some of divisional strength, are entrenched in areas accessible with difficulty and are supplied from the air with clothes and munitions," it said.

But, it added, the Germans apparently consider such forces behind the Russian lines as a danger to the Red army and contend that they have been organized in recent weeks "to play a definite role in the coming fighting. The Germans, it said, hope these isolated units can be developed to act as parts of the main army.

As the war edged deeper into Central Burma an Indian refugee migration which a high civil official estimated at 750,000 men, women, and children choked the roads out of Burma, with starvation and thirst taking a heavy toll of the marchers.

The official said there is suffering on a scale hard to imagine despite efforts to care for the refugees in temporary camps along the way.

Driven by fears from the land where they provided the chief labor in oil fields, mills, railways, and on the Irrawaddy's ships and docks, the Indian laborers and their families set out for the vast trek with little or no food and with all their goods bundled in cotton cloth.

Barbed wire compounds regulate the number leaving the western districts daily. Many are being taken home from the Tangup Coast west of Prome in boats sent by the Indian Government.

Training Centre, Citizens Receive Praise

Citizens of Peterborough have every reason to feel proud of their record of accomplishment in regard to entertainment provided for the troops at the Military Training Centre here during the past winter. Tribute to the people of the city and also to the officer commanding, Lt.-Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., V.D., the officers and training staff of the Centre is contained in a letter signed by 20 men, who last week completed their training here and have gone to an advanced training centre in the eastern part of the country.

These men were part of some hundreds who left the Centre last week after completing their two months basic training and who have now been replaced by an equal number. The letter mentioned was received by one of the company commanders at the Centre and was signed by men who had served in all three companies. A few quotations from the letter follow:

"We thought on our arrival at Peterborough, it was the last place in Eastern Canada we wanted to train in. However, on arrival here (advanced training centre) after three days we already wish we were back. The various forms of entertainment provided at Peterborough, the excellent quality of the food served are now being appreciated by us. The excellent training and the friendly spirit of the officers toward the men are some of the things we miss very much. We take back everything we said about Peterborough, and please tell the chaps who succeeded us they are lucky in securing their basic training at Peterborough, and also the various privileges extended to the troops by the officer commanding. In our opinion they are having the best time they will have in the army and we hope they will take advantage of it. We said something about the officers and (about you too) and these we also take back."

The above quotation speaks well for the citizens of the city, and the letter, although perhaps the first to be addressed to an officer, is one of many that have been received in past months by members of the administrative and training staff at the Centre.

Not To Be Told

LONDON, March 19 — (CP). — Clement Attlee, Dominions Secretary, informed the House of Commons to-day that Mr. Justice Bucknill and his colleagues have completed their report on the escape of the German warships from Brest. He said it probably would not be made public because of its value to the enemy.

He added, however, that the inquiry had not disclosed any serious deficiencies in foresight, co-operation or organization by the Navy or the Air Force in their efforts to halt the escaping vessels.

Churchill Critic Astor Reverses

PLYMOUTH, England, March 19 —(CP).—Lady Astor, who has not hestiated to speak out against Prime Minister Churchill and his ministres in the past, declared today that parliament should "stop sniping" so he can run Britain's part of the war without the threat of another governmental crisis.

Lady Astor, who was one of the more vocal members of a parliamentary group which forced the Prime Minister to make his recent cabinet changes, said the reorganization was what the country wanted—"to keep the Prime Minister and change the Government ....and now we should leave him alone."

In a recent letter to The Times, Lady Astor suggested that parliament "take a long recess and let the Government get on with their work." Then she took her own advice and came home to this constituency, which she has represented for 22 years.

"When Churchill took charge after Dunkirk," she explained, "the country was so solidly behind him that it was almost considered Fifth Column activity to criticize anything he did. "In this atmosphere it was natural that Churchill would take too many governmental duties upon himself and that weak, incompetent ministers be allowed to remain in office.

"This situation has changed now. The country wants Churchill...But it wants him to have the help of strong ministers."

afraid "because I was told the prisoners would double-punish us after the war when they got free if we did not help them."

The girl replied "No" when Mr. Wilkins asked if she thought the Germans would win the war and that was why the prisoners would be free.

A large amount of photo-developing material had been found on one of the prisoners, concealed in his trousers. The camera had been left for him at the place where the girls would receive notes from the prisoners and leave them letters.

The girls were 15 and 16 years old and their trial was held in closed court except for the press.

Met at Hockey Game

Two of the girls were in tears as the trial, to which only the press was admitted, proceeded and they were called to the witness stand one by one. They told a story of meeting the prisoners, one of whom was known as "Pretty Boy," at a hockey game and while the men were working on roads and of having arranged a secret hiding place for letters.

The letters between the girls and the prisoners had been turned over to the R.C.M.P. by the camp commandant, Burger testified. One of the girls had written her life history and enclosed her picture, and another girl had amitted sending a letter signed "E" and enclosing her picture.

One of the girls had said that about October, 1940, another girl told her one of the prisoners wanted to know her name, Burger testified, quoting her as saying that "in February, 1941, I smiled at him at a hockey game, and he smiled back."

He said this girl had admitted everything freely when questioned, and had held nothing back.

Burger said the girls used pen names rather than their own names on the letters.

She Never Thought.

The first girl to testify said, "I didn't think at the moment what I was doing" when asked by Magistrate E. Arthurs if she had anything to say. She was "extremely sorry" for what happened.

The second girl had several letters and also a ring and a locket from the prisoners, Burger said. The girl had said she put a picture of a prisoner and his small brother inside her locket.

The prisoners showed concern in their letters over whether they would be moved, Burger said.

One of the girls saiad she had seen one of the prisoners last Christmas when the prisoners were throwing snowballs at boys and a couple of days later she got a letter that a prisoner threw at her.

"On June 1, 1941, we got replies to letters we sent. This continued until Feb. 1, 1942.

"A prisoner kissed me once. He also gave me a signet ring.

Magistrate Arthurs asked "would you do this over again" and the girl, in tears, replied that she wouldn't.

The prisoner known to the girls as "pretty boy or buddy" has since been identified, Burger said.

The father of one of the girls is with the Veterans' Guard at another Northern Ontario point, Burger said. The father had delivered some letters to a prisoner before he joined the Veterans' Guard, the girl said, but with the exception of one letter, she stopped writing the prisoners after her father joined the guard.

Huge Gift To UK Sign Canada Economic Mature

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, March 19 — (CP). — Evidence of Canada's "developing economic maturity" is seen by Finance Minister Ilsley in the financial arrangements now proposed by the Government for ensuring an uninterrupted flow of food and war materials from this country to the United Kingdom.

Speaking in the House of Commons yesterday on the resolution preliminary to the introduction of a Bill to authorize a gift of $1,000,000,000 in goods to the Mother Country, the minister said the arrangements are in fulfilment of the pledge given Britain last year that no shortage of dollar exchange would prevent Britain purchasing in Canada to the limit of Canadian productive capacity.

While declaring the Bill would bring about reasonable and manageable financial relations between Canada and the United Kingdom the minister expressed concern at Canada's exchange position with regard to the United States.

Despite the Hyde Park agreement of last Easter under which the United States undertook to increase purchases in Canada, he said the excess of Canadian war purchases from the United States over exports to that country resulted in a reduction of $142,000,000 in Canadian reserves of gold and United States currency during 1941.

"Although the outlook is far from clear," he said, "it must be recognized that, failing remedial action,

Mobile Works Units.

The Australian War Cabinet decided to-day to form a mobile works squadron of the Royal Australian Air Force to construct the landing grounds and encampments wherever needed and with maximum speed.

Lt.-Gen. George H. Brett, U.S.A., Deputy Supreme Commander in charge of air operations, stressed in an interview pursuit of a policy of never losing a plane on the ground—"If we have to lose them, we'll do it in the air." In this respect, Australia offers better prospects than Java did.

'Considering the length of time we have been here and the strangeness of everything, I believe we have put in a fine foundation,' he said.

Brett said that a steady flow of planes and pilots from America now had built up a ratio of three crews for every plane. He said that Australian and American fliers would be pooled and the men chosen for specific missions on the basis of ability, without regard to nationality.

The airmen raiding Rabaul may have been picked on that basis.

Extra Lecture To Complete A.R.P. Course

Supplementary lectures in A.R.P. work have been arranged for those wardens and others who were unable to take the entire basic course which ended last Sunday afternoon.

The primary course of six lectures were attended weekly by four or five hundred men and women. Some of those who have taken an interest in this air raid precautions course found it impossible to attend every one of the lectures, and they will have a chance to fill in the gaps, the first lecture being Sunday afternoon at 2.15 p.m. in the Lyceum or Monday at 8.15 p.m.

Chief Warden M. R. Sloan who has combined the subjects of the first and sixth lectures will give the part devoted to organization. The second part of this program has been assigned to R. L. Dobbin and Don Emery, relating to protection against gas. The chief part of the discusion will be conducted by Mr. Emery, chemical engineer at the C.G.E. works.

The Lyceum was crowded to capacity during the six weeks' course, indicating the extent of the interest which has developed locally in A.R.P. However, there is still a need for volunteers for the first aid and fire fighting divisions.

Port Hope Euchre Largely Attended

PORT HOPE, March 19—(ENS). —St. Mary's Catholic Altar Society held fifteen tables of euchre on Tuesday night following their big St. Patrick's tea, which was held in the Town Hall and is said to be the most successful 17th of March tea that this society has ever had, over two hundred having attended.

The euchre, which was convened by L. Scully, D. McGillis, and C. McMahon, was enjoyed by many out-of-towners as well as local residents.

The ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. J. W. O'Sullivan of Cobourg, while the second high went to Mrs. J. Broadbent and the third prize was tied for between Mrs. S. Cancilla, and Mrs. Boudreau, so a cut was made and Mrs. S. Cancilla declared the winner.

The men's high prize went to A. H. Lock, with second high going to J. Grainger. Mrs. Woodlock, playing on a gent.'s card, was winner of men's third. A lucky prize was drawn by a small boy and William Darling was the winner.

An angel food cake, gaily decorated in St. Patrick's Day colors and ornaments, was drawn for and Mrs. Marshal was holder of this lucky ticket. In all, seven prizes were given, and a most successful enchre enjoyed by all.

Cobourg Juror May Appeal Fine Of $20

COBOURG, March 19—(ENS).—Final dispositon of the matter in which a juror discussed the case with a Crown witness on Tuesday may not be made until it has reached the Attorney-General's Department on Wednesday. Robert Bateson of Seymour Township, the juror who was fined $20.00, and costs for his action in discussing the case with K. Hodgert of Port Hope, informed Mr. Justice Plaxton that he was not the offender in the matter.

"I understand that the juror who came before me yesterday for discussing the case with a witness, has something further to say to the court to-day," stated Mr. Justice Plaxton when court opened yesterday.

Bateson stood up.

"I want to say that I didn't bring the subject up when I was talking to Mr. Hodgert yesterday," said Bateson. "It was Mr. Hodgert who broached the subject, not I. He mentioned about it to me, but I didn't say anything in reply."

"You didn't tell him that you were on the jury, though," commented His Lordship. "However, I have imposed a fine and duly recorded it, and I can deal with the matter no further. You can apply to the Attorney-General's Department for a further hearing on it, although I am not prepared to say whether you will succeed."

All the civil actions on the Supreme Court docket before Mr. Justice Plaxton were settled, the terms of settlement not disclosed at the time. Mr. Durwood Dafoe vs. James Chapman, executor of the estate of the late Archie Patterson, a claim for $30,000, was settled, as was also Mrs. Archie Patterson vs. Smith Transport for $5,000, and Mrs. Vera Jewell vs. Smith Transport for $15,000. The actions were the result of a collision of a Smith Transport truck, driven by Durwood Dafoe of Toronto and a car driven by Archie Paterson of Peterborough, with Mrs. Jewell and John Jewell, as passengers.

The other case which was settled was Marsh Transport vs. Cunningham Wells Transport with Blondin Transport and another litigant.

Relief Proposal Regarded As Being Fair

Although Peterborough's representatives supported a municipal proposal to the provincial government in Toronto Monday, urging that the reduction in Ontario's relief contribution be suspended until the end of this year, they were inclined to the opinion that the government's new undertaking was fair.

The province has been assuming 75 per cent of the cost of relief, without any aid from the Dominion last year, and they recently announced that the new basis of contribution would be 50-50 with the municipalities.

Alderman Glover, chairman of the relief committee, and Relief Officer Metheral attended the meeting of eighteen municipalities in the city hall, Toronto, at which Mayor Conboy presided. Alderman Glover said Peterborough's council had not discussed the new relief rate, but individual aldermen had told him that they were satisfied with the new arrangement in a desire to cooperate with the province. During the period of the depression the Dominion government paid half the provincial contribution of 75 per cent of relief cost, but since the federal withdrawal of contribution the province last year paid the entire amount of 75 per cent.

"We supported the resolution presented to Hon. Farquhar Oliver asking for suspension of the reduction until next year," Alderman Glover said today, "but the government's change to a 50-50 basis goes into effect this year."

Ontario is one of the few provinces assisting municipalities in relief payments. British Columbia, the only other contributor, pays some part of the local relief expenditure.

Cobourg Parish Presents Irish Concert

COBOURG, March 19—(ENS).—St. Michael's parish maintained the traditions of the past by staging a real Irish concert on St. Patrick's evening and last night. In years gone by the Town Hall was the focal point of attention on St. Patrick's Night for the customary concert put on by a group from St. Michael's Roman Catholic parish. Many of the old favorites of those days have either passed on or are now living in other centres. However, the new generation of performers showed that they could still "pack them in" as the Opera House was filled to capacity on both occasions. The concert was under the auspices of the Catholic Youth Organization, and the proceeds went to the ladies auxiliaries of the 47th L.A.A. and the 4th Field Regiment. John Savage thanked the audiences for their fine patronage both nights, and pointed out that in dividing the proceeds with the two auxiliaries the amount given was higher than would otherwise have been the case due to the fact that every effort was made to keep expenses to a minimum in order that there would be as much money raised as possible to keep the boys overseas supplied with smokes.

Comedy Farce

The concert opened with a one-act comedy farce with the scene laid in a matrimonial bureau. The secretary was played by Miriam Romano; "Jerry," the matrimonial aspirant by John Clement; shy Guinivere by Patricia Barr; and outspoken Maizie by Catherine McEntee.

Tommy Hogan was heard in two well-rendered Irish songs, "The Hat My Father Wor," and "Rose O'-Day."

This was followed by an Irish folk dance by pupils of St. Michael's Catholic School, the dancers being Leone Cavanaugh, Mary Yost, Grace Martin, Jessie Fox, Eileen Bulger, Dorothy Butler, Helen Clement, Isobel Burns, Helen O'-Brien, Rose Allen, Isobel Hogan and Denise Burden. Mary and Jean Fleming were heard in two Western songs, "Prarie Sunset," and "When I Say Hello' to the Rockies."

Well presented were the various drills executed in precision fashion, the pupils of St. Michael's School presented a "V" for Victory drill, in three parts, "Lords of the Air," "Wish Me Luck," and "The Navy Is Here." The airmen were Paul Jacobson, Gordon Fleming, Jim McCaig, Bob Bulger, Clement Flesch, John Reedy, Edward Burns, Gerald O'Brien, Edward Turpin, Danny Parson, Joseph Fox, James Flannigan, Arnold Spence, Del. Dillon, Douglas Davidson, Michael Markle, John Oulahen and Robert Daignaul. Business manager of the concert was Paul Leonard; Austin Maher was in charge of stage and lights; Mrs. John Butler, properties; Catholic Women's League, the stage decorations; music, Jack Kewin, Mrs. Mary Crowe, and Thomas Leonard; make-up by Grace Williamson, Grace King, and K. McDonnell.

Strange Goings On

Truro, N.S., March 19 (C)

CROWDS of curious citizens last night made a pilgrimage to the Langille home on the outskirts of nearby Bible Hill to see if they too could watch unoccupied chairs rock, blinds fly up for no reason, and knives and forks float through the air as the Langilles claim they can.

Truro correspondents of two Halifax papers reported that not only did the blinds in the home go up unexpectedly but that a lunch pail hanging on the wall fell, travelling some 10 feet from the wall before clattering on the floor.

The newsmen also said that a table fell over for no apparent reason.

Troops For Farm

WASHINNGTON, March 19 (AP). —Some of the 9,000,000 men involved in the United States' army draft lottery completed to-day may be assigned to work in war-producing factories and on farms, Brig.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, has announced.

At opening ceremonies of the drawing last night, Gen. Hershey declared that "nothing must hinder the systematic and orderly procurement and training of our armed forces. Nothing, not even the procurement of our armed forces, must interfere with the time-table of production by the mean of which the enemy will be defeated."

3 Years For Extortion

CORNWALL Ont., March 19. —(CP).— Alfred Nadon, farm-hand employed by aged Allan Cline, Cornwall Centre farmer, was sentenced Monday by Magitrate Bergeron to two concurrent terms of three years each in Kingston penitentiary on charges of extortion and perjury.

It was claimed that by a process of phyical violence threats Nadon took $1,800 from the farmer. In his defence Nadon said the money was received in the form of loans.

During the trial, Nadon testified in detail regarding his marriage to a woman jointly charged with him, but freed Monday.

WAR TIME DELIVERY

The following is an excerpt from the Service Administrators order No. S.2 concerning Retail Deliveries:

"No retailer shall on or after the 18th day of March, 1942, make or cause to be made on his behalf or to or on behalf of his customers, more than one regular delivery over any particular and—or in any particular area in any day except by permit in writing from the Administrator first obtained."

We find that in order to give service to our many customers, and still carry out the rules and regulations, as mentioned above, by the Government Authorities, and co-operate with them in their effort, to conserve gasoline and rubber for war purposes, we are obliged to ask for the whole hearted co-operation of the buying public.

The order clearly defines that we can only make one delivery in each section of the city a day. That means that if we deliver goods to your neighbors in the morning, and we do not have an order for you, we cannot go back to your house with an order the same day. Therefor we must have all the orders for your neighborhood on the same delivery. This may seem drastic, but it is a war condition over which we have no control.

We appreciate your business and we want to give you the best service possible, keeping in mind our duty to co-operate in the National War effort, which must be first and foremost in our minds, until our boys are safely back home again with victory. We have given a lot of time and thought to this delivery proposition in order to work out some system which would give our customers the least inconvenience.

Phone the store at which you deal for full information as to when the delivery will leave for your neighborhood.

Regarding Relief

There will be a good deal of discussion in the next few months of the decision of the Provincial Government to cut its relief aid to the municipalities from 75 to 50 per cent., and although the Hon. Farquhar Oliver has declared that the Provincial Government is not open to charges of being niggardly in this matter we fear that the charges will be made all the same. Relief for the unemployed is always a vexing problem and at present, when industry needs men and women badly, the normal dislike of keeping unemployed and unemployable persons becomes even greater than usual. It is clear that the aged, the blind, widows and certain other recipients of provincial aid cannot work now or at any other time, but there are others whose disabilities are less obvious who seemingly cannot be of any use at present. There is bound to be a feeling that money spent to keep them is money thrown away; we are not prepared at present to dispute the justice of this feeling, and must content ourselves with saying that it exists. Therefore the increase in the levy upon the municipalities for relief is bound to be unpopular, although the municipalities represented at the recent meeting at Toronto agreed to it.

It is interesting in this connection to notice that the capital city of this province consumes 43 per cent. of the provincial relief, although it has only 17 per cent. of the population. The usual explanation when this is pointed out is that unemployed persons tend to drift toward the capital city in search of work. We are by no means convinced that this is so. Young unemployed men and women may go to Toronto to seek their fortunes, thereby adding to that city's burdens; but middle-aged unemployed and married unemployed with children are much more likely to stay where they are knowing full well that such fortune as is likely to be theirs will turn up as quickly in their native haunts as in the metropolitan splendors of Toronto. There is an inequality in this scheme and we do not think that the municipalities will be long in discovering it.

Change For The Better

The request of the Australian Government that General MacArthur be permitted to take supreme command of the forces of that continent was a brilliant stroke and President Roosevelt's consent to it showed generosity and statesmanship. MacArthur is the one man who, so far, has been able to stand up to the Japs; in a small battleground, with small forces and few planes he defied them successfully, he made successful offensive sallies against them, and he did them a surprising amount of damage. Now he will meet the enemy on a vast battleground, with large forces and, unless we have been badly misled, plenty of equipment. The Japs will not be happy at the prospect of meeting this infinitely magnified MacArthur, and more than one general may commit the Happy Dispatch before the issue is decided.

The action of the President of the United States in lending America's hero to Australia is beyond praise. It is an act of faith possible only to a man of large and comprehensive mind. It is a proof to the enemy that the United Nations really are united and that such valuable national properties as first-rate generals will be used for the good of the alliance wherever they are needed. It is an action also which should do much to silence a murmur of anti-British feeling which has been heard in the U.S. recently, for it links the fate of the States with that of the British Commonwealth in a wholly unambiguous manner.

Finally, the arrival of MacArthur should do wonders for the morale of the people of Australia. The Commonwealth has been feeling somewhat deserted recently, and with cause. Australia is certain of herself and of her ability to defend her territory but she very understandably wants the assurance that she will not be left in the lurch if things go badly. The assurance has arrived in the form of a brilliant General and large forces of American troops. The whole complexion of the unsatisfactory Australian situation has changed for the better.

Sidelights On Singapore

Alfred Duff Cooper, who went to Singapore as the British Cabinet's co-ordinator for Far Eastern affairs has made some rather unimpressive statements regarding the defences of that base. In fact, we wonder whether it would not have been a better thing for him to keep quiet. Of the defenders of Singapore he says that "they were not lacking at all in performing the duties they were called upon to perform." We had not seriously supposed that they were so lacking. What we do feel is that they were not called upon to do certain necessary things early enough in the Malayan campaign, and that Mr. Duff Cooper himself might have done something about this.

Mr. Duff Cooper has also denied that the white inhabitants of Singapore danced and engaged in other frivolities when their situation was growing desperate. "People may have danced in Singapore," he said; "English men and women danced in Brussels on the eve of Quatrebas and Waterloo, and I have never yet read that they fought worse on the days that followed after having attended a ball that night." We have never read anything of the sort either, and we are even prepared to say that a ball would probably be an excellent place for a soldier the night before a battle. But this talk of dancing is irrelevent. Only a few cranks really believe that dancing and drinking at Singapore had much to do with its downfall. If the place had been well organized and prepared the whole population could have danced until within a few hours of the enemy's approach and no harm done. The fact of the matter is that Mr. Duff Cooper is putting up men of straw in order to knock them down again. Singapore was most inadequately prepared for assault, and apparently much of the time gained by the brave retreat in Malaya was wasted because nobody did the right things. When we have time for such investigations it will be discovered who were responsible for this stupidity, and Mr. Duff Cooper will be lucky if he does not come in for a share of the blame.

Old Masters Under New Masters

However hard men of action may try to give the impression that they are indifferent to the productions of men of thought the looting which goes on in war time shows that they have a shrewd notion of the value of objects of art. Napoleon, when he held Europe in his hand, took the choicest treasures of painting and sculpture to Paris to serve as scenery and stage properties in his personal drama. Now many of the pieces which he collected in his travels have made a journey to Berlin; the Winged Nike, or Winged Victory, is said to have an especial appeal for the Fuehrer. Perhaps he hopes that the headless figure from Samothrace will bring him luck; he forgets that the lady is a Greek.

Looting also brings about a peculiar form of underhand art dealing. Germany would be glad to dispose of some fine old masters in neutral countries in order to establish credits there. Obviously the best market for such sales was the United States before she entered the war, and a bold attempt was made to ship a quantity of art treasure there by way of Tokyo about a year ago. The British Ministry of Economic Warfare, however, gave such splendid publicity to this stunt that it never was completed. Whether the loot was seized on the journey, or whether it was recalled to Germany to await a more favorable opportunity is not known. Now Latin America as well is ill-disposed to accept paintings which appear from mysterious sources.

The Netherlands government in exile is somewhat surprised that the great galleries in Rotterdam have so far been unmolested. They are open, and as far as can be learned, all their famous collections are intact. Germany has announced recently the formation of a bureau for "the interchange of art culture between the countries of Europe," and it is generally supposed that many fine things will find such appreciative spectators in Berlin that they will be forced to stay there indefinitely, or until their rightful owners are able to go there and reclaim them. It is amusing that the Nazis, who found most non-German art degenerate and contemptible before the war, have become possessors of a most catholic taste in a remarkably short time.

Have We No Tact?

We think that it is time that the United Nations established a Central Bureau for the Tactful Control of Public Speakers. Recently there have been some very unfortunate remarks made by official spokesmen, and these have been given wide publicity all round the world.

First on the list comes Mr. Anthony Eden's statement concerning the Hong Kong outrages; he said that they were perpetrated "without distinction of race or color." Now Mr. Eden knows better than that, and if he does not surely someone must have seen his statement before it was made, who had enough native tact to cut out that stupid and offensive phrase. Would it have been all right if the Japs had confined their attention to the Chinese population? Are the Chinese our Allies, or are they an inferior people whom we have permitted to join us for the protection which we can afford them? These are the questions which Mr. Eden's phrase bring up.

Next we meet that strange modern creature, an "official spokesman" who speaks of the Australians as "white men fighting for a white man's country." This, we are given to understand, will provide us with a splendid spactacle, and we hope that it will do so. But is such a remark calculated to soothe the feelings of those Dutch in the East Indies who fought so gallantly to defend islands which, in their estimation, were also the habitations of white men? Is such a remark calculated to bring a warm tide of brotherhood to the hearts of the Indian Army, who have done such fine work, side by side with the Aussies, in Libya?

But the daintiest morsel of patronizing, leather-hided, ivory-skulled tactlessness comes from "an official military commentator" in London. Of the appointment of General Douglas MacArthur to Australia this witling remarks: "We don't mind this American chief and I'm sure the Australians feel the same way. It's really damned fine." There are no words to express the gaucherie of this comment. It is really the uttermost outside edge of the limit. Who chooses these "official spokesmen" anyway; and for what are they chosen? Certainly not for their tact and skill in speaking.

Let no one attribute this unfortunate attitude to that popular scapegoat, The Old School Tie. It is a manner of thought common throughout the Empire, and it is the property of no special caste. Tactlessness and stupidity are highly democratic failings which bestow their doubtful blessings on high and low alike. The plain fact of the matter is that we must stop making these appalling blunders when speaking in public and in private too. They are meat and drink to Axis propagandists. Have we no tactful speakers to serve as our official spokesmen?

NOTE AND COMMENT

Elephants are now being used to get supplies to China. No doubt they arrive with packed trunks.

Desert mice, we read, are able to live without drinking. The Italian troops who surrender because of thirst may use this as evidence that they are really men.

The Sault Ste. Marie Star asks: "Will the tire shortage restore Canada to a saner life?" Obviously they have some kind of mad gaiety in Sault Ste. Marie that we haven't heard about.

There is $4,092,234 circulating in Canada in copper coin. We were given the greater part of this by a Toronto newsie recently when we had nothing but a quarter with which to buy an evening paper.

The Saint Thomas Times-Journal tells us: "History will record that Java surrendered and Rangoon was abandoned on the day the Ottawa Government set its date for the plebiscite vote." This has the ominous rumble of a movie caption from the silent days, but does it mean anything?

There is a lesson for all our enemies in the recent suicide of the Japanese General Homma. His early successes in the Philippines led him to noisy public expressions of glee; his failure to subdue MacArthur's men drove him to commit Japanese ceremonial hara-kiri, literally "belly-ripping." After the belly-laugh comes the belly-rip.

MIDWINTER THAW

The rivulet with rush of sound
Spills through the prison ice that bound
It to a darkness of deep snows,
And past the thawing wood it flows,
Making music live and merry,
Racing with a frozen berry,
Tattered birch leaf, tip of fir,
Moss tuft green as midsummer
Where no summer is, but weight
Of shrunken drifts, and sky of slate
Through restless boughs, and winds that sigh;
While from nowhither comes the cry
Towards day's end of wakeful owls
With amber eyes and feather cowls.

Track of foot and trace of clawk
Blur and vanish in the thaw,
And from a dripping hemlock crest
Falls the cold remnant of a nest.

New Venture In Canadian Verse

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THREATENED men live long, and invalids often bury those who have nursed them. Seemingly Canadian verse belongs in the category of those things which are always upon the point of vanishing forever from this earth but which, somehow or other, continue to exist. Every now and again a group of enthusiasts appears, whose members give the pallid valetudinarian a shot in the arm, and it is saved for another few years. But its prolonged and interminable death agonies are a grim spectacle.

THE fact is — and we may as well make up our minds to it now— that Canadian poetry simply is not going to die, however great the evidence to the contrary may be. The instinct to write verse is deeply rooted in the human heart, and nothing will ever drive it out. Ever since man acquired the gift of speech he has delighted in intricate and lovely patterns of words, and has kept a special place in his society for men who can create them. Canada is no exception to this general rule.

BUT Canada has special handicaps as a land for poets. For one thing, she has no literary background of her own. Her literary history is, at a long stretch, one hundred years old; her history has been shaped by politics and economics, rather than by the deeds of heroes, and she acquired her present form during a century which was certainly one of the most materialistic in all history. Her people are not indigenous to her soil; she has no peasantry who love the land and cherish its legends. She has, in fact, little of the usual stock-in-trade of poetry save for a wonderfully diversified and beautiful landscape. The man or woman who sets out to write poetry in Canada will find little help in the country or its people.

A GREAT poet will write poetry anywhere, but great poets are remarkably scarce. Most people who write poetry are far from being great poets, but they have unusual sensitivity, a feeling for words, and—this is perhaps the most important thing of all—something which they wish to say. These are the minor poets, who produce so much that is beautiful; and there is always the chance that a minor poet may produce one or two great poems, if he has luck. We should like to see a great poet or so in Canada, but barring that piece of exceptional good fortune, we must be content with our minor poets, most of whom are very minor indeed. Asked to name our poets of distinction now living, most Canadians who are interested in the matter would speak of Charles G. D. Roberts, of Duncan Campbell Scott, of E. J. Pratt, of George Herbert Clarke, of a few more, and he would be forced to admit that of these only Pratt is read at all widely in this country or any other.

THESE reflections are provoked by an examination of the first two issues of a magazine called "Contemporary Verse, A Canadian Quarterly" which have come to hand. It originates on the Pacific Coast, and its head office is in Victoria. Its editor is Alan Crawley, who has done a great deal of hard and unselfish work to foster poetry and literature generally in this country. The men who are mentioned above as distinguished among Canadian poets are none of them young; Sir Charles Roberts is 82, and Duncan Campbell Scott is two years his junior. Professor Pratt and Professor Clarke are both in middle life. Where are Canada's young poets going to appear? Presumably Mr. Crawley hopes that they will eventually turn up in the pages of his quarterly and we sincerely hope so too. Candour, however, compels us to say that they have not made their appearance in the first two issues.

THE verse which appears in these two small issues, is, to use a damning critical adjective, intellectual. That is to say, it appears to have been written because the writers felt that they ought to write poetry, rather than because they felt any great compulsion to do so. Much of the work is excellent as far as it goes, and it is possible to read it with real pleasure, but it will never attract readers who are not, for some reason, professionally interested in poetry; such readers would be other poets and critics, and these make a poor audience. The themes chosen are not such as would attract general readers, and the manner in which these themes are handled is positively calculated to frighten general readers away. This poetry is remote from life, and it will never get a hearing from people who have to snatch their poetry-reading hours from the rough-and-tumble, haphazard business of living.

FRANKLY, the poetry produced by the younger writers in Canada today suffers from being flabby and precious. They do not appear to have much to say that anyone else would care to hear, and they elect to say it in an abstruse, over-refined way which puts more strain on the faculties of the reader than the verse itself warrants. Canadian poets, if they are not content to write merely for each other, must have more and better ideas, and they must express them more vigorously. Canadian poetry will not die; there is no fear of that. But at present the Canadian Muse is suffering from pernicious anaemia and her persistent invalidism is a great bore.

• Jap Octopus Carved Up

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—At least one deadly tentacle of the Japanese invasion octopus reaching out toward Australia has been lopped off in New Guinea waters.

That does not mean that the enemy attempt to seize the New Guinea bridgehead for a drive at Australia itself has been halted. It does mean, however, that invaluable time has been gained for General Douglas MacArthur and the Allied forces.

And, given time and equipment, their ability not only to hold Australia secure, but to use it as the springboard for an ultimate wide-ranging air, sea and land counter-attack to smash Tokyo's dream of conquest is unquestionable.

MOST DAMAGING BLOW

Navy announcement in Washington that Australia-American air forces had smashed at a powerful Japanese invasion flotilla on the east coast of New Guinea to sink or damage twenty-three enemy craft, including twelve warships, is significant. It indicates that United States Navy airmen, probably fighters, as well as army bombers and Australians, participated in a mass raid. That is the most damaging blow Japan has suffered in the war, not excepting the naval action in Macassar Strait.

The havoc wrought by American-Netherlands sea and air forces to transport and cargo craft was greater in the Macassar action; but that to enemy warcraft in the New Guinea attack makes it outrank Macassar in military importance. The warships and transports which were seriously damaged, as well as those sunk, can be written off the war ledger indefinitely. They were struck 1,000 miles further from home or from repair bases available to the Japanese than those at Macassar.

The Allied air fleet which dealt the blow presumably was the most numerous and powerful with which the Japanese had yet had to deal. It escaped with a single plane casualty. The implication is either that the attack completely surprised the enemy or that the Allied bombers were fully fighter-protected.

ACHIEVE AIR CONTROL

In either case the Australian-American war fellowship has achieved against Japan for the first time at least local air control. It not only spotted the enemy invasion fleet, but carried the battle to it.

That is the penalty Japan is paying for too swift extension of her attack front beyond the shelter of her land-based air power. Without that "umbrella," the cover of which has been outrun in a desperate effort to balk American bolstering of Australian defenses, the invasion fleet in New Guinea waters was at the mercy of Allied fighter-protected bombers flying from the mainland.

It will take time to replace the troops, ships and equipment lost by the enemy in that single action. Some of the loss in warships and cargo tonnage can never be replaced. Diversion of naval vessels from other sea fronts to convoy new invasion armadas southward must dangerously thin out protection of vital Japanese communication lines in the China Sea. American sea and air power unquestionably is being groomed to strike there in due course.

• But He Lost His Girl

YOUNG Mr. Donald Henderson, of Boston, has lost his girl through too deep an interest in mass production; but he has certainly lifted a mighty load off the shoulders of Codtown's younger matrons. Last week he started a door-to-door delivery service which includes: (1) the baby's formula, (2) the baby's change of diapers, (3) the morning paper, (4) the dog's dinner.

This genius is only 27 years old and was formerly an evaporated milk sales salesman—from which line of endeavor he probably got the idea of the mechanical cow featured in his ready-to-take baby's formula. The prescription for each baby is placed on a card indicating the amounts of certified milk, evaporated milk, karo corn syrup, dextra-maltose and sterile water required. The card then goes into a punched card machine and a switch is thrown which regulates the flow of the various ingredients from Mr. Henderson's mechanical cow. Included in his delivery service is an automatic bottle warmer "guaranteed not to crack bottles at 2 a.m."

Queried by the press for the reasons back of his gift to mothers, Mr. Henderson explained that he was interested only in the production of better babies—and more babies. There was no such thing, he said, as a woman having enough babies. It was at this point that his girl gave him back his engagement ring.—Chicago Sun.

EDUCATION IN BOMBAY

A DEPRESSING feature of educational activity in Bombay in the year 1940-41 was the closing of a number of education classes. No reason is given, but according to the brief official review the decrease in the number of educational institution during the year was due primarily to this cause. Inquiries suggest that the initial enthusiasm for the movement is on the wane.

Two years ago the Bombay Government appointed a Special Literacy Officer to conduct the campaign on systematic lines, but the lack of voluntary workers and the meagre monthly pittance of seven rupees paid to teachers have hindered progress. Good teachers are rare and with a fall in the standard of instruction has come a decrease in attendance. The spate of communal disorders in Bombay also had its effect, but there is abundant evidence to show that the ignorant worker has begun to appreciate the value of literacy and, given the right type of institution, will willingly co-operate. — Times in India (Bombay).

MATTER OF HARA-KIRI?

That item about the Japanese general who killed himself because he had twice failed to defeat the Chinese at Changsha—does this mean we can look forward to a general hara-kiri by all those little brown battlers when they find themselves on the losing side of the final battles?—asks the editor of the Ottawa Journal.

STAMPING THEM OUT

GERMANY has had a series of flying starts in this war, thanks to her possession of the right machine tools. They had been adapted during five years for stamping out tank frames whereas ours were still made for stamping out motor-car bodies. The Polish campaign inflicted much damage on the German war machinery—more than is generally realized. It did not matter. Germany had the machine tools to make more. For a winter they stamped out fresh parts, and Germany was ready for France. The French factories were captured with their machine tools half made. They helped to stamp out weapons for the attack on Russia. The machine tools of Germany are stamping again to repair the losses of the Russian war. German armament will be formidable again this spring. But this time the machine tools are also stamping out the weapons in Britain, in Russian factories behind the Urals, and above all in America. — London Daily Express.

Spouters

The new vicar was being shown round the village church. After admiring many of the features of the building, he found a slight fault, and said: "Isn't there some faulty spouting there?"

The county church-warden gave a prompt reply: "Yes sir, we must have that repaired. We can't do with any more bad spouting. We get plenty of it from the pulpit."

A Bible Message For Today . . .

Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not....For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.... For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God.

For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.—II Cor. iv, 1, 6, 15, 16.

For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens....

Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more. Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new.—II Cor. v, 1, 16, 17.

Confirm Suicide Of Jap General

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 19. — (AP)—A dispatch from Tokyo to the newspaper El Chileno said today the suicide of Lt.-Gen. Masaharu Homma for failure to destroy the American and Filipino defence forces in the Philippines had been "confirmed."

Homma, commander of the Japanese Philippines expeditionary forces, was reported early this month by Gen. Douglas MacArthur to have committed suicide because of his failure and to have been succeeded by Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the conqueror of Malaya.

El Chileno's dispatch came from Carlos Barry, Chilean journalist.

Barry said the proof of Homma's suicide was the fact that "the name of his successor, Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, has been announced."

Barry is one of five Chilean journalists who accepted an invitation of the Japanese government to visit Japan, only to be caught there by the outbreak of war. The Japanese invitation was extended after seven Chilean journalists returned to Chile from a visit to the United States as guests of newspapers there.

Students To Plan Farm Work For Summer

CAMPBELLFORD, March 19. — (ENS).— High School students here are anxious to play their part in easing the farm labor problem and following an address by E. R. Hall of the Farm Service Force, Toronto, Principal E. H. Greig declared many students immediately expressed a desire to do their part. Mr. Hall addressed the student body on Tuesday morning and his remarks left no doubt as to the seriousness of the farm labor situation and he stressed to them the urgent need of food production or Britain.

It was primarily a pep talk designed to encourage pupils to pledge their help again this year. He told them that plans were made to again have Y.W.C.A. supervised camps for girls in the Niagara fruit district and recalled that although some 23,000 men, women and students responded to the call the need was now even greater with the help of an estimated 40,000 required. This extra help is designed to assure increased food production for (1) increased home consumption, (2) enormous commitments to Great Britain, (3) to build up food reserves.

Students 16 years of age and over and their teachers may join either a Farmerette Brigade or a Farm Cadet Brigade, he said, while children from 12 to 16 years may be registered in the Farm Service Force, but their placement in farm work must be obtained and supervised by their parents. In addition to the work available in the fruit district individual farmers and growers will have camps of their own approved by the Department.

Another alternative will be to live in the farmer's home and assist with farm work and here again living and working conditions will be supervised by the placement officer. However, for either private camps or what is called private placement written consent is required from the parents of those under 21 years of age.

According to Principal Greig approximately 50 per cent of the pupils in the Campbellford High School volunteered to do eight weeks' farm work last year. Under the terms of their new pledge, however, students are being asked to work for not less than 13 weeks or until voluntarily released by their employers. They can leave school any time between April 1 and 16 if needed, but in an effort to sustain present standards of education only pupils with a pass standing (50 per cent) or over in every subject, will be eligible.

Yonug Airman Honored.

Sergt. Pilot George Armstrong, popular Seymour Township youth, was honored by friends at a party at the home of Mrs. John Armstrong on Friday evening. It was mainly his close friends and immediate neighbors who gathered at the Seymour West home to pay him tribute and the highlight of the evening was the presentation of a ring and pen to him. Harold Wood gave the address which accompanied the presentation made by Oliver Garneau. In his remarks Mr. Wood stated that he along with his other friends had followed "with much pride your creditable course of training in the R.C.A.F., and we felt that we, by this gathering, should let you know what your friends and neighbors think of any individual who offers his life to uphold the principles of freedom."

Sergt. Pilot Armstrong responded appropriately saying, "I will do my best to uphold the traditions of the Canadian pilots in the last war."

Cards were played and lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Godbout Object To C.P. Report

QUEBEC, March 19 — (CP). — Premier Godbout in an interview with The Canadian Press Tuesday said he believed The Canadian Press report of a by-election meeting in Montreal Monday night "gave an unfair picture of the meeting."

He was referring to a report of activities of youths who were outside the St. James Market in Montreal while Mr. Godbout and others were speaking within the Market in support of Liberal candidates.

Mr. Godbout in his address, for which he was cheered by his audience, said the country of all Canadians is the whole of Canada and that "no Canadian can refuse any sacrifice at the present hour."

During most of the meeting, a group of youths marched around the outside of the building, shouting and singing "A bas la conscription" (down with conscription).

Mr. Godbout said he felt The Canadian Press report gave the impression that the youths were shouting their comment in reply to what speakers were saying inside and he felt this would give a wrong impression to outside provinces. He said his own impression was that the youths, whose voices could sometimes be heard inside the Market, had stopped shouting when he expressed his views on Canada. He felt the report of the meeting gave undue emphasis to the activities of a number of youths.

In a statement earlier Tuesday he termed The Canadian Press report inexact, adding that the meeting "was one of the best ever held in the division in a long time."

The Canadian Press report dealt with both the meeting inside the Market and activities outside. It was not intended to convey that activities outside were a part of the meeting inside.

Cooperation Topic As Young People Meet

The topic was 'Co-operation Always,' and was capably dealt with by Mrs. C. Price. A solo, 'That Tumble-down Shack in Athlone' was given by Mr. Wilkinson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilkinson at the piano. There was an attendance of 16 members and plans were completed for a social evening next Monday night.

TORONTO EARL GREYS TAKE 10-POINT LEAD OVER THE MARINES

Two-Point Lead Held By Petes At Half-Time

Peterborough Outboard Marines have a ten-point deficit to make up when they play Toronto Earl Greys here Saturday night in the second game of their O.A.B.A. intermediate A semi-final series. Playing in Toronto Wednesday night the Peterborough team were defeated by the Dominion champions 58 to 48 in a fast-moving game.

A temporary lapse in the second half that let Earl Greys attack get rolling was the break that put the Petes in arrears. The Outboards jumped to the attack in the opening stages, set up an early lead and at half time were heading the classy Toronto team by 24 to 22 and had the champs badly worried. The Petes were really travelling and with Jimmy Thorburn tossing in five baskets during the first half the outlook for a win for the invaders was decidedly bright.

However Early Greys led by Bellchamber who broke into a scoring rash turned on the heat after the rest period and at one stage while Outboards wavered ran up a lead of 14 points. The Peterborough team rallied again and managed to cut off four points before the end of the battle, leaving themselves with ten points to pick up when Earl Greys come to the local Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on Saturday night.

It was a fine showing for the Peterborough entry against a powerful team that won the Dominion honors in their division last season and are reported to have an even stronger quintet this winter.

Outboards suffered more from fouls than the winners, fourteen being called against them while only six were chalked up against Earl Greys. The champs cashed in on eight of their 14 chances while the Petes made good on four of their free throws.

Jimmy Thorburn was high scorer, not only of the Outboards but of both teams, tossing in nine baskets for a total of 18 points. Joe Jakafby registered ten points for the Peterborough team and Joe Stewart and Doug McPherson cashed in on seven each.

Roy Lowe was top performer for Earl Greys with 14 to his credit and Bellchamber who did most of his scoring in the second half to pull his team together had 11 and Junior Fox ten.

Toronto Signs Harrisburg Hurler, Brandt

CAMDEN, S.C., March 19. — A fifteen-game victory with the pennant-winning Harrisburg club of the Inter-State League last season, right-hander Bill (Whitey) Brandt yesterday was released on option to Toronto Maple Leafs by Pittsburg Pirates. The 24-year-old, blond hurler is on his way now to join the Leafs from the Pittsburg training camp at San Bernardino, Cal.

The fair-haired youngster, who will celebrate his 24th birthday Saturday, packs 170 pounds over his five-foot eight and one-half-inch frame. He is the only pitcher on the Toronto roster now who doesn't stretch past the six-foot mark in height.

Drill Mornings, Afternoons.

The Maple Leafs will have only five days of conditioning behind them when they open their exhibition games schedule here Sunday against the 28th Infantry, 8th Division, team from Fort Jackson. The teams may also play a repeat performance Monday.

The Toronto players, however, will get plenty of work in those five practice sessions. Manager Burleigh Grimes works on the theory that a ball player can't get too much exercise. He figures that if the players are "stiffened" in the early drills they won't be inclined to "cut loose" with their throwing arms too early, thereby reducing the risk of arm injuries.

Grimes had the Leafs working out in the Camden football stadium adjoining the ball park yesterday. Between batting practice, pepper games, running and walking, there wasn't an idle player in sight. The team worked out in the morning and afternoon, with a short lunch-hour recess when lunch was sent from the hotel.

Business Stops Thursday.

This entire winter resort community has been lined up to help make the Toronto team's visit an enjoyable one. Mayor F. N. McCorkle has issued a proclamation requesting business houses, shops and offices close for the game against University of South Carolina Thursday, March 26. Camden's colorful school band will turn out to provide carnival color spirit for the occasion.

With the arrival yesterday of Mickey Haslin and Pitcher George Windsor Toronto's bureau of missing ball players has dwindled to Burgess Whitehead, who is expected later; Outfielder Eddie Morgan and Pitcher Joe Vance.

Bear Cats Grab Game Lead

PORT ARTHUR, March 19—(CP)—Port Arthur Bear Cats, senior hockey champions of Thunder Bay, took a commanding lead in their best-of-five Allan Cup series over Winnipeg Navy Chippawas of Manitoba last night by winning the third encounter 4-3.

The former Head of the Lakes Canadian champions won the opener 4-2, and the second game ended in a 3-3 draw. Fourth game will be played here Friday.

Len Haldorsen scored the first of his two goals in the opening period to give the Tars the lead, which they lost in the second frame when Al Kelly and Edgar Laprade put Bear Cats ahead 2-1.

The fighting Sailors deadlocked the count early in the third when Bill Nicol scored unassisted. Kelly's second goal put Bear Cats up again, and Norm Wright's counter at 14:14 clinched the verdict. Haldorsen's second counter closed the scoring. Defenceman Bert Laprade drew an assist on all four Bear Cats' goals.

Winnipeg—Goal, Hughes; defence, Ogston, Johnston; centre, Haldorsen; wings, Turkewicz and L. Gordon; subs: Andrews, Bader, Gallagher, Styan, Burgess, Nicol.

Port Arthur—Goal, Dertell; defence, Maki and B. Laprade; centre, E. Laprade; wings, Wochy and Manahan; subs: Kelly, D. Gordon, McKenzie, Wright, Drainville, R. Laprade.

NewsomAtCamp About To Sign

LAKELAND, Fla., March 19 — (AP). — Louis Norman (Buck) Newsom, sporting three chins and an expansive midriff, engaged in his first workout at Detroit Tigers' training camp yesterday and indicated his holdout campaign may be drawing to a close.

Bo-Bo slipped quietly into Lakeland on Tuesday night and registered at the some hotel where General Manager Jack Zeller is staying.

The recalcitrant pitcher conferred with Zeller yesterday and was told that the club wouldn't budge from its original offer—something he already had been told by telegram, telephone and letter.

"He said he wanted to think things over," Zeller said.

What Buck was offered wasn't divulged, but it was learned there is a bonus clause in the contract.

Zeller emphasized that Newsom wouldn't be paid any salary until Manager Del Baker believes he is in physical condition to pitch.

New Welders' Motto

NEW YORK, March 19—(AP)—Remembering the fire of February 9 that burned out the former French liner Normandie and resulted in the $60,000,000 naval auxiliary turning on her side, officials of the Brooklyn navy yard posted this "motto" today: "For welders and burners... 'I don't want to set the world on fire'."

The Petes took a long stride toward the O.H.A. Senior B championship at Oshawa last night when they outskated, outplayed and outfought Merritton Redmen to register a decisive 5 to 1 win and take a 2 to 1 lead in the best-three-of-five series. So far as the Petes were concerned it was a case of drive, drive. They turned it on from the first whistle and they were still steaming in for goals when the timers stopped the proceedings. Merritton had nothing to match the sustained pressure put on them by the battling Soldiers. They were driven into a position of fighting a rearguard action and the game soon resolved itself into a question of how successfully a clever goal-keeper and a checking barrage could hold off a swarm of attackers who persisted in roaring in with the rubber all night. Those who watched the contest are willing to admit that the Redmen did a first class chore in holding the Petes to five goals in the face of what amounted to an almost continuous onslaught.

* * * * * *

The Petes had too much speed, and clever stick-handling and passing for the Merritton gang to cope with. And on top of those advantages was the fact that they kept on the offensive almost continuously. The margin of victory might easily have been much larger on the run of the play. That it was not, credit will have to be handed to Monsieur Aime Clement who played a whale of a game between the gas pipes for the winner and to good checking in their own territory by the Redmen, especially by "Hoss" Desson who played sixty minutes without relief and nullified a lot of dangerous Peterborough moves by adroit poke-checking. As for the winners they played determinedly and confidently and they had the situation in hand from start to finish. Nettled by an unexpected defeat in St. Catharines they were playing for keeps last night. They left little to chance for while they kept steadily on the attack they were always ready to swing back in a hurry to break up counter raids and there were no Redmen breakaways. The Petes want that championship and they played that way when the chips were down last night.

Scare Dominion Champs

While Peterborough's hockey team was moving a step nearer the Senior B hockey championship at Oshawa last night a Peterborough basketball team was putting up a fine battle against a powerful club in an effort to bring a basketball title to their home city. The Outboard Marines really threw a scare into Toronto Earl Greys in Toronto last night. They were in front at the half and a five minute letdown in the second half when Earl Grey got rolling was the cause of their 10 point deficit which they hope to make up here in the return game Saturday night. A Toronto story says the Dominion champions were bewildered by the uncanny one-handed lift shots of the Petes and that and his fine total of 18 indicates that Jimmy Thorburn had his eye on the target with Joe Jakafby also doing some nice marksmanship.

* * * * * *

The biggest basketball attraction of the local season will be the return clash at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium Saturday night when Earl Greys, last year's Dominion intermediate champions and Peterborough's Outboard Marines, Eastern Ontario title-holders will meet in the second game of their O.A.B.A. intermediate A semi-final series. The Earl Greys, coached by Bubs Horton, one of the keenest cage tutors in Canada, have a 10 point lead as a result of their win over Outboards in Toronto last night but the Peterborough team is confident that on its own floor Saturday night that deficit will be picked up. At all events the game should be the fastest and most exciting cage battle of the current season as the Dominion champions, sparked by their two fine scoring threats, Julian Fox and Lowe, endeavor to hold their lead and reach the Ontario finals again. It should be basketball at its best Saturday night and Outboards by reason of the fight they have been staging to bring Peterborough a cage title deserve a crowded house for this crucial engagement.

Tomorrow night's double-header in the Ladies' Basketball League, the first games in the playoffs, promises to supply all kinds of thrills. With the long regular schedule completed and the contestants for the final struggles decided the playoffs should be full of interest. In both the intermediate and senior divisions the setup is a best two-of-three game arrangement, with the second games likely next Wednesday and the third if necessary a week from tomorrow. The annual banquet will be held on the following Monday and a long and successful season will be thus terminated happily. Meanwhile however the final battles naturally come first. Tomorrow night Y Gym and Westclox will meet at 7.45 o'clock in the intermediate finals, followed by the Generals-Quakers clash in the senior bracket at 8.45 o'clock. Only these four teams survive. St, John's, Electrics and Normalites having been eliminated. In both divisions the outcome is uncertain. The teams are evenly matched and in these final rounds the breaks are likely to decide the argument.

A Merritton Squawk

A Merritton despatch to The Globe and Mail today has the following squawk: "Hockey supporters of Merritton Redmen, in this city's suburban ice arena area, are up in arms over the O.H.A. ruling ordering all remaining games of the senior "B" finals on foreign ice. They claim a real hardship on the team and backers of the Merritton team. As the series now stands, Merritton and Peterborough Gunners have each one win apiece and a deadlock in the best-of-five series for the title. The parent body decision puts the stalemate into the replay class, necesitating Redmen to play in Oshawa, as Petes home ice, Wednesday and Saturday nights and a sixth game, if necessary, at Leaf Gardens next Monday. The official decision forces Meritton to play three consecutive games away, due to no fault of their own, all of which must be won to put last year's intermediate "A" titlists into the senior "B" championship.

* * * * * *

The tough luck of communities which have good hockey teams and no artificial ice facilities is touched upon by Ken Colling in his Belleville sports column as follows: "Word was received in the City today that both games between Markham and Belleville No. 5 I.T.S. in the Intermediate O.H.A. playdowns would be played at Oshawa. The first game is slated for Thursday night and the second next Saturday. The uncertaintly of natural ice at this time of the year prompted Billie Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A., to make this ruling. Incidentally Peterborough will play their next game with Merritton at Oshawa also, and which means Liftlock fans will see one game in the Petes last five playdown matches. The day of natural ice rinks is rapidly coming to a close, as can be clearly seen in the playdowns series during the past few years. (Exit ice at the Hume Arena.)"

* * * * * *

Sporting Chili Con Carne: The penalty handed Bun Kingdon in Oshawa last night was only the second of the season for the Petes centre and it should never have been given....Oshawa's defeat of Guelph last night, sewing up the Junior A finals threw a wrench into the Senior B setup.... Merritton and the Petes were to have met in Oshawa Saturday night but with the Generals still in there they have the preference and will play Guelph in the Motor City Saturday night while a carnival on Friday takes that night out....The next game is not likely to be staged until Monday when Redmen and the Petes will clash again in Oshawa....Hamilton Majors came through like champions at Schumacher last night defeating Buffalo-Ankerite Bisons, 3 to 2 and taking the series in three straight games....Oshawa fans did not turn out in large numbers for last night's game. Most of the fans were from Peterborough with more soldiers than usual in the crowd....The Petes came through in good shape. Don Crowe got a nick on his nose for the only casualty.

Boudreau HappyIndians Out To Play Ball

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sport Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 19—(AP).—After having worried himself sleepless most of the Winter, Lou Boudreau, the new "boy" manager of the Cleveland Indians, has discovered to his obvious astonishment and delight that he didn't have a thing to worry about.

You explain it. The same sullen, hard-bitten crew that made life miserable for Oscar Vitt two seasons ago and which failed to respond to Roger Peckinpaugh last year suddenly has decided to play baseball for a smiling 24-year-old ex-collegian. There is harmony in the Cleveland camp. The tough part is that it has come too late.

"It's the greatest thrill I've ever had," says Boudreau, who will be the youngest regular in his team's line-up. "I didn't know how some of the fellows would like taking orders from me. I'll admit I worried plenty. And then we got here and started training and every worry disappeared. They are hustling so hard for me."

It is unfortunate the same spirit didn't prevail in either of the last two years, when the Indians appeared to have everything except the will to win. Bobby Feller, greatest of present day pitchers, is in the service; Hal Trosky, slugging first baseman, is on the temporary retired list; "Gee" Walker, star right-fielder, is running his drug store at Orlando, Fla., and apparently is deadly serious about refusing to accept a salary cut. Instead of a pennant contender, Cleveland is just another ball club.

"I'm setting my sights for fourth place," Boudreau said. "If we finish that high, I'll be satisfied. I can't see much hope of breaking into the first three against the Yankees, the Red Sox and the White Sox."

With Feller gone, the Indians pitching staff consists, broadly speaking, of a couple of left-handers named Al—Al Smith and Al Milnar—and a hope for the best.

The team has one of the better infields, with Boudreau, himself, at short; Ken Keltner on third, Ray Mack at second and a roubust 190-pound newcomer named Les Fleming, up from Nashville, taking Trosky's job at first. Fleming looks like the works at bat. He hit .414 for Nashville last year and drove in 103 runs. Disquieting point is that the Indians also have a couple of rookie outfielders from Nashville named Oris Hockett and Charles Workman who clouted .359 and .354, respectively. That is an awful lot of hitting on one club.

Jeff Heath, whose great feat of hitting .340 and driving across 123 runs generally was unappreciated, is back in left field, and Weatherly looks set for a good year in centre. The third job, if Walker doesn't report, probably belongs to Henry Edwards, a six-foot, 190-pound rookie who blasted the ball at a .364 rate last season for Cedar Rapids.

News From Training Camps

CLEARWATER, Fla. — There is always something to plague a baseball manager, but Mel Ott of New York Giants is getting his in double doses. As if Johnny Mize's arm trouble weren't enough, Bill Werber went on the hospital list yesterday when the knee which had bothered him in Cincinnati last year became swollen overnight.

SARASOTA, Fla. — Manager Joe Cronin has been singing the praises of home-run slugging Bill Conroy so loudly that Frankie Pytlak, still bothered by a sore foot, is beginning to worry about his first-string catching job with Boston Red Sox Conroy hit a home run against New York Giants Monday, Louisville Tuesday and beat St. Louis Cardinals yesterday with a 12th inning four-bagger.

TAMPA, Fla. — About all young Bert Haas must do to clinch the third base job with Cincinnati Reds is get the ball across the diamond without a bounce. Every day so far the ball has bounced closer and closer to first base, and Manager Bill McKechnie believes that by opening day Bert will make it in the air.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Manager Leo Durocher of Brooklyn Dodgers played the full nine innings against Detroit Tigers yesterday, giving Pee Wee Reese a rest. The Dodger skipper was in the middle of two Brooklyn double plays. He also struck out to start a Tiger twin killing.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Those experts who have been saying Lon Warneke and his aging right arm can't go on winning may have to eat their words. Making his first start of the season, the dean of St. Louis Cardinal pitchers showed his old mastery yesterday in a scoreless three-inning chore against the Boston Red Sox, yielding only two singles and fanning three.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees expressed satisfaction with the form Lefty Gomez showed in his four innings of mound duty against the Detroit Tigers. "Lefty worked smoothly without letting himself out and looked all right," declared McCarthy.

PETERBOROUGH SOLDIERS LEAD IN FINALS TWO GAMES TO ONE

Merritton Team Decisively Beaten In Third Game 5 to 1 With Petes In Complete Control

By FRED D. CRAIG

Peterborough Soldiers took a stranglehold on the O.H.A. Senior B final series by handing Merritton Hayes Steel Redmen a 5 to 1 beating at Oshawa Wednesday night, the win giving the Petes a 2 to 1 advantage in games in the best-of-five series. Another Peterborough victory will mean the championship.

A crowd of 1,200 fans, most of them from Peterborough, saw Merritton decisively beaten. The 5 to 1 score does not give an idea of how thoroughly the Petes dominated the play throughout the entire game. The winners drove in all night, incessantly attacking and although Clement turned them back often and the Redmen put on a stout checking barrage behind their own blue line it was only a question of how much it would be.

Merritton was rarely dangerous. They did not have four good scoring chances and Ray Harding in the Petes' nets had much the easiest game he has had in the whole 21 O.H.A. fixtures in which he has performed. While Scotty Mair's lads checked more closely than they have in other games of the series they failed to show any punch on the attack. The Petes outskated them from gong to gong and as a result the losers' raids were broken up for the most part in mid ice, or stopped cold by the Petes' rearguards at the blue line. There never was a moment when the result of the game was in doubt, so thorough was the Petes' mastery from the opening minutes until the final whistle.

A Reversal of Form

It was a surprising reversal of form, so far as Merritton was concerned, from the game in St. Catharines two nights previously, when the Redmen won 6 to 3. The Petes did not have any more scoring chances last night than they did in the Monday tussle, although they cashed in on them better, and the difference was that the Hayes gang showed none of the quick-breaking plays that marked their victorious performance on that occasion. More consistent back-checking on the part of the soldiers probably was the explanation.

The Petes after doing 95 per cent of the attacking had to be content with a 1 to 0 lead at the end of the first period. They added two more in the second session, during which the Redmen only gave Harding one shot to handle and outscored the losers 2 to 1 in the final twenty minutes. Harding would have had his first shutout of the year if the Petes defence had not had a momentary lapse with less than three minutes to go and let a Redman lone ranger skate in for a shot that rang the bell.

Defence Stands Out

That play and another in which young Robinson split the defence and walked in for a close-in shot were the only flaws in the work of the Petes rearguards all night. All four played fine hockey with Crowe standing out for the manner in which he bowled over Merritton raiders and for the fact that he scored the Petes first goal and had a big hand in the final counter. All four defence men rushed more than usual and Godfrey was a factor in one scoring play.

Up in front everybody had a hand in the triumph. Art Heal and Honey Tompkins scored goals for the first line and Bruce Bennett and Perce Nichols upheld the prestige of the second line by firing successfully. Tompkins' counter was the ninth he has whanged home past Clement in the four games of the series. Bun Kingdon did not get a goal but he picked up a pair of assists to fatten his average. All the forwards shone going both ways, the effective back checking being a feature.

Clement was the Merritton star. The Manitoba French-Canadian made a flock of saves and the Petes did not get anything soft in the way of goals. He beat the attackers often when it was all up to him. Joe Desson broke up many raids by neat poke checking. Saunders, centre man on the starting line was the Redmen's best forward and his line the most effective attacking combination. Young Robinson who was the spearhead of Merritton attacks on Monday night could not untrack himself. He made only one smart move and then blew his opportunity when Harding dived into his shot.

The game was not rough, although tempers got a bit on edge in the final period when Referee Houston handed out seven penalties. Being short-handed did not seem to bother the Petes any. They kept on attacking just the same and Burton was in the penalty box when the winners hung up their last goal.

J. Rocco of the Merritton team was the only casualty. He received a cut over the eye in the last period, requiring three stitches to close.

Press From Start

The Petes had a bigger edge on the play in the first period than the 1 to 0 score in their favor indicates. They were steaming in most of the session but Clement was good in the nets and the Redmen were checking closely. The razzle dazzle line had several openings on their first time out and when the second line got into action they continued the pressure. Blewett and Godfrey combined through the Redmen defence for the best chance of the period up to that stage, but Clement blocked Godfrey's drive. Tompkins got a penalty for an accidental trip but Merritton failed to get a shot while he was off. The Petes failed to cash in when Brant was chased for boarding. Kingdon had one great chance when he took a forward pass from Tompkins. The Redmen were rarely dangerous although the starting line came close on one play. Kingdon was banished for tripping near the end of the period and Spancheff, the Merritton defenceman also was exiled shortly after for the same offence. The Petes carried the play with the teams five a side but could not score. It was not until the last minute of play that the Petes finally clicked. Crowe and Kingdon teamed up on a rush and although Kingdon's shot was stopped Crowe back-handed the rebound into the net. It was the first time in three games that the Petes had been out in front of the Merritton gang.

Score Two in Second

The Petes continued to dominate the play in the second period, although for a long time it was tough getting goals. Merritton hardly made a dangerous move in the whole session but they checked closely behind their blue line and Clement made a flock of smart saves. Joe Blewett stepped into the spotlight early in the period with three or four speedy dashes on several of which he was unlucky not to score. Nichols drew a penalty but Merritton did not get a shot while he was off. A little later Desson was chased for tripping, but while the Petes made it close and had Clement down two or three times as they milled around the Redmen's nets, they failed to cash in. The St. Boniface goalie held the fort until Saunders drew a tripping penalty. Then at the 13.29 mark the Petes made it 2 to 0 on a ganging attack. Don Crowe shot from near the blue line and Art Heal, camped in front of Clement, tapped the rubber into the net.

Less than three minutes later the Soldiers made it 3 to 0, when after Joe Blewett had flashed in with the rubber and Godfrey had a shot which Clement blocked, the rebound went out to Bruce Bennett whose quick accurate shot caught the twine. It was the last score of the period.

Redmen Badly Beaten

Merritton were a badly beaten team in the final twenty minutes and the period was chiefly interesting because of the seven penalties handed out. The Petes kept driving in as they had been doing all night and there were few replies from the Redmen who were too busy trying to ward off Peterborough raids to do any effective attacking themselves. Tompkins and Melville tangled and both were given the gate for two minutes but nothing happened while they were off. A little later Tompkins and Saunders exchanged punches and a free-for-all threatened, but peace was restored and the two battlers given five minute penalties. Almost immediately after Morgan, former Belleville player, was sent to the hoosegow for dumping Nichols and the Petes had a 5 to 4 advantage.

They cashed in immediately. Nichols took the face-off just inside the Merritton blue line, cut over to the left, circled the defence and caught the lower corner of the net with a neat back-hander for the nicest individual goal of the night. When the sides were even again Crowe drew a two-minute exile for charging but the Petes' forechecking prevented the Redmen from organizing an effective attack. Soon after Robinson blew Merritton's best chance for a score when he split the defence and sailed in on top of Harding only to have the Petes' goalie make a diving stop of his close-in shot. With that dangerous move squelched the Petes goalie looked to be in for his first shutout of the year. However, with less than three minutes to go the Petes' defence had one of their few lapses of the game, letting Saunders coast in unmolested and the Merritton first string centre picked a corner to give the Redmen their only goal of the night.

The Soldiers got it back a little over a minute later with Burton in the penalty box. Crowe and Kingdon combined through the Merritton defence and although Clement blocked the centre man's shot Honey Tompkins dashed in for the rebound and drove the puck into the top right hand corner of the net, well out of Clement/s reach. The Petes were still roaring in when the final whistle sounded.

Calgary Shades Leafs By 2 to 1

By The Canadian Press.

Port Arthur Bear Cats, Thunder Bay senior hockey champions, are finding the Manitoba champions the toughest opposition in five years on the Allan Cup trail despite their 2-0 advantage in the best-of-five inter-provincial series.

Elsewhere in the west senior teams are still fighting for provincial honors. Calgary S[illegible]mpeders hold a 2-1 edge over Le[illegible]bridge Maple Leafs in Alberta and British Columbia a 1-0 lead over Victoria Navy. Calgary defeated Lethbridge 4-2 last night while Kimberley defeated Victoria 5-2.

In Saskatchewan Moose Jaw Millers and Saskatoon Quakers are deadlocked after four games. Each has won once and two ended in draws, including last night's 2-2 struggle.

Only junior game in Western Canada last night saw St. Boniface Athletes deadlock their Manitoba semi-final series with Winnipeg Falcons 2-2. The Athletics won the fifth game 8-6 to prolong the series and the sixth battle will take place to-night.

Only Memoral Cup teams reaching the playdowns in the west so far are Port Arthur Hurricane Rangers, Thunder Bay titlists, and Edmonton Maple Leafs. In Saskatchewan Regina Abbotts and Flin Flon Bombers will play a two-game total-goal series Saturday and Sunday and in Manitoba Portage La Prairie Terries will meet either Athletics or Falcons in the final.

Desperate Peril

VANCOUVER, March 19—(CP).—Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Federal Minister of Labor, told the Vancouver Trades and Labor Congress last night that the peril "to our democratic institutions is the most desperate [illegible] the history of the civilized world." He will visit Victoria shipbuilding plants today.

Majors Eliminate Northern Aces 3 Straight

SCHUMACHER, Ont., March 19—(CP).—Hamilton Majors were on their way home today to await a winner in the Ottawa District Senior Hockey championship series between Cornwal Colts and Ottawa R.C.A.F. Flyers, after clearing successfully their first obstacle in Allan Cup eliminations.

The Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" titlists left Buffalo-Ankerite Bisons of Schumacher on the sidelines here last night when Stan Robertson's overtime goal gave them a 4-3 victory over the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior champions in the third game of a best-of-five series. Bisons also lost the first two games of the series, played in Hamilton last Friday and Monday. The scores were 3-2 and 5-2.

Biggest thrill in last night's game, although it later proved anti-climatic, was the Buffalo-Ankerite goal that forced overtime. The puck rolled into the Hamilton net after a looping backhand shot by Barney Morris an instant before completion of time in the third period. The goal was ruled valid over heated Hamilton protests that the final bell had sounded before the puck crossed the goal-line. Bisons had withdrawn Goalie Alex Brownlee and had six men on the attack when the goal was scored.

Jack Eley, Hamilton goalie, had the shot covered until it struck a Hamilton defender and rolled into a corner of the net. Hughie Allan drew an assist on the play.

Bisons battled from behind all the way as the speedy Majors showed no signs of weariness from nearly 20 hours spent en route from Hamilton for the game. The Hamilton club arrived late yesterday afternoon.

The first period was scoreless but a penalty to Harold Johnston, Buffalo-Ankerite defenceman, cost two goals within 30 seconds just after the halfway mark in the second. Doug Runions scored both, with Johnny Conick making the place for the first one. The recond was scored during a goalmouth scramble, and both Conick and Dillon Brady drew assists.

Manny McIntyre bagged Bisons' first with 10 seconds of play left, Herb Carnegie assisting, and Ossie Carnegie tied the score early in the third. Hugh Barlow sent Hamilton ahead again from Smack Allen before Morris scored his last-second counter to force overtime. Robertson drove in from left wing with Barlow's pass to win the game at 5:00 in the overtime session.

A goal by Oscar Clouthier later in the extra time was disallowed when officials ruled Bill Lahti to have been in the crease when it was scored.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP). — Salaries aren't the only thing Detroit Tigers are slashing this spring. Players are getting a meal allowance of $4 a day instead of being allowed to eat all they want and sign the cheque. Detroit papers say that is the result of a modern record of $11.25 one Tiger pitcher established in Washington last summer....Larry Atkins, the Cleveland matchmaker, is trying to arrange a Bob Pastor-Jimmy Bivins scrap for mid-April.

Abe Simon left his training chores long enough to march in the St. Patrick's Day parade at Summit, N.J.—and considering the size of Abe and the size of Summit, Jacobs beach combers wonder if he wasn't the whole parade.

Good Idea, But—

Ralph Young, Michigan State athletic director, thought it would be a novelty if a student sculptor made a trophy in the shape of a cauliflower ear to be given to the visiting coaches when the N.C.A.A. wrestling championships are held at East Lansing....The mud moulder visited the wrestling room, then the rest of the athletic department and couldn't find a model....the souvenirs will be ash trays

Gene Kessler of the Chicago Times reports that Ted Lyons now holds three major league titles—oldest active player (41), pitcher with most victories (245) and player wearing the same uniform most years (19 full seasons with White Sox in July)....At least they ought to buy him a new uniform for that.

Omemee Church Celebrated Its 100th Year On Sunday

OMEMEE, March 19.—(ENS)—Special services were held in Trinity United Church, Omemee, on Sunday on the occasion of the one hundreth anniversary of the signing of the deed of the church property, which took place on March 14, 1842. The village, at that time, was known as Williamston, later the Indians named it Omemee.

Rev. E. W. Rowland of Mark Street United Church, Peterborough, a former Omemee boy, was guest speaker and delivered inspiring sermons both morning and evening. Special music was provided by the choir, assisted by Mr. Arthur Marshall, guest soloist, of Peterborough.

On Monday evening the Young People's Union held a special meeting to which the members of the congregation were cordially invited. Owing to bad weather conditions, there was a small attendance.

Miss Lillie Race had charge of the program and the theme for the worship service was "Upon this rock I build my church." The highlight of the worship service was the beautiful solo, "The Holy City," rendered by Rev. Mr. Patterson.

Following the worship service, musical number were given by Kenneth Thurston on the alto horn, accompanied by Miss L. Race at the piano, Harold Brooks on the clarinet, and a vocal duet entitled "The Old Fashioned Church," by Mr. and Mrs. W. Weir.

Historical sketches were given on the life of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, by Miss Marion Rea; the life of John Knox, founder of the Presbyterian Church, by Miss Christina Connell; and an account of the founding of the Congregational Church with special reference to Robert Brown by Rev. Mr. Patterson.

Mr. Race, one of the older men of the congregation was asked to give some reminiscences in connection with the present church.

25 Years Wed

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Deyell of Omemee celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage at their home, just east of the village. In the evening, a turkey dinner was served to about 15 guests, after which games were played.

The guests were: Rev. and Mrs. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Shields and Mr. Fred Deyell of Omemee; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewers of Fraserville; Mr. S. Deyell, Mrs. Nettie Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Deyell and daughter, Rosemary, Mr. Russell Williamson, Misses Marian and Roberta Deyell, all of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Deyell were the recipients of many lovely gifts. Their many friends wish them many more years of happy wedded life.

Gunboat Tackles 3 E-Boats

LONDON, March 19—(CP Cable). —Sut-Lt. P. A. R. Thompson, youthful Canadian Commander of a British gunboat which the Admiralty revealed last night had engaged three German E-boats in a running fight in the North Sea, attained his full lieutenancy today.

It is not known how long the 25-year-old officer of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve had been in command of the gunboat, a secret type of craft mentioned officially for the first time in last night's communique.

Lieut. Thompson, whose grandmother lives in Oakville, Ont., was mentioned in dispatches in July, 1940. In peacetime he worked as a salesman.

The new gunboats are not the clumsy things their name implies. They are understood to resemble fast motor torpedo boats and to carry shell-firing guns instead of torpedoes. The fact they are high-speed craft is indicated by the Admiralty disclosure that Thompson was able to withdraw after exhausting his ammunition in the one-sided affray.

The Admiralty gave this account of Thompson's clash with the enemy torpedo boats: ". .Four E-boats approached from the eastward. One of our motor gunboats commanded by Thompson fought a running fight with three of these E-boats until all her ammunition was exhausted. She then withdrew. During this engagement one E-boat was severely damaged."

Five Nazi Craft Wiped Out

The episode was part of a series of week-end clashes in the North Sea in which the 1,090-ton British destroyer Vortigern was lost and a least five German motor torpedo boats were destroyed. Two other German E-boats were listed as damaged, and the Admiralty credited the R.A.F. with heavily damaging three more.

There were at least six separate fights, starting the morning of March 14 when two German E-boats were destroyed. That night the speedy German boats attacked a British convoy. The convoy escaped, but the 1918-model destroyer Vortigern was torpedoed and sunk while the destroyers Holderness and Wallace sank one E-boat and damaged another.

Seeking to join this fight, the sloop Guillemot sank one enemy E-boat and vainly chased a second. On the morning of March 15 the British motor gunboats, including Thompson's craft, went into action, and later the R.A.F. took its share of the kill.

Facing The Facts

The accent is on safety these days. Milady is more concerned with what she can do to help beat the Axis than he is with the latest style of coiffure. Ella Crandall, for instance, may not be dressed for a tea dance, but she is attired to do a machine job with a maximum of safety afforded by the dust mask and eye glasses to protect her from flying splinters. She modelled this equipment at the war safety fashion revue of Greater New York Safety Council.

Khaki Closeups From Britain

By ROSS MUNRO,
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 19—(CP).—The Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps—the organization that supplies and maintains the army with vehicles and a thousand other things—is to be turned into a combatant formation.

The Ordnance Corps of the British Army has been designated as combatant and the Canadians are following this policy. In Libya, men of the Ordnance Corps repaired tanks and other vehicles right on the battlefield and under fire. They were fighting troops like the tankmen or infantry themselves.

The Canadian Ordnance is ready to perform this same service for its army and will work with front-line regiments in action. Its string of workshops will extend back to the bases. Ordnance units for armored formations are particularly stressing this.

The R.C.O.C. is even ready to fight like infantry if they have to. On several manoeuvres, Ordnance men have been sent into the line on regular rifle battalion jobs, blocking a gap or hunting "paratroops."

The new Assistant Provost Marshal at Canadian Corps headquarters is Maj. W. G. Ball of Edmonton, succeeding Maj. Dick Day of Winnipeg and Ottawa, who has gone back to Canada to another appointment after serving with the Canadians here since the First Contingent came overseas.

For distinguished conduct during a bad fire in an army building, SQMS. Edward Gray of Calgary, a member of the Royal Canadian Army Pay Corps, has been mentioned in army orders.

Gray discovered the blaze, ordered a soldier to put in an alarm, and then started to fight the outbreak himself. Drenched with chemicals and suffering from fumes and smoke, he finally got the fire under control.

CANADA'S COAL

Canadian coal mines produced 18,155,447 tons of coal in 1941 as compared with 17,566,884 tons in 1940, a gain of 3.4 per cent.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within.

To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headaches by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralizing acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headaches should disappear.

Trouble Looms For Public Transit Service

OTTAWA, March 19 — (CP). — All sight-seeing bus trips — and charter trips which are not "clearly identified with the war effort" — are prohibited under an official order issued by Transit Controller W. J. Lynch, the Munitions and Supply Department announced last night.

"We are facing a very serious shortage of public transportation facilities," Mr. Lynch was quoted as saying. "In many cities the saturation point has already been reached.

"The solution of our transit problems must be curtailment of non-essential travel and staggering of hours. We simply must make full use of all the transportation facilities at our disposal.

"Already many of the bus companies throughout Canada have realized this, and have voluntarily decided to co-operate so that duplication of transit facilities may be reduced to a minimum."

The new regulation, first official order issued by Mr. Lynch, has been approved by R. C. Berkinshaw, the chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board.

One clause of the order confirms instructions already sent to bus companies in regard to charter trips. This clause reads: "No person shall operate a bus for any charter trip of an unessential nature except for purpose which is clearly identified with the war effort, including war charities."

As an example of the imminent shortage of public transportation facilities, Mr. Lynch cited Toronto. In that city the all-time pre-war record for street car traffic was set in December, 1929, when 609,000 persons a day were carried. This figure dropped to 426,000 in February, 1933, and for five years this remained the "normal." During the same month of 1942 the average had risen to 636,000, "by far the greatest figure in the history of Toronto."

"What will happen after gasoline rationing goes into effect at the beginning of the month is anybody's guess," Mr. Lynch said. "Certainly the serious situation of to-day will be very much worse, and severe steps will have to be taken."

Because of the shortage of steel, and because peacetime factories have been turned over to war production, it was almost impossible to purchase new street cars, new railway rolling stock, and new large-size busses. There were also "grave shortages" of rubber and gasoline.

Havelock L.O.L. Holds Euchre

HAVELOCK, March 19.—(ENS). —A very successful euchre and dance was held on Wednesday evening in the Orange Hall, when ten tables of euchre were played. First prize for highest score was won by Mrs. Peter White, second prize by Mrs. C. Price and the consolation award was won by Mrs. Ernie Sanderson. Dancing was enjoyed to music supplied by Messrs. Ellis, Montgomery and Bannon, with Art King as the floor manager, and an exceptionally good time was enjoyed by everyone.

Knox Church W.M.S.

Miss Ethel Chase was hostess to Knox Women's Missionary Society on Tuesday evening, March 17, with a goodly number of members in attendance. The president, Mrs. A. S. Thompson, presided.

The study book chapter, 'Towards a New Order,' was capably dealt with by Mrs. Thompson. Roll call was answered by a favourite verse of scripture. During the business period, it was decided to take up a special collection for the Chinese War Relief Fund. Some more finished quilt blocks were turned in, which are to be used for a quilt to pack in the bale. Mrs. Colquhoun offered her home for the next meeting.

At the close Miss Chase served dainty refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

W. A. Meets.

The quarterly meeting of the Women's Association was held in the United church on Wednesday afternoon. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Charles Roberts. Mrs. T. Easterbrook, president, presided for the business period. Letters of acknowledgment of funeral sprays and Christmas boxes were received from seven members. The great need of war saving certificates to reduce the deficit on the United Church of Canada was thoroughly explained, and the W.A. decided to buy three certificates now and perhaps more later on. They also decided to ask the co-operation of the league and Sunday school in this cause The three groups handed in their earnings for the last three months, $98.70. The parsonage committee were given authority to have some decorating done and some furniture repaired. Detailed arrangements were made for the catering for a banquet early in April, and committees were appointed. The meeting closed with prayer by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson. Next quarterly meeting will be held on June 17th, with the east end group serving refreshments.

Arthur Fleming Taps 550 Trees

HASTINGS, March 19 (ENS) — Reports from the Hastings' district indicate that a greater number of maple trees than ever before will be tapped this year. Arthur Fleming travels each day to the farm operated by his son-in-law, Frank Parker, in Percy to oversee the tapping.

Mr. Fleming was, and still is, one of largest syrup producers of the district. Since he began operations on March 5, this year, fifteen gallons of syrup have been produced.

With luck Mr. Fleming hopes to hit the 100 gallon mark this season, which is nearly double his last year's figure of 55.

He told the Examiner that so far he has collected 2,000 gallons of sap from the 560 trees tapped. This is an exceptionally good run considering the recent damp weather.

Several farmers have stated that the small amount of frost in the ground will tend to shorten the season.

When queried on the price Mr. Fleming said he expected it would be 25 per cent higher than last year's level. This is partially due to the labor shortage and also to the increased cost of wood.

Mr. Fleming said that he had received an abnormal number of requests for quantities of maple sugar. Whether these are just people with a sweet tooth or more patriotic souls who desire to amplify the sugar rationing is not known.

Valera Bemoans Split In Ireland

DUBLIN, March 19—(C).—Premier Eamon De Valera last night told a St. Patrick's Day radio audience that the "unnatural dismemberment" of Ireland stood in the way of a unified defence of the island.

The Premier asserted that the "dismemberment also stands in the way of full friendship with the neighboring island (the United Kingdom) which it is in their interest as it is in ours to secure and foster."

Speaking of the country's military situation, he said: "We need every man of military age in the defence forces. If we are attacked our resistance must be no token resistance."

The day was celebrated generally with the usual enthusiasm, but the picturesque military displays of previous years were missing. All liquor establishments were closed and the ban on the sale of drink was rigorously enforced.

Germans Retreat

CAIRO, March 19 (AP)—German columns which advanced south of Tmimi in the Libyan desert on Monday had withdrawn again by Tuesday morning, British army headquarters reported today, and as a result "enemy activity was on a much reduced scale yesterday."

Fiery, Itching Toes and Feet

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil now dispensed by chemists at trifling cost, that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is quickly stopped; and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery eczema. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet—others irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottles at McDermid & Jury or any modern drug store. It is safe to use—and failure in any of the ailments noted above is rare indeed.—(Advt.)

Relief Policy Stands

TORONTO, March 18 — (CP).—There will be no change in the Ontario Government's policy directing relief costs be shared 50-50 with the municipalities starting April 1, Premier Hepburn said today, answering a suggestion of Mayor Fred Conboy of Toronto that the new basis not be put into operation this year.

Previously the province paid 75 per cent. of relief costs and the municipalities 25 per cent. Mayor Conboy headed a delegation of Ontario mayors who protested the change. "The decision is final despite Mr. Conboy's hullabaloo," Mr. Hepburn said.

Jail Township Of Bangor Man For Hiding Canadian Army Deserter

BANCROFT, March 19—(ENS).—On Friday, Provincial Constable S. W. Palmateer of Bancroft and Game Overseer N. J. Inwood of Combermere proceeded to the Township of Bangor in North Hastings County to apprehend Emerson Doubblestein, a deserter from His Majesty's Forces since November 17, at Camp Borden.

On making inquiries at the home of Lawrence Byers, a brother-in-law of Doubblestein's, as to the whereabouts of the latter, the officers were informed that Emerson Doubblestein had left that morning for an unknown destination.

The officers then left the premises and had gone some distance when, glancing back, they saw Doubblestein running away from Byer's' home. The officers called on other neighbors in the vicinity and returned to the Byers' home, and again asked Byers as to the whereabouts of the deserter, to which Byers replied that the officers were getting well paid to do their own searching and he didn't have to give them any assistance. Byers allegedly gave the officers a lot of impudence and said he would keep Doubblestein as long as he liked.

He was then arrested y Palmateer charged with obstructing the administration of justice by giving the officer false information, and also charged with harboring a deserter. Byers was taken into Bancroft that day, lodged in the local jail, then taken to Bellevill Saturday and lodged in county jail and arrraigned in Belleville police court Monday before Magistrate Butler, with Mr. B. C. Donnon prosecuting.

Byers was found guilty on both charges and on the first charge he received a sentence of 30 days in jail, and for supplying false information to an officer, and on the second charge he paid a minimum fine of $80 and costs.

Among those home for the week-end from the Armed Forces were: Buster Haryett, Harry Plumley, Cecil McAlpine, Douglass Moxam, Harry Watson and Wallace Kenney.

Mrs. Lawrence Leedy and family moved to Peterborough on Friday where they will take up residence. Mr. Leedy is an employee of the Canadian General Electric.

Mr. Frank Hubbel of Huntsville spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. U. A. Hubbel of Bancroft.

Mr Ross Plumley, Misses Ethyle and Allen Plumley returned home Friday from Toronto, where they spent the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wiggins of Belleville spent from Friday until Tuesday visiting with relatives in Bancroft and Baptiste.

Mr. and Mrs. William Broad accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gunter and Mrs. James Maxwell motored to Galt, where they spent the week-end with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones are in Toronto this week on business.

Aussie, US Envoy Joins U.K. War Cabinet

LONDON, March 19 (CP)—Richard G. Casey, Australian Minister to the United States, will be appointed a member of the British war cabinet and as such will take over the post of Minister of State in the Middle East, an official spokesman announced today.

Casey, who has served as Australia's first minister in Washington since March 5, 1940, will succeed Oliver Lyttelton at Cairo. Mr. Lyttelton is now Minister of War Production.

Mr. Casey will be the first dominion statesman to take a position in the British war cabinet during this war. He held several Australian cabinet posts before his appointment to Washington.

During the first Great War, David Lloyd George was assisted as prime minister by an Imperial war cabinet, but no dominion representative became a member of the government itself.

The spokesman said Mr. Casey would conclude his affairs at Washington, including conferences with recently-arrived Australian representatives, then come to London for consultation before going to Cairo.

There his job will be one of coordinating al the Middle East war efforts aside from actual military operations.

Mr. Casey "will be a member of the United Kingdom war cabinet for all purpose although his duties will lie outside this country," the spokesman said.

He added it will be possible to make Mr. Casey a member either of the Commons or Lords but there are precedents for subjects of the King holding office in wartime without belonging to either House. He said Mr. Casey's powers in Cairo would be as wide as Mr. Lyttleton's had been.

Huge Gift

we appear to be faced with another substantial loss of reserves this year.

"Our United States dollar position is therefore a major cause of concern."

Open Years Buying.

While the Bill the minister proposes to introduce provides for a gift of $1,000,000,000 he disclosed its full terms will affect a $2,000,000,000 setttlement of accounts which will clear the financial decks for British purchases in Canada until some time in 1943.

As a result of a British trading deficit with Canada since the start of the war this country now holds upwards of $1,000,000,000 in sterling. It is proposed to liquidate some $300,000,000 of that deficit by repatriation of Canadian securities held in Great Britain and convert the other $700,000,000 into a loan which will bear no interest for the duration of the war and will be subject to negotiation as to interest and means of payment after hostilities end.

That, the minister indicated, will clear up the position up to now. The $1,000,000,000 gift will take care of operations for approximately a year into the future. It simply means that the Canadian Government will make available Canadian dollars to pay for British purchases from Canada.

As yesterday's House sitting began Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that the Government has established unity of command over Canadian naval, air and military forces in three strategic North American areas—the Pacific Coast, the Atlantic Coast and Newfoundland.

The senior member of the Joint Service Committee has been designated commander-in-chief, with the primary function of co-ordinating the "preparation and execution of defence plans of the three services."

A Common Pool.

The bill authorizing the gift to Britain was endorsed in principle by speakers of the three Opposition groups—Conservative House Leader Hanson, M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. House leader, and Victor Quelch (N.D., Acadia)—although Mr. Quelch said he thought all Allied nations should contribute to a common pool and that the United States should not require Canada to pay for supplies bought from that country.

Mr. Ilsley said the arrangement would not remove all Canadian indebtedness to Great Britain and he considered it desirable that Britain should continue to have an interest in Canadian prosperity.

"The fact that both countries will now be creditors in relation to one another as well as debtors reflects the developing economic maturity of Canada," he said.

"Perhaps I should add that this developing economic maturity should carry with it a growing sense of responsibility — responsibility among other things to accept imports from abroad in substantial volume as a normal course of events."

Unprecedented Measure.

The minister said the Bill was without precedent and its purpose was to enable Canada to make the fullest and most effective use of its material by feeding and equipping the people and forces of Britain in order that they might along with the other nations, win the fight aaginst a ruthless and powerful foe.

Mr. Hanson said Canada's proposed contribution to Britain did not begin to measure up to Britain's contribution to Canada in this war. Without Britain, Canada would have been another Norway or Denmark.

The Conservative House Leader read extracts from The Canadian Press report of a speech made by Fisheries Minister Michaud during the recent Quebec East by-election campaign and suggested that if the report were true the minister should be "sacked."

The extracts quoted Mr. Michaud as saying that by March, 1943, Canada would have furnished "enough provisions and arms" to "pay off all debts that Canada owed to British capital"; and that when Canada was financially and economically free from Britain "we will no longer have to import from Britain things that our own workers can produce here."

(Mr. Michaud was not in the House at the time. He said after adjournment was taken that if he decided to make any statement on Mr. Hanson's remarks he would make it in the House this afternoon.)

Mr. Coldwell said there should be no illusions about this proposed gift. It was not being made for altruistic reasons but because, under a capitalist economy, Canada could not allow its best customer to fall into debt to this country.

Old Policy To Fade.

He said he hoped that in the post-war period the attitude of "hard-boiled economic Imperialism" which had characterized relations between Britain and Canada and other countries in the past would disappear.

The C.C.F. leader expressed belief some British-held securities in Canadian private corporations as well as Canadian Government securities should be repatriated and held by the Canadian Government as a means of exercising some say in the control of those corporations.

Mr. Quelch said he could see "no justification for giving $1,000,000,000 worth of goods to Great Britain on the one hand and on the other having to buy from the United States."

"This is just as much the war of the United States as it is the war of Canada, or Britain or Russia," he said "I cannot see any possible excuse for buying on the one hand and giving on the other.

"I think we should do everything in our power to convince the United States that it is just as much their war as it is ours and that they should be prepared to give to the common pool instead of lending."

Mr. Quelch thought gold production should be stopped and the men engaged turned to other essential work. He saw no justification for continuing gold production unless a return to the gold standard was contemplated and he said he was opposed to that.

tack on shipping from which "no damage is yet reported."

An earlier annoucement by the Prime Minister said Japanese planes twice raided Tulagi, the government seat on Florida Island in the Solomon group, yesterday, but caused only slight damage. Two or three natives were killed.

Attack has been the watchword of Australian forces in the opening brushes of this continental struggle, so far principally air blows to break up Japan's invasion armadas as fast as she can accumulate them in the offshore islands.

But victory, instead of mere defence, now has become the goal, with the promise held out that the battle of Australia may become the turning point of the war in the Pacific—the last of Japan's aggressions and the first step back for the United Nations on the road to re-conquest.

Australians have seen the Americans in ports and inland cities and in camps along with their own fighting men everywhere. Except for Prime Minister Curtin's statement that American aid now here is "most substantial," however, they do not know the numbers.

The forces are coming directly from home and also from Java.

The New Zealand Defence Minister, F. Jones, announced in Christchurch, N.Z., last night that strong reinforcements for that neighboring Dominion also are being prepared with both British and United States air forces and equipment.

Underscoring the surge of optimism, Lt.-Gen. George H. Brett, air chief and deputy commander under MacArthur, declared that "when we start rolling we shall keep rolling" and predicted Australia would be defended successfully.

Former chief of the United States Army Air Corps, Brett declared that "with 200 of our fliers we can take care of any 200 Japs," and that "our equipment is better than theirs and our men have been showing a lot more ability and initiative."

Gordon Resigns As Price Chief

OTTAWA, March 19 — (CP). — Finance Minister Ilsley announced last night that W. Lockhart Gordon has resigned his position as special assistant to W. C. Clark, Deputy Minister of Finance, and as a member of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Mr. Ilsley's announcement said Gordon is returning to Toronto "to take up business activities of importance in connection with the war."

Dr. W. A. Mackintosh of the Finance Department has been appointed a member of the Prices and Trade Board to replace Gordon. Another officer of the Finance Department, R. B. Bryce, has been appointed a director of the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation, which is under the chairmanship of Hector B. McKinnon.

4 Planes Crack Up

LIMA, O., March 19—(AP).—Four United States army planes crashed in flames six miles east of Lima to-day. There apparently were no survivors.

Byron Heffner, farmer, said he saw one plane fall on his farm and burst into flames.

Two other planes fell about 100 yards apart half a mile east of the Heffner farm.

The fourth plane landed in the McClure woods a mile south of the Heffner farm and also burst into flames.

Two Injured Car Wrecked On R.R. Crossing

MILLBROOK, March 19—(ENS).—Wilfred Reynolds, a farmer living in the Matchett School Section, southwest of Cayanville and his daughter Betty, 7, narrowly escaped fatal injury when their car struck and was completely wrecked by an eastbound C.P.R. train at 4.10 p.m. Wednesday.

Reynolds was on his way to the Whitfield school, south of Cavanville, to get the children from the Matchett section, as that school has been closed, and during a blinding snowstorm he drove his auto right into the side of the train. He claims the engineer did no whistle at the crossing, and the train reached Peterborough before the crew was aware that an accident had taken place.

Farmers in the vicinity aided Reynolds and his daughter and Dr. M. E. Hobbs of Milbrook was called. He found that Reynolds had suffered a few fractured ribs, but the litle girl is thought to have spinal injuries, and she and her father are being brought to Peterborough today.

County Constable Wilfrid White and Constable E. C. Richards investigated. Frank Voyer of Havelock was the engineer in charge, and he says he whistled for the crossing.

Well-Wrecked Plant

LONDON, March 19 (CP Cable)—The Press Association said today that hundreds of new vehicles, tanks and aero engines were destroyed during the Royal Air Force raid on the Renault plant in Paris.

Attributing its information to reliable sources the agency said that at least 75 per cent of the productive capacity of the sprawling factory was put out of action.

"It will take some months before reconstruction can be so far advanced as to guarantee anything approaching that which prevailed before the raid," it added.

"The assembly sheds were completely gutted and machinery was destroyed wholesale."

Wm. Turner Feted On Birthday

FAIRMOUNT, March 19—(ENS)—A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner on Saturday evening when 35 guests celebrated with the family Mr. Turner's 48th birthday. During the first part of the evening a sumptuous meal was enjoyed by all, the table being laden and decorated for the occasion. One of the main attractions being the large birthday cake with 48 burning candles, while each piece of it had a wrapped prize. This kept the humor high. Congratulations were extended and the family presented him with a lovely radio and watch. After his reply all joined in "For he's a jolly good fellow." The evening was then spent in card playing and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner have been in the community since his return from the Great War after four years of active service.

Town Hall Burns

CHATHAM, Ont., March 19 (CP)—Fire of undetermined origin early today destroyed the town hall at Dresden, 17 miles from here. Burning embers were carried by a strong wind to several homes and buildings, but a spread of the fire was prevented by prompt action of roof spotters.

The spectacular blaze demolished the 70-year-old historic building, one of Dresden's landmarks.

County Council Planning Extra Session

In a departure from its customary three sessions during the year the County Council will meet here next Thursday and Friday for the consideration of affairs developing since January.

Miss Jennie Batten, clerk and treasurer, informed the Examiner that the council will transfer two days from its usual June week for the sessions on March 26 and 27 in an experiment to avoid the long stretch of time from January to the middle of the year. Some questions arise in the meantime which members of the council feel should be dealt with at this session instead of waiting until the statutory June sessions. It is not likely that the tax rate will be disposed of next week for the reason that complete estimates cannot be struck until the detail of patriotic grants is definitely known. At least that is one of the factors deterring action on the budget until June.

Follies Visit Training Centre

Geared to the high speed tempo of Canada's mechanized army, the Follies headed by Pat Rafferty staged their second entertainment in three months here last night for the benefit of the troops at the Military Training Centre .

The revue was held in the drill hall at the Centre where in the past few weeks an excellent stage complete with curtains has been erected and the members of the Follies found the new surroundings to their liking, with the result a fast-moving two-hour show that excelled their first appearance here was presented.

The audience numbered close to the 1,000 mark with Lt.-Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., V.D., officer commanding the Centre, and his officers being among those present. The object of the Follies is to present smart professional entertainment for men in the army and air force who are eager to see first-class presentations that are on a par with the best theatrical offerings. The Follies are made up of ex-service men of the First Great War who made names for themselves in musical comedy and vaudeville, plus the addition of a feminine cast of musicians and dancing stars, who have already established a high reputation with members of the armed forces wherever the show has been presented.

Although there are only eight professional players in the cast, the entertainment presented ranges from light opera by a brilliant lyric tenor to the racuous antics of veteran top-flight comedians. The Follies are excellent costumed and the players were able with hardly a pause to transform their costumes to produce an entirely changed effect.

The high humor spot of the show featured the rapid-fire antics of veteran comedian Pat Rafferty, who is remembered for his fine work with the "Dumbells," after having started with the First Division Entertainment Party in France during the First Great War. Rafferty has lost none of his technique for entertaining and on every appearance during the two hours provoked spontaneous praise from the troops.

Rangers Find Recruiting Moving Slowly

The number applying for enlistment with the Prince of Wales Rangers has dropped off this past couple of days, Captain H. A. Craig said today. However he indicated authorities were not getting excited about the matter and that they were hopeful the end of the week or the first of next week would bring renewed vigor in the recruiting office.

The second battalion headquarters of the unit has an office located in the south wing of the armory where Lt.-Col. M. H. Park, officer commanding, will be in charge. Major Vincent Eastwood is also a member of the "H.Q." staff.

As fast as recruits are being medically boarded and attested they are given their uniforms, Quartermaster Lt. H. Borland said. It is expected that a full supply of equipment will arrive shortly for the Q.M. stores although there was no indication of a shortage of equipment today.

Recruits living in Peterborough who have been taken on strength are still living at home with sustainance allowance while men from out of town on strength of the unit are being billeted in private homes for the present. They also are given a sustainance allowance.

Arrangements were being formulated today for a canteen for the men.

The names of four men appear on Part 2 orders of the Rangers today although this does not mean they enlisted yesterday. They are only taken on strength after they have been passed medically.

Of the number who aplied for enlistment Wednesday three were turned down in "E" category and a fourth was tentatively rejected.

Notwithstanding the fact the Rangers are recruiting, men still come to the recruiting office and apply for enlistment with out-of-town units. The name of six men, two of them from Peterborough, were on that list this morning.

WILLIAM HAROLD TORRANCE, apparently missed in going over the list of men who signed with the Rangers, was one of the first men to enlist. His father lives at 866 George street and is a veteran of the last war. He also has a brother serving in the present conflict.

The four names appear today are:

PTE. JAMES EMMETT GUERIN, next of kin is Mrs. W. O'Toole, 216 Burnham street, Peterborough.

PTE. CLIFFORD ALEXANDER BROWN, next of kin is his mother, Mrs. Edith Caroline Brown, 176 Adaline street, Peterborough.

PTE. ARTHUR BARRETT, wife lives at 438 Driscoll Terrace.

PTE. LLOYD SYLVESTER GROZELLE, Miner's Bay, Ont. The next of kin is his brother, Kenneth Grozelle, Miner's Bay.

In the list of appointments and promotions, 2nd Lieut. A. H. Heideman is to be acting officer commanding number one platoon. 2nd Lieut. R. H. Ingram is to be acting officer commanding number two platoon.

Pte. H. Walsh and Pte. B. G. Rollins are to be acting corporals and promoted acting sergeants.

Former Wrestler Builds Fire-Fighting Suit

Eugene Hurtubise, foreman of the plumbing and steam-fitting department of the C.G.E., has built a fire-fighting suit that is believed to be without parallel in the world. The suit is of asbestos, canvas and leather, and was worn by a fire-fighter who walked into a blazing fire of 30 gallons of gasoline and extinguished it in 1½ minutes. The fireman is shown in action in the ABOVE picture. (Parks' Studio Photo.)

Widowed Mother Of Eight Children Charged In Police Court With Neglecting Her Family

The problem of a 34-year-old widow, the mother of eight children, was before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning when the woman pleaded guilty to neglecting her family.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., said that the young widow had been leaving her children alone for long periods at a time.

"Perhaps she was working," suggested the court.

"No, my information is that it was for pleasure," replied the Crown Attorney.

W. B. Gordon who appeared for the accused said that the woman had become discouraged by the task of having to care for such a large family on an allowance of $60 a month.

"There would be little gained by finding this woman heavily," remarked Magistrate Langley. "The main thing is to make her realize that her responsibility is to care for her children."

The judgment of the court, finally, was that the woman should be allowed to go on suspended sentence for two years on her promise to look after her family better. One condition of her probation was that she must remain out of beverage rooms henceforth.

Officers of the Eastern Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen, holding their second successive annual convention in Peterborough, held a preliminary informal meeting this morning with L. C. Thompson, Bowmanville, president, greeting the first members arriving.

Peterborough Woman Reports Son Is A Prisoner Of War

Mrs. William Emery of 148 Hart avenue, reports that her 27 year old son whom she hasn't seen in 20 years was captured by the Germans in the battle of Crete. She last saw him in Australia in 1922 when she left for England. Although they have been in close contact by letter until his capture, Mrs. Emery told the Examiner that she only knew of his changing appearance from a boy into manhood by the picture she received. She was married for the second time late last year here.

His name is Sidney Hadlow and he joined the Australian army about a month after war broke out. "We are a very military minded family," said Mrs. Emery. "My son was in Egypt, Palestine, Libya and many other places until the Germans got him.

From letters received, Mrs. Emery is under the impression that Sidney is in an internment camp somewhere in German occupied France. One of the letters from Sidney in the internment camp reads in part: "Thanks for the letter you sent. I hope to hear from you again. Give my love to them all at home. I hope to see you all again some day. Write soon."

A later letter received by Mrs. Emery, reveals that Sidney did not receive parcels sent him for Christmas. But the delay may be accounted for in the length of time it took his last letter to reach Canada. In all probability, he has received the parcel by this time.

$137 Is Raised By Concerts For War Victims

On March 11 and 12, concerts were held in the Collegiate Auditorium for the purpose of assisting the distress of air raid victims in Britain through the City and District fund for that purpose. Originally planned by Joseph Dean, who had revived his past professional work as a master magician at very considerable expense and time, as a means of helping along the country's war effort, this part of the program had to be abandoned, owing to the unfortunate serious illness which he contracted three days before the performances were scheduled to take place. The other part of the program, as originally planned, was under the direction of Marion Perry Laird in the presentation of dancing and singing acts under the title of "Young Canadians on Parade" and this, through the kindness of friends at the Canadian General Electric Co., Limited, who secured a professional entertainer from Toronto to appear in Mr. Dean's stead, who proceeded with on the same dates as originally planned.

As a result of the splendid cooperation of all concerned, the net proceeds of this effort are listed today as amounting to $137.03, and added to the balance of $40 left after cabling the 16th donation of £500 on Wednesday, really makes a fine start towards the next donation.

Besides the giving of their time and talent in rendering a fine program of dancing and singing acts, the pupils of the Marion Perry Laird School of Dancing took a foremost part in the matter of selling tickets, their total of $37.15 also being outstanding in the work for the fund. This group consisted of Audrey Doogan, Viola Moncrief, Thelma Batley, Lillian Styles, Joy Foster, Dorothy Thompson, Ruth Fine, Helen Buott, Doreen Jewell, Betty Harrison, Beryl Carter, Irene Kelly, Muriel Henry, Marjory Raybould, Marcelle Doogan, Raymond Brown, Isabelle Detlor, Helen Duncan, Alice Hobson, and Jean Johnston, with soloists Doreen Hogg, Kenneth Simmons, Maureen Fletcher, Douglas Laird, Ray Turnbull, Rosemarie McColl, Kay Agnew, Marlene Flint and Helen Zakos, while Helen Delahaye was pianist for the whole group.

Further help was rendered by workers in the C.G.E. through the sale of tickets, and in this, Mr. Dean played quite a part to take third place in the amount of tickets sold with $24.50 to his credit, while Dick Raine's Friendly Stores and Mr. Radford of the Whitaker Wool Co., Ltd., with many others in a smaller way materially assisted towards making a success of the effort as a whole.

An orchestra under the direction of Mrs. E. Foster, composed of G. Gatfield, Don Ford, Jack Skitch, R. Beach, E. Edmondson and Miss Mickey Foster, gave their services to help the cause along by rendering orchestral numbers prior to the commence of the scheduled program, and also at its close. Four boy scouts from St. John's Troop, and four sea scouts from St. James' Church group added their bit by the taking of tickets, two of each being on duty for each night of the concerts. In every efficient and most pleasing style, Adjutant R. M. Bamsey gave his services also by acting as master of ceremonies for both perforamnces.

One personal donation is also listed today from one who has materially helped the fund on previous occasions.

Previously acknowledged	$38,550.72
Proceeds of concert initiated by J. Dean and Marion Perry Laird, assisted by friends at the C.G.E. Co., Ltd., and others	137.03

Norwood Flier Laid To Rest In Belgian Soil

A memorial service in honor of the late Flight Sergeant Gerald H. Edmondson of Norwood, killed in action on October 14, 1941, will be held in Simcoe Street United Church, Oshawa, on March 22 at 11:00 a.m.

Seregant Edmondson, who was serving with the R.C.A.F., was married to Evelyn McMillan, Reg. N., of Norwood, and his ability as a flier brought him quick promotion in the Air Force. He graduated in Canada with high standing as a sergeant-observer and in September, 1941, was raised to the rank of flight-sergeant.

On completing his operational training in England last May, he was attached to a Hampden bomber squadron of the Royal Air Force. In a July letter to his wife, he stated that operations up to that time included attacks on Hamburg Kiel, Bremen, Essen, Emden, Quiberon Bay, Sylt, Zerchilling Id, Ostend, and Mannheim. The aircraft in which he was flying failed to return from an attack in Cologne and all crew members were reported killed.

This tragic incident took place on October 14, and the Ministry of Information have learned now that he was laid to rest on October 15, 1941, in the Parish Cemetery Waesmunster Belgium, which is located about half-way between Ghent and Antwerp.

In the Air Ministry publication, "Bomber Command," he had the distinct honor of appearing in a full page frontispiece picture. He also was pictured in the same publication as the navigator keyman in a bomber aircraft.

Flight-Sergeant Edmondson is the only son of Mrs. H. G. Edmondson and the late Mr. Edmondson of Oshawa, and it is fitting that the memorial service be held in his home town.

Land Of Rackets

BERNE, March 19 — (AP). — There are so many collections of clothing metal and other articles in Axis countries these days that the population isn't surprised at anything.

Recently in Bucharest a number of men in military uniform appeared on busy street corners and began confiscating brief cases and overcoats of pedestrians. They explained the articles were needed by the army.

By the time the authorities heard of it, the collectors had disappeared. An announcement said a gang of robbers was responsible.

Pownall At Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon, March 19. —(CP)—Lt.-Gen. Sir Henry Pownall has assumed command of the army on this strategic island off India's southeast coast, it was announced.

Vice-Admiral Sir Geoffrey Layton, who has assumed command of air and sea forces here, told a press conference that "we are faced with the very obvious danger of attack from an extremely efficient enemy," but that there was "no need of fear or panic."

Home Defense Age Limit Be Set At 30?

OTTAWA, March 19 —(CP)—The supply of manpower to keep up the flow of compulsory service recruits to the training centres at the rate of 5,000 a month has diminished to such an extent that the age limit shortly will be advanced, probably to 30 years, a Government authority said today.

When drafting for home defense started in 1940 those liable for the draft were single men and childless widowers who at July 1 that year were between the ages 21 and 24, inclusive. Men in that age group who married after July 15, 1940, were liable to be called. The 24-year group now are in the 26-year group, but still are liable to compulsory training and subsequent posting to home defense units.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King plans to make a statement in the Commons before the Easter recess covering the entire Government policy for manpower mobilization. He will then announce the selection of a man to be director of national selective service. This man will be responsible for putting the mobilization plans into operation.

The Government had hoped to secure the services of Philip A. Chester of Winnipeg, general manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, but his firm could not spare him.

The Government under the mobilization act can by proclamation extend the age limits for compulsory defense service.

Also under the negregulations enlistments in the reserve army are limited to men 35 to 50 and boys 17 to 19 the group of men in A category from 19 to 35 cannot be admitted into the Reserve Army as they are all considered of military age and due for call.

Volunteer Unit Moves To New Quarters

Because of increased membership the local company of the Ontario Volunteer Constabulary will move shortly from its recently occupied rooms in the Royal Bank Building to the Lyceum, Simcoe street.

The spacious rooms on the second floor will be used for lecture rooms, orderly room and offices, while the entire third floor will be used for drill.

At present twenty new members are taking the St. John's Ambulance course in first aid under Dr. R. K. Magee and A. O. Phillips, St. John's instructor. Fifteen other members have already finished this course and have passed their examinations successfully.

In addition to the study of the various subjects in barracks, the Co. will undergo extensive training outside in mobile squad work. This will include patrol, traffic, A.R.P., etc.

With a complement now of nearly fifty men it is expected that only about ten more will be taken on strength.

Captain Colin H. Althouse, officer commanding, and Clare E. Althouse, adjutant and second in command, have organized a competent staff of instructors, and will, in the near future, have a well trained, strong body of men if and when they should be called for duty.

Songs, Legends On Irish Program

HASTINGS, March 19 — (ENS). —Irish songs and legends figured extensively in Y.P.S. meeting of Trinity United Church held on Monday night. The meeting was in charge of the missionary conveners, Dorothy Turner and Mrs. Cecil Oliver.

In a talk entitled "The Chinese People Rise," Mrs. Iden Bonds, Jr., traced the growth of our Eastern Allies, especially with regard to the missionary work in that country. She also told her listeners of the medical advance made and of the many hospitals built in China during the past decade.

An enjoyable piano solo was given by Miss Marjorie Scriver. In her reading "St. Patrick," Mary Turner dealt with a subject very appropriate to the day. Learl Humphries completed the Irish touch with his solo rendition of "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

The meeting concluded with hymns and a recreation period.

The Food Cure?

Ottawa, March 19 (CP).

J. A. MARSHALL (N.D. Camrose) told the House of Commons Monday that if he were "made a dictator for the purpose of doing only one thing as a contribution to the good life," this is what he would do:—

"I would put the Minister of Agculture (Hon. J. G. Gardiner), the Minister of Trade and Commerce (Hon. J. A. MacKinnon) and the members of the (House) agriculture committee into a room together and keep them there until they had settled the problems of food production and food distribution in this country.

"The only person for whom I would allow them to send for help in their deliberations would be the governor of the Bank of Canada (Graham F. Towers).

Duty Off Apples

OTTAWA, March 19 (CP).—Customs Commissioner H. D. Scully announced today that Revenue Minister Gibson has ordered cancellation of the 15 per cent duty on apples effective March 26.

It was the first time in three years that the duty value on apples has been lowered.

The order, made necessary by the shortage of apples for home consumption because of increased export demand, will mean a reduction in duty of 50 cents a bushel.

The unnamed hero of Pearl Harbor—a Negro messman with the United States fleet, who forgot his lowly status to become a first-class fighting man on that fateful December 7—has been identified. He is Dorie Miller, shown here, from Waco, Texas. When Jap planes bombed his ship in Pearl Harbor, Miller manned a machine-gun, although he had received no training in the use of the weapon, and he stuck to his post until his dying captain ordered all hands to quit the stricken vessel.

UNKNOWN ENEMIES
CHAPTER XXXII

That afternoon a small boy raced along past the little Singer house and around to the back porch of the house next door.

"Ma! I seen Mis' Singer!"

"Well, what of it? Where?"

"She's just a-standin' in them willow bushes down there."

"What's she doing down there, the poor woman?"

"She's just-a-standin' there and when I come by she seen me and she kinder mooed at me and tore off a lot of them leaves and throwed 'em on the ground and stomped on 'em. I got scared, and I run home."

The woman turned from her washtub and dried her hands on her apron.

"I'll go down there and see if I can get her home. I guess she's near crazy."

"Will they lock her up in the asylum if she's crazy, Ma?"

"Shut up!" She gave the boy a resounding slap on the ear. "Go in the house and shut up, an' don't you come out of there, you hear me?"

* * *

Dr. Nolan leaned back in the creaking swivel chair and knocked the ashes from his pipe.

"I'm firing you for six months, Dr. Mitchell. Don't argue. You're too useful around here to take chances with. Need a rest."

"You mean I was."

"Are. You take things too hard. You've let this Benny Singer thing flatten you out."

"I think I'll go to Europe, sir. Zurich—"

"More work? Well, if that's what you want. Right away?"

"Yes."

"Free as that?" Dr. Nolan smiled, but he looked gravely after Parris as the door closed. He had been struck from the beginning by the peculiar solitariness of this hard-working young man.

Parris decided he'd look up Anna in Dusseldorf. Maybe Herr Berdorff in Bavaria. He could do exactly as he pleased because it didn't make any difference to anyone. For the first time he felt a little depressed about it.

Tonight the asylum sounds, sudden screams and shouts that thrust through the murmurous buildings, flicked his nerves like a lash. He walked slowly down to see Drake and Randy.

Drake had a lapboard across the bed and the wide table beside it was covered with papers.

"Business this time of night?"

Drake nodded. "We're getting rich."

"Good."

"We're starting a building and loan association, Parris." Randy was excited. "We're putting you in as silent partner. You don't have to do anything, but we want it fixed up properly—legally."

"Still talking about that Tower money?"

"Please, Parris—" Randy's expression was intent. Her eyes were telling him that he must consent, that this was final compensation, to Drake, for the money Parris had given them.

"All right. Fix it any way you want to. I don't know the first thing about business of any kind."

He told them that Dr. Nolan had insisted on a vacation.

"Are you going to be away long?" Drake's voice came hesitatingly.

"Dr. Nolan says six months."

"Gee, I'm glad for you."

Parris looked curiously at Drake, and then at Randy. He wanted very much to know if it mattered to them whether he went or stayed.

Back at the hospital gate, he circled the grounds and came out on Carrier street. In the second story room of a house at the end of the block there was a bright light. Vera Lichinsky sat at the window, her arms resting on the sash. Moonlight fell full on her face and whitened it to a stoney pallor. She was staring fixedly at the huge building facing her—the gloomy building that seemed even to Parris to crouch among the tall trees, and to wait.

Parris returned just in time to meet an early, disagreeable winter. The town was drab and shabby-looking. He shuddered with distaste as he viewed it. It was ugly because it was the outward expression of a way of thinking that was without such factors as made life and living itself an act of grace. Ugly on purpose. He realized that he was more European in tastes, if not in thinking, that he had ever guessed.

His work at the hospital was waiting, the entire staff rejoicing over the state's appropriation for extensive new buildings. A huge tract of land had been bought for a farm and vegetable garden. Dr. Nolan was full of plans.

Randy had lost her father while he was away and was quiet and sober in the one visit Parris had with her and Drake in the first few days after his return. They had "something exciting to tell hmi,, but said it must wait.

He was dressing one evening when his Negro houseboy came in and laid a copy of The Evening Chronicle on the table. Parris glanced at it and saw a heavy, black headline—Asylum Doctor Makes Fortune Out of Asylum Deal.

The second headline, scarcely smaller than the first, said, It Pays to Be on the Inside.

"Dr. Parris Mitchell, staff physician at the State Hospital for the Insane, and the silent partner of Drake McHugh, real estate dealer, realized a cool one hundred thousand dollars on the purchase of the old St. George tract recently acquired by the state for the improvement of hospital facilities. It appears that this plan for expansion of the hospital has been afoot for some time. In the early summer Dr. Mitchell went abroad for a rest, it was said, and during his absence the real-estate firm acquired this land. When the hospital was ready to buy it paid the price of the real-estate dealers' foresight.

"Mr. Fulmer Green, elected this past November to the legislature, has promised that an investigation will be made."

There was a good deal more, all in the same outspoken vein.

Parris laid the paper before Dr. Nolan. "Have you seen this, sir?"

"Yes, I have."

"There's no truth in this, Dr. Nolan. I mean—if Drake McHugh put this through it was entirely without my knowledge."

Parris related in detail the story of his friendship with Drake, the gift or loan of the Tower money, the slow rehabilitation of Drake through being made to feel important and successful, and then the conversation with Drake and Randy just before Parris left for Europe.

"I signed some sort of papers, power of attorney among them. I had never heard of the proposed purchase of this land before I left, and I know that they—I suppose I have to say 'we'—that we didn't own it when I left."

Dr. Nolan sat very still in his chair until Parris had finished.

"I knew all of that, Dr. Mitchell."

"You knew it?"

"Here's the story, Dr. Mitchell. The suggestion that we attempt this purchase and expansion was made by Senator Depass. You were already in Europe—had been there for a month or more. I inquired right away about this property. We had actually talked once or twice to the St. George brothers long ago about this purchase, but they wanted too much money. After the estate was being settled I thought of it again, but I never mentioned it anyone. Senator Depass acted on his own initiative. Your friends Drake McHugh bought the place up even before Senator Depass came to see me."

"What about the price?"

"It was appraised and the price found reasonable. There's something behind this, of course. Has anybody on that paper got a grudge against you for anything at all "

"Not that I know of. I haven't many friends, that's a fact, but I thought I had no enemies at all."

"You're evidently mistaken. Well, we'll see after a while what hidden in the woodpile."

"Shouldn't I make a denial right away?"

"No. Let's find out who's after you, and why."

The undertone of irony and bitterness was strange and surprising coming from Dr. Nolan.

"You know this—this, what's his name?—Fulmer Green?"

"Since childhood."

"What's he like?"

"Braggart, bully, coward, and liar. He made a circus out of the Singer trial and hanged the boy to enhance his position as prosecuting attorney."

'Green got anything against you?"

"Not that I know of. Couldn't imagine anything from that quarter."

"Queer, isn't it?"

"Dr. Nolan, you gave me my post here—pretty much on faith. You've made it an interesting one for me—I hate to make any kind of trouble for you."

"Stuff. Gave you your post because we had a first-rate report on you from Seiss in Vienna. You've

Even Berlin Leary

Berne, March 19 (Delayed)—(AP)

THE German newspaper Koelnische Zeitung today raised the question whether Japan would be able to cope with a huge transport problem resulting from the occupation of so many widely-scattered territories.

Now that many areas have been won, the paper said, the whole problem of safeguarding troops, establishing bases and exploiting the resources of the islands is one of transport.

"Whether Japan can keep economically what she got by fighting," the paper added, "depends upon whether she is able to construct a sufficient merchant fleet in time to maintain communications between the motherland and the Pacific territories."

Softball Loops To Feel Cork Shortage

GUELPH, March 19.— Shortage of cork in Canada, due to curtailment of importations, will have its effect on the game of softball in Ontario, it was announced here yesterday by Verne McIlwraith, the secretary of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association. The softball used in this province has contained a cork centre measuring two and one-half inches in diameter, but with cork not now available, changes will be necessary for the coming year.

The O.A.S.A. is prepared for such an emergency, however, because, foreseeing such an eventuality, experiments have been going on for the past two years in the use of a corkless ball. The new type of ball has been used extensively in military camps throughout Ontario as part of the war services activities of the O.A.S.A., which has donated over $1,000 worth of softballs and bats to the men in active service camps in the province.

A very satisfactory type of corkless ball has now been developed, and this ball will become official for league play during the coming season, if approved at the forthcoming annual meeting in Simcoe on Good Friday.

Executive committee of the Provincial softball body has already approved use of the corkless ball, and is recommending it for approval of the delegates to the annual session, and little difficulty is seen in having it adopted. While a little less lively than the cork-centred sphere, the new wartime ball has been found very satisfactory and has almost equal staying power.

Hamilton Squad Looms Good On Cup Trail

By The Canadian Press

The ranks of Eastern senior teams in contention for the Canadian championship and Allan Cup thinned to eight clubs today, but the playdown situation still presents a hazy picture as to which club can be labelled as a likely choice to represent the East for the coveted honors.

However, one of the teams believed to have what it takes to move along the championship trail is Hamilton Majors. The Majors, holders of the Ontario Hockey Association crown, hurdled another obstacle last night when they defeated Buffalo Ankerite Bisons, Northern Ontario titlists, 4-3, in overtime to sweep a best-of-five series in straight games.

In the Quebec provincial playdowns, Sherbrooke Indians won the Eastern townships Senior "B" crown by setting down Windsor Mills, 6-5, in overtime and taking the best-of-seven affair in five game, while Quebec Aces opened their best-of-three series against Ottawa Senators for the Quebec Senior League crown with a 3-1 victory

Hamilton's next step in the playdowns will be against the winner of the Ottawa district title, which is still far from being settled with Ottawa Senators, Cornwall Colts and the R.C.A.F. Flyers of Ottawa still involved in playoffs.

Final results in the Quebec area are also still much in doubt with Sherbrooke slated to meet Shawinigan Falls and the winner of that series meeting either Quebec Aces or Ottawa Senators.

Senators Slip A Bit

Showing effects of their gruelling six-game series against Montreal Canadiens which saw them play three games in six days, the last Monday night, Ottawa Senators were unable to match strides with Quebec and only Sparky Nicholson's goal with less than two minutes of play left saved them from a shutout.

Aces spaced their goals over three periods, with Eddie Bruneteau scoring in the first, Roland Rossignol in the midde frame and Rozie Rozzini in the closing period.

Second game of the series is scheduled for Quebec tomorow night with a third game, if necessary, back in Ottawa Saturday.

Meanwhile the battle along the East's Memorial Cup aspirants was cut to seven clubs also as Clearpoint of the Montreal Mount Royal Junior League eliminated Chicoutimi in a sudden-death struggle, 11-3. Again as last year, Clearpoint stacks up against Montreal Royals, last year's Dominion semi-finalists, for provincial honors.

On the Ontario junior playoff front, Oshawa Generals stepped back on even terms with Guelph Biltmores when they won last night, 4-3, to make the best-of-five series for the Ontario Junior "A" crown read at 2-2. The deciding game will be played tomorrow night.

Bay Miners East Champs.

The ultimate Quebec winner meets Glace Bay Miners, Maritime champion, in the Eastern semi-final with the victor of this series clashing with Ontario's winner for the right to meet the West for the national crown.

Although extended to overtime to turn aside Buffalo Ankerite Bisons, Hamilton Majors held the whip hand most of the way and only a goal by Barney Morris, with one second of regular time left robbed them of winning the game earlier.

Stan Robertson came through with the payoff marker midway through the extra session on a pass from Doug Barlow and from there on Hamilton put up a stout defence for its win.

After a scoreless first period, Doug Runions whipped home two quick goals to give the Majors the lead. Manny McIntyre, winger on the Bisons negro line, got one of these back before the period ended. Then Ossie Carnegie, his linemate, evened the count early in the third session. Barlow moved Majors ahead again and this lead lasted until Morris got his tally.

Pee-Wee LeBlanc broke up the struggle in Sherbrooke's favor after the teams had waged a close fight all the way. Sherbrooke moved into a 4-3 lead after the second period, but Windsor Mills came back in the third frame to outscore them 2-1 and force overtime

Rookie Centre Brash Artist

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

It's a litle late in the season to be building legends, but Jack (Junior John) McGill of Boston Bruins is due to burst forth as a full-fledged National Hockey League character one of these days and it would be just as well if the populace were prepared.

Junior John is a brash young centreman from Edmonton. He is 22 years old and if he also found anything in sport worth respect, he has shielded that knowledge carefully from his friends. Bruins brought him up from Boston Olympics early in February to help fill the hole left by injuries to Bill Cowley and Dit Clapper and enlistments of Bobby Bauer, Porky Dumart and Milt Schmidt.

Junior John was called to the Boston office to sign his professional contract while he was writing a letter to Ken McConnell of the Edmonton Journal. When he came back from signing he finished the letter.

"Ross also signed Clare Martin, a defenceman who was playing with the Olympics," one passage read. "Martin comes from Kitchener. He's pretty good, too."

Of a referee, Mel Harwood, Junior John wrote "He and I are not friends. I threatened to knock half his teeth out before the season finished."

Before Junior John put aside his pen and resumed his world-beating course, he told of meeting Eddie Collins, general manager of the Boston Red Sox. His modest note on this matter: "I told him if he ever wanted—a really good first baseman to look me up."

Collins reply was not recorded.

The N.H.L. schedule will be completed to-night with two games. Toronto Maple Leafs will meet the Montreal Canadiens in Montreal and Chicago will travel to Detroit. Neither game could affect the standings.

Toronto and New York Rangers will begin their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final in Toronto on Saturday night and Detroit will be at home to Montreal on Sunday night in the first game of one quarter-final, while Chicago meets Bruins in Boston to open the other.

Pleads Not Guilty

QUEBEC, March 19—(CP). — A soldier, charged with administering drugs to other soldiers to make them ill, appeared before Judge Thomas Tremblay in Sessions Court Tuesday and was remanded to March 24 when he pleaded not guilty.

The charge against the soldier said that he had "administered a deleterious substance to soldiers to make them ill."

Tuesday's court case followed reports that police had uncovered an "injection racket" whereby soldiers wishing to be discharged from the army are being treated by injections basically composed of turpentine.

Five or six soldiers were said to have received the injections.

No Need For Worry

PLAINFIELD, N.J., March 19.—(AP)—Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador, said last night Americans need not worry because the war hasn't been won in three months. China, he remarked, has been warring for four years and eight months. The ambassador told a United China relief program that critics of Great Britain in the war 'sometimes forget there are only 80,000,000 whites in the whole empire, the same number as in Germany."

Ellis, McNeely and Anderson, while Mr. A. King acted as floor manager. The hall and stage were prettily decorated for the occasion with red, white and blue streamers, flags and a large Red Cross electric light occupied the centre of the stage. The committee of the evening, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Couch, Mrs. Holdcroft, Mrs. Sanderson and Mr. Lancaster, are to be congratulated on the success of the evening. The proceeds amounted to over $25.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question.—I have enjoyed your deft and spritely column no end; that head-cheese recipe which I saw a few weeks ago! Do I love head-cheese—if I could only get some one to make it for me!

Well I admit that the foregoing smacks of a bird with a broken pinion, but unfortunately my mortal fear, apart from being a bore is closing in with a boar, hence the long line of asterisks and desuetudinous longing between me and that chromatic contrast on my dinner plate which signifies head-cheese—fragrant, mellow, soul-satisfying protuberance of the porcine!

However, dear Mrs. Moore, you've done your part magnificently—and now it is up to me as a grateful reader, to grapple with, and find the answer to a particularly unique problem!—St. George with the Dragon—Grateful Reader with Charles Lamb's Story of Roasted Pig! I will let you know how I progress, but in the meantime:—

Could you tell me how to bake bread—or buns—or maybe Parker House Rolls? That may seem like a large order, but I have some friends who have been rather regularly subsidizing inertia and rather magnanimously catering to inefficiency, and while its been wonderful I cannot expect that a certain luck will hold forever!

And may I ask as a last favor that you withhold my name from your column? You see I have been going with a sailor for some time, and between you and me I really have designs on him—tatto marks so to speak—and well, I wouldn't want him to know that I cannot cook. So if you will just! Thank you so much!—J. A. B., Ormond St.

Answer.—Lucky Sailor! I'll bet shore leave will mean only one port and one girl with that prospect in view!

Very good head-cheese can be made from shanks of pork, when it could be called shankcheese, but never is. It is a common concession to over-esthetic sailors' sweeties.

Since the making of bread is an art requiring long practice I'll give you our never-fail refrigerator dough. With this you learn to knead expertly which is the secret of fine-textured bread. You also recognize the appearance of the dough when it has risen enough to knead down or bake as the case may be. After you have made these four or five times, write to me again and lesson No. 2 will be forthcoming.

Refrigerator Rolls

One compressed yeast cake, ½ cup lukewarm water, 2/3 cup shortening, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup milk, 7 to 8 cups BREAD flour, 2 eggs well beaten. Dissolve the yeast in the lukewarm water, dissolve the shortening, sugar and salt in the boiling water. When the mixture is lukewarm add the dissolved yeast and milk. Stir in about 3½ cups flour, add beaten eggs, then enough more flour to make a dough that can be handled, but keep it as soft as possible.

Turn onto a lightly floured board, and knead until the dough is very smooth and elastic to the touch. Put in a large well-greased bowl, cover and let stand at room temperature until doubled in bulk (about 1 hour). Work the dough down lightly in the bowl, grease top of it to prevent crust forming, cover tightly, and stand in refrigerator overnight or until needed. The dough will rise a little even in the refrigerator so the bowl should be deep. When needed shape into spirals, Parkerhouse Rolls, or twists or round buns, place on buttered or greased pan, let rise to doubel their size and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 15 to 20 minutes. A nice glaze for top of buns is to mix ½ teaspoon icing sugar with 1 egg yolk and 1 teaspoon water and brush this over top of buns just before baking.

We shall be delighted to hear from you at any time.

Question.—I am sorry to trouble you. I intended keeping the paper with bread making directions in it (although I did not expect to need it)—but unfortunately the paper was destroyed. Could you forward me the directions now? I used to make break in may "teen" age days, but that is some time ago.—AGES AGO.

Answer.—The method above for refrigerator rolls will make very good bread, too, with a tender crust and fine texture. The eggs in it make it slightly different than ordinary bread, but exceptionally good.

Question.— You state you have recipes utilizing molasses in place of sugar which you will send to readers who write for them.

I would appreciate if you would give them to me especially the gingerbread, brandy snaps, and molasses cookies, and any other you care to give.

All my family like anything made with molasses. Thanking you.—Mrs. W. L. A.

Answer.—Thank you for your enquiry. The recipes I am sending are up-to-date and tested. I would be grateful if other readers who are interested in recipes using molasses would clip these while they are reading the paper, as they are so easily lost as soon as the paper is a day old.

Superior Gingerbread.

One-half cup shortening (lard, chicken fat or vegetable shortening are all good; butter may be used of course if preferred), ¼ cup sugar, 1 beaten egg, 2½ cups sifted flour, 1½ teaspoons soda, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and ginger, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup hot water. Cream the shortening and sugar very well together. Add the beaten egg. Sift and measure the flour and sift it with the other dry ingredients. Combine the molasses and hot water. Add dry ingredients to shortening mixture alternately with the liquid, about one-third of each at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Line baking tin with buttered paper and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes.

Gingersnaps

(These are sometimes called Brandy Snaps, but since they contain no brandy I've stopped it.) Two-thirds cups shortening (lard or chicken fat or vegetable shortening are good, but butter is best), ¼ cup sugar, 1 eggs, 1 cup molasses, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 2 tablespoons cold water, about 4 cups flour, 1 tablespoon soda, 1 tablespoon ginger. Cream the shortening and sugar well together, then add the beaten egg, molasses, vinegar, and cold water. Sift together the flour, soda, ginger and add to first mixture. Stir in as much of the flour as you can, and knead in remainder. Roll out wafer thin on well floured board, or on canvas cookie sheet. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 10 to 12 minutes. These may be rolled thick and cut into interesting shapes for children's parties, etc., when they are nice sprinkled with colored sugar.

Molasses Hermits

One cup sugar, ¼ cup lard, ¼ cup butter, ½ cup molasses, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ cup lukewarm, 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon each cloves and cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup raisins or date cut finely, 1 egg. Cream the shortening and sugar very well. Add the molasses, then soda dissolved in lukewarm water. Sift the flour with the spices and salt, and sift them into the cookie mixture, then cut in fruit, and add beaten egg last. Drop on buttered tins and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10 to 12 minutes.

Write again whenever we can help.

Serve A Salad Instead Of A Sweet

Here's a new and unusual salad that your men folks will like particularly—and it has natural sugar in the fruit. Combine alternate slices of orange and sweet onion on beds of salad greens and serve with French dressing. If you like, chill the fruit and onion together, remove the onion slices and serve the onion-flavored orange slices alone with the salad greens and dressing.

DUCK-EATING FISH

Some Gap Fillers for March

By MARY MOORE

The best meal I prepared this week (and I tried hard on four of them) was a surprise to me in a way.

I always feel that meatless meals are not favorites but the family clamored for more of this one.

A MARCH MEATLESS MEAL

Cheese Custard (the cause of it all)
Tomato and Onion Casserole with Crumb Crust
Chopped Quick-Cooked Buttered Spinach
Iced Strips of Raw Carrot
Upside Down Tutti-Fruitti Dessert (this uses corn syrup so try it. Perfection)
Coffee

It was a Thursday and the ice box was nearly bare and I had no time to order or get meat as I was going to a Red Cross meeting early in the afternoon and wouldn't be back until about six o'clock. So everything had to be ready in the morning.

CHEESE CUSTARD

Two cups milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup grated Canadian Cheddar cheese, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 2 eggs, well beaten, sprinkling of nutmeg. Heat the milk to scalding point and add the seasonings, cheese and butter and stir well until cheese is nearly melted. Pour slowly over the beaten eggs and mix well. Turn into buttered individual custard cups or into large buttered baking dish, sprinkle with nutmeg, place in large pan containing warm water and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 minutes.

PEACH UPSIDE DOWN TUTTI-FRUITTI

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons cooking oil, 2-3 cup corn syrup, 1 egg, 1½ cup pastry flour (cake flour makes it tenderer but almost too tender), 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Fruit and Sauce mixture below. Cream together the butter, oil and syrup, then add the egg and beat well. Sift in dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Add vanilla. Pour over prepared "bottom" mixture.

Fruit and Sauce Mix for Upside Down Cake: 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup corn syrup, 1 cup drained canned peaches, ¼ cup candied cherries. Melt the butter in bottom of baking dish, then add corn syrup and fruits. When bubbling a little, remove from fire and pour over batter above. Bake at 350 deg. Fehr.

CORN SYRUP WHOLE WHEAT MUFFINS

(As I write this I can hear an announcer over a radio across the street saying that the Food Board in Britain is going to remove white bread from the market and permit only whole wheat bread to be sold and used. This because folks did not take to the idea of getting their vitamins seriously enough, and are now going to do it and like. Whole wheat contains vitamin B which is very important indeed for good health, and I hope that all readers of this page know this fact well enough that they never buy white bread again. Ask for whole wheat bread.) Two cups sifted whole wheat flour (return the bran sifted out to the sifted part), 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup corn syrup, 1 egg, separated, ¾ cup milk, 3 tablespoons cooking oil or melted shortening. Mix and sift dry ingredients (being sure to return bran left in sifter to sifted portion). Combine egg yolk, milk and corn syrup and shortening and add to flour mixture, stirring only long enough to mix well. Stir in stiffly beaten egg white. Fill greased muffin tins 2-3 full and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes—a little longer if the muffins are large.

A UNIQUE SUNDAY MORNING'S BREAKFAST

Gingerbread Waffles with Apple Sauce
Bacon
Coffee

GINGERBREAD WAFFLES

Two cups sifted flour, ¾ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons ginger, 2 eggs, separated, 1 cup molasses, 1-3 cup shortening, ½ cup sour milk or buttermilk. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine well-beaten egg yolks and molasses; add to the flour mixture alternately with the sour milk, beating until smooth; add shortening and fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake in hot waffle iron—removing from iron in quarters as these waffles are very tender.

If you do not want to use them for breakfast they make a delicious dessert to a soup and salad meal, served with whipped cream sweetened with molasses.

Says Allenru Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatic Aches--Pains

For many years James H. Allen of Rochester, N.Y., suffered from Rheumatic Aches and Pains. Many times these intense, insistent pains left him almost helpless and unable to work. He consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded this splendid remedy which he called ALLENRU. He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with remarkable success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery thru the newspapers.

So don't feel dispirited any longer; don't give up hopeof getting real relief. Allenru acts and acts fast and in three distinct ways: 1) to relieve the pain; 2) as a diuretic for the kidneys to flush out excess acids and 3) to arouse the bowels to normal action.

McDermid & Jury and all good druggists have been instructed to dispense ALLENRU with the understanding that if the first bottle does not give you the relief you want and have a right to expect, he will gladly refund your money without comment.

You'll Agree It's The WHITEST WASH EVER Or Double Your Money Back

THE busier, livelier suds of the New OXYDOL do more—wash clothes white without bleaching, even in hard water—except stains, of course, or unusual pieces. Yet the New Oxydol is milder! Safe for washable colours and rayons, too!

If you don't agree it's the whitest wash ever, simply return unused portion of package with name and address to OXYDOL, Montreal, and twice the purchase price will be refunded. This offer expires December 31, 1942.

PROVED BY ELECTRIC EYE

The whiteness of clothes washed by different soaps is now measured by Electric Eye. And Oxydol wins for whiteness! Clearly outwashes other Canadian soaps—including soaps in wide use, priced the same as Oxydol.

Montgomery—Tucker

APSLEY, March 19.—(ENS). — A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on St. Patrick's Day at the St. George's Anglican rectory at 6 p.m., when Eva Isabel, youngest daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Tucker and the late Mr. Z. Tucker, became the bride of Hector Charles Reynolds Montgomery, of Clysdale, only son of Mr and Mrs. O. Montgomery. The bride wore a floor length dress of midnight blue transparent velvet with coatee and wreath of flowers in her hair. She carried a bouquet of red snapdragons. She was attended by the sister of the groom, Mrs. Kidd of Lakefield. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Cathcart of St. George's.

After the ceremony a reception dance was held in St. George's Hall to which friends came from far and near, the large crowd enjoyed an evening of dancing to the orchestra from Bancroft. Lunch was served at midnight and afterwards the Rev. Cathcart spoke a few words of congratulation for the bride and groom. The groom suitably responded, thanking all friends for their presence and the lovely gifts presented to them. The happy couple left for a trip to Toronto, Ottawa and points east. They will reside in this district.

St. Andrew's Y.P.U.

The regular meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held on Tuesday evening in the Ladies' Parlor of the church, with Mrs. H. Tremain, president, in the chair. Following a hymn the usual reports were given. The members were pleased to accept the invitation of the Elizabeth Bell Evening Auxiliary to join with them in their Thankoffering meeting in April.

Miss Margaret Ferguson's group were in charge of the devotional period. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. F. E. Johnston and was followed by a prayer by Mrs. E. R. Shirley. Mrs. A. Radford sang a beautiful solo, "Arise O Sun," which was enjoyed very much.

The members had the pleasure of hearing Miss Irwin, a former missionary who has spent several years among the Chinese. As it was St. Patrick's Day Miss Irwin took "Saints" as the subject of her talk. After she had given a brief sketch of the life of that famous saint, she went on to tell a few brief stories of others she knew in China who might well qualify as saints.

Homemade White Soap

By MARY MOORE

I have requests from a great many of our readers asking for a method of making a foolproof homemade soap for laundry or toilet.

A fact is that in using the cold process for making soap the union of the fat with the lye is rarely complete and the fat must be added to the lye very slowly while stirring to overcome this error. If you use this method please follow instructions carefully.

Homemade White Soap

This may be used for toilet or laundry soap. If used for laundry leave out the perfume.

Dissolve 1 can of lye in 1 quart of cold water in enamel or earthenware container. Have ready 5 lbs. perfectly clean fat (which has been melted then hardened, then turned out of container, bottom scraped free of all impurties), then melted again when ready to use and allowed to cool until it is just ready to harden. Now pour it a few drops at a time into the dissolved lye, beating constantly. (It is at this stage that you must not tire, for while you are beating the fat is hardening and must be kept moving to get a good mix.) When fat is all added stir in 4 ounces of glycerine and ½ ounce oil of bergamot or lavender. When all ingredients are blended beat in 2 tablespoons each powdered borax and ammonia. Whip hard. Line a cardboard box or carton with heavy paper and pour the soap in it to harden. Best if left to harden for 2 weeks or a month.

This Is Everybody's War

By MOLLY BROWN

Help is still needed at the Salvage Depot. In spite of the amount of war work done by busy women in this city, there must still be many who are not doing their share; who are either indifferent to the war so long as it does not affect their personal comfort or who simply haven't discovered the particular job for which they are fitted yet. Well, anybody can sort magazines and tie them in bundles and you can do that while you're trying to think of something more in your line. As to indifference, any citizen of Canada who is still so blindly and stupidly self-centred as to withhold their efforts from winning the war is not a fit citizen for any democracy....

Wouldn't it be a good idea if grocers would weigh up their sugar in ration-lots, rather than selling a quarter's worth as some are doing at present A quarter's worth is slightly more than a week's ration for four people; why not just weigh up three pounds. Goodness, we're not afraid to break a quarter....That rubber-tire ashtray is still on the table in the Board Room....Jute bags have become valuable since the war spread to the Pacific and cut off our supply of jute and hemp. If you have any of these bags, don't let them rot in damp cellars or get chewed by rats and mice....

Unsweetened pancakes, waffles, or popovers make good desserts when served with a sauce made with honey, syrup or fruits....It's a little late to bring it up, but how many heard Deems Taylor about three weeks ago when he spoke of the people who would ban all music by German composers from all programs for the duration, if not longer? Mr. Taylor is a little inclined to harp on this subject, but he makes an interesting point, namely: if we yield to this insane urge to ban all German music, we do the very thing for which we have condemned our enemies, banish the work of someone whose origins we do not happen to approve. That is, we descend to the mental level of the barbarians whom we are fighting. Surely our civilization is too precious to be flung away so lightly....

There was a good song in "Babes on Broadway" called "Cheerio, Tommy Atkins." It was one of the best songs heard since the war started. Hope we hear more of it....Wonder why it is that when somebody has a piece of bad news to impart they'll move heaven and earth, break your sleep and spoil your favorite radio program to bring it to you; but if it is good news it will always keep till the usual or the convenient time. People are awfully funny that way.

New Job For Children's Aid

Another war job has been placed at the door of the Children's Aid Society. In cases of need where it can be shown that because of certain emergencies (severe illness, etc.) or because of the fact that there are more children in the family than are covered by the present Dependents' Allowance schedule. It will be possible to procure certain additional allowances through machinery now being established for those dependents of a soldier who are at present in receipt of the regular dependents' allowance. The Board of Trustees which had the administration of a fund for this purpose has asked that existing social agencies undertake the investigation of such cases and give any supervision required. In this community the responsibility becomes that of your Children's Aid Society.

Douglas Grant of the R.C.A.F., brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received wearing a street length dress of two-toned crepe with a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother also received, wearing a gown of navy crepe and a corsage of red roses.

Thelma G. Bailey Marries Clinton Endicott

OMEMEE, March 19—(ENS). — The marriage took place on Saturday of Thelma Gladys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Bailey of Omemee to Clinton Neil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Endicott, Omemee. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. M Patterson in the United Church parsonage.

She was attended by Miss Vaila Endicott, sister of the groom, who wore a dusty rose crepe frock with contrasting accessories. Mr. Jack Bailey, brother of the bride, was best man.

Later the bride and groom left on a short wedding trip. For travelling the bride wore a beige wool coat with brown accessories. On their return they will live in Peterborough.

American Grand Manner

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THE little fingers of the French were popularly supposed for generations to have had a special gift for dressmaking. So they did... but Americans have dandy little fingers too, and when they fall under the tutelage of a notable designer, great dressmaking with the U.S.A. label is the result.

Here are two gowns of complete elegance, exquisite workmanship achieving with infinite patience original designs for contrasting evening silhouettes. American designer, fabric, and needlework can unite with superb results.

DOROTHY DIX

TODAY'S BACHELOR GIRL TO BE ENVIED, NOT PITIED

Most of Them Not Married Because They Prefer Their Freedom and Social Independence.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—In your opinion must a girl just fold up and die because she has reached the ripe old age of 28 and is still not married. I am so tired of people being sorry for me because I have no boy friend and no prospect of getting married that there are times when I feel like screaming out that I am single because I want to be single, and what of it? I was engaged to be married to a chap, but luckily before we got to the altar we discovered that we did not want to spend our lives together and agreed to disagree. So that was that. I have a wonderful job as a private secretary, make very good money, have a comfortable home with a splendid mother and sister with whom I am very congenial, and I feel that I am sitting pretty on top of the world. But my friends and acquaintances are so worried over me because I am still unmarried that they have me at my wit's end. So come on, Miss Dix, either feel sorry for me with these folks, or just tell me that I am doing all right, so I won't sink into low spirits. DUTCH.

ANSWER—Of course, a husband who gives his wife love and security and tenderness and companionship is the greatest blessing that can befall any woman, but every girl who gets married no more gets this prize package than every one who buys a lottery ticket wins a million dollars.

Marriage Always a Gamble

There are marriages that are a bit of Heaven on earth and other marriages that are an understudy of purgatory. There are husbands who are loyal and others who break their wives' hearts with their infidelities. There are husbands who work their fingers to the bones to give their wives every comfort and trifling husbands whose wives have to support them. There are husbands who keep their wives down on their knees thanking Heaven for having gotten them and other husbands whose wives spend their lives wondering what made them do it.

There is nothing sure about marriage except that it is the greatest gamble in the world, and that nobody can tell beforehand how one is going to turn out. So there is no use in commiserating with the single woman. Maybe she is playing in all sorts of luck and rates congratulations instead of pity. Maybe she has been a wise virgin who has chosen the better part. Sometimes a key ring is an improvement on a wedding ring.

It is easy to see why in the olden days, when marriage was a necessity to a woman instead of being the luxury it now is, why her friends "poor Mayed" the girl who didn't get a husband. But it is sympathy gone to waste in these days of the economic independence of women, when the smart business girl can support herself better than the average husband could do, when she can set up her own home if she wants one, and generally live the life of Riley.

So my advice to you, Miss Twenty-eight, is not let your friends' sympathy for your single estate get on your nerves and hurry you into marriage before you are ready for it. Likely there is a lot more envy than pity in their tears.

Tied to Apron Strings

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am 19 years old. Have a good job. Have a great many girl friends all of whom keep company with young men, but I am not permitted to have dates. I am often invited to go out on a foursome party. "ring your Boy Friend," they say, but I never go anywhere because I have no one to go with. My parents refuse to let me go out with boys because they say I am too young, that I don't know "the facts of life," but at 19 I am no child and my brothers tell me all I need to know about taking care of myself. Now I love my mother and father and do not want to hurt them, but I want to have some pleasure in my youth. I don't want to have to meet boys on the corner and be gossiped about. I want to be like other girls and not be a wallfower all my life. Are my parents right in being so strict with me JEAN.

ANSWER— Your parents are motivated by love in refusing to let you associate with boys they are trying to protect you, but they are making a frightful blunder in their method of doing so, because in their attempts to keep you out of danger they are thrusting you into it. For the girl is safe who receives her boy friends in her own home and whose father and mother know the lads with whom she associates and where she goes when she steps out with him. But a million perils await the girl who has to steal her dates, who picks up boys on the street who goes God knows where, God knows with whom.

The parents who are trying to bring up their daughters the way they were brought up forget that conventions and customs have completely changed in the last twenty years, and that you can no more enforce the rules that prevailed then on the conduct of girls than you can make them wear bustles. There has been the emancipation of youth, and particularly the emancipation of girls.

I don't say give a girl her head There has been the emancipation and let her run wild, but I do say that parents who want to control their daughters should drive with a light rein and give them a responsible amount of liberty. The day of the heavy father and the tyrannical mother is gone, nd the only way parents can protect their girls is by talking to them and being just and fair to them, and realizing that a girl who has intelligence enough to hold down a good job has sense enough to watch her step.

a good man at your job. Trouble! Fiddlesticks!"

"What shall we do?"

"Nothing."

"Nothing?"

"Go on as before. I've got some influence in the board and in the legislature."

"I don't like publicity."

"Well, you're not the kind that'll go through this world without it. You might as well get used to the idea. You're sort of conspicuous, in a quiet way!"

Dr. Nolan laughed, and Parris smiled slightly.

"Well, well, if you don't mind, I'll just use you for bait for a while. I want to know what's behind this. There's something. I think Wardlaw, who runs this paper, is a skunk. You'll see that Miles Jackson will write a very different piece about it. Might just be that your old chum Mr. Green doesn't overlook anything that'll make him appear to the voters as a watchful public servant."

Parris called Drake and Randy to reassure them, knowing they would be in a frenzy of worry, even more disturbed because they would not have been able to reach him. He sounded cheerful, but when he turned away from the telephone his head ached, and he felt cold and empty. He remembered once when he was a little boy that someone had thrown a dirty snowball at him which spattered a new overcoat. He didn't know who threw it, and he wondered why they had wanted to. He felt the same way now.

Sir Roger Hall, a prize court official, explained that the goods seized—464 musical instruments and 23 cases of clocks—had first been sent to the small Swiss town of Chiazza, near the Italian border and ultimately put on a ship which sailed from Lisbon, Portugal, and called here.

Application to sell the goods here was made to the court.

Two Cars Collide Entering Driveway

Following an accident in front of his home on Water Street north last night in which his automobile and another car driven by James Foskett, 428 Edison avenue were involved, Thomas E. Curvin was arrested on a charge of drunk driving.

He appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning, pleaded not guilty and was remanded for a week for trial. He was released on $500 bail.

Slow Typist at Disadvantage

Touch typists finish their work in half the time that others take. No wonder bosses prefer them!

If you are untrained, you can study touch-typing at home—easily with the keyboard chart in our Home Service instruction booklet.

When you start learning, you put your eight fingers on the guide keys, marked black on the chart, and each the centre of a section of keys. Get used to the feel of these guide keys. Type each one over and over, never lifting more than one finger at a time.

Learn, next, to reach to other rows. Still keeping your fingers glued to those guide keys, only lift the one that does the reaching. And only let it strike the keys in its special, assigned section.

With exercises you learn to reach any key without looking; you keep your eyes on your copy.

That's the way to accuracy, speed! Our 32-page booklet has the keyboard chart and the exercises you need to get typing skill. Gives rules for typing business, official, social letters, statistics; for centering typing on page. Can serve as a foundation for a business college course.

For your copy of "Teach Yourself Touch Typewriting" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

THIS RABBIT HAD TO

ONE COTTONFIELD hand said he saw a rabbit climb a tree. "Go on," his friend ejaculated, "how can a rabbit climb a tree?" And the answer was: "This rabbit had to." So it is with some contracts. If your partner gets you into an absurdly high one, or if you do it yourself, you may find yourself in a position where you have to make some kind of funny play, or at least try to, unless you intend to surrender without a fight.

Nobody else would bid the hand quite like South at the second table, and other players in the duplicate who saw the "traveling score sheet" on the hand could not understand how he made the contract. Investigation showed there was no particular mystery about it, and not so very much about the bidding. North's call of hearts on his second turn, the second suit shown by him, encouraged South to use the Blackwood convention.

The 6-No Trumps declarer got the same lead as did the 3-No Trumpers, so far as suit was concerned, a heart, though it was the K against his slam and the 2 against the mere games. The other declarers simply ran ten consecutive tricks, seven clubs and two spades, after taking the heart A.

The slam declarer had to take twelve consecutive tricks, however, and saw only one hopeful way to do it—if West held both the Q and 10 of spades. So after the heart A, he led the spade J. West covered and the K won. To his hand he came with a club and led the spade 9. West saw that covering this would end any guess, so played the 4. South let the 9 go through, and it won. Then the 7 to the A dropped the last two spades, and the 8 was good. With five tricks now in, there was nothing left to do but cash that last spade and run six more clubs, then give up the diamond K.

Commons Loses Sir M. Macdonald

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, March 19—(CP Cable) —Sir Sir Murdoch Macdonald, septuagenarian member of Parliament, has resigned from the Liberal National Parliamentary Party, which was a monument to his independence of political action.

The step on the part of the white-haired, 76-year-old member for Inverness, who founded the Parliamentary group in 1931 among Liberals favoring support of the National Government, followed by a few weeks the resignations of Edgar Granville, Sir Henry Morris-Jones, and Leslie Hore-Belisha, outspoken critics of the Government.

Sir Henry and Mr. Granville, who had repeatedly shown their independence of party policy and who did not attend the party conference last September, finally quit February 12 after they had been "carpeted" for abstaining from the vote on Prime Minister Churchill's motion of confidence January 29.

Mr. Granville had been at odds with the party since he had signed a parliamentary motion for the appointment of a Minister of Production without consulting the party, and Sir Henry Morris-Jones had adopted Mr. Granville's view that "there is no place to-day for party politics....First loyalty must be the winning of the war."

Sir Murdoch Macdonald, more prominent as an engineer than as a parliamentary orator, summed up his stand quietly and briefly: He had always felt the party had been "wrong" in its attitude toward Granville and Morris-Jones despite the fact they had ignored the party in their actions. He said he "regretted" their resignations.

Then the representative since 1922 of the largest but most sparsely-populated constituency in the country declared he would continue as a member of the Liberal National Party outside the House and generally continue support of the Government and a win-the-war policy. However, he intended to maintain independence of action as always.

Mrs. E. C. Moore Honored By Class

YOUNG'S POINT, March 19 — (ENS)—After the evening service of St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Young's Point, Sunday, March 15, the Sunday School with the assistant, Mrs. E. Dixon gathered to present Mrs. E. C. Moore, with the following address and leather bound Prayer and Hymn Book:

"Dear Mrs. Moore,—It is hard to put into words how each of us feel about you, but I am sure we all love you and will miss you greatly. We wish to assure you that each of us has a little corner in his heart that is yours.

Since what is our loss is another's gain, we wish you happiness in your new home and hope all your new children will love you as we do.

As a token of our love for you, we wish you to accept this little gift from all of us to You."

Addie MacNaughton read the address and Ruth Wilson presented the gift to Mrs. Moore.

Mrs. Moore thanked the children, and said, regardless, she would always consider them as her children.

Ottawa Asking Flax Tripled

OTTAWA, March 19 (C).--Flaxseed production of 20,000,000 bushels in 1942, compared with 6,473,000 bushels last year, is being aimed at by the Dominion Government, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said toda.

He said the program is being encouraged because normal sources of imported vegetable oils have been cut off by war in the Pacific.

To provide the total production sought, at least 2,000,000 acres should be sown to flax in 1942. The five-year average acreage in 1936-40 was 311,180 for the Prairie Provinces, the area of main production and where the bulk of the increased output of 1942 will be found.

PART of our war-time duty is to make sure we give our families the kind of food they require for health and energy, so this week I'd like to tell you of a specially nourishing, delicious food to include in this week's shopping.

We all know that Nature's almost perfect food is MILK, and realize that this should never be stinted in the home. Unfortunately, some children, and adults too, don't like drinking milk alone, so here's how to popularize this very necessary food. Simply serve it with Fry's Cocoa.

Fry's Cocoa is rich in Calories (the name given to describe the energy value of food) and is also rich in IRON. Now Iron is practically the only important constituent lacking in milk, so by adding Fry's Cocoa to milk you increase the amount of Iron consumed by 50%.

Plan to serve Fry's Cocoa every day—Its delightful chocolaty flavour makes it a most welcome food in your home.

Fry's Cocoa is very economical and today actually costs less than before the war.

See how easy it is to serve.

Fry's Cocoa

For each cupful required, mix together DRY, half to one teaspoonful of Fry's Cocoa, with sugar to taste. Add enough cold milk to make cocoa and sugar into a smooth paste. Pour on boiling milk and stir well.

Note: The flavour of Fry's Cocoa is improved by whisking with a rotary beater just before serving.

You can make 80 large cups from one pound of Fry's Cocoa.

Children Seek Shelter In Honolulu

When the shriek of sirens sent Honolulans scurrying underground twice last week, island residents knew exactly what to do and where to go. Men, women and children dove underground into bomb shelters that would protect them from flying shrapnel and bomb splinters. Kiuchi Yamamoto, shown ABOVE with his little sister, Miki, and their pet mynah bird are pictured emerging from their shelter at the raid's end.

Burma Raises Wail For Freedom

Follows India's Move As Japanese Press On Prome

By DANIEL DELUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANDALAY, Burma, March 20—(AP)—Although battered by invading Japanese forces, Burma today is seeking independency. The country's appetite for self-rule has been whetted by the impending visit of Sir Stafford Cripps to India and Governor Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith is said unofficially to have asked London to send Sir Stafford here.

Since the Japanese invasion, the Burma autonomous movement has been pigeon-holed by mutual consent but with indications that India is approaching dominion status Burmese leaders have taken up the cry again and are understood to have made formal representations.

In the jungle no-man's land on the Irrawaddy and Toungoo fronts, meanwhile, the British Empire forces evidently are drawing in their advance guards to make their stand on a battlefield of their own choice in the attempt to stop the enemy drives along the two roads which dictate strategy for both sides in Burma.

Need Paved Highway

The major fight in central Burma, apparently, will be for the paved Prome Road, which runs through the rich Yenangyuang oil fields to Mandalay.

The Japanese are moving troops up from the Rangoon area to this front by land and water and also are strengthening their line on the parallel Toungoo Road, to the east.

They'll Reciprocate

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), March 20—(AP).—The Japanese navy charged today that the United States and Great Britain, since the start of the war in the Pacific, had waged "extreme warfare based on retaliation and hatred" and declared that Japan would reciprocate.

Alleging that Japan's foes were employing tactics in disregard of international law, the navy promulgated an ordinance "revising" its warfare regulations which it said were based on the London declaration of 1909 and precedents of international law.

Warns Canada's Competitive System Doomed

MONTREAL, March 20 (CP)—Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, called today for a "complete inventory" of Canada's productive machinery and warned that "the competitive system must go, to be replaced by one based entirely upon the criterion of maximum production."

"Obviously no such program can be undertaken unless there is a clear plan of procedure and an integration beyond anything yet attempted," he said.

Mr. Gordon, whose job it is to direct the operations of the general price-ceiling machinery in the Dominion, a major factor in the government's anti-inflationary program, said the nation must be prepared to "give up all our choices and preferences and accustom ourselves to a standard of living based on bare essentials."

"Only by so doing," he told his joint service club audience, "can we divert to war the maximum of our productive effort which is the prime requirement for total war."

Canadians were as far removed from an understanding of total war as the Hun and the Jap were removed from any regard for the fundamentals of humanity and decency.

Work And Sacrifice

"And so it will remain," he added, "until we are seized with the sense of terrible urgency, until we all go to work with the fear of the devil himself driving us forward; until we are ready to sacrifice in the flame of a true understanding patriotism all the selfish advantages of class, position and property."

Mr. Gordon said it was time for a definite change in the attitude of the public toward evaders of wartime regulations "who deliberately disobey or condemn those regulations to which they object, failing to see that they are playing directly into the hands of the enemy."

"Each citizen should regard himself as his brother's keeper, and let it be known that the evader of wartime regulations is a creature unfit for human associations, to be hurried away to the punishment he so richly deserves," he said.

Canada was going to have regimentation and more regimentation, but "let us develop it without the ugly meaning which it has been

RedheadGunner Picks Off A Sub

NEW YORK, March 20—(AP).—An unidentified "little readheaded" navy gunner was credited today by a group of United States merchant mariners with the sinking of an Axis submarine which torpedoed and sank their freighter in the South Atlantic on the night of February 23.

The navy gun crew under the direction of Ensign Peter M. Wendt, said the survivors, went into action right after the Axis torpedo crashed into the freighter's starboard bow.

The engine-room crew remained below decks and pushed the merchantman under a full head of steam despite the damage that caused her immediately to dip forward and list to starboard, said the crewmen.

Then a parachute flare arose from the submarine, whose commander apparently wanted to view the damage he had caused and had surfaced about 200 yards astern.

But, said the sailors, the U-boat commander made one mistake. He had fired his flare to windward.

U.S. To Draft 1A Aliens In New Rule

May Give Canadians Option Of Joining Dominion's Forces

NEW YORK, March 20—(CP).—All aliens, including enemy aliens, are to be reclassified by their Draft Boards immediately Col. Arthur V. McDermott, New York Director of Selective Service, announced yesterday. Colonel McDermott said that he had received instructions from Brig.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, National Director of Selective Service, for this action.

Col. McDermott said that aliens, including Canadians, who until now have been placed in Class 4-C by virtue of their non-citizenship, would be classified from now on in exactly the same manner as all the other registrants.

"This reclassification means that all aliens who are classified in 1-A will be subject to induction into the armed forces if they are certified as acceptable by the Army authorities, regardless of whether or not they have filed their first papers for American citizenship," he explained.

No Citizenship If Let Off.

He added that aliens of neutral countries, including those who have filed their first papers for American citizenship, still would have the right to file applications to be relieved from military service but that those who did so would be barred for ever from acquiring American citizenship. Aliens who are found not acceptable to the armed forces will be reclassified in 4-C, he said.

(4-C is a classification which is not subject to military services.)

Canadians and other aliens must register at local Draft Boards within five days of entering the United States, it has been decided by Washington.

It is understood htat Canadian ciitzens living in the United States, who become liable to military service through the draft, and have no qualification for deferment, will be given the option if they prefer of joining the Canadian armed forces instead of putting on an American uniform. There has been no official announcement on this point, however.

VICHY (AP)—German authorities in Brussels announced today that 50 Belgians arrested as "Communists" had been ordered deported to eastern Europe in reprisal for recent "terrorist" attacks in Belgium.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 20—(CP).—The Australian War Cabinet, taking further precautions against enemy air attacks and reconnaissance flight, ordered today the removal of all large name boards from rural railway stations within 100 miles of the coast. City railway stations will be stripped of nameplates visible from the air.

Stilwell To Head Yanks In China, India and Burma

CHUNGKING, March 20—(AP).—Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell announced today he had been placed in command of United States forces in China, India and Burma, and promised that "We won't be satisfied until we see American and Chinese troops in Tokyo together."

Gen. Stilwell, recenly made Chief of Staff of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, Allied Supreme Command in the China theatre, pledged that "everything China needs to help her war effort will be furnished without reservation."

"President Roosevelt has expressed his determination to use all means necessary to clear China of the Japanese," he told his first press conference. "I am unable to go into details as to just what help or equipment is on the way, but you may assume from the fact that I have been assigned to command any United States forces in China, Burma and India, that the effort contemplated is large."

Gen. Stilwell warned against impatience, while the United Nations are mustering their forces for the inevitable counter-offensive.

"There is a great deal of work to do first, and there are mistakes to be repaired," he said.

Wants More Planes

The American Commander said the American Volunteer Group fliers would be used to protect his Chinese troops in Burma, and added that "one of my biggest worries is to get adequate air support for those troops—but they'll get it."

He described the Chinese soldier as "one of the best in the world. If he has the equipment and supplies, no one can lick him."

As for the Japanese:—

Blow Stores And Munitions In Great 'City Of Blood' Whole Donets Line Sags

Nazi Officers Shoot Men At Staraya Russa As They Walk Toward Red Lines; Russian Reports Hint Rzhev Captured

LONDON, March 20—(CP).—German demolition squads were reported blasting military stores of blood-stained Kharkov today in apparent preparation for a forced withdrawal from that stronghold of the Upper Donets River defence system before Red army attacks.

A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Mail said great fires raged in Kharkov, one-time steel centre of 833,000 population 400 miles south of Moscow, and it was obvious "the whole Upper Donets line is sagging to the point of collapse."

"Tank, gun and ammunition depots are being dynamited," the dispatch said, with threatening Soviet legions about the suburbs of the city the Germans captured last October 24.

Oil stores and other supplies assembled for use against the Russians also were reported going up in smoke as the Nazis apparently realized "the occupation is at an end."

Russian dispatches yesterday charged the Germans had killed 30,000 civilians in Kharkov, but there was no direct word from Moscow as to the progress of military operations against the garrison.

The Soviet information bureau last night reported three more communities were recaptured on the southwestern front in fighting which left hundreds of German dead on the battlefields and that 2,500 invaders were slain in 48 hours of action recently in the Leningrad zone.

Huns Shot By Own Officers

Dispatches from the front said more and more Germans in the trapped Staraya Russa arm were surrendering as their hope of escape collapsed. These reports said some Germans who came toward Russian lines with their hands over their heads in token of surrender were shot down from behind by their officers.

One thousand Germans were reported killed at a single strongly fortified junction as the Red Army steadily whittled down the encircled area. At another point 400 Germans were reported mowed down with close range fire as they rushed head-on toward Russian lines in an attempt to escape.

Red Star said 20 Junkers bombers, accompanied by fighter planes, tried to bomb Moscow yesterday but failed to get through. The army organ said the raiders were met by Russian fliers who shot down four and turned the rest back.

At the southern anchor of the battlefront Russian ships and coast batteries smashed 15 fortifications of the German siege line around Sevastapol, Russian reports said.

Hint Rzhev Captured

The Moscow radio announced the capture of a junction of five important roads in the Kalinin sector northwest of the capital. It did not identify the town, but Stockholm observers said the report might indicate encircled Rzhev had fallen.

Stockholm advices indentified Kharkov as the headquarters of Field Marshal Gen. Fedor Von Bock, whom Hitler transferred to the south from the central front Jan. 20. The dispatch said "it is not yet clear whether he has retreated."

Aside from hazardous aerial operations, the Germans were reported to have been cut off by Russian regulars and swarms of guerillas from all but one railway and a road to the west. These lines were deemed insufficient to maintain the necessary flow of equipment and reinforcements to the 500,000 Germans believed to be based in the area.

Talk of Mediterranean basin or Scandinavian campaigns went on, but informed sources discounted the probability of major action in those areas.

The Norwegian telegraph agency reported the German-controlled press of Norway is openly discussing the danger of a British-United States invasion and quoted one article saying Hitler must maintain along the Norwegian coast "a strong defence for the duration."

The Swiss weekly Die Weltwoche said the decision would be reached in Russia, stating "there has been a general tendency during the last few weeks to overestimate Allied reverses in the Pacific."

Plans For Turkey

LONDON, March 20—(CP).—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Social Demokraten reported today that Huesrev Gerede, Turkish Ambassador in Berlin, would would return to Ankara soon in connection with German proposals for Turkey to enter the war.

Turkey's reward, these reports said, would be annexation of Syria and a protectorate over Iraq and Mosul.

French Fuelled Tanks To Fight Only Five Hours

RIOM, France, March 20.—(AP).—Witnesses and defendants at the Riom trial agreed to-day that the French army went to war with the impression that tanks couldn't fight as independent units. They again attributed France's lack of preparedness to the army command.

Gen. Marcel Sciard, who commanded the 1st Army Corps which pivoted into Belgium to face the Germans, testified:

"Our doctrine was based on the idea that tanks could not fight alone, that they could not advance beyond the visible range of artillery."

Thus no provision was made to refuel tanks on the battlefield, and French tanks sometimes ran out of gasoline and were captured, he said.

Former Premier Edouard Daladier, one of five men being tried on charges of responsibility for France's defeat, interrupted to say:

"Not one French tank had fuel for more than five hours, which proves we did not have the idea of prolonged use of tanks beyond the visible range of artillery.

Daladier's attorney amplified this, saying:

"The fault lay with the conception of tank warfare as formulated by the army command."

Gen. Sciard testified that in contrast the Germans had "tanker" tanks which advanced behind the combat tanks and refueled them during battle.

Deadly At 30 Yards.

Jean Ragaine, a tank officer, testified that the French 37-millimetre anti-tank guns were "enormously effective for the short distance of 30 yards, but not effective at longer ranges.

Ragaine also stated the army was too ready to retreat, citing one retreat after a dive-bombing attack which was "something terrifying" due to noise but whicr caused only one casualty.

Daladier testified the army had much material which it never distributed.

"Seven hundred and fifty anti-tank guns in army depots fell into German hands,' he said, "enough for 14 divisions."

He also quoted an official report that "at the time of the armistice the number of planes intact was greater than at the time of mobilization."

On June 25, 1940, he said, "in the unoccupied zone alone there were 4,200 planes, of which 1,700 were first-line warplanes."

Ran Jap Lines Will Return —MacArthur

Pledge Of Offensive Heartens Aussies; Sniping In N. Guinea

ADELAIDE, Australia, March 20.—(CP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, new United Nations' commander in the southwest Pacific, declared today President Roosevelt had ordered him to organize an American offensive against Japan for the "primary purpose" of relieving the Philippines.

In the first interview he has granted since arriving in Australia March 17 after a spectacular dash from Bataan Peninsula, Gen. MacArthur said:

"The President of the United States ordered me to break through the Japanese lines and proceed from Corregidor to Australia for the purpose, as I understand it, of organizing an American offensive against Japan.

"The primary purpose of this is the relief of the Philippines. I came through and I will return."

Contact Made With Japs.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 20.—(CP).—Australians have started sniping at Nazi-directed Japanese forces seeking to take the Markham Valley of New Guinea and the numerous airports in it from which air assaults on Port Moresby could be launched, reports from the island said to-day.

Authorities predicted the fighting might develop as in the early days of the Malayan campaign when the defenders ambushed, sniped and delayed the enemy drive.

Prime Minister John Curtin announced in a communique to-day that extensive Japanese activity in the vicinity of Saamau and Lae on the east coast of New Guinea.

Port Moresby, some 180 miles south of the Markham and 300 miles across Torres Strait from the Australian mainland, had two new air attacks to-day—one by four fighter planes which raked the airdrome with machine-gun and cannon fire, the second by a lone bomber which let lose one stick of bombs. Neither raid caused damage or casualties.

Nazis Raise Hob In Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY, March 20—(AP)—An intensive propaganda campaign being waged by Germans in this Central American country—from which important United States air patrols now are operating in defence of the Panama Canal—is causing concern to persons interested in the United Nations' war effort.

The Guatemalan government has sent 115 Germans, considered dangerous, to the United States for internment, but many more still remain.

Some quarters estimate there still are 5,000 Germans in Guatemala.

Reliable informants say that in this group in Anita Raeder de Diestel, daughter of Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, commander in chief of the German Navy, who is serving as caretaker of the deserted German legation and apparently mingling freely with other Germans.

Signs Say Hitler's Supplies Tightening

German Production Near Breaking Point, Must Get New Resources This Summer

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This fateful spring finds the warring forces of Europe at the crossroads, one of which leads to victory and the other to defeat.

The crafty Hitler recognizes this, and we get a fair indication of the working of his mind in the intensive preparations he is making to meet this crisis. His activities are diverse but they dovetail to show his problems.

For one thing, we find the Nazi chief calling back virtually all those member of his general staff who either quit or were fired when they disagreed with his decision to launch an offensive against Moscow just as the terrible Russian winter was about to break. The Fuehrer is slow to forgive, and the fact that he now has summoned his captains again means that he is faced with a military task which exceeds his capabilities of direction.

That is understandable, for no matter what offensive operations he may have in mind he still must solve the greatest defensive problem of history. He must defeat the Russian giant.

Coincidently, German war production is being spurred almost to the breaking point. Civilian consumption has been further curtailed and all manufacture is directed to the one end—to meet the crisis of the battlefield.

Along with this, Reichsmarshal Herman Goering has appealed to farmers to concentrate as never before on food production. At the same time it's announced that food rations are to be reduced in the Reich on April 4.

These facts lead us straight to the thought that Hitler's sources of supply are tightening up on him. We can say that his highway to victory must lead to a breakthrough to fresh stores. They lie in the Caucasus and the Middle East.

We can go even further, for the Nazi leader's preparations clearly provide for the possibility that he may fail. Hence the rush to grow foodstuffs at home, and the conservation of both food and goods.

The immediate reason of his uncertainty, of course, is the Red Army. That stands between him and his supplies which are essential for victory. It may do more than that, for it's possible it will press him so hard this Spring and Summer that he will be on the defensive from the Baltic to the Black Sea. And back of this Red menace rumbles the increasing avalanche of American and British war production.

What is the Allies' road to victory? Obviously they must at all costs keep Hitler from reaching those fresh supplies until they have had time to equip themselves for a grand offensive.

If the United Nations can block the German drive they will be on the road to victory, for Hitler's needs are pressing—he cannot wait indefinitely. But blocking doesn't necessarily mean purely defensive activity. It calls for counter-attack all along the line, such as the Bolshevists have been making. And the initiative needn't be wholly on the vital Russian front, for the opening of a new offensive somewhere in Northern or Western Europe may prove to be the support which the Russions need in this battle of the ages.

Liked Spying, Gets 5 Years

High School Girl Convicted With Nazi Ring

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP).—Lucy Boehmler, 19 year old high school girl who said she "found espionage lots of funs," was sentenced to-day to five years in women's reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., by Federal Judge Henry Goddard.

Judge Goddard also sentenced Carl Herman Schroetter, 48 year old skipper of a Miami, Fla, fishing boat, to 10 years' imprisonment.

Both pleaded guilty to participation in the espionage ring headed by Kurt Frederick Ludwig, master Nazi spy, who was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment recently.

Six other members of the ring were sentenced last week to terms ranging from 12 to 20 years each, including Mrs. Helen Pauline Mayer, 26 year old housewife, who received a 10 to 15 year sentence.

Miss Boehmler acted as secretary to Ludwig.

Kills Three To Study Organ

Poisons Granny, Burns Parents To Get Funds

LOS ANGELES, March 20—(AP)—Courtney Fred Rogers, 24-year-old church organist, told police to-day he killed his grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Spiegelmann 76, as well as his parents.

Rogers was charged with murder after he related, two weeks ago, that he chloroformed his mother Mrs. Lillie Rogers, 44, on February 14, 1941, and caused the death of his father, Courtney C. Rovers, 50, last October 26 by firing their home. Both deaths originally were recorded as suicides.

"I poisoned her," Rogers is quoted by police as saying regarding his grandmother's death.

Deputy-Sheriff Larry Carmack said Rogers knew his grandmother's property, two houses in San Diego and $500 cash, would go to him or his mother. He said Rogers later got the money, which he used to study the organ and got the property after his mother's death.

Rogers had received property from his mother's estate, $1,000 insurance on his father, and $1,600 insurance on the house.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE DEFENCE CENTRE FROM 16th GERMAN ARMY

Blizzard Raid In South Destroys 413

Barrage Puts German Engineers In Cellars Battalion Destroyed

MOSCOW, March 20 — (AP).— Red Army troops have wrested an important defence centre from a unit of the German 16th Army long encircled in the Staraya Russa sector and captured the garrison commander and 15 other survivors, Tass said to-day.

Captured documents show that the 16th Army men are exhausted and short of food, with the daily ration of some limited to lentil pottage, the news agency said. It cited one company reported cut down to a single officer and nine frost-bitten privates.

Izvestia, Soviet Government newspaper, said a Red Army detachment killed 413 of the German 31st Engineering Battalion through a pincer attack with motorized sleighs in a night snowstorm on a strongly-fortified village of the southern front.

"Our artillery opened a hurricane fire," Izvestia said, "forcing the Germans to take cover in cellars, and then suddenly suspended it. The same minute our men rushed into the village. The Germans were caught in the pincers and attempted to escape along the only road to a neighboring village, but they were intercepted by our machine-gun fire. Only a few managed to escape."

In one sector of the southern front, the Soviet information bureau declared, Red Army troops wiped out about 200 German soldiers and destroyed much war material in fierce fighting for two populated places.

"On another sector of the front," the bureau added, "our troops broke into a village occupied by the Germans and wiped out 124 German soldiers."

Two Soviet fighter pilots, engaged in a scouting mission, routed a formation of six German Messerschmitt 109 fighters, shooting down three of them.

Gen. Stilwell said he had no idea of how Japanese were using their Thai troops in the Burma campaign. "But there are indications," he added, "that the Thais are not going to fight too desperately for Japan."

For a brief period they said, the decks of their vessel were bathed in the light of the flare and one shell from the submarines deck gun whistled overhead while another crashed into her rigging.

Wind Fools the Nazis.

A gust of wind, however, blew the floating flare back over the submarine and the minute his target came into view, the little navy gunner who "was no more than 17 to look at him," let go with his hard-hitting deck gun.

In rapid succession, the redhead pumped three shells into the Axis marauder.

At that point, said the seamen, the flare went out and presumably the submarine went down because they neither saw nor heard any more of it during the next 12 hours they were afloat, first on the sinking freighter and then on a raft. They were rescued by a tanker sent to their aid by a Navy patrol plane.

"What Gen. MacArthur says is the truth," was the pledge of Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia, who announced Gen MacArthur would reach Canberra Tuesday, to confer with the war council. "We will hold what we have and will take back what we lost.

"Gen. MacArthur's gallant men in the Philippines will find Australia and her Allies advancing towards them."

From Melbourne came the encouraging news that the United Nations forces already manning battle stations have been reinforced by new detachments of U. S. airmen who escaped from Java and British and Australians from Singapore.

The bulletin also announced widespread operations by Japanese aircraft yesterday, which included two appearances over Port Moresby, New Guinea, and further attacks on the Solomon Islands and Darwin, on the northwest coast of Australia.

Two persons were killed and seven or eight wounded in the Darwin raid, the communique said.

Down Markham Valley

The announcement followed unofficial reports that a considerable force of Japanese was moving inland along the Markham River but had not yet made contact with Australian troops.

In the first of their two appearances over Port Moresby yesterday Japanese planes swept across the city four times, but were kept at an altitude of 20,000 to 23,000 feet by heavy anti-aircraft fire which twice broke up the formation, the bulletin said.

One enemy bomber was hit and "apparently failed to reach it base," the communique added.

Seven Japanese planes used hit-run tactics in the Darwin raid. Flying at 15,000 feet, they dropped 40 to 50 bombs and headed straight out to sea to escape fighters which flew in to intercept them.

Most of the bombs in this fifth attack on Darwin were so-called "grass-cutters," containing bits of bottletops, rivets razor blades and other sharp metal fragments.

Australian planes carried out extensive reconnaissance over New Guinea.

Work Of Ladies Appreciated By Highlanders

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Stormant, Dundas and Glengarry Hihglanders in Peterborough have been more than pleased with the letters they received from members of the unit overseas thanking them for the Christmas parcels sent some weeks before Christmas. A few of the letters of appreciation from the boys appear below:

Pte. J. W. Douglas: "I sure appreciate the box you sent me and I thank you very much. Hoping we will all be home next Christmas—keep smiling; there is always a silver lining."

S. R. Webb: "On behalf of the boys of our home town, we wish to thank you one and all for the nice parcel we received....especially for myself being in hospital I appreciated it very much. Under the circumstances it could not have arrived at a better time."

Pte. R. Beckingham: "We had such a surprise yesterday when a truck came into our camp with the lovely gift boxes which you ladies were so kind in sending to the boys. I am one of the many boys who was sent to a holding unit as we were category men and could not go into the field with the unit. We miss our wonderful Colonel Hicks-Lyne. He comes up to see us quite often."

Lieut. Don Scott: "Just a note to thank you for your kindness in forwarding me a Christmas parcel. It was much appreciated. I am sure all we officers and men from Peterborough are grateful for the good work you have been doing on behalf of the regiment."

Capt. Graeme Falkner: "In all probability you have had lots of thank-you letters and otherwise from the regiment for the grand thought and the work put into the Christmas parcels. I just want to add mine for myself and the men. You have no idea how much those parcels really meant. When one is a long way from home, and thinking hard about it, it is a cheering thing to know you're remembered. Please pass on to the Auxiliary my personal thanks."

Cpl. V. Harwood (V. Harwood, of Port Hope, has conveyed to the Auxiliary the appreciation of his brother in these words): "I am writing and thanking you for Cpl. V. Harwood of the S. D. and G.'s for the lovely box he received at Christmas. He asked me to let you know."

Pte. D. Rennant: "I wish to express my appreciation for the parcel we received. Over here such luxuries are practically unthinkable and therefore more than welcome."

Pte. T. W. Stanley: "I have only been in England a little over month and you have no idea how something from home can really cheer one up. In this country certain things are rationed and hard to obtain, while other things are absolutely off the market. You ladies must be psychic, because you included almost everything we are unable to obtain."

Thyssen Steel Bombed By RAF

LONDON, March 20 — (CP). — The Thyssen steel works, between Hamborn and the Rhine, were bombed by a small number of planes during the R.A.F. raid on the Ruhr Valley's industrial centres on March 9, the Air Ministry News Service announced to-day.

Large fires were started in the plant, one of the most important in the Ruhr Valley. It has its own power station.

"There can be little doubt that substantial damage was done," reported the news service on the basis of photographs taken during the attack.

Tons of high explosive bombs were dropped in the midst of blazes touched off by the first planes to come over the plant. One photograph showed one of the heaviest-type bombs bursting within a ring of flames that sent up a dense cloud of smoke.

Other photographs taken during the attack on Cologne, Rhineland communications centre, showed fires burning in "many parts of the city," the news service said, as well as among factories, oil tanks and railway yards outside the city proper.

The photographs indicated the administrative centre of Cologne also was hit hard.

Wreckers Busy Stripping Cars For Scrap

Car wreckers in the city of Peterborough started workmen dismantling wrecked cars on their premises this week, following an order from the Steel Controller, Kilbourn, that all wrecked automobiles must be sold off within 90 days of the order being issued.

This means that wreckers must salvage all parts which they may be able to sell and prepare the remainder of the steel, copper, brass and iron for the scrap market, so that an extra large quantity of metal will be available for the industries of war. There is a tremendous amount of metal tied up in old car cemeteries and if it can be accumulated at the foundries, Canada war industries will benefit materially.

Tommy Hughes down on Monaghan Road, who is recognized as having the largest collection of wrecked cars in the district, has seven or eight men stripping the cars right down to the frames, but it will keep them busy as he has upwards of 450 cars and trucks to demolish. He believed the metal will be ready within the time given.

Dick Miller, of Miller and Dossett, George Street wreckers, is taking no chances on being late. His mechanics worked until two o'clock every night this week so far, cutting up fifty cars and trucks on the premises, and besides these wrecks he has more than a hundred car engines.

This new order will bring on to the market a large number of tires from all models and of all ages. Tires which cannot be used may be added to the stock of scrap rubber, and the others will be sold.

Burma Raises

British military sources picture the Japanese aim as threefold—control of the Eastern shore of the Bay of Bengal, control of the Burma Road and separation of China from India.

To achieve these ends they must push along the two highways—the east and west branches of the Burma Road—because, military men say, it is virtually impossible to move heavy supplies and reinforcements any other way, even in this dry season.

(The withdrawals indicated to informed London sources that Lt.-Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, British commander in Burma, means to fight somewhere south of a line drawn from Prome to Toungoo with his centre thus based on Pegu Yoma, a range of hills running north and south in the battle area.)

Churchill Asked, Got Casey, Curtin Opposing

CANBERRA, March 20 —(CP)— Prime Minister John Curtin will place before parliament next Wednesday all communications between Prime Minister Churchill, himself and Richard G. Casey over the latter's appointment as Minister of State in the Middle East for the British War Cabinet, it was announced today.

Appointment of Mr. Casey, Australian Minister to Washington, to the Middle East post was announced yesterday in London.

A Reuters News Agency dispatch yesterday quoted Mr. Curtin as saying he had first told Mr. Casey that "having regard for all circumstances, it was the wish of the Commonwealth Government not to make any change in the Australian representation in Washington as matters stand."

The prime minister was quoted as adding: "It was made clear that this was our wish and not our instruction," that it was "intimated to me that the proposal was entirely personal," and that he had therefore cabled Mr. Casey "the decision was one entirely between Mr. Churchill and himself."

The communications will be made public in a white paper.

Call From Churchill

The British prime minister cabled Mr. Curtin March 12 suggesting he would like to name Mr. Casey to the Middle East post and asking Mr. Curtin's advice.

The Australian prime minister's reply was that the minister's contacts in Washington were invaluable. He asked that Mr. Casey not be approached.

Full Manpower To Be Used Says Mitchell

VANCOUVER, March 20 (CP) — Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Federal Minister of Labor, last night told Canadians of the Government's plan for further mobilization of Canada's man and woman power beginning April 1.

He spoke from Vancouver over a nationwide hookup of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Under the plan, Mr. Mitchell said, the Government would obtain a "manpower inventory" of more than 3,000,000 workers throughout the country.

This inventory, he said, would be taken through the Unemployment Insurance Commission and employers. Starting April 1, in order to keep the records up to date, those workers coming within the scope of the Unemployment Insurance Act, would be asked to given in Gestapo land and by the Japanese imitators."

Warns Canada

"Let us paraphrase Abraham Lincoln; let it be regimentation of the people, by the people and for the people," Mr. Gordon said.

"Then, and then only, can we accept confidently the challenge of Winston Churchill: 'They asked for total war, let us see that they get it'."

Price control had two main methods of application: the selective control of individual prices and the over-all ceiling upon prices.

No Noble Experiment.

"The general over-all ceiling on prices which was the form of price control decided upon for Canada has been called a noble experiment," he said.

"Even those who wished us well suggested we had bitten off more than we could chew—that the practical administrative difficulties were so tremendous and the necessary machinery so complicated that the whole effort would collapse of its own weight....

"When we waded into the job last December we refused first of all to consider it an experiment and we were so deliberately and offenesively rude to everybody who used that description that we have not heard the word applied to our effort for some time."

Mr. Gordon said he hesitated to sound a note of alarm but there was no use blinking at the fact that in "many, many directions" Canada's supply situation is critical and that the steps already taken to meet some conditions will have to be considerably expanded, both in regard to the nature of the restrictions and the number of materials or supplies involved.

"A definite control of everything produced must be undertaken to decide first what is to be produced; second, who is best equipped and qualified to produce it, and, finally, who is to get the production.

"Selfish or private interest must be ruled out completely. The competitive system must go, to be replaced with one which is based entirely upon the criterion of maximum production, with the most efficient use of labor, machinery and materials to operate steadily without cease except for necessary rest or maintenance."

More Plain Truth Canada's Need MemberCharges

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, March 20 — (CP). — Canadians are getting too many "mental cocktails" and need more plain truth, says Leonard O'Brien (Con., Northumberland, N.B.).

He made the comment in the House of Commons last night as debate on the resolution preliminary to introduction of the Government's bill authorizing a $1,000,000,000 gift to Britain moved through its second day.

One of the younger members who has spoken little but travelled far in his two years as a member of Parliament, Mr. O'Brien made a short speech on his impressions of a trip to Great Britain last Autumn and a trans-Canada tour earlier in the Summer.

He said much of what he saw in the House of Commons made him think he was passing through the experiences of Alice in Wonderland.

It was reported, he said, that cocktail drinking was the order of the day at Hong Kong and Singapore prior to the fall of those places. It was probably figuratively, if not literally, true but there was also cocktail drinking in the cities of Canada.

"There is cocktail drinking in Ottawa—the drinking of mental cocktails," he said. "There is what Canada has been suffering from ever since the war broke out.

"These cocktails have been dished out here in Ottawa from the nation's largest cocktail shaker. The world is suffering the shocks of a terrible war and I submit that the

Half Of Farmers Require Help Survey Shows

COBOURG, March 20 (ENS) — Acute shortage in farm labor in Northumberland County is revealed in the recent survey made in which reports were summarized from 1,236 farmers or approximately 40% of al the farmers in the county. The seriousness of the farm labor situation is revealed by the fact that only 163 farmers reported having hired help at present; 328 reported having adequate help, and 654 farmers stated that they were without adequate help for the 1942 season. The number of hired men who left farms to enlist or to work in war plants or other occupations during 1941 is 288, and since the outbreak of the war 307 farmers' sons have either enlisted, have been called for training in the reserve force, or are likely to be called for training during 1942.

The total number of hired men employed in 1941 as compared with normal conditions show a reduction of 30% in men hired on a yearly basis; a reduction of 10% hired on a monthly basis, and an increase of 8% in help hired on a daily basis. The survey shows that farmers are planning for increased numbers of livestock in 1942 as compared with last year and percentage increase in the various classes as follows:

Horses, 2.4%; dairy cows (milking), 10.6%; brood sows, 8.2%; market hogs, 11.8%; breeding ewes, 1.2% laying hens, 17.9% and baby chicks, 22.0%.

Want to Help

It was found evident that farmers are anxious to increase the production of essential food products for Great Britain and 90.5% of farmers reported planning to produce as much or more bacon in 1942 as in 1941; 86% report maintaining or increasing milk production. The increase in crop production planned for 1942 as compared with 1941 on an acreage is as follows:

Winter wheat, 41.1%; spring grain, 3.6%; hay, 3.3%; corn, 11.1% and root crops, 37.8%. This summary is based on reports received from less than half the total farmers in the county and while, therefore, incomplete as far as county statistics are concerned, sufficient information has been compiled to show crop and livestock production trends and to emphasize the fact that there is a definite shortage of manpower on many farms.

4-Point Attack On Inflation Is Being Made

George Wilson, administrator under the fresh fruits and vegetables division of the Wartime Prices and Trades Board for Ontario, last night told Peterborough Vegetable Growers' Association that within three years, four million persons in Germany died of under nourishment, about 1923, as a result of inflation. The meeting was held in the Empress Totel and was representative of the district. Ald. Max Swanston represented Mayor James Hamilton at the meeting. The speaker was introduced by Frank Paterson, Ontario agricultural representative in Peterborough

Mr. Wilson said that inflation occurs when there are more buyers and less things to buy. "To-day," he said, "we have more people working and they are making more money." In the last war, Canada spent 10 per cent. of the national income on war purposes. This war we are spending 40 per cent., said the speaker.

"In 1921, there were 21,000 business failures in Germany as a result of inflation. The result was a complete collapse. In the space of one hour, prices of commodities rose from 25 to 50 per cent. there," he said. "None of us want such a thing to happen here so we must and are doing something to prevent it." Price ceilings may bring hardships to all but inflation means ruin. "Don't take this complacently," he urged. "We must be prepared to make these sacrifices or face ruin and chaos."

In Canada, he said, a four-point blitz attack is on to defeat inflation. Efforts are being made to curtail spending, a placement of ceiling has been placed on wages and salaries and subsidiaries have been granted to supplement agricultural incomes. In addition to this, rationing is in effect and there are industrial priorities and a ceiling has been placed on commodities.

"It is a difficult task to deal with the administration of a price ceiling that will give anywhere near a general satisfaction but do not become discouraged over what's going to happen this summer," he said. "I feel we have far more to fear from the results of a shortage than a surplus. Ceiling or no ceiling, it is your place to play cricket. There must be no speculating the produce market."

"If you ask me what you think you should know, I think it is only common horse sense to grow what you have been growing. You will be faced with problems of employment. Possibly Mrs. Vegetable Grower will have to help or you may have to get high school students There is no doubt you will be faced with the problem of containers. Don't let the rats eat your bags.

There will be problems of trucking. You may have to double or treble up but in this way you can accomplish what you need. You will have to exercise economy in matters of buying and production—you may experience the factor of a shortage of seeds and above all you must eliminate all frills."

Cavalcade Of Wedding Dresses Delights Port Hope Audience

PORT HOPE, March 20—(ENS). —About three hundred ladies attended the hostess tea and wedding parade to the United Church Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This tea and parade was given by the Women's Association with Mrs. E. B. Hyne, Mrs. George Ward, Mrs. George Garnett, and Mrs. F. Douglas as conveners. Mrs. Hyne made a few remarks and welcomed the guests and this was followed by two very charming solos by Mrs. M. C. Bryant, the first one was "The Arrow and the Song," by Balfe, and the second number was "My Joham," a Norwegian song by Grieg," with Mr. T. W. Stanley as accompanist.

The platform was very picturesque, with its beautifully set bridal table with silver service and silver candelabra holding white and pink tapers, and centered with a three-storey wedding cake and spring flowers.

In the centre of the platform was an evergreen arch and white 'mums.

Mr. Stanley played the wedding music, while Mrs. Cecil Moore, attired in her own white wedding dress, read the following:

Traces History

It is doubtful if any time in the life of the average woman is more surrounded by tradition than her wedding day. Christ's first miracle was the changing of water to wine at the wedding of a friend. And so we go back to the tradition of the bride's cake, which had its origin in the Roman form of marriage, the essential features of it were the eating by the couple of a cake made by salt, water and flour and the holding by the bride of three wheat ears as a symbol of plenty.

Under the Emperor Tiberius the cake eating fell into disuse, but the wheat ears survived. In the middle ages ,they were either worn or carried by the bride. Eventually it became the custom for the young girls to assemble outside the church porch and throw grains of wheat over the bride. In Queen Elizabeth's reign this was change to cakes made of milk, sugar, currants and spices. The cakes were broken and sprinkled over the bride's head. Every wedding had one cake at least and the whole collection was throw at the bride the instant she crossed the threshold. Confetti of the modern day does seem light treatment in comparison to this.

Ancient Customs

Groomsmen and bridesmaids had formerly important duties. The men were called bride-knights, and represented a survival of the primitive days of marriage by capture when a man called his friends in to assist him in stealing the bride.

Bridesmaids were common in Saxon- England. The senior of them had personally to attend the bride for some days before the wedding.

The making of the bridal wreaths, the decorations of the table for the wedding feast, the dressing of the bride were among her special tasks.

The bride's wreath is a Christian substitute for the gilt coronet all Jewish brides wore. The crowning of the bride is still observed by the Russians and the Calvanists of Holland and Switzerland.

The wearing of orange blossoms is said to have started with the Saracens, and it was introduced into England by the Crusaders. The bride's veil is a modern form of the large yellow veil which completely enveloped the Greek and Roman brides during the ceremony.

Times Marches On

The bridal procession was proceeded by four little maids of honor in dresses which had been worn at previous weddings. They were little Diane Rowland, wearing a blue crepe dress which Doris Reynolds had worn as flower girl at her aunt's, Helen Lewis of Welcome's, wedding. Next came Elaine Lent, in a pink frosted organdy floor-length dress of Margy June Hancock's, which she wore at the wedding of her cousin, Isobel Dawson. Joan Giffen, in a green crepe frock of Gwen Budd's, worn at the wedding of her sister on October 10, 1941; and Nancy Hutchings, in Helen Stephenson's dress worn at the wedding of her aunt , Laura Stephenson ,and June Moore's dress made for Jean Brooks' wedding was worn by Gwendolyn Hyne.

Oldest Dress

The honors for the oldest dress went to one worn by Loretta Caldwell of Perrytown in 1857; just 85 years ago. This was blue taffeta with large white silk fringed shawl and was worn by the wife of that worthy lady's grandson, Mrs. Anson Dunbar of Welcome.

The next, and perhaps the most picturesque outfit, was worn by Mrs. A. Fulford, and was a grey taffeta belonging to a Miss Cunningham, who was married on March 10, 1872, to Mr. Chisholm of Milton. This dress, with hat to match, was made by the bride herself, and measures 4½ yards around the hem. About five years ago it was worn at a costume dance in the Royal York Hotel in Toronto, and carried off first prize.

The next was the oldest white wedding dress and it dated back to October 14, 1896, when it was worn by Miss Jennie Wood, when she became the bride of J. L. Westaway in Port Hope.

Another beautiful old dress is the one which was worn by Lillian Tapscott, when she became the wife of Andrew Troop on June 8, 1903.

A white embroidery and lace model of August 12, 1912, belonged to Florence Barker when she became the bride of Mr. George Garnett.

The next was a wedding dress of white satin face crepe and Spanish lace with hooped skirt, worn by Margaret Storey when she became the bride of Melville G. Hancock in June, 1927.

Nineteen hundred and thirty-two was the next in line, a peach georgette dress worn by Marion Vansickle when she was married to E. Bruce Hryne on August 13, 1932.

The dress, worn by Ruth McCullough of Midland when she was married to Mr. Harry Sing, on September 19, 1934, was designed by Madame Seignor and was a pretty sky blue floor-length.

On September 12, 1936, Bernice Wakely became the wife of W. R. Brown attired in a floor-length gown of white satin, and veil with organe blossoms.

Mrs. H. Beatty then appeared wearing her own wedding dress of beige lace, floor length, with matching hat and shoes and carrying a prayer book. This wedding took place in St. John's Anglican Church, Port Hope, on June 5, 1937, and the bride previous to her marriage was Miss Rebecca Bell.

A 1937 model then appeared; a pale blue taffeta, with sweetheart neck line which was the wedding dress of Miss Kathleen Oke when she became the bride of Dr. Douglas Waldon on September 18, 1937.

At St. Paul's Church, Coldsprings, the marriage took place of Jean Brooks and Byron Tyson. The bride chose as her wedding day, November 2, 1938, which was the 28th anniversary of her father's and mother's wedding. Her attendants were Lorene Mann and Jean Hawkins, and tiny June Moore as flower girl.

Bloomfield United Church was the scene of an interesting wedding on December 9, 1939, when Betty Montgomery became the wife of Ronald Baxter. The bride was attended by Miss Norma Mac. Rosti and Miss Frieda Healey. The groom was attended by his twin brother, Donald Baxter.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Wesley United Church, Galt, on May 25 ,1940, when Margaret Campbell became the bride of Stuart Ellis.

August 23, 1941, was the most recent wedding dress shown, and it had been worn by Winnifred Perrin when she became the bride of Dr. G. T. Shaw and the veil she wore was the one worn by Helen Ward when she married Keith Barnard on October 11, 1941.

And so the cavalcade of wedding dresses came to a close.

Mrs. M. C. Bryant then favored the gathering with two delightful solos, "Down in the Forest" by Landon Ronald, and "Chiribiribin" by Pestalozza.

At this time each hostess filled her silver teapot and all guests enjoyed delicious refreshments.

War Lectures Start In Port Hope

PORT HOPE, March 20.—(ENS) —The first meeting of the emergency in war classes took place in the library hall on Thursday night at 8 o'clock with Mrs. E. G. Britton in charge.

Mrs. Britton gave a general outline of these emergency classes and the different types of first aid which would be given by the doctors in the following lectures.

Mrs. Britton stressed the point that in case of an accident "If you can't do any good, don't do any harm." By this she explained in the case of a car accident not to move the accident victim till proper help and facilities are available.

The next lecture will be given by Dr. Vivian on Air Raid Precautions and Air Raid Shock which will be a most interesting and beneficial lecture and will be held on Monday night at 8 o'clock.

A demonstration on the psychology of emergency was then given by Mrs. Mayor who arranged for and wrote a most interesting script showing Mrs. Gettys as the victim spraining her ankle while washing windows and Mrs. Morris coming in as the first aider with Mrs. Mayor taking the part of the maid. It was shown how to bandage for this kind of a sprained ankle and the first aid required.

Some fifty members attended and joined at this first lecture and were a most interested group.

London, March 20 (CP)

REUTERS said the Berlin radio was heard today announcing that food rations are to be reduced in Germany beginning April 4.

The broadcast reported that there will be cuts in bread, fat and meat rations, but that these will affect only the normal consumer, about 40 per cent of the population.

Needs of heavy workers will be considered, the German radio added, while rations for growing children either will remain the same or will be increased lightly.

Fewer Aussies To Train Here

CANBERRA, Australia, March 20 —(CP-Reuters) — "Radical alterations" in the Commonwealth Air Training Plan to meet the new needs of the Allies are predicted in informed quarters here and it is understood that the training of Australian airmen will be changed gradually.

Many Australian airmen now are schooling with American air force units to increase their knowledge of front-line operational planes and battle tactics.

Mayor Hamilton Welcomes Threshermen

Mayor Hamilton told the Brotherhood of Threshermen Thursday night that in coming back to Peterborough for the second year in succession they implied a compliment which added warmth to his greeting of welcome.

"I always find it a pleasure and a privilege to be invited to conventions such as yours" His Worship said, "and I always try to come to every one I am invited to. I have observed that the men who give leadership in their professions who have ideals and desire to raise the standard of their work. That is particularly so in farm organizations. I know many of them such as the Holstein breeders and other breed groups, the vegetable growers and so on. Their members are trying to do good for everybody connected with their industries."

Mayor Hamilton referred to the shortage of labor for farms this

Passing The Buck

It is one thing to make a regulation and it is quite another thing to make it work. Apparently some of the regulations regarding transport are having strange and unforseen results.

When the Peterborough Soldiers' Hockey Team went to St. Catharines on Tuesday night to play against Merritton they were unable to charter a bus to transport them, as the chartering of buses is now forbidden, in order to save tires, gasoline and motor vehicles. Therefore they made the journey in five motor cars and a station wagon. Would it not have been better to let them have a bus in the first place? When they arrived at their destination they found a large bus already on hand which had been chartered to bring a basketball team to St. Catharines and the same bus was used by the Merritton team to Oshawa on Thursday night.

Now in order to stop this sort of inequality in the application of the regulations respecting transport, it is necessary for someone to lay a charge against the law-breakers—in fact to become a common informer. Nobody fancies the role of informer for himself, and it is unfair for the authorities to force that unpleasant part upon the citizen who wants to see the law carried out. If the transport regulations lead to such stupid waste as the use of five cars and a truck where one light bus would have been sufficient, and if transport companies are able to depend upon the dislike of tale-bearing which most people feel in order to evade the regulations, let us have the regulations changed. Stupid laws are difficult to enforce and create a cynical attitude toward laws in general. The present transport regulations involve too much buck-passing to be really effective.

Something To Judge By

The Government at Ottawa is subjected to a great deal of criticism, some of it violent and unrestrained, some of it more closely reasoned, and to this criticism it answers nothing. We think that it is mistaken in maintaining silence when its enemies are perpetually noisy, for there are a great many people in this Dominion who are open to conviction and at present they are hearing one side of the argument only. If now and again, Ottawa would tell us what it is about, we should be very grateful, and a vast amount of rumor and misinformation would be put in its proper light. Recently someone connected with the Government descended from Sinai and left tablets of stone upon the steps of the Ottawa Journal containing this information, which we are glad to pass on:

During the month of February Canada sent $4,000,000 worth of arms to Russia.

We sent $6,730,000 worth of arms to India.

We sent $4,9000,000 worth of arms to Australia.

We sent $17,000,000 worth of arms to Egypt.

We sent $3,297,000 worth of arms to Iraq.

We sent $59,000,000 worth of arms and goods to the United Kingdom.

That is a total of $77,927,000 worth of goods and arms sent out of this country during the shortest month of the year.

Possibly the Government's critics do not consider this enough, and, as we are not in the know, we cannot dispute the matter with them. But it is certainly a good deal, and it certainly disposes of the impression that Canada is doing nothing; indeed, it is an eye-opener. We wish that Ottawa would tell us things like this oftener. It may not wholly dispose of the doubts of those who feel that we are not doing enough, and it will certainly not silence the malcontents, but it will make the majority of thinking citizens in this country much happier. It will give them something concrete by which they can judge the extent of our war effort.

Restriction Of Deliveries

The restriction of delivery services has been expected for some time and now that it has come it will involve no hardship if shops and shoppers are fair and considerate to one another. The customer who spends a good deal of money in a shop must not trade upon that fact to ask for special favors, nor should shopkeepers lay themselves open to criticism by dropping goods from their private cars, or allowing their employees to do so, when they are themselves on the way home. The delivery restriction will work well if everybody carries it out strictly.

The reason for the restriction, of course, is to conserve gasoline, rubber and motor equipment. Certain services, considered vital, are not under the restriction. Fuel may be delivered at any time, and hospitals, railways and steamships may ask for goods, and have them, when they are needed. Governmental war departments are not restricted, nor is the delivery of medicines or the distribution of newspapers.

This restriction may prove a blessing to retail merchants who have been having increasing difficulty in finding good men and boys for delivery. If there is to be but one round of deliveries a day it may be possible to allow a higher-priced employee to be absent from the shop for a few hours in order to make it, thus eliminating the problem of the delivery boy altogether.

It will not always be possible to order everything which may be needed a day beforehand, and we may expect to see a revival of the old custom of carrying parcels. This has been going on in Britain for many months, and commentators say that almost everyone there, men and women alike, carries a shopping bag. It may be a little tiresome and a little undignified to walk through the streets carrying parcels, but it must be done. The saving of gasoline and rubber may seem small to us as individuals, but carried out through the Dominion it will have a very large effect. It is our duty to see that it is carried out thoroughly and cheerfully.

Writing And Thinking

Recently a contemporary, the Guelph Mercury, published an editorial which has been reprinted in many papers, without comment. The fact that the piece is reprinted seems to be evidence that other editors agree with the writer. Here is the editorial in question:

"The craft of writing can be taught.

"Through practice and criticism young people of ordinary intelligence can acquire the technique of clear and orderly statement just as certainly as they can be taught to read and to multiply.

"Training in writing will not make every boy and girl a literary artist or anything remotely resembling one, but it will produce competent craftsmen.

"Most college graduates, to judge from their letters, are not competent writers, not because they are deficient in intelligence, but because their training has been neglected. They have had too little criticism of their writing and the standard of accomplishment in the courses they have taken has been set far too low."

We are in agreement with this general criticism. There are few men and women in ordinary occupations who can say what they have to say without confusion and without a wordy haemorrhage. There are few who have a grasp on the essentials of English grammar. As for college graduates, they are quite likely to be worse than people of more restricted education. This is because they are, as a usual thing, better drilled in Latin grammar than in English grammar, and when they want to be particularly impressive they write English as though it were Latin; unfortunately this does not result in the eloquence of a Cicero or the compression of a Tacitus, but only in a jumble of Latin constructions imposed upon English words.

Grammar is neglected, and too little respect is shown for words. There are rules of good taste governing the formation of new words, and they should be observed. Such horrors as "lubritorium" and "nutritionist" are offenses against public taste, and to say that one "contacted" a man when one went to see him is pretentious nonsense.

Finally, there is a bad modern trick of using words not to reveal, but to conceal thought; even worse, words are used in a grossly extravagant manner to conceal lack of thought. The place to correct this evil is not in the universities; it is too late to do much for a young man or woman who has entered their halls. The place to begin is in the elementary schools, with a thorough grounding in grammar and an often repeated injunction that writing should be the result of thought, and not a revelation of its processes.

The Billion Dollar Gift

The discussion which is going on now in Parliament about the proposed gift of one billion dollars worth of war supplies to Britain this year reveals a remarkable and admirable unity of opinion among the party leaders. Mr. Hanson and Mr. Coldwell have shown unreserved approval; the only voice heard in dissent so far has been that of Mr. Quelch of the New Democracy group, and he appears to take a somewhat unrealistic view of the situation. Economics, in times like these, have to be workable rather than theoretically pleasing.

The motives behind the proposed gift are many. The first and most important is that Britain needs goods which we can produce, and this is no time for us to deny her anything she wants. Mr. Hanson stated the case well when he declared that the gift was "much more than a gesture," being indeed "a very tangible recognition of an obligation the payment of which is long past due by Canada." In time of peace we have received many benefits from Britain for which we have not paid, and since the outbreak of war Britain has defended us, as well as the United States. These are things which we must bear in mind, for Canada is at present in her late adolescence, and like most adolescents she is apt to forget, in her eagerness for freedom and the privileges of adulthood, that she is stil the receiver of many costly benefits from her mother. We have heard much in the past few years about Canada's destiny, and whether it leads her to the United States or holds her to Britain, and in this windy pseudo-historico-economical discussion we have temporarily forgotten certain strong ties of sentiment and gratitude. The billion dollar gift is a sign that we are growing up and are putting off the petty ingratitude of the half-grown child.

The second motive was presented in a few words by Mr. Coldwell. "Under a capitalist economy we cannot allow our best customer to get into debt," said he. The billion dollar gift will adequately cover the estimated deficiency in Canadian dollars which exists in Britain for purchases which she will make in Canada this year. No one doubts that it will be a critical year, and it would be foolish to allow Britain to go short of necessary materials for lack of money to pay for them. This billion dollars is a gift in the sense that we will not get it back in money, but it is certainly not money from which we will derive no benefit.

Wardsville Changes Its Mind

We like to see independence of mind; we like to see people think for themselves. As present the United Nations are locked in a struggle with powers which seek to deprive men of their freedom to think as they like, and so we hail the decision of the people of the little hamlet of Wardsville, in Middlesex county, who, after thirty years as a total abstinence community, have voted for the sale of beer and wine. Out of a total population of 248, votes were cast by 176; 112 were for beer and wine and 64 were against. In vain did the total abstinence cry go up: Wine is a mocker; strong drink is raging! These commodities will mock and rage during specified hours in Wardsville until the populace changes its mind again.

Ordinarily this change is the Wardsville scene would attract little attention, but at present there is considerable agitation against the sale of alcohol in any form or strength, and the legions of total abstinence are girding themselves for the fray. It is announced that Canada spends half a billion dollars a year on the purchase of drink, and some ardent abstainers have not hesitated to say that it was not lack of air power which cost us Singapore and a great part of Oceania, but the habit of the white population in that part of the world of consuming gin-slings. The Ajax Club in Halifax has been closed because certain citizens preferred that sailors should drink beer surreptitiously in unsavory dives rather than openly in a pleasant club provided for their use. In fact, trouble is brewing over the liquor question again, and if the total abstainers have their way that is all that will be brewing in Canada in a few months.

Therefore we salute Wardsville, not because it has decided to sell beer and wine, which may or may not prove to be a good thing, but because it is not afraid to run counter to a rising tide of opinion. Such independence is the very blood of democracy.

THE MERCHANTMEN

Out o'er the broad Atlantic,
To Britain's sea-girt shores
The endless line of merchant ships
Steam forth with precious stores.
Corvette and cruiser guard them
'Gainst perils of the deep,
While gallant crews untiring
A ceaseless vigil keep.

No wind or wave dismays them,
Or can their progress bar
As onward ply the merchantmen
To 'leaguered lands afar,
Unmindful of the danger
That near them hidden lies,
Undaunted by the terror
That threatens from the skies.

In calm or stormy weather,
'Mid hours of darkest night,
The cargo-laden argosy
Moves on in silent might,
Men of the merchant navy
All unsung heroes, these,
Who guard the Empire's lifeline
And freedom of the seas.

Congratulations No, Not Now

INSTEAD of rushing to cheer because Hitler in his Zeughaus speech is reported to have "admitted that the Nazi drive of annihilation against Russia has been postponed from spring to summer" we could probably be more sensibly employed trying to find out from a complete text of the speech whether the German leader admitted anything of the kind. And instead of concluding that such an admission, if it was made, is a sign of German weakness, it might be safer to conclude that is is a dangerous sign of German common sense, says Kingston Whig-Standard.

Actually, there is some internal evidence in the fragmentary reports of the speech which provide reasons why we should be deriving small comfort from it. Unless we are mistaken, there is a tone in the fragments that have been published which suggests that we now have to deal with a somewhat sobered Hitler, a man who will be less of the fanatic and gambler and who is likely to be more methodical, more thorough and even more deadly than he has been in the past.

To be excited and pleased because he is now talking of a summer rather than a spring offensive against Russia is only another sign that we never seem to be able to get over wishful facts about spring on most of the thinking. If we kept in mind the Russian front, nothing should be more pleasant for us and the Russians to contemplate than a German spring offensive. The German army is a dry weather machine. All its training, tactics and equipment were designed primarily for summer campaigning.

If it were to launch a spring offensive in the morass of Russian mud, the Russians would have an advantage over it that would probably be equal to that given them during the past few months by the winter. If, however, the Nazis wait until the ground is dry and hard, they will again be able to fight their own kind of campaign. It is true that various Nazi propagandists have been talking about a "spring" offensive, but it is very doubtful if any German military leader has even for a moment considered trying to get the machine into high gear offensive action before the ground becomes dry and hard in the early summer.

There is another bad sign for us in Hitler's speech, namely his frank and detailed admission to the German people of the difficulties of fighting the Russians. The old tendency to exaggerate a bit was in the sentence, "Joined with our brave allies, the German army has attacked and annihilated again and again the ever-renewed Russian forces only to meet further masses of men," but it would be difficult to present more forcefully to the German people the type of opposition confronting their army. The Russians are still able to throw further masses of men into the conflict and will be able to continue to do so for a long time yet. When a leader of the Hitler type begins to take his people more or less realistically into his confidence he is tapping a new source of strength. One thing we can be certain of and that is that the Germans will try mightily to fulfil the promise of the speech to "annihilatingly" defeat the Russians during the coming summer.

The German plan for a summer campaign of annihilation will likely be to strike with all their strength in European Russia while Rommel creates a diversion in North Africa and the Middle East, and the Japanese, if the Germans can induce them to do it, attack Asiatic Russia from Manchoukuo. It will be a terrific onslaught unless the Russians can succeed in keeping the Nazis on the defensive in European Russia. Our Russian ally will need all the help we can send her.

• Monsoon to Save Burma?

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 20 —(AP)— Hard knocks rained by growing Allied air power in Australia on Japanese sea supply lines, and weather certainties in Burma, are forcing the Tokyo war management to show its hand soon as to which way, if either, it intends to strike next in the Pacific. The alternative is to halt for consolidation and let Hitler try to take over the offensive for the Axis.

It is still uncertain whether Japanese invasion thrusts at New Guinea are a prelude to a full-fledged incursion into Australia. Footholds the enemy has seized there and that he is seeking to expand would be equally useful as bases from which to harry American - Australian supply lines. Those lines constitute the greatest threat to the conquest pattern Tokyo is trying to work out.

There are very urgent reasons for a Japanese concentration immediately in Burma, however. The campaign must come to a halt in lower Burma within a few weeks for weather reasons.

STRATEGY OF MUD

Once the vast winds of the Indian Ocean make their annual turnabout beginning in late April to pour the April - to - October "wet monsoon" across the delta of the Irrawaddy, the war on the Burma front must subside. To maintain adequate supply lines in lower Burma in that period of tremendous thunderstorms and continuous tropical downpours appears as much an impossibility as mass troop movements or effective air work.

General Wavell's hopes of stalling the Japanese thrust against his British forces and Chinese armies, now under American command, rests heavily upon the time and weather elements. Old General Mud has been the master of many a battlefield and lower Burma is likely to prove no exception. His entry date there has been fixed by centuries of observation of the monsoon phenomena.

Unless the Japanese mass sufficient force in Burma to crush British-Indian-Chinese Armies very quickly, a weather stalemate on that front seems inevitable. That is unquestionably a key to the United Nation strategy of retirement northward in Burma to successive resistance lines —a strategy that makes the loss of Rangoon an indecisive victory.

EMPIRE REGROUPS ARMIES

There seems, too, little doubt that a tremendous shifting of British Empire forces all the way from England to India has been gathering momentum ever since Japan struck in the Pacific to change the whole nature of the war. From that moment the mission of the British desert army in North Africa changed. It became a defensive instead of an offensive force.

It seems likely also that the composition of that Empire force has been undergoing a change, with Australia and India menaced, withdrawal from Libya of veteran Australian, New Zealand and Indian troops from Britain that could be spared from home defense garrisons with the arrival in the British Isles of fresh Canadian contingents and an American Expeditionary Force.

That process would take time. The outside route from Britain around the Cape of Good Hope is terribly long, but reasonably safe.

Nevertheless, a British - Chinese stand in Central Burma until the "wet monsoon" season opens would afford additional months to complete a regrouping of Empire forces for defense of India and China's life lines.

• Threnody for Can-opener

THE old joke about the modern bride being able to set up housekeeping with a can-opener is another thing to pack away in moth-balls for the duration. When the Japanese swept over the tin mines of the Netherlands East Indies they reduced by an immeasurable degree the importance of the can-opener in the Canadian kitchen. As the dispatches from Ottawa point out, the announcement of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that tinplate is to be greatly restricted as a material in which to pack pork and beans, ready-to-serve soup and a number of other commodities, will have "far-reaching effects" on the processing of this year's fruit and vegetable crop and upon the buying habits of the Canadian housewife.

The chances are, however, that the effect on the processing will be greater than the effect on the buying habits of the housewife. The latter, we should imagine, will probably continue to buy most of the "canned goods" she now buys, even if they are no longer in cans. Glass is almost certain to have a great boom as a container, while other food that is now usually packed in tin cans will likely be available in dry packages. Soups, for example, have already been appearing for some time in dehydrated package form, requiring only the addition of water to convert them into just about the same appetising type of foodstuff that has been coming out of cans. Many types of vegetables will also likely be available in dehydrated form.

Extraordinary things have been done with one dehydrating process developed by Canadians, but to date products packed in this way have been almost exclusively restricted to overseas shipment because of the great economies that can be effected in shipping space and weight. Under the stimulus of the tin plate shortage, products of this type are likely to come more generally on the market.

Meanwhile, the container made of glass, which already has been coming into the modern Canadian home almost as frequently as the tin can, will be the standard means of packing "canned goods" which cannot be packaged in other ways. In the United States, glass containers have during the past two or three years proved formidable competitors of tin cans, and even in Canada such foods as pork and beans packed in glass have been on the market for some time.

All things considered, it looks as if those who might be inclined to cheer and happily write requiems for the can-opener, in the hope that now they will get a few "good old-fashioned home-cooked meals," would be well-advised to restrain themselves until they see what the ingenuity of the commercial packers of foodstuffs brings forth. And those who have looked forward to dyspepsia on the disappearance of the can-opener may be equally well advised to shake off their fears.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

The lofty looks of man shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down, and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day. For the day of the Lord of hosts shall be upon every one that is lifted up; and he shall be brought low....

Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?—Isa. ii, 11, 12, 22.

Thus saith the Lord; Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord. For he shall be like the health in the desert, and shall not see when good cometh; but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.—Jer. xvii, 5, 6.

As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more. But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children. —Ps. ciii, 15-17.

Irish Concert Presented By Lakefield W.A.

LAKEFIELD, March 20 (ENS) — St. Patrick's motifs, green and white streamers and shamrocks decorated the United church hall on Tuesday evening for the St. Patrick's concert sponsored by the W.A. Rev. G. F. Kelly was the chairman and preceding the program Miss Pauline Butcher, Miss Maryalyce Renwick and Miss Doreen Kelly played several piano solos.

John David Grylls opened the program with a piano solo, Sonatina 'Op. 55 No. 1;' followed by a reading "Mrs. Blake's Trip to the White Mountains," a humorous account of the trials and difficulties overcome by two elderly ladies in their excursion to the mountains, contributed by Mrs. J. A. Murphy.

Mrs. H. E. Moore was the accompanist for the soloists, the first being Jamie Hull. This was followed by Miss Elva Northey's piano solo, "Little Irish Rose." Other vocal numbers include "The Kerry Dance" by Mrs. O. Butcher, "Friend of Mine" by Charles Hemsley; "She's the Daughter of Mother Machree" by Mrs. J. R. Hull; "Tipperary" by Rev. G. F. Kelly and "The Little Ould Town in Ould County Downe" and encore by Charles Hemsley.

Two short plays were also given, the first one "Aunt Deborah's First Luncheon," was the story of a country cousin's unexpected visit to her city relatives the day of a luncheon, and of how the cousin with her outspoken comments on the menu won the hearts of the luncheon guests and the promise of paying guests during the summer at her farm home. Taking part were Mrs. Travers, the city relative, Mrs. O. Butcher; her daughter, Elizebeth, Miss Minnie Charlton; Aunt Deborah, of the country, Mrs. C. H. Hunter; and the guests Mrs. Cartwright (Mrs. Ivan Madill) and Mrs. Warfield (Mrs. J. R. Hull). The parts of the servants, who with their discussion of the luncheon, gave the audience the details of Aunt Deborah's remarks, were taken by Mrs. O. Calberry as Annette and Mrs. H. C. C. Wannamaker as Mary.

Interspersed between the plays were the solos and a musical selection with Kenneth Carveth on the mouth organ and violin and Wellie Garbutt the guitar, also a reading "The Reason" by Miss Freda Webster. The vocal trio composed of the Kelly sisters, Helen, Doreen and Joan sang "The White Cliffs of Dover" un-accompanied. Two guitar selections were played by Mrs. Ivan Madill and Miss Jean Garbutt entitled "Rose O' Day" and "My Wild Irish Rose."

"How the Story Grew," with scenes in several local kitchens and a living room, gave the exaggerated story of a bit of small town gossip, about the arrival of some newcomers to a previously empty house. As the news spread from person to person it grew until the lady who started the tale didn't recognize the ending.

Those taking part were Mrs. D. Campbell, Mrs. S. A. Grylls, Mrs. F. L. Erskine, Mrs. D. MacMillen, Mrs. Vera Deck, Mrs. J. N. Brown, Mrs. S. Richardson and Mrs. C. Payne.

Other items included a violin and piano selection, "Medley of Irish Songs," by Mrs. H. E. Moore and Miss Elva Northey and guitar selections "Little Brown Church in the Vale" and "When it's Prayer Meeting Time in the Hollow," by the Misses Zelma and Thelma Tedford.

Make Sure of these Four

PROTECTIVE FOODS ARE ESSENTIAL FOODS

● Do you serve the protective foods liberally to your family? You should, because young and old alike require them every day. They are essential foods in which Mother Nature has stored useful amounts of vitamins, minerals, protein and carbohydrates. Most protective foods can be obtained from your grocer, and among them is Dr. Jackson Meal — a whole-grain cereal developed by a food expert. It provides natural nourishment, promotes regularity, exercises the teeth, and encourages appetite. Start every day with Dr. Jackson Meal, eat sufficient of other protective foods, and ensure a sound nutritional foundation.

Ask your grocer for THE ONLY CEREAL that combines THESE GRAINS

1. Whole kernels of wheat (with bran)
2. Whole kernels of rye
3. Flax-o-lin
4. Rice polishings

London Mirror's Editorials May Get It Shut

LONDON, March 20—(CP).—An official spokesman said today the Daily Mirror, a tabloid whose editorials generally have been critical of the Government, had been warned that it might be suppressed.

Under defence regulations, any newspaper that systematically publishes matter calculated to foment opposition to the war effort may be closed down.

A recent Mirror cartoon showing seamen of a torpedoed tanker on a raft bore the caption, "Price of petrol has been raised a penny" Objections were made that the drawing suggested seamen were risking their lives in order that capital might profit.

The question also was raised whether the cartoon did not encourage defeatism and might not discourage seamen from serving their country.

An official spokesman said:

"The cartoon in question is only one example, but a particularly evil example, of the policy and methods of a newspaper which is intent on exploiting an appetite for sensation and which, with reckless indifference to the national interest and to their prejudicial effect on the war effort, repeatedly has published scurrilous misrepresentations, distorted and exaggerated statements, and impossible generalizations.

"In the same issue a leading article stated:

" 'The accepted tip for army leadership would, in plain words, be this: All who aspire to mislead the other in war should be brass-buttoned boneheads, socially prejudiced, arrogant and fussy. A tendency to heart disease, apoplexy, diabetes and high blood pressure is desirable in the highest spots'."

"Reasonable criticism on specific points and persons is one thing," said the spokesman. "General violent denunciation manifestly tending to undermine the army and depress the whole population is quite another. Such insidious attacks are not to be excused by calls in other parts of the paper for more vigorous action."

London Court Kills Coca-Cola Action

LONDON, March 20 (CP Cable).— The judicial committee of the Privy Council today upheld a Canadian Supreme Court judgment dismissing an action by the Coca Cola Company against the Pepsi-Cola Company and ruled that the plaintiff should pay the costs of the appeal.

Pepsi-Cola's counterclaim contesting validity of Coca Cola's trade mark also was dismissed with costs after counsel for the Pepsi-Cola Company stated his clients did not wish to proceed with the appeal.

Coca Cola's action charged infringement of a registered trade mark. The Privy Council ruled that as cola "is a word in common use in Canada in naming beverages it is plain that the distinctive feature in this hyphenated word is the first word coca and not cola...."

Athletics Carve Falcons Out

By The Canadian Press.

Only six junior hockey teams remained in the hunt for the Western Canada championship to-day with Winnipeg Falcons falling by the wayside in the only game played last night.

Falcons, after building up a 2-0 lead in the sixth game of the scheduled best of five Manitoba semi-final series against St. Boniface Athletics went on to drop a 3-2 overtime decision.

Hero of the game that sends St. Boniface against Portage La Prairie Terriers in the Manitoba final, a best of three affair opening Saturday night, was Art McMunn, son of Harold McMunn, ace Winnipeg players 21 years ago. McMunn senior played with Winnipeg Falcons, 1921 Memorial Cup winners, and the 1924 Winnipeg Granite team in the Olympic games of that year.

Art McMunn's goal came at 5.51 of the extra session after his team mates Gerry Lavalee and Eddie LeClair put Athletics on even terms. Falcons' marksmen were Roy Bader and Stan Delaney.

In addition to the two Manitoba sextets, Fort William Hurricane Rangers, Thunder Bay champions, Regina Abbotts and Flin Flon Bombers of Saskatchewan and Edmonton Maple Leafs in Alberta survive.

Race Tightens

Battles resume on three senior fronts tonight. Moose Jaw Millers and Saskatoon Quakers tangle at Saskatoon in the fifth of their best-of-five Saskatchewan final. Each has won once and two ended in draws.

Port Arthur Bear Cats of Thunder Bay and Winnipeg Navy Chippawas of Manitoba play the fourth game of their best-of-five series with Bear Cats favorites to advance to a western semi-final. The Lakehead sextet won twice and the other game ended in a 3-3 tie.

Kimberley Dynamiters, eliminated in the Alberta-British Columbia Senior League playoffs, are leading Victoria Navy in a series ordered by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to determine the province's best team. Kimberley won the opener 5-2, and the second of the best-of-three will be played at Victoria.

The Alberta final between Calgary Stampeders and Lethbridge Maple Leafs resumes tomorrow night at Lethbridge. Stampeders are ahead 2-1 in the best-of-five series.

Race Men Study War Program

CHICAGO, March 20.—(AP)—Formation of a national association of race track operators, which had failed to materialize after all previous attempts, came yesterday as the first apparent result of the three-day meeting here of the American Racing Congress.

The congress, significant because it has gathered together for the first time representatives of all branches of the racing industry in the United States, held its opening session this morning. Separate sessions of track operators, breeders, commissioners, and owners, jockeys and trainers were conducted yesterday afternoon.

The meeting was called by Beverley Broun, president of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, to consider the industry's war-born problems and obligations. Recommendations of the various groups on how the sport may best contribute to the war effort are to be reported to the general session today.

John C. Clark of Hialeah Park was elected president of the new track operators' association, which will be formally known as the Thoroughbred Racing Associations of the United States. Harry Parr, III, of Pimlico was elected vice-president, Named to the board of directors were Matt Winn, Churchill Downs and Lincoln Fields; Carleton Burke, Santa Anita; George M. Francis, Belmont; and James Dooley, Narragansett.

Questions as to what steps the new asociation might take before the end of the congress were left unanswered as hotel huddles among the representatives of the twenty-two tracks in attendance continued.

Before the congress convened it had been intimated the operators would band together to pledge a cash donation to defense organizations. Estimates of the amount that the tracks might subscribe ran from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, but no action has been taken on any such proposals.

Formation of the new operators' association migh upset plans to continue a skeleton organization of the racing congress, inasmuch as commissioners, already have their own organization and the operators and commissioners comprise the two largest groups in attendance.

Bears, Barons Polish Off Eastern Rivals

By The Canadian Press

That seasoned argument in the American Hockey League as to which division is the strongest, swung in favor of Western section followers today as all three of their clubs still remain in the hunt for league honors, with the East now represented by one club—Springfield Indians.

Last night both Hershey Bears and Cleveland Barons of the Western division polished off Eastern rivals to win their best-of-three series in straight games. The Bears ended New Haven Eagles' hopes with a narrow 1-0 win, while Barons sent Washington Lions into the background on a 3-2 victory.

Meanwhile, Indianapolis Capitals, Western section champion, put on another of their typical fighting displays to overwhelm Springfield Indians, Eastern section titleholders, 10-3, and even the best-of-five struggle at one apiece.

While these clubs continue their fight in a "A" series, Cleveland and Hershey come together in the other semi-final playoff, with the first game of a best-of-three affairs set for Cleveland tomorrow night. The teams meet in Hershey Tuesday and if a third game is necessary it will be played back in Cleveland Thursday night.

A Tough Break

The goal which sent Eagles reeling to the sidelines was something of a bitter pill to swallow. It came with 19 seconds of playing time remaining when Hank Lauzon rifled the puck towards the net and it struck teammate Wally Wilson's stick with such force that the club twisted in his hand but deflected the puck past bewildered Phil Stein in the New Haven net. Eagles' Coach Earl Robinson was serving a penalty at the time.

Before that happened both teams had waged an even fight, with Stein turning in a spectacular performance in holding off the continued thrusts of the Bears.

Two goals in the middle session by Cleveland proved too much for Washington to overcome, as the best they could do was pick up a single goal, by Rod Lorrain, in the closing session.

The teams battled on even terms through the first period, with Lou Trudel of Lions matching Les Cunningham's early goal for Cleveland. But midway through the second period, Joffre Desilets put Barons ahead and Walter Melnyk scored what proved to be the clincher.

Showing a complete reversal over its first game, Indianapolis let go all its firing power in swamping Springfield. A three goal lead in the first period started Caps on their way and Springfield was unable to come back after that as Caps outscored them 3-1 in the second period and 4-2 in the final frame.

Joe Douglas led the Indianapolis goal getters with three for his night's work, while Bill Jennings and Jack Keating each scored two with the others going to Joe Fisher, Connie Brown and Jud McAtee. Springfield's markers were divided between Peanuts O'Flaherty, Fred Thurier and Pete Kelly.

The teams resume their series in Springfield tomorrow night.

Merritton Hayes Wire Redmen and Peterborough Soldiers will play their next game in the Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, on Tuesday night, the O.H.A. has ordered. A win for the Petes will settle the argument. If Merritton should happen to come through with a victory the deciding game would also be played at the Gardens. It is possible that a special train will be run to Toronto for Tuesday's game which the Petes management and players are confident will be the final battle of the season. In any event a large number of local fans will probably trek to the Queen City to cheer the Soldiers on in their final dash for the Ontario senior B title. In addition there are many Peterborough folk living in Toronto just now who will be on hand to whoop it up for the Petes. The local team is without ice for practice and will probably make a trip to Oshawa for a workout to ready themselves for Tuesday's game.

* * * * * *

The O.H.A. seems to have given the Petes the well-known runaround in regard to the replaying of the tie game with Merritton. The arrangement was the fixture was to be replayed in Oshawa Saturday night but Oshawa Generals' surprise defeat of Guelph, necessitating a fifth game in Oshawa to settle the junior finals, wiped that out so far as the Saturday date was concerned. Meanwhile the Redmen, after absorbing a defeat on Oshawa ice last night filed an immediate protest with the O.H.A. against having to play again in the Motor City and Secretary Hewitt has acted on their complain and ruled that the replay cannot be staged in Oshawa. Merritton wanted it shifted to St. Catharines. They did not get away with that but they were successful in knocking Oshawa out of the picture as the battle ground upon which that tie game is to be played. The Petes have a right to demand some logical reason for that decision.

* * * * * *

Why there should be all this shooting about the thing is difficult to understand. If there ice facilities here Merritton would have had to come back to Peterborough to play off the tie. With no chance of playing here the Petes named Oshawa as their home ice and that is where the game should be played, exactly as it would have been played here without any argument if there was ice. Merritton have already had their two home games in the series and have no real reason to complain about where the tie in the Petes home game is broken. Just to make the record clear there might have been no tie in that game if the Redmen had consented to play the regular ten minute overtime period. But they declined to continue and now they have a lot of nerve to kick about where the drawn game is settled. Playing in Oshawa would merely cut 60 miles off the trip the Redmen would have had to make if the contest was staged here where it would have been if ice was available.

Can Marines Come Through?

Can the Outboard Marines overcome the ten-point lead the Toronto Earl Greys will carry into the second game of their O.A.B.A. intermediate A playoff series at the Y.M.C.A. Saturday night? The Peterborough cagers declare that they can and will do it and thereby bring about one of the greatest upsets of the season. Outboards point out that they outscored the crack Toronto team throughout the first half of Wednesday's game in Toronto and only a momentary lapse in the second half enabled Earl Greys to set up their lead. The Peterborough cagers promise there will be one of those lapses Saturday and they predict that on their own floor they will carry the fast invaders along at top speed from the first jump to the final whistle and they hope to come through with enough baskets to climb into the final round. They are not underestimating their opposition, of course. Any team that can come through and win a Dominion championship must have plenty of power and the Toronto quintet sparked by Fox, Lowe and Bellchamber can turn it on when they get rolling. The game here Saturday night should be the fastest and most exciting cage battle of the season and undoubtedly will pack the available accommodation at the Y gym.

* * * * * *

Clayton Browne, writing in the St. Catharines Standard had the following comment on the eve of Wednesday's game in Oshawa: "In the opinion of sideliners, the factory towners could go into the van in the senior B finals, if they "stick to their ice knitting." Said task to consist of nothing but check, check and more check for 60 minutes. Peterborough is likely to bring down 100 or 200 backers, but the pride of the soldier gunners of Jimmy Ellis has been dealt a rather crushing blow to morale. Certain it is the Petes never expected to drop the third start here to Hayes and that harpooned right to the core. As for Redmen, they are truly the "wonder" team that Coach Mair has dubbed them. He frankly emits that he and the fan public keep wondering what the scarlet troops will do next and yet there hasn't been another puck unit like Hayes to show such team fight here this season, except senior Saints when they were two games down to the Falls Weavers. Verily, Hayes are the unpredictables of Ontario ice lanes this year, but as long as they come through with wins, the railbirds are with them to a man."

They're Both Hot

If last night's N.H.L. games mean anything they indicate that there are at least two "hot" teams in the playoffs and that they will clash in the first round. The two are the Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings. Canadiens, just to prove that they are all ready for the test, handed Toronto Maple Leafs a 7 to 3 trimming in Montreal last night and Red Wings defeated Chicago Black Hawks 6 to 4 at Detroit. Canadiens and Detroit tie into each other in the playoffs and it promises to be a sizzling series. Both outfits are playing their best hockey of the season just now and in addition there is a lot of ill feeling between the two clubs and the last round they engaged in came close to being a riot. They should really turn it on in the big series coming up. Incidentally Toronto Maple Leafs did not look last night like a club that hopes to beat the Rangers but after all there was nothing at stake.

A trip to the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium tonight would be well worth while. The Ladies' Basketball League playoffs get under way and two games are on the card that should produce plenty of color and excitement. It is a long time since such well matched teams have been featured in the final series and both games should be battles. Y Gym and Westclox clash in the first game of the intermediate finals at 7.45 o'clock and Generals and Quakers are tossed in against each other in the opening game of the senior finals, starting at 8.45. There is a real bill and the double-header should attract the biggest crowd of the season. The next games will be played on Wednesday of next week and if a third game is needed in either series or both, Friday of next week will be the date.

The final game will be played in Oshawa Saturday night....Markham defeated Belleville Initial Training School 6 to 3....Fleet, Livingstone, Dixon and Browne of the Trenton Flyers are playing with Belleville....Merritton fans are complaining that the Petes have been handed "four home games." Four Teams Win 3 to 1 Decisions In 5-Pin League

A head-pin epidemic kept big scores off the board in last night's City League bowling card at Duffus Alleys. 3 to 1 victories for Jay's Huffman's, Big Five and Capitol teams with a tie between Dunn's and Freeman's were the results of the games played.

Jay's first place team set the scoring pace again with a fair 3430 showing. They need only two more points of the sixteen to be played for to cling the bowling title for this year.

News From Training Camps

LOS ANGELES, March 20—(AP). — Manager Jimmy Wilson revised his plans or Chicago Cubs pitchers yesterday, much to the sorrow of Claude Passeau. In previous games the hurlers had worked three innings each. But against Pittsburg, Wilson decided to use only two pitchers. In the fourth inning Passeau was nicked for four hits and four runs.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Boston Braves arriving for their game today, found Cleveland Indians happy over the mound situation. In yesterday's 3-2 victory over Boston Red Sox, Vernon Kennedy scattered six hits through five innings and Al Smith held the Sox hitless in the last four frames.

ANAHEIM, Calif. — Connie Mack says Philadelphia Athletics' rookie, Jack Wallaesa, who played with Wilmington in the Inter-State League last year, "will be my shortstop when the season opens." The spot was vacated by Al Bracato, who joined the Navy.

Favor Robinson Against Rubio

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP).—Just by way of keeping his machinery from getting rusty while he's waiting for Red Cochrane to bring the welterweight title out of the Navy, Ray Robinson takes on Norman Rubio to-night in a 12-rounder in Madison Square Garden.

And if Rubio's recent exhibitions of walk in and wallop are any indication of what's on tap, the chances are the "sugar boy" from Harlem won't have much time to let the rust accumulate in this outing, in which he's putting up the longest unbeaten record of any fighter in the business to-day.

Robinson should run his string to 118 straight triumphs—89 as an amateur and 29 as a pro—in this affair. He's 1 to 4 in the betting shoppes and this corner likes him to finish with the decision. But Rubio's slugging style—takes two punches to land one and never stop charging—figures to make it a pretty fair evening's entertainment for the 8,000 to 9,000 customers Promoter Mike Jacobs expects to have on hand.

Grosso's Sprint Sets Him 3rd In Scoring Race

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Looking for Don Grosso's name in records of previous National Hockey League seasons is just a shade less difficult than looking for the stair on which sat the little man who wasn't there. But it won't be hard to find from now on.

The slim centre from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., picked up four scoring points last night to knock the props from under the supremacy New York Rangers' first forward line has held in N.H.L. scoring records this season. Grosso failed by three points to catch Byran Hextall and by one to catch Lynn Patrick, but he passed Phil Watson and broke up the one-two-three sequence the ace New York trio has held since mid-season.

Grosso's two goals and two assists for Detroit last night as Red Wings bounced Chicago Black Hawks 6-4 gave him a total of 53 scoring points for the season and third place in the final standings. He had 23 goals and 30 assists. Last year, handicapped by injuries, he had a total of only 15.

Montreal Canadiens drubbed Toronto Maple Leafs 7-3 in the other game last night as the N.H.L. cleared its decks for Stanley Cup playoff action. But Grosso's effort outshone such contemporary features as Charlie Sands' 100th N.H.L. goal and a knee injury to Sweeney Schriner, Toronto's fine winger.

Two Quick Ones

Grosso's two goals came within eight seconds of the last minute in the first period. Eddie Wares and Syd Abel counted in the third. Edie Bush an Jerry Brown were other Detroit scorers.

The veteran Earl Seibert had a big night for Hawks, scoring twice and assisting in one of the two counted by Max Bentley. It was Detroit's seventh straight victory on home ice.

Charlie Sands' 100th goal was the only counter in the first period at Montreal, and Canadiens came out of a hectic second session leading 4-3, then dominated the third period for three more. Terry Reardon, Ray Getliffe, Ken Reardon, Johnny Quilty, Red Herron and Joe Benoit —were other Montreal goal-getters. Sweeney Schriner, Lorne Carr and Hank Goldup counted for Toronto.

Schriner suffered a bruised right knee in the third period, but the injury was not serious and the sure-shooting winger is likely to be in shape to play in Toronto's first Stanley Cup semi-final contest against Rangers in Toronto Saturday night.

The cup quarter-finals will open in Detroit and Chicago Sunday night, with Canadiens at Detroit and Boston at Chicago. These series will be best-of-three. Toronto and Rangers play best-of-seven in the semi-final. Winners of Montreal-Detroit and Chicago-Boston will meet in another best-of-three series for the right to engage the Toronto-New York winner in the Stanley Cup final.

Galan Replacing Medwick In Dodger Field

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20—(AP).—This probably will come as a pleasant surprise to Augie Galan, himself, but Augie is due to start this coming baseball season as the regular left fielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, supplanting Joe Medwick, who cost the club $125,000 only two years ago.

Medwick, in fact, will be with the National League champions on Opening Day only in the event that President Larry MacPhail is not successful in his present efforts to trade Joe and holdout Pitcher Whit Wyatt either to the Cincinnati Reds or the Chicago Cubs. A deal of some sort might pop any day now.

Washed Up Year Ago

It is a tremendous break for Galan to crash the regular lineup of the club popularly favored to repeat in the National. A year ago he was considered a hopeless baseball cripple, washed-up because of an injured knee. The Chicago Cubs, for whom he had played since 1934, returned him to the minors, and Brooklyn got him for next to nothing. It purely was a hunch on MacPhail's part. And now, through a dramatic series of circumstances, he turns up with one of the most coveted jobs in the game.

Augie, approaching 30, reported to the Dodgers' Havana camp this Spring completely unheralded and more or less unnoticed. The team's outfield was spoken for with Medwick in left, Pete Reiser in centre, and Dixie Walker in right.

Then his knee began to feel good under the hot Cuban sun, and he began to run and field and hit. Augie was full of fire, and Medwick still was plate shy from the terrible "beaning" he received two seasons ago.

From the Dodgers' opening exhibition games Galan has been playing as well as ever in his life. His battered legs feel great. He has only to retain his present form to win the nomination in left field. This, it might be added, is on the very highest authority.

ST. PETERSBRG, Fla. — Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller, slugging outfielders of New York Yankees, made their first appearance of the exhibition season yesterday and played the full nine innings against Kansas City Blues, who won the game anyway.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

The National Hockey League individual scoring race came to a close last night and while there were no new faces to appear among the leaders, Detroit's Don Grosso came through with two goals and two assists against Chicago to boost his total to 53 points, one more than Phil Watson of Rangers, who had held down third place for the past several weeks.

Two other Ranger players, Bryan Hextall and Lynn Patrick remainel in the one-two spots, with Hextall having 56 points on 24 goals and 32 assists and Patrick two behind on 32 goals and 22 assists. Syd Abel, Detroit, also picked up four points last night to assure himself of fifth place with 49 points, while Toe Blake of Canadiens wound up his season with 44 points, one less than Bill Thoms of Chicago.

Fliers' 12-2 Win Narrows East Race To 6

By The Canadian Press

The amazing twist of events which suddenly threw Shawinigan Falls Senior "B" team into the Quebec district playoff final, coupled with Ottawa's Royal Canadian Air Force series win over Cornwall Colts, narrowed the field to six clubs from the East still in the hunt for the Allan Cup, emblematic of Canadian amateur hockey honors.

The Shawinigan Cataracts, Montreal and District League titlists, expecting to face a stiff two-game, total-goal series against Sherbrooke Indians, found themselves last night pitted against Windsor Mills Papermakers, the club Sherbrooke had beaten for the Eastern Townships League title.

It all happened when Indians refused to meet Shawinigan in protest against the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association's game arrangements. The Sherbrooke club claimed the Q.A.H.A. had failed to notify them of the game in sufficient time but officials of the association ruled otherwise and decreed Windsor Mills would carry the E.T. League banner.

While at the time this all sounded nice to the Papermakers who were getting another chance, today they wished it all hadn't happened for the Cataracts blanketed them under a 20-3 score. It was agreed on before the game that if either club should win by more than seven goals (not 17), the second game of the total-goal affair set for tonight, would be automatically called off.

Cataracts must now mark time pending the outcome of the Quebec Senior Hockey League playoffs which involves Quebec Aces and Ottawa Senators. Quebec leads this best-of-three series, 1-0, with the second game scheduled to be played tonight. The ultimate Quebec champion faces Glace Bay Miners, Maritime champions.

Take All Games

Ottawa's powerful Flyers had little trouble disposing of Cornwall Colts in straight games as they hung up a 12-2 decision on home ice last night.

Rated as one of the outstanding teams in the East, the Air Force got off to an impressive lead over Colts and at no time was threatened to lose its edge.

The well-known Kraut Line of Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart accounted for six of the Ottawa goals, with Dumart getting four and his linemates one apiece. Vic Haneberry completed the hat-trick for Flyers, while Mike Miller with two and and Alf Kunkel, one, rounded off the Airmen's sniping. Bernard Merpaw and Floyd Moore scored the Cornwall goals.

The Ottawans are now free to meet Hamilton Majors, Ontario champions, in what is regarded as their first major test on the playdown trail.

The teams open their best-of-five series in Ottawa Monday with the second game scheduled for Hamilton Wednesday and the third game back in the capital city a week Saturday.

The process of elimination also continued in the junior ranks as Ottawa St. Pats waltzed through Cornwall Colts in two straight games to leave the Eastern bracket with only six clubs.

St. Pats chalked up a 14-2 win over Colts in Cornwall last night to add to their first-game verdict of 13-2. Pete Dagenais was the key man in the Ottawa drive with five goals to his credit.

This was the only junior game listed last night, as Oshawa Generals and Guelph Biltmores are not slated to meet in their fifth and deciding game for the junior Ontario Hockey Association crown until tomorrow night in Oshawa.

Other junior clubs still in the Eastern playdown picture are Halifax Canadians, Maritime champions, Montreal Clearpoint and Montreal Royals, who open a best-of-three game series for the Quebec title, starting tomorrow night.

TAMPA, Fla. — Modest Elmer Riddle, whose 19 victories were a prime reason Cincinnati Reds stayed in the first division last year, noticed his teammates were wearing briliant polo shirts when not in uniform. So he got in step with them. He bought a white one.

Windsor Adds Tony Golab

WINDSOR, March 20 — (CP). — Windsor Alumni's Senior basketball team has added Tony Golab to its roster for the opening of the Ontario Senior basketball finals here Saturday night against Trenton R.C.A.F. Fliers. Golab, a Windsor boy who gained fame on the gridiron with Sarnia Imperials and Ottawa Rough Riders, was chosen Canada's outstanding athlete last year by sportswriters participating in The Canadian Press poll.

Golab, a member of the R.C.A.F., was transferred to Windsor from Toronto recently. The Fliers have five Windsor boys on their lineup—Brian Casey, George Weiss, Archie Green, Norm Phibb and Frank Wansbrough.

Second game of the best-of-three series will be played in Trenton, March 28.

9 N.H.L. Players Score Over 20

TORONTO, March 20 — (CP). — Nine National Hockey League players score 20 goals or more this season, the first time in seven years that the league had more than seven 20-goal men.

Joe Benoit and Sweeney Schriner entered the preferred class in Montreal last night as Canadiens defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 7-3. Rangers had three in the select group, Lynn Patrick, Bryan Hextall and Alex Shibicky. Toronto had two, Schriner and Gord Drillon. Detroit had Don Grosso; Chicago, Red Hamill; Canadiens, Benoit; and Boston, Roy Conacher.

Markham Takes Belleville In 6-3 Victory

OSHAWA, March 20 (Special).—Displaying more finish on the attack and a sound defence, Markham chalked up a 6-3 victory over the Fliers from No. 5 I.T.C., Belleville, when they clashed in the first game of their Intermediate "B" playoff series last night.

The Markham team broke out in front with the first two goals of the game and after that they maintained the edge, boosting their lead with the only two goals of the middle frame. It was a peppery fixture, but the R.C.A.F. team, with Fleet on defence, Livingstone, Howes and Browne, did not have enough balanced strength to cope with the speedier and better conditioned Markham squad. The Scott brothers, Rowe, Lawrie brothers and Bangay brothers were all to the fore for the winners.

Markham—Goal, Harrer; defence, F. Scott and G. Scott; centre, B. Bangay; wings, B. Lawrie and Baker; subs., Parkinson, H. Bangay, E. Lawrie, Harper, Howe, Meharg and Boadway (sub-goal).

Whirlaway Off For Kentucky

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP) —Whirlaway's enforced California vacation ended today.

The forgotten horse of winter racing, whose arrival at Santa Anita last November was an historic event in turf annals here, packed up his baggage and left for Kentucky.

The triple-crown champion of 1941 came to Santa Anita to run in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap and ather rich stake events. Victory in them would have sent his earnings past the Seabiscuit record of $437,730.

But there was no racing at Santa Anita; there were no gold-plated stakes and no hundred grand classic. The war shut down the track.

Whirly is going back to his Bluegrass State. He's going back in good racing shape, soon to campaign in the East.

Dutton Thinks NHL Good for Next Winter

NEW YORK, March 20 (CP). — Manager Red Dutton of the Brooklyn Americans, cleaning up his affairs before leaving for Western Canada, said yesterday he believed the National Hockey League will carry on again next winter.

There are many players who for various reasons—age, physical fitness, family obligations—are not required in the armed forces, Dutton said.

"Baseball is carrying on," he added. "People have to have some recreation, and hockey gives it to them."

He believes the league may have to help some of the clubs which will lose more players than the others. Some of his own young players plan to enter the forces as soon as possible. On the other hand, a nucleus of his team is not subject to service.

Dutton, a veteran of the Princess Pats in the first Great War, and with two sons taking part in this one, will go back to his work in the construction program of airports in Canada. He plans to spend about a week tidying up matters in New York first.

His team, which failed in a close race to oust Montreal Canadiens from the sixth spot in the Stanley Cup playoffs, has already disbanded. Some players have left the city. The rest will follow in a few days.

Insurance Is Great Backer Of War Effort

"The insurance companies comprise the largest institution behind this country's war effort. They are dedicating to that purpose all their money except what they need to carry on their business."

And this volume of insurance money represents a huge part of the sound and solid investment of Canadian people in themselves, their families and their future, said Frank Robinson, C.L.U., Montreal, president of the Canadian Life Underwriters' Association, at the dinner meeting of the local branch of the association at the Empress Hotel Thursday.

The visit of the Dominion president, accompanied by Gordon Nairn, Toronto, field supervisor, attracted an exceptionally large attendance of local insurance men with Harold Howay presiding. Mr. Robinson, manager in Montreal of the Mutual Life, was introduced by E. G. Pridham, and the appreciation of the assembly was extended to the guest speaker by Bruce Sargent at the close.

Mr. Robinson gave secondary place in his address to a helpful shop talk on elements of salesmanship, subordinating aspects of the business of selling life insurance to an inpirational emphasis on the democratic world's problem of winning the war, and the constructive contribution the insurance man can make in the daily round of his contacts with people.

Insurance men throughout Canada have only recently "done a great job" in helping make the second Victory Loan an outstanding success, Mr. Robinson said, and in that connection he read to the company a letter which he received a few days ago from D. W. Spinney of the national war finance committee thanking the insurance men for their splendid co-operation.

"There is nothing wrong with the finances of Canada when the government asks for $600,000,000 from the people, and they respond by lending close to one billion dollars.

Don't think that our country's affairs are being run entirely by politicians. The extent of our war effort is far more than I can tell you, and from what I knof of it I can say that affairs are in the hands of groups of men who are highly qualified for what we are asking them to do. You see that in the vast financial undertakings. The men who transformed the automobile industry to a war basis came from that industry itself and not from the field of politics. Many of the products of Canadian industry are to be found in practically all the war zones."

Canada's Achievement

Never in the history of civilization, said Mr. Robinson, has any country accomplished such a production job per capita in the short time of two years "as this country in which we live."

"Let us as insurance men, and that is all I am and all I aspire to be, let us keep the purpose of this war foremost in our minds until we have won it. We can do our part in stimulating the morale of the people with whom we come in contact. We must first adjust ourselves to these times in which as a people we are struggling. Let us do it without any grumbling about such things as politics, about restrictions on this commodity and that. Does any salesman want to ride on tires if there is not enough rubber for our war needs! Let us begin with ourselves; hold our minds high; let us do our part in helping to unite Canada, in thinking and working about winning the war until the job is done.

Let us try to be more unselfish. We had thirty men in our Montreal office. One of our salesmen died; six enlisted for active service; six others went into the making of munitions of one kind and another because, some of them university men, had special skills which were more needed in that industry than in selling insurance. Our remaining seventeen men wrote as much insurance last year as the thirty did in the previous year, and we are keeping intact the business of the men who are gone from us. If you know an insurance man on active service, look after his business while he is away, because he is fighting for you."

Privileged Workers

In the business phase of his address which was directed to the gathering of insurance men and their work, Mr. Robinson spoke of the privilege they received in the very essence of selling insurance. "You are the only men who dare go to a man and say to him the things we say, talking to him about his personal affairs relating to himself and his family. You set out to show him his place in that home, his responsibility, and you try to warm his heart to a point where he'll do something about it. You are showing him the real road to success. And in that daily round of work you are doing a greater community service than any service club."

people of Canada have reached the point where they do not want any more mental cocktails. They want real, hard, satisfying food, in the guise of plain truth. They are entitled to it."

Mr. O'Brien expressed support for the gift bill and said he had suggested a similar move at the start of the war.

Quebec M.P.'s Oppose Gift

There was criticism of the bill, however, from Liguori Lacombe (Con. Laval-Two Mountains), who termed it a ruinous measure, and J. F. Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) who said Canada should continue giving all possible aid to Britain but on the same conditions as before, with an acknowledgement of debt from Britain.

Other Liberal members, while supporting the bill, spoke of opposition to it in the country and the necessity of justifying it to the people. They were Fisheries Minister Michaud and Paul Martin (Lib. Essex East) who said the gift was being criticized both by the man in the street and the magnates of finance.

New Democracy Leader said he feared the cost of the gift would be too great; and one of his supporters, E. G. Hansell (N.D. MacLeod), while supporting the principle of the bill, urged that no interest be paid on any credit created by financial institutions to finance the gift.

While Mr. O'Brien referred to mental cocktails another member, J. J. Kinley (Lib. Queens-Lunenburg) spoke gravely of the real thing. He said Canada could not drink its way to victory and there was too much drinking now among certain classes in congested areas.

He suggested that, as an example to the peeple, members of parliament should "turn their glasses down" for the duration of the war.

Great C.N.R. Year

Transport Minister Cardin tabled the annual report of the Canadian National Railways which showed the government-owned system had the most successful year in its history during 1941. After paying all debt and other charges it had $4,016,336 left over, against a deficit of $16,965,044 in 1940.

Approves Borrowing.

Other speakers in the debate on the Gift-to-Britain Bill were Victor Quelch (N.D. Acadia) who opposed inclusion in the Bill of a clause authorizing the Government to borrow part of the money.

T. L. Church (Con. Toronto-Broadview) who expressed support for the Bill but demanded more detailed information on how money is spent by the Government.

G. H. Castleden (C.C.F. Yorkton) who said all classes who produce goods for Britain under the Bill should be treated alike and that farmers should not be compelled to produce for less than cost while manufacturers had cost-plus contracts;

Harry Jackman (Con. Toronto-Rosedale) who said the Bill was good as far as it went but was no more than Canada owed to Britain;

Douglas Ross (Con. Toronto-St. Paul's) who said members should be ashamed to call the measure a gift—that it was payment of a debt long overdue;

John R. MacNicol (Con. Toronto-Davenport) who said Canada should be producing more iron and steel than at present.

Finance Minister Ilsley at one point interrupted Mr. Hansell's speech to say the gift would not add to the debt of Canada any more than would be added if Canada continued producing the goods without the Bill.

The minister also objected to Mr. Hansell continuing his speech beyond the customary 40 minutes when he asked permission to do so. He said long speeches were out of proportion on such a debate and in such times. Mr. Hansell said he could discuss the measure further during the committee stage.

Churchill Asked

Mr. Churchill wired again saying that British ministers and chiefs of staff wanted the Australian envoy. He mentioned that during his visit to the United States, he had spent an evening with Mr. Casey and had learned he was anxious for a change.

Mr. Churchill asked the Australian prime minister to reconsider, and this time Mr. Curtin replied he would not stand in the way of Mr. Churchill's desires but wanted Mr. Casey to confer with Herbert Evatt, Australian attorney general who has been sent to Washington.

The Australian prime minister said Mr. Casey never had intimated to him any desire for a change and the minister himself was said to have declared in a telephone call last Monday that the offer of a British cabinet post had come to him as a complete surprise.

Later, however, it was reported, Mr. Casey said he had interviewed prominent men in the United States, including Harry Hopkins and Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador in Washington, and after these talks he was prepared to go ahead, subject to the concurence of Australia.

Wanted Him in U.S.

Mr. Curtin replied that the minister's work was important and the government did not wish to make a change at Washington, but that the choice was up to Casey.

After Mr. Curtin's reply was received in London, Mr. Churchill cabled him that he could not understand the tone and substance of his statement and would be forced to seek additional information unless the matter was cleared up.

The Australian prime minister replied that he had explained in his first cable the reasons for the government's wishes, but Mr. Churchill reiterated that he had seen Mr. Casey in America.

Mr. Curtin said he took it as a plain statement that the British prime minister wanted the envoy and that Mr. Casey was eager to serve.

He said he would be glad if Mr. Churchill would table all further communications and that he would do likewise.

The Australian prime minister concluded that he made no personal reproach of Mr. Churchill and that the decision was for the minister, not for himself or the British war leader.

The official announcement that Mr. Casey would succeed Oliver Lyttleton, new British War Production Minister, as Minister of State in the Middle East was not made in Australia until after the BBC broadcast news of the appointment, which was said to have proved embarrassing to the Canberra government.

register. At the same time, he said, employees who are not insurable because of high earnings or other reasons, will also be asked to register.

(It was learned recently in Ottawa that Prime Minister Mackenzie King and War Services Minister Thorson plan to give details of the mobilization plan in the House of Commons some time before Parliament adjourns March 27 for the Easter recess.

(It was expected at the Federal capital that Mr. King would announce selection of a director of national selective service who will have the responsibility of carrying out the mobilization plans.)

To Canadians who have been asking for total war effort and full use of manpower, Mr. Mitchell said, "You are going to get it."

Spare No Efforts.

"I assure you there will be no effort spared to make the plan effective," Mr. Mitchell said. "All have been asking for total war effort—those of ever political party, every section of our community life. All have been asking for full use of manpower—may I say—well, you are going to get it."

"There will be, I am afraid, some features of it which may be difficult and disagreeable; things we will not like. However, you may be assured that, while the plan must go through, it will be made as free from objectionable and comuulsory features as possible."

Mr. Mitchell said that when his department, which has charge of the registration survey, completed its task, it will have "what might be described as a 'manpower inventory' of well over 3,000,000 workers."

"It is a stocktaking of Canada's available manpower—and when I say manpower I include womanpower—to find its numbers, its skill, its adaptability and its availability for different lines of work.

"The war has made it necessary to develop huge industries, many of which require skilled workers. The manpower inventory will discover whether or not there are skilled workers still available who might be utilized to help along in war industries. It will show how many men are engaged in what might be called essential industries, and how many are still working in undertakings which could stand over until after the war. It will, in a word, furnish a real ba is for the development of an efficient, speedy and active war effort which will bring maximum results.

"Given an accurate manpower inventory, we can, in progressive stages and after full consultation with those who will be affected, undertake the task of selective placement of the available man and woman power where the full effect of their efforts can be brought to bear on the defeat on that ruthless man in Berlin and all his fellow-criminals."

The Labor Minister said the inventory was a staggering problem and would be "almost impossible were it not for the co-operation of Canadian employers, so generously given at the time of the registration for unemployment insurance purposes last July, which will no doubt be extended with even greater enthusiasm on this occasion since the present registration is directly connected with the war effort."

Turkeys Going To Nfld. Marts

TORONTO, March 20 — (CP). — The fresh dressed poultry market has been quiet during the past week, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports, although there has been slightly more interest shown by buyers. Receipts have been very light and supplies of fresh killed chicken staggy. Receipts of fowl have been limited.

Some fresh turkeys arrived for which 26c lb. was paid for old hens and 28c lb. for young birds.

One car of fowl arrived from the Prairie Provinces Thursday composed of Grades A, B, and C, costing: over 5 lbs. Grade A, 23½c lb.; Grade B, 21½c lb.; Grade C, 19½c lb.

Demand has been fair locally and out-of-town. Several L.C.L. (less than carload lots) were sent moving to eastern points, Newfoundland taking a fair volume of turkeys. This demand was being supplied from storage holdings.

Dealers hope to stimulate the sale of poultry for the Eastern trade by an advertising campaign.

Dealers are quoting producers and country dealers (nominal):—

Chickens. — Grade A, milk-fed, over 5 lbs. 24 to 25c; 4 to 5 lbs. 23 to 24c; 3 to 4 lbs. 21 to 22c; Grade B milk-fed, over 5 lbs, 22 to 23c; 4 to 5 lbs. 21 to 22c; 3 to 4 lbs. 19 to 20c; Grade A, over 5 lbs. 22 to 23c; 4 to 5 lbs. 21 to 22c; 3 to 4 lbs. 19 to 20c; Grade B, over 5 lbs. 20 to 21c; 4 to 5 lbs. 19 to 20c; 3 to 4 lbs. 17 to 18c.

Capital expenditure for plant and equipment during 1941, largely necessitated by expanded manufacturing operations, amounted to $2,322,087 and depreciation for the year was $1,137,540. There was an increase of $1,085,344 in the net book value of plants and other properties. The company had no funded debt, notes payable or other interest-bearing obligations of any kind.

The general reserve amounted to $7,696,734, an increase of $934,908 and $863,796 was added to earned surplus, making the balance in that account $10,519,307 at December 31, 1941.

Commenting on operations, D. C. Durland, chairman and president, said: "The volume of orders received and sales billed was substantially higher than in the previous year and was the largest in the history of the company. A major portion of the company's manufacturing facilities, operating at maximum capacity, is devoted to the production of a wide range of special war equipment as well as regular electrical and mechanical products for the generation, distribution and utilization of electric power in war industries."

Investments High

Dealing with liquid assets, Mr. Durland said: "Cash amounted to $4,415,356, Dominion of Canada treasury bills, $998,823; government bonds, $7,958,238, and investments other than government bonds, principally in industrial securities, $3,232,395.

"Government bonds are carried in the balance sheet at the lower of par or market value, and other investment securities are carried at values not exceeding either cost or market. Securities of subsidiary companies are conservatively valued at $427,714, and the dividends received during the year are included in income from investments.

"During 1941 an amount of $295,000 was paid into the Canadian General Electric pension fund, making a total of $1,485,000 paid into this trust.

"The amount of special employees' 5 per cent preferred stock held by the employees of the company on December 31, 1941, was 45,475 shares having a par value of $2,273,750. An extra payment of 2 per cent. was made in 1941 to employees holding shares under the employees' savings and investment plan."

Education Costs To Counties Are Increased

Members of the Board of Education met at a special meeting on Thursday evening to review an itemized statement of accounts for the purpose of sending on to each county, the county pupil cost as set down in the High School Act.

It was pointed out during the meeting that according to a recent ruling of the Department of Education, county pupils who leave school at Easter are to be considered as continuing to the end of the year for accounting purposes.

Considerable discussion developed when William Anderson, county representative on the Board, said that records for the past three years show that the average attendance of county pupils is better than that of city pupils.

T. J. Carley questioned this because monthly attendance reports showed little absence, "It can't be correct on any true basis."

G. W. Craw—"They work out the attendance figures on a funny basis. They have shown the attendance at more than 100 per cent. and they certainly do not compute the percentage in the same manner as you or I would."

Mr. Carley—"I think it is highly desirable that these figures be beyond all question."

D. G. H. Melton—"It is just as essential to have strict and proper accounting of attendance days as it is to have the dollars and cents figure correct."

Mr. Huggins said that perhaps the difference in the attendance might result from figuring one on the calendar year and the other on the school year.

Mr. Craw—"Then the registers are not being balanced."

Mr. Huggins—"Yes, that is right."

Mr. Melton—"The secretary must have attendance reports duly certified to support his financial statement at the proper times."

Mr. Anderson—"Why is there a change in the method of computing county costs this year. Why is the grant towards debentures of the Vocational school not deducted from the other government grants before the county rate is struck."

Mr. Huggins—"According to an amendment in the High School Act in 1941 we must make the computation in this manner."

Mr. Anderson—"It makes ten cents a day difference in the cost for county pupils, when the county is forced to pay on this debenture cost."

At this point in the deliberations Mr. Melton moved, seconded by Mrs. Morris, that the accounts as tabled when properly signed by the auditor and by Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, be sent the counties. Mr. Anderson made an amendment asking that the accounts be referred back to the Board's solicitor for his opinion on the interpretation of the amendment.

"I believe Mr. Anderson has a right to this information and I will second the motion" Mr. Canning said.

J. F. Strickland, solicitor for the Board was called on the telephone and came right over. He told the Board that according to his opinion, the secretary had interpreted the 1941 amendment correctly.

Mr. Anderson accepted the opinion but added that he failed to see any justice in it.

Seek to Co-operate

A letter was read from Mrs. Clare Collins, of the War Salvage committee complaining that the women had been unable to use the wash room at the school.

Following some discussion, Mr. Melton moved that a letter be sent explaining that rather than obstructing the women in any way, the Board was anxious to give every assistance to this most excellent work. The washroom was out of order for one night only and the Board had no intention of denying the women the right to use it. It was also requested that the women store the bones and grease in the building provided for this purpose on the grounds. G. H. Thompson seconded the motion and it carried.

A letter was received from the St. Catharines School Board asking for certain information about Wartime Housing, and this was read following a discussion on Wartime Houses started by Mr. Craw. The decision was reached in a motion by Mr. Carley and Mr. Craw that the Board request the City Council to advise the Board what apportionment of taxes from Wartime Houses is being made as between the schools and the general tax rate.

"Is our cost increased because of it" asked Mr. Canning.

Mr. Carley replied in the negative, but suggested the monies might be used to lower the general rate.

According to the statement which was approved by the Board the various counties sending pupils to the Collegiate will be faced with increased costs this year, due not only to the amendment mentioned above but to corrections in the methods of accounting which had been discovered by Mr. Melton, and which had meant considerable savings to the counties in other years, and a loss in revenue to the city.

The following are the bills of the Board to counties for costs up to December, 1940, and the amounts passed last night for tuition costs up till December, 1941.

Ontario Director

REEVE JAMES GIFFORD

Re-elected a director of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture in Toronto this week. Peterborough farmers were first in the field of organization, and Mr. Gifford was their first president. The Federation has gradually developed in membership throughout the country, and is becoming in the public opinion the common ground for all rural group organizations.

Salvage Drive Planned In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, March 20.—(ENS).—Anxious to see the collection of salvage materials in this town put across a committee from council comprising Mayor Long, Deputy-reeve MacMillan and Councillor Anderson met Thursday evening to go into the question of providing some assistance for the I.O.D.E. Carefully pointing out that the important question was the collection of salvage to help Canada's war effort Mayor Long inferred that any financial gain should be considered as purely secondary. He said the I.O.D.E. was well aware of the magnitude of the salvage job and was prepared to drop it on someone else if they did not get some assistance. Feeling it was a task which should be looked after at least every two weeks the committee voiced approval of a suggestion made by Councillor Anderson that the town should provide a truck, driver and two or three assistants to do the work regularly each Saturday afternoon. Under this plan Wards I and II will be done on March 28th and the following week the other two wards will be visited. In the meantime the committee will have some hand bills printed to give complete instructions as to bundling papers and magazines, outlining just what is wanted in the way of salvage and when it will be picked up.

Generator Repaired

The largest overhaul job undertaken since the local power plant was built has been completed according to Manager P. C. Denyes who last evening took Mayor F. F. Long up to the power house to see the re-installed 750 k.w. generator which has been undergoing repairs since January 10th. Despite their busy war program the C.G.E. in Peterborough completely re-wound the coils of the machine and it was returned to town this week Cost of the work, part of which was done by local employees of the Utilities Commission, is estimated at $7,000. A switched will be pulled to-day (Friday) that will start the generator, synchronizing it with the single machine which has been carrying the entire load here for the past two months.

Y.P.U. Meets.

A Bible contest conducted by Rev. J. R. Bick provided an interesting and unusual feature of the regular meeting of Zion Y.P.U. held Wednesday evening. Based on characters from the Scripture the contest brought home many facts to the gathering and proved to be an excellent means of giving instruction. The vice-president, Norman Arkles, presided for the meeting and during the devotional period Mrs. Bick, the devotional convener, delivered an inspiring message. Miss Isobel Irwin gave a vocal solo and Ferne Tinney the Scripture reading. It was announced that the meeting for next week should be held on the regular evening despite the Young People's banquet which they will attend at Tabernacle church on Monday.

A missionary story concerning a Chinese boy was told members of St. John's Mission Band at their regular gathering held on Thursday afternoon, by Mr. G. N Maxwell who directed the meeting in the absence of the leader, Mrs. Morely Petherick. President Marian Maxwell presided during the business and program and Joan Bale gave the Scripture reading. Next week's program will be in charge of Betty Johnson, Bernice Hay and Barbara Greig.

2 MORE TORPEDOINGS

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP)—The United States Navy announced to-day that a Yugoslavian freighter the Trepca, had been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast and that a large Norwegian merchant vessel, otherwise unidentified, had been torpedoed off the south-east United States coast.

40 On Parade For P.T. At Armouries

A staff of men from the Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) yesterday canvassed Peterborough stores and placed posters in each of them urging more men to join the Rangers, R.S.M. Andrew Jackson said to-day. This morning when P.T. drill was held, more than 40 appeared on the parade "They looked fifty per cent. better this morning than they ever did, he said. The drill lasted for half an hour.

Stories of young men coming to Peterborough to enlist with the Rangers were revealed this morning One lad from Miner's Bay, 80 miles from Peterborough, went without his dinner to get medically boarded.

Two other young men hitch-hiked in from Belleville. On the way they spent the night in a parked car and ate at a farm house. A third from that district hitch-hiked in from Trenton.

PTE. ALLAN TAYLOR, Curve Lake Indian, is the first man from that district to be taken on strength of the Rangers. Recruiting officials said he is truly representative of the good class of men from the reserve. Pte. Taylor said he was going to encourage more men to enlist from the reserve.

The names of four others from this district appear on part 2 orders this morning. They are:

PTE. JACOB FREDERICK BURNHAM, 127 Hunter street, Peterborough.

PTE GEOFFREY JOSEPH FEELEY, R.R. 3, Peterborough.

PTE. MELVILLE MONCRIEF, R.R. 3, Peterborough.

PTE. BRUCE CHARLES CASTLE, Wolsley street, Peterborough.

In the appoitments and promotions of the unit to-day, Pte. J. F. Burnham is to be anacting corporal and promoted acting sergeant. Pte. Burnham is an employee of the Toronto Loan and Savings Company and for a number of years has been a leader in United church young people's activities.

Spitfire Dance Set For April 10

Tickets for the Peterborough police department's dance and draw in aid of the second Canadian Police Spitfire Fund are going fast and already a substantial contribution from Peterborough to the effort to buy another Spitfire is assured.

The dance will be held in the armouries on Friday, April 10 and will be associated with a draw for which the prizes will consist of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates and a number of other prizes. As their contribution to the fund the Peterborough police have contributed $200 to provide the Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates while the other prizes have been donated by merchants and manufacturers.

It is interesting to note that the first Canadian Spitfire Fund to which through the instrumentality of the local police department Peterborough contributed $2,000 was a complete success. The Spitfire was purchased and handed over some time ago and a former member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who is with the R.C.A.F. in England has been assigned to fly the police machine, having been transferred from the Bomber Command for that purpose.

Tickets for the dance and draw can be obtained from any member of the police department or from other officers in the city and district.

Muskrat Catch Is Very Small

Muskrat trappers throughout the entire district cannot understand why the Government saw fit to open the muskrat season so early as lakes both north and south of No. 7 highway are frozen solid and only a few portions of the Otonabee and Trent rivers are open sufficient to permit the setting of traps.

The season opened south of No. 7 highway on March 14, and north of No. 7 on March 16, but so far not a single pelt has been brought in to the local fur buyers.

It is encouraging for the trappers to know that on the North American continent, muskrat furs are in greater demand than any other type of fur, and the market is firm. This does not mean that the trapper can expect an increase in the market price of his pelts, because of war conditions, but it does mean he can expect at least the top price of 1941 for his prime pelts. Cyril Lech stated today that top prices last year ranged up to $2.40 and small, poor pelts brought as little as 75 cents each. The general price for good all round pelts of rats from this district, was from $1.90 to $2.00.

Down in Western Ontario where the break-up came early the trappers report good catches, but it is too early to make any predictions about the catch in this district.

Dance And Draw Net $324.25 For War Victims

On Wednesday there was reported a donation of $100 as part proceeds of a St. Patrick's Day dance, held the previous night sponsored by the employees of the Canadian Department Stores Limited on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, which more than made up the amount needed to send the sixteenth donation of £500 to alleviate the distress of air raid victims in Britain.

In business-like fashion, the whole matter of securing the final returns from the sale of tickets for both the dance and the draw on the mantel set five-tube radio which was also made that night, has been completed so that to-day it is possible to acknowledge the receipt of the balance that this effort produced for the fund, in the sum of $224.25, making in all the handsome amount of $324.25 to make one of the finest contributions ever to come to the fund.

This successful effort is the fifth one of its kind to be put on by the employees of the Canadian Department Stores under the leadership of J. H. Jamison, the manager of the store, and it is worth noting that each successive effort has proved more bountiful in financial help to the fund.

Two students of the Marion Perry Laird School of Dancing, Miss Doreen Hogg and Master Kenneth Simmons added their quota to the success of hte evening by staging a duet in song and dance, whilst their transportaiton needs were given as a contribution to the cause by the Capitol Taxi, and the Kawartha Club officials in similar fashion gave the use of the hall for the event, while Harold Howay and his trained dog put on an entertaining show to help things along.

Additional receipts from the concerts of March 11 and 12 are noted in the sum of 70 cents making a grand total of $137.72, and another small item under the heading of "Change" is also listed to-day.

The fund is now drawing close to the $39,000 mark, only a little over $80.00 being required to make that an actual fact.

Campbellford Retains Badminton Laurels

CAMPBELLFORD, March 20 — (ENS) — Campbellford Badminton Club retained possession of the Trent Valley Kawartha Trophy Thursday night when they vanquished the strong Marmora Club, 8 to 4 in the second of a home and home series to determine the loop champions.

A week ago the Campbellford club worked hard to down the Marmora club 7 to 5, playing minus several of their strong players. At Marmora last night it was another story, as the winners had a complete line-up and not only won but staged an upset to break a four year winning streak. Mrs. Hickey and Mrs. Reynolds, doubles pair from Marmora have gone undefeated for four years of competition but in the tournment last night, they bowed to Miss A. Parker and Mrs. Jack Clarke of Campbellford, 15 to 9.

Threshing Fires Reported Fewer In 1941

Onl seventeen thresher fires were reported last year to the Provincial Fire Marshal's ffice, Carl Caskey, Deputy Fire Marshal, told the Brotherhood of Threshermen at their convention here this morning. The aggregate loss from the fires was $70,000, a little increase over 1940, although their number was fewer.

The slight increase in property loss was probably partly due to higher valuation of buildings and produce as compared with appraisals of four or five years ago.

Mr. Caskey advised threshermen to attach water sprayers to the blowers of their machines. Farmers would perhaps supply water if they knew they would be assured of dustless air to work in. Other precautions were suggested as a means of combatting the fact that Ontario has more threshing fires than the rest of Canada.

More Insurance.

Bryell Harris, Chatham, president of the Ontario Threshermen's Mutual Fire Insurance Company, reported an increase in machine policies in force last year. The total at the end of December, 1941, was $750,540, as compared with $687,215, December 31, 1940.

Receipts last year were $23,695, and disbursements were $10,671, with $2,000 invested, leaving $11,024 cash in the bank. The net number of policies increased in 1941 from 1,153 to 1,212.

17 Men Needed For City's O.V.C.

Seventeen men are required to bring the Ontario Voluntary Constabularly in this city up to its full quota of 60 men according to Captain Colin Althouse, who states that this city is allowed to recruit half a company.

The local unit is making excellent progress since it was organized some months ago, and now arrangements have been completed to use the Lyceum on Simcoe street as a training centre. The police will use the two upper floors as quarters and this will not interfere with the Young People's activities in the auditorium.

Seventeen members of the O.V.C. have completed their courses in first aid held under the auspices of the St. John Ambuance Corps, and Dr. R. K. Magee will award certificates to these men soon. The successful candidates are: Capt. Colin Althouse, E. V. Hales, Harvey Sanderson, Stewart Meiklejohn, C. H. Spearin, L. C. R. Biggs, C. E. Althouse, G. Ross, J. W. Wilson, H. G. Rumary, H. L. Beckett, J. O. Lemoire, and L. R. Scott.

Four other men not associated with the O.V.C. also passed their examinations for the first aid certificate. They are Police Constable Gordon Hardy of the city force, Gerald O'Donoghue of the Peterborough Examiner, and two members of the St. John group, Andre Dalton and J. A. Levassuer.

Sportswoman

By PRUNELLA WOOD

ONE of the most useful outfits for any woman, and one which very tailored women especially like, is the soft shirtmaker with its own jacket or contrasting or harmonizing wool. For sunny weather in any part of the country, such a costume is always appropriate for town or countryside.

Jackets of these ensembles, moreover are frequently just what the wardrobe needs for wear with slacks. This spring's models favor jackets which get along smartly without lapels, although a form fit, not a cardigan straightness, is the popular silhouette.

Your favorite tweed color is almost sure to be in the large range which is available in this rabbit hair and wool jacket, ensembled with a print crepe, pleated frock.

Mrs. Colerick is known to a number of Peterborough members and they are looking forward to her visit with real interest. She has spoken recently at the Niagara Falls and St. Catharines Associations, and they report that her visit was a real inspiration.

In the afternoon Mrs. Colerick will address a gathering of the board and committee members and their friends. In the evening she will be present at a gathering of "Y" members and their friends. At this time representatives of the various "Y" organizations will present their contributions to the Mrs. Winston Churchill Fund.

Y's Men Observe 15th Anniversary

Peterborough Y's Men's Club held a ladies' night Thursday evening in the Y.M.C.A. on the occasion of it being the 15th anniversary of the club About 80 were present and the meeting was a decided success. President Bill Wedlock was in the chair. Hubert Goodfellow, district governor of Orillia, addressed the meeting.

"We are at the crossroads in our history," he told members. Either the principles with all their unchristian horror and oppression will succeed or we will be the victors and there will be a wide re-con-construction."

"At a gathering such as this, nothing could be more forcefully indicative of our organization than to quote its motto: "To acknowledge the duty that accompanies every right."

The impact of the savage brutality which the aggressor nations have been trying to inflict upon us has a dual effect. First, the direct and wanton assault upon the lives and belongings of the combatants and none-combatants alike is a savagery that respects neither age nor sex and fills us with a repugnance and horror.

Secondly, the victim of aggression in response to the primitive urge for survival, are obliged to mobilize all rosurces, to subordinate everything for survival and counter-offensive.

We must make ourselves aware of the things we are fighting against and also the things we are fighting for.

Our fidelity to the ideals and aspirations that in the long run will sustain us and carry us to victory must be made unswerving, and the very essence of our existence.

Everything within ourselves, above and beneath, and around us that might tend to weaken our faith, must be unconditionally eradicated. We must discover and cultivate every means of unity among our people. We shall also promote our aim if we keep in mind the necessity of doing our daily tasks with the least amount of violence to natural satisfaction that keep human being human.

"The dice of fate is being ratted in the hands of a few personages, ready to cast for a long-time fate of humanity. It is our duty and opportunity to make this more than a gamble."

Through the vehice of Y'sdom a great and wholesome stability can be given to your community and to our lives as the word perspective changes, and our association with fellow-man is strained.

Local Council of Women Hears Dr. Avison Speak On Unified Health System

The Local Council of Women held its regular meeting in the Green Room at the Y.W.C.A. on Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. E. Wand in the chair. The guest speaker was Dr. D. B. Avison, Medical Officers of Health, who spoke on "A Unified Public Health System."

Dr. Avison explained that the need for Health supervision became apparent to the public only after its practical value had been demonstrated by health boards in the public schools. Since its value was recognized by the public there has been a growing trend towards unifying all health systems in municipalities, thus taking the supervision of the health of children of school age out of the hands of the Board of Education. In Ontario the trend started a good many years ago and in 1926 the Ontario Government determined that no more schools would be allowed to establish health committees under Boards of Education. School health Boards already in existence were allowed to continue their works but they are gradually giving way to the unified system.

There are at present three separate health services in Peterborough, the Board of Education's, the Separate School Board's and the Public Health Board. It is Dr. Avison's opinion that the city as a whole would benefit greatly from a unified system which gave the same services to all. Only last year, said Dr. Avison, the Provincial Department of Health sent representatives here to urge a union of our medical services. He went on to state that so far every effort had failed because of opposition by the Board of Education.

The speaker said that he experienced great difficulty in discovering just what these objections were until he started open discussion on the subject. The following reasons finally came to light:

(1) Satisfaction with the present system and fear that a change would result in poorer health supervision for the children.

(2) Pride in the present system and its long and honorable history as the child or baby of the Board.

(3) Disinclination to hand over to the Board of Health, money entrusted to the Board of Education for health purposes.

(4) A definite religious bias, based, not on animosity, but on the fact that the Separate School Board spends less per capita on health supervision than does the Public School Board.

(5) Fear that there might be a health personnel or policy of which the Board did not approve.

(6) A feeling that the Board of Education has reached a place where it is free from political interference and that the Health Board as subject to the City council, is not free from such interference.

As to the first objection, Dr. Avison said that complete satisfaction is a sign of stagnation since dissatisfaction is the basis of all human progress. Pride in the School Board's record is natural but pride is not a logical reason for opposing change. The third objection is purely hypothetical, since under the unified system the Board would have no money assigned to it for health supervision, such funds would be assigned directly to the Board of Health.

The speaker stressed the fact that in speaking of a religious bias, he did not mean prejudice. All children will soon be adult citizens and our purpose in public health is to make a healthy adult population. The tax rate per capita would be the same for all citizens and equal service would be given to all.

The fear that the Board of Health might employ personnel or policies of which the School Board did not approve should be laid to rest by the fact that the M.O.H. cannot be appointed by the City Council without the consent of the Minister of Public Health. Final appointment takes time and the School Board would have ample time to voice any objections it might have. For other personnel, it should be remembered that nurses are as carefully trained for their job as are teachers and the M.O.H. would be careful to have a staff which worked in harmony with the school authorities. No important change in a public health policy can be made without consent of the minister and the School Board would certainly be consulted on anything concerning the schools.

Politics have no more to do with the appointment and duties of an M.O.H. than they have with that of a school inspector; since the council can neither appoint nor discharge him without the consent of the minister. As he performs his duties under the Public Health Act, politics cannot interfere with that performance.

Having dealt with the objections to the unified system, Dr. Avison went on to state the objections to the present multiple system and the advantages of the unified system.

The degree of co-operation between the different health departments, necessary in order to obtain the benefits of unification and retain those of specialization cannot be achieved. Another flaw is the duplication of effort and territory, which would be avoided entirely in the unified system. Thirdly, it seems to be the assumption that school children are school children only when school is in session. In vacation time these children are the responsibility of the Board of Health. Another serious flaw is the lack of central records office and office of single policy for two nurses entering the same home.

Dr. Avison did not say that a unified Health Service would cost Peterborough less, but he did say that it would give the city a much better general health service without impairing in any way supervision of health in our schools.

Mis Elizabeth Walker gave a brief report on the women's rally in Massey Hall, Toronto. She showed the books which were given out for keeping track of prices paid and urged women to keep shopping records so that they could check on the cost of goods. Mrs. C. M. Scott gave a report on the meeting of provincial sub-executive held in Hamilton. Mrs. W. G. McLaren gave two readings which were enjoyed by everyone. The date of the spring tea was set for April 28.

Draft Is Sent Britain For Mobile Kitchen

Before the student body of the Collegiate and Vocational Schools this morning, Edward Geraghty, president of the student council, presented a draft for £266 ($1,189) to Lt. Col. C. H. Stuart, representing the postal department of Canada, for a mobile kitchen. The money will be forwarded by postal authorities to Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner to London, and it was stipulated that, if possible, the mobile kitchen would go to Peterborough, England.

Working since mid-October last year, the students raised a total of $1,262 by various means. Alden Gourley told the assembly group that students had delivered handbills, set up pins in bowling alleys, put on storm windows and raised money by many other odd jobs. The girls made an autograph quilt, held skating parties, dances, etc.

In addition, donations were received by the student council from several organizations within the collegiate.

Lt. Col Stuart congratulated the students on their work in reaching such a fine total and told them the only thing that would stop the draft from going overseas would be enemy action and, in that case the draft would be replaced. Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, principal, added his words of praise to the endeavors of the students.

BRAINS MORE IMPORTANT THAN GLAMOR IN BUSINESS

There are many Substitutes for Beauty that Help Girls Reach the High Places

A young girl writes me that she is thinking of ending her life because she is homely. "A girl had better be dead than not pretty," she says. "Just because I've got stringy, mousy hair and muddy complexion and am fat, I never have a date. I will never get married. I will never have a worth-while job, for all the prizes go to the good-lookers. So what's the use of going on trying to live in a world where a girl travels on her face;"

Lots, sorrowing daughter. I advise you to take a good, long, careful look at the women about you, both young and old. Who are the most popular girls in your set Are they the ones have taken blue ribbons in beauty shows? I trow not. When you come to think of it, aren't they just pleasant looking girls who are easy on the eyes, but who would never stop traffic by their beauty Then take a glance at married ladies. Allowing for the handicaps of age and weight that time puts on women, how many of these women do you figure out were married for their beauty? Not one in a thousand even in her early youth could have the kind of a face that launched a canoe, to say nothing of a thousand ships. No, the comfortable, middle- aged wives you see all about you with devoted husbands and mink coats and real pearls, which are the outward and visible sign of having made a good matrimonial catch, never baited their hooks with pulchritude.

Who Have The Good Jobs.

And observe the women with good jobs. Of course, the theory prevails that men hire their women employes for their looks instead of their competence, and that is more ifportant for a girl to have a willowy figure and a peaches-and-cream complexion than it is to be a cracker-jack stenographer or to have a flair for selling goods.

No doubt there are Don Juans who try to combine business and philandering, but these are few and far between, and the average man is no more interested in the looks of his female employes than he is in his males. What he wants is results, and you will find that "our invaluable Miss Smiths" and the ladies at the heads of departments, and the high-priced buyers are no Glamor Girls.

The truth is that women put too much stress on mere physical beauty. In reality it is one of the things we admire more in the abstract than we do in the concrete. It attracts us at first glance, but it does not hold us, and there are a dozen attributes that a women can have that take her farther than violet eyes and naturally wavy hair. Even with men.

A man may rave over a living picture, but he shies away from the expense of keeping it properly framed. When he marries he wants a wife who will admire him instead of one before whom he will have to continually burn incense. When he hires a new secretary, he wants one whose looks won't make his wife green-eyed and keep her snooping on his office.

You Can Change Your Looks

But, after all, discouraged daughter, there is balm in Gilead for you, and if you don't like your looks there is a lot you can do about them. No girl nowadays need be as homely as God made her unless she is totally lacking in enterprise and energy. For while, as the Bible says, it may be true that no man adds two cubits to his stature by taking thought, a woman is not so inhibited. She can turn mousy hair into gold and straight locks into such ravishing curls as Nature never made, and change the dumbiest figure into a stringbean if that is her ideal.

She can camouflage homeliness with good clothes that do for her face what the pink mosquito netting does for the basket of green peaches. Thank Heaven the general public never differentiates between a woman and what she has on, and when they say "how pretty Mary looks tonight," they are complimenting her mauve chiffon and not herself.

And there are so many other things that a girl can substitute for beauty that are more potent allures than the real thing. There is sweetness and gentleness and kindliness that make the plainest face lovely. There is intelligence and gaiety and wit that make us forget the outside of a woman and think only of the beauty of her mind and soul.

There is sympathy and understanding, and any woman looks good to us who gives us these. There is charm that is made up of all of these things and something else that our Fairy God-mother gives us when she kisses us in our cradles. And when a girl has these she can snap her fingers in the face of Miss Universe.

Widow in her Own Home

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a widow 61 years old, in good health and young for my age. I live with my son-in-law and family, but would like to have my own home. I can support myself. What do you think?

DISSATISFIED.

ANSWER—I would say go to it. Get your own home where you can do as you please, have things the way you want them, have your own friends and some life and personality of your own, as you cannot have when you are an enforced guest in your in-law's house. No woman who has an independent income or can support herself should live with her married children.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

For Saturday, March 21

A rather difficult and perplexing day is forecast by the ruling plenetary figure. While there may be sudden, exciting and disintegrating forces to cope with, the solution may not be found by precipitate, impulsive, erratic or reckless conduct toward the situation. Rather, a serious, profound and systematic evaluation of the chaotic and confusing circumstances should be the most advisable and hopeful method.

Those whose birthday it is may prepared for a year of sudden vents which may demand more than clever, considerate and sagacious management and in perplexing, confusing and strange set of circumstances. This may be a disintegrating, treacherous as well as exciting and uprooting situation, but indulging in abrupt, impulsive and emotional conduct would be ruinous. There are certain responsibilities, dutie sand obligations to be cast in the balance before making any rash and foolhardy decisions.

A child born on this day should be grave and serious as well as excitable, impulsive and erratic.

WHY STAY HERE?

CHAPTER XXXIII

Next day Parris had a call from Mrs. Skeffington—a peremptory invitation to tea.

Mrs. Skeffington sat near the fire which glowed behind an elaborate apparatus of brass fender, andirons, and screen.

Parris bowed over the long skinny hands.

"I'm awfully glad to see you."

"Glad to see you, too. I hear you've been skinning the state out of a hundred thousand dollars."

"I didn't."

"Piffle. Of course you did. Doggone smart trick. Congratulate you."

Parris laughed. Mrs. Skeffington began to fuss with tea things. "I'm sorry the Colonel didn't live to see it. Hundred thousand! Bless me!"

Parris sobered.

"All right, all right. Spout your story. Did that fellow, Drake McHugh, actually have anything to do with this?"

"Everything. I was in Europe."

"So I heard. Smart. Didn't think Drake had that much gumption."

"Well, his wife Randy—"

"Oh ho! So that's it. Little gal's got the brains, eh?"

"She is smart. She's a fine girl, Mrs. Skeffington."

"I dare say, I dare say. Peculiar though—whole business. Man's legs cut off. Girl marries him. What for?"

Parris would have resented this from anyone else, but he understood Mrs. Skeffington.

"Fond of those two, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"Loyalty's scarce nowadays. Dying out, along with most everything else worth talking about."

"I'll tell you about this real-estate business if you really want to know."

"Of course I do. That's why I sent for you today."

"Well, this really began when Drake's accident happened. Randy wrote me, or cabled me. . . . "

When he came to the end she peered sharply through her gold-rimmed glasses.

"That's all?"

"Absolutely."

"I believe you."

"Thanks." His tone was dry, but he smiled.

"Well, you needn't be persnickety about it. I doubt if anybody else will."

"I don't think I care much."

"I hope you don't. The Colonel—well, you know how the Colonel would have reacted to all this. What you going to do about that dirty little newspaper?"

"Nothing."

"Well, I don't know. I think a horsewhip would help a lot."

"All that's happened between Drake and me is—well, not for Kings Row. He was kicked around, Mrs. Skeffington, you know that."

"I expect he behaved a good deal like a blackguard, now, didn't he?"

"No."

"So you think Drake's really a pretty good fellow, do you?"

"He's a very close and very dear friend. I love him more than anybody in the world, Mrs. Skeffington."

"H'm. Want to bring — what's her name?"

"Randy. Name really is Miranda."

"Want to bring her up to see me someday? I guess I'd better know your friends if you are going to have them."

"I'll be delighted, and thank you."

"Parris."

"Yes, ma'am."

"Get out of this town."

"Why?"

"It'll never let you alone. It was a better town once."

"Are you sure?"

"You're going to tell me I'm like all old people. I remember also what was raw and crude about it. But there were a few people—like the Colonel, like Macmillan St. George, like your grandmother—they leavened the lump. They're gone. Something's gone with 'em. Place is finished."

"Oh, now—"

"Let me talk. A town can be the temporary camp of a tradition, of a good way of life. It can be an outpost for a long time. Sometimes the thing that made it live moves on—goes somewhere else. And a town like this—the way it is now—will go after you because you're better."

"But, Mrs. Skeffington, Kings Row isn't really my principal concern. It's the hospital, my work there. The patients out at the end of Federal street are just as important as patients in Baltimore, or Boston, or Zurich, or Vienna. There are—I haven't said this even to myself—"

"Go on."

"There are plenty of specialists in my field in the important cities, and in the famous clinics. But I'm the only one here, at present. I believe I'm useful. I'm doing what I set out to do when I was a kid. It might as well be here. This is home."

"I think you may be a fool."

"Maybe. I told you what Herr Berdorff said when I suggested he take a professorship at Aberdeen and let his stupid little congregation go to thunder."

"What did he say? I forgot."

"He said: 'Parris! I am a preacher.'"

"You're telling me the same thing, I see."

"No, not really. You are kind to think of me. Colonel Skeffington was heavenly good to my grandmother. You're just like him. But the Colonel stayed on in Kings Row, too!"

"He was tough. So am I."

"Then I'll be tough."

Events and circumstances of the winter brought surprises to Parris. First of all he was surprised to discover that he cared what the people of Kings Row thought of him. For the sake of Drake and Randy he had to appear indifferent, but he did care. It was a complex state of mind.

The second surprise came when he sensed that the town as a whole regarded him, for a supposed fleecing of the state, with a kind of respect. People he didn't know stopped him in the street with a friendly handshake.

Kings Row also rediscovered Drake McHugh. He was, after all, the nephew of old Major Livingstone. Mrs. Sansome was heard to say that Mrs. McHugh was said to be really quite acceptable. It was observed that old Mrs. Skeffington saw Mrs. McHugh rather often, although she just chuckled when some one questioned her about the girl from the lower end of town.

Sarah Skeffington clapped her hands together like a convert at a camp meeting when she talked to Parris about it.

"Kings Row respects just one thing: that's money. They say you're smart. It's just like cracking a whip at a pack of dogs. A hundred thousand dollars is something they can understand!"

"I told you I didn't make that much money." Parris was bewildered. "Besides, I don't want to be respected for being a crook!"

"What do you care, so long as you make 'em crawl? Parris, democracy is a fine thing, but it only operates among equals."

Parris laughed. "I don't agree."

"Ever hear of noblesse oblige?"

"Yes, and—"

"You listen to me. Some of us practice such a thing because we know we're superior. It's based on a kind of contempt for people who need it!"

"You don't believe a word you're saying."

"Most of it. Shall, until there's a different order in this world—a time when all of us will be aristocrats of spirit."

Spring came. A boisterous, shrewish kind of spring with rowdy winds and a damp clinging cold. Parris walked often through it as the season broke, feeling changes within himself as timid as the sunshine, as hesitant as the unfolding of crinkled leaves. He walked hatless through the town, his brow very white, with fine lines across it, a few threads of gray in his tousled hair. He wore a mixed expression, as if mind and heart showed clearly separate there, the one cold and detached, the other shy and warm—a look that turned inward.

His walk one afternoon led past the schoolhouse and across the field that was his old way home—with Renee. He climbed the high wire fence—a new one running from the oil rail fence at the end of the field—and walked up the slopes where maples were already shadowy with buds and leaves. He felt a rising excitement in his breast. Once he paused and considered turning back, then he went on again.

The view spread out wide and clear before him. There, circled by the shining hand of the creek, the whole of it slanting in the sun, lay his old home. His feet had led him almost unconsciously to this place. There it was! And he had lived in dread of seeing it again!

The house was as it was when he had last seen it—flower beds in neat patterns along the terrace, chickens sauntering about in casual fashion. It was lovelier than he had remembered.

As he almost ran down the wide sloping fields toward the road he felt as if the whole spring day ran with him. Spring was overhead, underfoot. He felt it all about him, the sun on his back, the faint murmurous hint of wind and birds and water.

He opened the small wicket at the high, ornamental wooden gates and walked slowly up the avenue toward the house. At the foot of the curving stone steps leading up to the terrace a wave of memory struck him—a thousand complex memories compounded in one instant. There would be his grandmother, and Anna, and presently there would be cakes, and tea, and coffee . . .

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money —(Advt.)

Mayor Hamilton

year, and said that the threshermen could tell the producers to do their utmost. "We all know that you will thresh all the grain the farmers grow."

Frank Paterson, listed on the program for a talk, said he hoped he was not presuming too much in extending a welcome on behalf of the county of Peterborough. He suggested that the threshermen could do a helpful service throughout their areas by encouraging farmers to plant as much crop as they can handle, buy good seed and use fertilizer.

Farmers made a splendid response to the nation's appeal for production last year. In spite of depleted labor ranks there was a big increase in crops.

"The only surplus we have at present is wheat," Mr. Paterson said. "Threshermen can help by encouraging farmers to co-operate more than ever this year, help them to think out new problems in a new way. There should be more neighboring around, helping each other with the crop. We should be more inclined to orient our thinking and ways to the wartime conditions; be patient with restrictions. We will have to subject ourselves to a lot of things before we are out of this."

In reply to Mayor Hamilton, W. W. Dawson acknowledged the welcome to the Threshermen, and said His Worship had followed in the footsteps of his father, the late Peter Hamilton.

"That name will go down in the history of agriculture in this part of the province in connection with the farm machinery they used to make. They always gave us something good," Mr. Dawson said. "Mayor Hamilton takes a very sincere view of his duties, and he is highly regarded by the people of Peterborough as shown by the way they elect him without opposition."

L. C. Thompson, president, endorsed Mr. Paterson's appeal for co-operation, and incidentally recalled Mr. Paterson's successful work in Durham county.

"This country is making a tremendous output of munitions," Mr. Thompson said. "You have all read some criticisms about the way we are doing things, but from my actual observations I am convinced that a lot of those people who were criticizing did not know what they were talking about. This country has already done a big munitions job, and we have not yet reached our peak."

Diet Rids You of Exhausting Fat

Low-Calory Foods Work Miracle

Do you wish you could step out of your exhausting fat into a youthfully slim, energetic body?

You could, of course, if you'd DIET—the scientific way explained in our diet booklet. By substituting low-calory for fattening high-calory dishes you lose 2 pounds a week—and gain in health!

You don't have to sacrifice. High-calory tuna fish? Go ahead, have it—a quarter of a cup in a salad with low-calory lettuce, tomato and celery. Only 196 calories a serving. But avoid the tuna fish Newburg (447 a cup).

The reason you gain energy is that many low-calory foods are high in vitamins.

A diet's no longer a cracker-tea-and-lemon affair, but three healthful meals a day—even desserts! Though desserts like Apple Betty (375 for ¾ cup) are forbidden, you can have delicious apple sauce cake (100).

Eat all you want—yet grow slim, vital, young! Our 32-page booklet tells how, gives 42 healthful low-calory menus; includes calory chart.

For your copy of "The New Way To A Youthful Figure" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

MAKE IT A DOUBLE ONE

IF THERE is no way to make your contract except by a squeeze play, you may proceed usually in either of three general ways. One is to try to squeeze your left-hand opponent, another is to try to squeeze the right-hand defender. But the better way is to try to discard so that you may hamstring either one of them, and possibly both. That goes, no matter how well you have read their cards at the start. Perhaps one of them has fooled you by something he did.

West laid down his club A and, after getting a look at the K in dummy, switched to the diamond 2. From this South read him as holding the club Q, as otherwise he probably would have repeated the suit instead of risking a lead into a diamond tenace. With only eleven tricks in sight and no finesse, South decided to try a squeeze against both defenders, or against East if he alone held spade and diamond protection, or against West if he alone could retain diamond and club protection, or spade and diamond protection.

South first put in the diamond 10 in the remote hope that West had both the J and Q, but East covered with the Q and the K won. Then came the heart J, club K and all hearts but one, followed by the spade A and the last heart. At this stage, he also had the spade J and diamond 3, holding in dummy the diamond A-8 and the club J. West, on the last heart, could not throw the club Q without setting up the J in dummy, so dropped the diamond 5, whereupon the now useless club J was discarded from dummy. East had to play now either the spade K, which would set up South's J, or a diamond from the 9-7. He chose the diamond 7, so the diamond 3 to the A dropped both the J and the 9, making the dummy's 8 good for the game trick.

Parishes Join To Honor Beloved Pastor

YOUNG'S POINT, March 20. — (ENS).—Saturday evening about one hundred people of St. Aidan's, Young's Point; St. Matthew's, Buckhorn, and the Young's Point Social Club met in St. Aidan's Parish Hall to bid farewell to a beloved pastor and his family, who have been a glowing guidance to their people as well as many others, during his 12 years of service in this field.

The evening was enjoyably spent and tables were arranged around the hall in the form of a horseshoe; Rev. E. C. and Mrs Moore, also their son Edgar seated at the head of the horseshoe, with the others forming the remainder of the shoe. A sing-song full of pep helped to keep everyone smiling.

Dainty sandwiches and tea was served, after which, the following address was read:

"Rev. E. C. and Mrs. Moore:

"We, the conbined members of St. Aidan's Church and the Social Club of Young's Point have come together tonight to convey to you and yours our sincere thanks for your ministry and work here with us for the last twelve years.

During that time, in spite of many obstacles, much has been accomplished to make life in this community a little better.

It was through your foresight, interest and work that this hall was started, so that the young and old of this community might gather to enjoy together the many activities that go to make life worth while.

We trust that the fact of the hall being clear of debt will serve as a little recompense for your work. Sincerely we hope too, that looking back to what has been done in and around the hall, will inspire you to even greater things in your new field of work. Many you long be spared, and good health attend you and yours for the years ahead, in order you will see for yourself the carrying on of the work so ably started."

Mr. Arthur Morris, on behalf of the congregation of St. Aidan's and the Social Club presented Rev. E. C. Moore with a purse of money.

Mr. Thomas Gordon of St. Matthew's Church, Buckhorn, on behalf of that congregation, present- Rev. E. C. Moore with a purse of money, and said, that the address read by St. Aidan's expressed their thoughts and feelings for him and his family perfectly.

A very pleasant gesture of the evening was the presentation of a cake to Rev. E. C. Moore, decorated with a candle for each of the twelve years spent here.

Everyone then joined in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and three hearty cheers with a tiger for Mrs. Moore.

Rev. E. C. Moore, on behalf of himself, his wife and family, thanked everyone most kindly, and paid tribute to the sterling qualities of each family of St. Aidan's and St. Matthew's, also to other families in the village, especially the family of Mr. Fred Young and the late Mrs. Young. Rev. Mr. Moore referred to this family as "good neighbors."

Mr. Young asked if he might thank Rev. E. C. Moore for the kind words spoken of his family, not for himself, but for his late wife. He also added that no one would know of the many kind deeds done to his family by Rev. E. C. and Mrs. Moore.

Everyone clasped hands, and sang "Auld Lang yne," also The National Anthem was sung, which brought to a close a most memorable evening.

4 Die In Crash

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., March 19—(AP).—A United States civilian pilot and three members of the Royal Canadian Air Force were killed last night in the crash of an Anson bombing plane 45 miles east of here. The men were all attached to No. 6 Air Observer School and were on an instructional flight.

"How Much Is It In Money?"

Red Cross Holds Novelty Euchre

YOUNG'S POINT, Mar. 20 (ENS). —A St. Patrick novelty euchre party sponsored by the Young's Point Red Cross Society held in St. Aidan's Parish Hall was a huge success, and donations received helped to swell the financial end of the afternoon. The hall was decorated with shamrocks, the tallies also being in shamrock style.

Four tables of progressive euchre and two tables of peanut euchre were played.

The committee in charge served afternoon tea, and two gentlemen were guests of honor at this ladies' event. Rev. E. C. Moore was asked to present the prizes—all War Savings Stamps. Progressive euchre was a tie between Mrs. E. Dixon and Mrs. W. McIlmoyle, the latter winning the draw: Second high, Miss Lillian Windsor. Peanut euchre prize winners were Mrs. M. Harvey and Mrs. E. Johnston. Fred Young drew the door ticket. Miss Lillian Windsor held the lucky ticket.

Lakefield A.Y.P.A. Holds Jolly Social

LAKEFIELD, March 20—(ENS). —Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Stewart gave the hospitality of their home on Tuesday evening for a jolly St. Patrick's social for the members and friends of the A.Y.P.A. War Service Club. Several amusing games and contests were played and war savings stamps were donated for those who held the high scores of the games with the following being the winners: Mrs. L. Dever, Mrs. T. Wickett, Miss Pearl Peacock and Miss Mary Mackenzie.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the 'touch and take table' where wrapped parcels arranged on a candle lighted table were sold. Over eight dollars were realized and will go toward the war work of the club.

Delicious cookies and coffee was served after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess for a most enjoyable evening.

Hastings Veterans To Form Orchestra

HASTINGS, March 20—(ENS). — At a meeting of the newly-formed Hastings War Veterans' Association, held Saturday night, plans were discussed regarding the formation of a local orchestra composed largely of veterans.

Cyril Blackburn reported that plans for the orchestra are already well under way. G. Walker suggested that an old-fashioned "hard-time" dance be held in the near future as soon as the orchestra could be formed.

This idea was heartily endorsed and April 10 was set as the date for the dance.

Funds garnered from the dance will be utilized to purchase club rooms for the veterans.

It was tentatively decided to hold a church parade Sunday, April 26, the anniversary of both Ypres and Gallipoli.

Institute Holds Wartime Banquet

BUCKHORN, March 20—(ENS). —The monthly meeting of the Hall's Bridge Women's Institute was neld in the form of a wartime banquet in the True Blue Hall at Buckhorn. Despite very bad weather conditions most of the members turned out with their husbands or boy friends. It took the form of a pot-luck supper, with each member bringing just one main dish. The two long tables were decorated in shades of green, keeping in mind St. Patrick's Day.

Mr. Wood was the master of ceremonies for the evening and a very enjoyable hour was spent, in which he had a quiz question for each one present.

Mrs. Ed. Stoddard of Victoria Harbor, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wood sang several old-fashioned songs which were enjoyed very much.

Mrs. R. Montgomery gave a short reading which caused a good laugh from everyone. Mrs. H. H. Shearer read a splendid paper on "The Minutes of a Women's Institute Meeting." It was a very humorous paper, with each members name brought into it. Charles Pacey sang a comical song named "Tucklish Reuben."

La Roque Urges Non-Party National Rule

CALGARY, March 20—(CP). — Hertel La Roque of Montreal said in a public address here Thursday that Canada needs a non-party National Government, with Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander of the Canadian Corps, as Prime Minister.

Mr. La Roque, one-time secretary to former Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal, said "We haven't had leadership in this country in 20 years" and that this leadership is necessary to complete unity.

His address was the second in a series he and Elmore Philpott, Vancouver author, will make across Canada. They spoke in Vancouver Monday.

Both speakers expressed fear of a racial split on the conscription issue and offered their suggestion of Gen. McNaughton as the needed leader because of their belief that he is not a party man, has shown a full sense of fair play and has the courage to make decisions.

"Up to conscription in the last war," said Mr. La Roque, "everything was going fine in Quebec," but then "came conscription and hell broke loose."

Military police, he charged, had gone to villages and, because they understood no French, had forcibly taken the young men. Sometimes, he said, "they used to club them on the head."

At the last general election the war was still in the "phony" stages, said Mr. La Roque, but after the sudden change Prime Minister Mackenzie King "had to come to some decision; always something he does not like to do."

Should Have Told French

Mr. La Roque expressed his belief that if the Federal Government had informed young French-Canadians that national mobilization was for the duration and not for a 30-day training period, the reaction to the question of conscription would have been different.

Reviewing the circumstances of the present tour, Mr. Philpott in an interview earlier yesterday said it "is being handled by a small group consisting of Judith Robinson of Toronto, Hertel La Roque, myself and a few associates in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia."

He said "no organized body is sponsoring the campaign" and that "a few Canadian citizens have subscribed a modest sum of money" to pay costs of meetings across Canada.

In the interview he said the main purpose of the tour is "to achieve national unity in Canada, and all our group are agreed that McNaughton for Prime Minister is essential for that purpose."

The organization's further aims, he said, are "to impress on all Canada the vital necessity of total war in this fight for survival of freedom; to forestall the disastrous racial split which now threatens Canada as a result of a Yes-and-No vote in the conscription plebiscite; to obtain political leadership necessary to obtain these ends."

Old Hatreds Flaring Hungary, Rumania Ready To Fight For It

BERNE, Switzerland, March 21—(AP)—Old hatred between Hungary and Rumania—two Axis states—has flared up again despite efforts of Germany to make it appear that all Europe has been united behind the Nazi spring campaign against Russia.

This hatred, menacing Hitler's plans, has been more or less dormant for the last year since German pressure imposed a truce on the press of the two countries, but apparently even the German efforts were unable to keep it suppressed indefinitely.

In fact, informed quarters said, the renewal of tension between the two countries is due directly to Berlin's attempts to play one against the other with the hope of getting the maximum aid from each.

(The London Daily Mail's Geneva correspondent reported that Hungary had militarily strengthened her borders with Rumania because of Rumania's growing territorial grievances.)

Evening The Score

NEW YORK, March 21—(AP)—An Australian broadcast heard by CBS said today that shore batteries on tiny British Christmas Island in the Indian Ocean south of Java sank a Japanese submarine which had torpedoed a Norwegian ship. The crew of the torpedoed ship was taken to Australia aboard an Allied warship.

The broadcast said the shore batteries opened fire and scored a direct hit when the submarine came to the surface after attacking the ship off shore. "The submarine rolled over, showed her keel, then disappeared." the broadcast said.

Threat To Press Arouses Rumble In U.K.

LONDON, March 21 — (CP). — A committee of Liberals headed by J. B. Priestley, author issued a statement to-day opposing "unjustified suppressive action" in reference to Home Secretary Herbert Morrison's threat to suspend publication of the Daily Mirror on the ground that its attacks on the Government jeopardize the nation's war effort.

"There may be many people who do not like the Daily Mirror as a newspaper," the statement said, "or who feel that sometimes its language has been too strong, too sweeping, and perhaps even a little irresponsible.

"In spite of such feelings it is absolutely essential that a strong stand be taken on this question of freedom of criticism in general and of the press in particular. That stand must be taken now."

The commitee proposed that instead of suppression, the Government 'be given power to compel any newspaper to print with prominence equal to that of the offending passage, actual facts on any subject which has been misrepresented in such a way as might be interpreted as fomenting opposition to successful prosecution of the war."

Arctic Route Looms Road To Japan

U.S. Rushing Defences Lest Enemy Strike There First

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, March 21—(AP).—United States military leaders are giving increasing indication that the eventual offensive against Japan will come from more than one direction lending weight to speculation that one assault may follow the pathway of Japan's northern islands, the Kuriles.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in Australia, speaks of an offensive from the south—"I came through (the Japanese front in the East Indies), and I will return."

Lt.Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell in Chungking, pictures "American and Chinese troops in Tokyo together"—the climax of a drive from the West.

Evidence grows also that neither in Washington nor in Tokyo has the northern route, the great circle along the Pacific's rim, been forgotten. Thus far the north has been peaceful, but with the advent of spring in the Northern Hemisphere it will demand increasing attention.

On the north, United States territory is only 700 miles from the Mikado's realm—one-fifth as far as the Japanese moved to smash at Pearl Harbor less than one-tenth of the span covered by the legions poturing across the Southern Pacific to join MacArthur.

Japs May Come That Way

There also is no guarantee a bitter defensive battle may not have to be fought along the Aleutian-Alaskan-Canadian route before the United Nations can attack. Preparations now under way in Western Canada and Alaska have defensive purposes as well as offensive. The northern route offers dangers as great as its opportunities.

The 700 miles mentioned above is the distance between Attu, westernmost of the United States' Aleutians, and Shumshu, northernmost of Japan's Kuriles. The former might be the pathway of a Japanese foray against Alaska and Canada, the latter the route of an American descent on Japan's home islands.

There is little doubt that before the vast Pacific war run its course those volcano-pocked islands and the cold foggy seas that wash them

Surprise Smash On Mindanao Costly To Japs

WASHINGTON, March 21—(AP).—The United States' War Department reported to-day a surprise raid by American and Philippine troops on Japanese forces near Zamboanga on the Philippine island of Mindanao in which heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

American and Filipino losses were described in a communique as negligible.

Meanwhile the harbor defences of Manila Bay were reported under 'extremely heavy' shelling from artillery, which included 240-millimetre (about eight-inch) guns but the War Department said little damage of military consequence was done.

Fighting on the Bataan peninsula continued in a lull.

In Australia, the War Department announced, Prime Minister John Curtin had appointed Lt.-Gen. George Brett, U.S. Army, to command of Australian as well as United States' air forces operating on the southern continent.

General Lauds The Aussies "Shall Keep Faith Carry Cause To Success"

Allied Bombers Swoop Anew On Rabaul Burn, Sink Another Heavy Cruiser All Return Despite Hot Jap Attacks

By VERN A. HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

MELBOURNE, March 21—(AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur arrived here early today and promptly promised the cheering thousands who gave him a hero's welcome that he would do his best to carry the cause of the United Nations to "ultimate success."

"I shall keep a soldier's faith," Gen. MacArthur declared simply in a short speech.

The demonstration for the hero of Bataan, deeply tanned after his days in the Philippines, was one of the greatest in the history of this Commonwealth.

Meanwhile, the burning and sinking of another Japanese heavy cruiser by Allied bombers yesterday in a daring daylight attack on Rabaul, New Britain, was announced by Prime Minister John Curtin, in Canberra.

A Japanese cruiser was reported badly damaged at Rabaul only two days ago.

Mr. Curtin said that all the raiders returned safely to their bases from the new raid. The sinking brought to 26 the number of Japanese warships and merchant vessels reported sunk or damaged in the waters north of Australia in less than two weeks.

The Prime Minister also announced that Australian aircraft had carried out a raid yesterday on Saumliki, on the Netherlands island of Yamdena, 300 miles north of Australia. "Enemy installations were bombed, but the results were not fully observed," he declared.

A communique said a direct hit was scored on the cruiser from a great height and several near misses were seen. All Allied bombers returned safely despite fierce Japanese fighter plane attacks and anti-aircraft fire.

The amazing journey of Gen. McArthur with his family which started in extreme secrecy behind the Japanese lines on the beseiged Philippines, ended in the sudden flare of pomp and public acclaim at Melbourne's rambling, brown Spencer Street railway station.

The Australians at the station, still thrilled by the General's statement yesterday that a grand Allied attack would supplant the present defence warfare, gave a great yell when the broad-shouldered supreme commander of the United Nations in the Southwest Pacific stepped from the Adelaide express.

Praise For Aussie Fighters

Gen. MacArthur paid tribute to the Australian soldiers in his short talk to the welcoming throng.

"I am glad indeed to be in immediate co-operation with the Australian soldier," he said. "I know him well...and admire him greatly."

Then he touched in a general manner on the coming struggle.

"I have every confidence in the ultimate success of our joint cause, but success in modern war requires something more than courage and willingness to die," the General said. "It requires careful preparation.

"This demands furnishing sufficient troops and sufficient material

EXTRA!

LONDON.—(CP)—Exchange Telegraph news agency reported hearing a Tokyo dispatch on the German radio today asserting that Japanese shock troops had reached the Gulf of Papua, on the southern side of New Guinea, and that thus "the last decisive attack for complete occupation of New Guinea" had begun.

CANBERRA, Australia.—(CP)—Prime Minister Curtin announced in a second communique today that two enemy cruisers were damaged in addition to one believed sunk in yesterday's raid on the Harbor of Rabaul, New Britain.

Heads Available

SYDNEY, Australia, March 21—(CP).—The war in New Guinea probably will be complicated by outbreaks of head hunting among cannibals from the Sepik River area where some of the world's wildest tribes are found, the Port Moresby correspondent of the Sydney Sun reported today. Some native police have joined marauding bands preying on other natives, the dispatch said in quoting refugees reaching Port Moresby.

Two Australian Towns Target Of Japs

CANBERRA, March 21.—(CP)—Japanese planes struck at the western coast of Australia again yesterday, bombing Broome and Derby and attacking a small vessel near Darwin, it was announced today.

A force of heavy bombers and fighters participated in the attack on Broome and dropped about 50 bombs in the vicinity of the airdrome, killing one civilian and doing some damage to commercial aircraft, a communique said.

Derby, some 75 miles north of Broome, was attacked at about the same time by two Japanese planes, which swept over the town at a low altitude three times and strafed the ground with cannon and machine-gun fire.

"There was no damage or casualties," the bulletin declared.

A Japanese fighter which attacked a small ship near Darwin, almost 600 miles farther up the coast, fired about 500 shots at the vessel but failed to hit it, the communique added.

MacArthur Diet Canned Foods

MELBOURNE, March 21.—(CP).—Canned foods made up the principal diet of the MacArthur family during their residence in bombed Corregidor Island in the Philippines, Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, wife of the new supreme commander of the United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific, saiad to-day.

Mrs. MacArthur, the former Miss Jean Marie Faircloth of Murfreesboro, Tenn., told how she tried to make a home for her husband and her four-year-old son on Corregidor despite Japanese bombs and the dust of battle.

"We lived in the post house mostly on canned goods," she said here after arriving with the General. "Frequently we went into the rock for shelter, sometimes five or six times daaily."

Mrs. MacArthur brought few clothes other than those she wore on the speedboat escape from Corregidor, but her first concern was rest. Then, she said, she hopes to buy some clothes.

Battle Tempo Steps Up At Taganrog

Moscow Calls Nation For Supreme Drive To Victory

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, March 21 (AP)—The Soviet army was reported closing in from the north on German-held Orel, key town 200 miles south and west of Moscow today, and increasing guerilla attacks in the Bryansk region west of Orel were said to be impeding the Nazi withdrawal.

Soviet soldiers and workers alike were urged today to intensify their war efforts so the momentum from the winter offensive could be maintained against Nazi salient concentrations expected in Hitler's supreme bid for victory.

While bloody fighting progressed along the serpentine front, the Moscow radio said guerillas had killed 1,000 Germans near Bryansk and recently penetrated the heart of that railway city 220 miles southwest of the capital to burn military st... and post Russian leaflets on German bulletin boards.

(Russian troops were reported by the Vichy radio to have entered Staraya Russa, base of the encircled German 16th Army; temporarily infiltrated Kharkov fortifications in an attack which the garrison finally repulsed, and struck violently north of Taganrog, Azov Sea port that is the southern anchor of the Nazi lines).

The newspaper Red Star said Germany was weakened but still capable of assembling huge striking forces on chosen sectors for renewal of the invasion drive started nine months ago tomorrow.

"Therefore," it said, "we need to train reserves, increase the production of war munitions and pursue the enemy westward, crushing one division after another."

The Soviet information bureau said Russian troops waged offensive operations on several sectors yesterday and "inflicted heavy losses on the enemy."

Still Fodging Ahead.

There were no substantial changes in the front overnight, a mid-day communique said. It reported, however, that Soviet units on the Kal-

TWO sergeants reported today, after their return to London, that British and American war materials are flowing through a northern Russian port to strengthen Soviet military equipment.

They described the "steady progress" of deliveries of tanks, fighter and bomber planes, trucks and ammunition, together with fuel oil and aviation gasoline.

They added that British convoys arrived "frequently" with large amounts of equipment for Polish forces forming in Russia.

Tories Reported Against Tax Deal

TORONTO, March 21 — (CP).— The Globe and Mail said to-day it had learned 'from authentic sources at Queen's Park yesterday that the Conservative Opposition plans to oppose the Bill validating the agreement for the transfer of income and corporation taxes" from Ontario to Federal jurisdiction when such a Bill is introduced in the Ontario Legislature.

Premier Mitchell Hepburn said previously a Bill validating the agreement would be introduced when the Legislature convenes on Tuesday after a 34-day adjournment.

"Reached in Ottawa last night, Lieutenant-Colonel George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative Leader said he was not in a position to say what attitude his party would take as he had not had an opportunity to study the legislation."

The newspaper added that it understood the Opposition would "oppose the principle of the Bill, and if this report is correct Premier Hepburn may be compelled to call night and morning sessions in order to get the legislation passed by Saturday, which is the Government's objective."

The story said that if the Bill passed by March 31, about $3,000,000 in revenue would be delivered from the Federal Treasury to the province. The Bill would be introduced on Tuesday by Attorney-General Gordon Conant, who would explain its provisions immediately following the introduction. Mr. Hepburn would speak at the second reading.

Halifax Church Razed By Fire

HALIFAX, March 21 — (CP). — The First Baptist Church of Halifax was destroyed by fire to-day with damage estimated at some $75,000 and an entire block was threatened as firemen were hampered by low water pressure. The flames were eating into the adjoining building and threatened six other buildings, mostly residences, in a block bounded by Spring Garden Road and Hastings, Doyle and Queen Streets.

The blaze apparently started in the rear of the church basement and the 100-year-old building was soon a mass of flames.

Fire Chief J. W. Churchill said the church's red brick walls were "just about to collapse at any time" and police and soldiers cleared the crowds from the immediate area.

'Peg Recruiting Black Spot?

M.P. Blames Girls And Manitoba Education

WINNIPEG, March 21.—(CP). — N. V. Bachynsky (Lib.-Pro. Fisher) charged in the Legislature Friday that Winnipeg is the "black spot" of Manitoba for recruiting.

He blamed this on Manitoba's educational system, saying the public schools were not teaching character.

"They are not instilling in the minds of the youth the fibre of good citizenship....the present generation is hesitant to go to their country's defence in its hour of danger."

Speaking in the budget debate, Mr. Bachynsky declared that young women to-day try to persuade young men not to enlist. He contrasted this condition with the First Great War when, he said, the girls would "scarcely speak to young men not in uniform."

He traced most of the trouble to what he termed "an atmosphere of freak, conditional patriotism" in the years before the war.

Offensive Spirit Rising Fast In East

Vigorous Assaults On Jap Bases Proof Of Aerial Reinforcements In Australia

Written For The Canadian Press By Major-Gen. Sir Charles Gwynn.

LONDON, March 21.—(CP Cable).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's appointment as commander in chief of the Australian zone, significant in itself, has been followed quickly by proof of growing Allied strength in that area with a series of disclosures not only illustrative of the impressive scale of American aid, but also the speed of the offensive spirit in which it has been designed.

The value of American air cooperation and the establishment of bases for their operations has been shown already in the vigorous and effective onslaught on Japanese warships and transports in the New Guinea area, resulting in 24 Japanese ships, including nine warships, being sunk or damaged.

The American contingent on that side of the Pacific, it can already been seen, are no mere token force. Obviously the first consideration must be to guarantee the security of the Australian base, though it would be inconsistent with MacArthur's character and the record of the Anzac troops to look for security in a passive spirit.

The daring and success of air counter-attacks against Japanese shipping bases in New Guinea are an indication of what may be expected of them. However, it would be premature to suppose they can launch a large-scale offensive in the near future, or assume that when it comes it will be directly based in Australia, which may only be a half-way house where the reorganization and training is to be carried out. Meanwhile the initiative lies with Japan and the direction of the next move is still uncertain.

Evidently Port Moresby, which is threatened, is regarded as a stepping stone to Port Darwin and the northern Australian ports and the Japanese will seek air superiority over the Torres Straits. They may attempt to push out further to the southeast into the South Sea Islands to find bases for attacks on American convoys. There is no doubt that if the Japanese secure such bases steps must be taken to dislodge them. But in the main, protection of the convoys must depend less on the denial of these to the enemy than naval action and such air protection as can be provided.

Some islands may give the Allies useful intermediate bases for organization of protective services and to counteract and frustrate the Japanese attempts.

Transport Changes in Burma

It is evident the Japs are preparing for a fresh advance in Burma. The lull, however, has given Gen. Harold Alexander time to reorganize his command and devise a method for meeting the Japanese tactics. The experience of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Australians in their wonderful rearguard actions in Malaya, when better known, should be of immense value. It is reported that Gen. Alexander is substituting animal for mechanical transport in the fighting zone, the latter having proved unsuitable for jungle warfare. It may not be easy, however, to equal the Japanese transport organization as their troops have such few requirement and since they are, as an army, trained for operations in undeveloped countries.

Govt. Order Riles Church Of England Paper

LONDON, March 21—(CP Cable)—A Church of England newspaper, attacking a Ministry of Labor order that work should continue Good Friday and Easter Day, today said 'The Government still ignores the wishes of Christian people and they seem to go out of their way to wound the susceptibilities of those who wish to worship God as well as serve their fellow men."

The weekly said the King's appointment of Palm Sunday as a national Day of Prayer "makes still more urgent our appeal to the Prime Minister, even at the 11th hour, to take action once again to save the country from disaster."

"Let us as a nation humbly confess our sins, pride, thoughtlessness and neglect of God, and in penitence may be resolve to serve Him more faithfully so that the British Commonwealth may be used as His instrument for the fulfillment of His purpose for the world."

Chinese Cavalry Units Kill 700 In Fight At Toungoo

NEW DELHI, India, March 21—(CP).—A British detachment fighting on the Irawaddy front in Burmah has driven the Japanese from Letpadan, on the Rangoon-Prome Railway about 20 miles north of Tharrawaddy, it was officially reported today.

Letpadan is an important junction point about 100 miles northeast of the Irrawaddy delta port of Bassein. The railway from Bassein connected with the Rangoon-Prome railroad at Lepadan.

Earlier, British headquarters announced that the Japanese suffered 700 casualties in heavy fighting south of Toungoo, Burma, where Chinese cavalry was in action against the Japanese armored cars, infantry and cavalrymen.

The official advices placed the Chinese-Japanese fighting on the Sittang River, on the left wing of the British-Chinese line defending mid-Burma.

British authorities said the Chinese and Japanese established contact in the Pyu area, 35 miles south of Toungoo, important British defence point, last Thursday, after British forces had withdrawn Tuesday north of Pyu.

Chinese Fight Well.

Early Friday, the communique said, 600 enemy infantrymen, supported by cavalry and guns, crossed the Pyu River, only to be met by a small party of Chinese cavalry and infantrymen. The Pyu River empties into the Sittang just east of the town of Pyu.

will see plenty of planes and fighting ships and perhaps armies.

The question is which will strike first. After 3½ months of the Pacific war both sides see the tremendous advantages which lie with the offensive.

What Japan may be doing is of course hidden except for the highly-confidential data that trickles into certain offices in Washington. Some of the things the United States are doing — either to meet invasion in the north or prepare to launch it against the enemy—are known to the world: The building of a naval base at Dutch Harbor, in the Aleutians; the construction of bases in Alaska; the pushing of the Alaska highway through Canada's northwestern provinces; the strengthening of defences all along the broken, island-flecked coasts of British Columbia and Alaska.

Enemy Bases Ready.

Non-Japanese authorities have reason for believing the Japanese have established in the Kuriles bases for both flying boats and land planes, naval stations with docking and repair facilities for small warcraft and an extensive system of weather and radio stations, including radio locaters to warn of approaching planes.

From the American military point of view, the Kuriles might be the stepping stones to conquest of the Japanese homeland by combined air, sea and land assault—planes ranging ahead to blast a way for ships and landing forces who then establish bases from which the planes can fly to repeat the process over and over.

Such a drive down the Kuriles would lead to the gentle plains of Hokkaido which is a short 600 or 700-mile bomber hop from the agglomeration of inflammable wooden houses called Tokyo.

situation and no deductions can be drawn from such an increase in patrolling and air activity as has occurred. The very effective naval and air raid on Rhodes in the Dodecanese Islands is proof that we are not resting entirely on the defensive in the Mediterranean. Persistent air attacks on Malta continue, but there is little indication that they are a prelude to an attempt to capture the island. They seem to be attempts to reduce the use of the island as an offensive base against Italian ports and convoys to Libya.

German Reserves Used In Russia.

In Russia there is no slackening of the counter-offensive and the positions of the Germans at Staraya Russa in the Vyazma salient and at Kharkov are becoming increasingly critical. Whether the Russians, constant though they are, will be able to achieve major success at any of these points it is impossible to judge. German counter-attacks are absorbing more and more reserve divisions and they appear to have only limited success and must be desperately expensive and exhausting.

That the Germans have definitely committed themselves to a great spring offensive at the earliest possible moment cannot be doubted for by no other means could the closely threatened and isolated key point to which they have clung be relieved.

If Hitler had been able to carry out his original intention of establishing a firm winter defensive position then it might have been possible for him to launch his spring offensive on a great scale elsewhere and postpone resumption of the offensive in Russia to later in the war. Now any spring offensive he may attempt elsewhere must, I think, be of subsidiary character.

Success of the Royal Air Force attacks on the Renault works would appear to have been even far more devastating than at first appeared and may have far-reaching effects on German transport services in Russia. That the works had so little anti-aircraft protection is strange. Was it through over-confidence in our unwillingness to attack French establishments or does it imply that even German resources have limitations and that they are taxed to the utmost by protection being given the most vulnerable German establishments?

When the R.A.F. attacks extend their field other weak points in the German armor may be discovered. The bombing, we know, has disturbing as well as destructive effects and if by extended field attack dispersion of the defences is caused, the destructive as well as disturbing effects may be increased.

This was the picture this week. Twenty five years ago. . . .

After nearly a week of rioting by hungry Russian workers in the streets of St. Petersburg the Romanov dynasty was overthrown March 15, 1917. The provisional government, set up three days earlier by the Duma following the downfall of the Czar's autocratic administration, forced the abdication of Nicholas II on behalf of himself and the young Czarevich. On the western front, German troops retreated to the Hindenburg line, British and French troops capturing scores of towns and villages including Papaume and Peronne.

Confidence In Farmers As War Group

Dairy farmers of Canada produced one billion more pounds of milk last year than in 1940, J. B. Nelson, secretary of the Ontario Milk Control Board reminded the large assembly of farmers at the dinner in the Canadian Legion Hall last night concluding the convention of the Eastern Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen.

"Every cow gave 240 more pounds of milk than in the preceding year. That is an indication of what the farmers of Canada did in spite of the comparative scaracity of labor, and it provides assurance of what they are going to do this year confronted with the biggest task they have ever been called upon to face."

Mr. Nelson remarked that there might be some grumbling about adverse working conditions, but they had already demonstrated their willingness and their ability to do the job.

He linked together as an integral trinity for the winning of the war, the armed forces, the factory production of munitions of all kinds, and the farm people with their responsibility of providing more food than ever.

"In spite of increasing difficulties we should as farm people think of a plan for producing food in huge quantities. I realize that I am not telling you things which you have not already heard, but the times and the danger we are facing excuse repetition. More food is needed at home because more people are working harder. There is more food required to replace imports which have been cut off, especially edible fats. And lastly we have to supply food for our armies overseas and for the people of Great Britain.

You know what is needed, cheese, bacon, eggs, canned milk, and the people of this part of the province are especially interested in these commodities. The minimum requirement of cheese for export this year was 125,000,000 pounds, more than we used to produce altogether; bacon, 600,000,000 pounds; eggs, we don't know definitely, but about 12,000,000 dozen and it may amount to 50,000,00 dozen.

That sounds like a big job and it is, especially in view of a farm labor shortage. And yet, we are being called upon to plant every last acre we can, keep every cow, pig and hen we have room for; and finally to get from all this livestock the greatest possible production."

Mr. Nelson said he could recommend only common sense ways and means of accomplishing this agricultural output. And in that connection he placed special emphasis on the little word "now."

Urgency Is Here And Now

Begin "now" to get the farm machinery in shape; begin "now" to have grain seed cleaned; plan "now" for the best production methods the farmers know. And he also suggested a greater measure of rural co-operation, in the realization that to meet the demands which are pressing upon farmers they should be prepared to make little departures from their set and accustomed methods and practice.

"The farmers of Canada have on their shoulders the problem of supplying one of the main sinews of war," Mr. Nelson declared. "We have labor and machinery problems, but despite all that it is our job to increase the staple foods that are needed and to turn out the best quality we can. I have no doubt that the farmers of Canada will carry on as they did last year. Remember the success of 1941 and I feel they will do it again. "I have faith in the farmers of Canada, and of Central Ontario and in our own farmers of Peterborough county, that they will do their share to increase food production to the full extent it is needed."

Mr. Nelson introduced his address with some recollections of the organizational progress farmers have achieved during the last ten years. At that time organized milk producers were only a few small groups in the larger cities, such as Toronto and Hamilton. Now they reach across Canada with power to bargain in their own interests.

Mr. Nelson's Recollections

"Who would have thought ten years ago that the farmers of Canada would have a national farm organization in Ottawa with a full time office and staff, watching the interests of the farmers of this country? Who would have thought ten commodity groups would be organized and have a definite say about the marketing of their products and the price at which they were to be sold under the Farm Products Control Act? Who would have thought that Peterborough farmers would have established the big co-operative business which they already developed. Very definite progress has been made by the farmers of this country.

For the time being we have a bigger job on our hands, and we have to let other things slide a bit for a while. I know it is no time for platitudes. It is not a time for emotional appeals for cool determination for the steady, increasing job of production."

Mr. Dawson Presided

W. W. Dawson, the Brotherhood's incoming president, was chairman of the dinner, which was prepared and served by the women of Stewart's Hall, Otonabee. Mayor Hamilton extended the city's greetings and welcome to the large number of visitors, after Mr Dawson had proposed the toast to King George. At the conclusion James Lamey, secretary, expressed for the Threshermen their appreciation of the fine work done by the ladies of Stewart's Hall, also their thanks to Mr. Nelson, Mayor Hamilton and to all others who had contributed to the two-day convention's success.

$100,000 Blaze Razes OAC Barn

GUELPH, March 21.—(CP).—Fire which completely razed the large cattle barns of the Ontario Agricultural College here last night, did damage whicr was estimated by officials of the college to amount to about $100,000 in equipment, grain and machinery, but all the prize-breeding stock which were in the barns were removed without any loss.

The fire broke out about 7 last evening, and was well under control in two hours, through the strenuous efforts of the Guelph Fire Department, the students at the college and airmen belonging to No. 4 Wireless School of the R.C.A.F.

Among the animals in the barns when the fire broke out were prize Shorthorns, Angus and Hereford cattle and Percheron and Clydssdale horses

Dr. G. I. Christie, president, stated that the barn which was burned last night had replaced a former one which was burned down fifty-five years ago.

Transylvania

Rumania's feelings were made known Thursday by Prof. Mihail Antonescu, who has been serving as premier since his uncle, Marshal Ion Antonescu took over active command of the Rumanian army. He declared the dispute over Transylvania was far from settled as far as Rumania was concerned.

This was the first public mention of the subject by a high official since the Vienna conference of 1940, at which the Axis awarded Northern Transylvania to Hungary.

During recent weeks Berlin leaders have been using the award as an argument to get Hungary to supply more troops for the spring campaign. They were reported to have told the Budapest government the award might be reconsidered unless the Hungarians furnished at least as many troops as the Rumanians.

Too Many Humiliations.

Prof. Antonescu declared the Rumanians in Northern Transylvania had suffered many humiliations and discriminations at the hands of the Hungarians and said "we must declare this cannot last any longer."

He said the Rumanian press had remained silent despite Hungarian newspaper attacks but that this now was impossible.

The Hungarian press printed Antonescu's speech but did not comment. Parliamentary circles confined comment to remarks that the speech was "surprising" in view of the united efforts of the Axis to prepare for the spring campaign.

The Antonescu speech was a signal for the Rumanian press to end the armistice.

The newspaper Unirea said: "This is a clear warning. The day is not far when the sufferings of our people will be relieved and justice done."

The Transylvania question has been a sore spot between Rumania and Hungary since the end of the First Great War, when the territory was incorporated into Rumania. Its transfer back to Hungary by the Vienna Conference was one of the principal factors leading to the abdication of King Carol of Rumania in 1940.

Urges Readiness

M. D. Stiles, representing the J. I. Case Manufacturing Company, advised farmers to recognize their incidence of effects of the war on machine production.

"Just as an example of actual conditions," he said, "we had sales for fifty pick-up hay bailers for March 1 in my territory but we could get only two. Machines are scarce. Companies are clearing out stocks in the hands of the trade. Any farmer thinking of buying farm machinery, no matter whom he buys it from, should get their orders in early. Even if you need only parts for repairs, get them now; don't wait. Take care of your old machines. See that the are well oiled and also that they are properly housed. We don't know what is ahead of us, and when business will return to anything like normal conditions."

Mr. Stiles concluded a bright talk on the note with which he began. "The biggest problem we have all got to face is the winning of the war. We are all of one mind about winning it, but we have got to do our part, each and every one of us. I think every farmer realizes that Great Britain is depending on this country more than ever this year for food; so there should be no idle acreage in this country."

Loss From Weeds

W. J. Stephen, B.S.A., of the crops, seeds and weeds branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture discussed both the weed problem and also the advisability of buying good seed that has been well cleaned.

Tests made at Ottawa over a period of six years showed that the yield of winter wheat from large plump seed was 46.9 bushels to the acre; from small plump grain 40.4 bushels, and from shrunk grain 39.1 bushels.

The advantage of good seed was also demonstrated with oats. Yield from large seed was 62 bushels to the acre; from medium plump seed 54.1 bushels and from small grain 46.6 bushels.

"You meet farmers who say that they are growing grain for feed and they don't need registered seed," Mr. Stephen said. "But, using registered seed we are assured of a uniform crop maturing about the same time, free from weed seeds, and this grain has been tested for yield.

Weeds cause agriculture in this country a loss of from twenty to thirty million dollars a year in production to say nothing of depreciation of land values. If the roadside weeds were to be cut once a year it would cost this province five million dollars; and twice that amount if the cut was made twice a year. If they were cut three times a year they would not even be destroyed."

Mr. Stephen said the municipalities should not let roadside weeds get ahead of them in the circumstances of war time, but should maintain a steady policy of cutting, and also of as much destruction as possible.

sent ashore a wounded member of its crew.

Martinique is in the chain of islands flanking the Panama Canal

It was established the submarine took on no supplies and did not attempt to open communication with anyone on land.

The sailor was suffering from a gangrenous wound in the leg, possibly from shellfire during a surface action against American coastal shipping. His commander apparently put him ashore with instructions to seek the surgical attention he could not be given on board ship.

The State Department immediately told Vichy that unless she gave categorical assurances no Axis submarine or war plane would be allowed to visit any French western hemisphere possession the United States would be compelled to take such action as would protect American interests.

The Vichy Government subsequently gave categorical assurances that no Axis vessels or planes would be allowed to enter French ports or territorial waters in the Western hemisphere under any pretext. This closed the incident of the submarine.

Accident Prevention Methods Are To Prevent Human Suffering

COBOURG March 21—(ENS).—Accident prevention methods were being taken by industry not to save money through lower compensation assessments, as the cost of such methods ran into staggering sums, but for humane reasons such as preventing human misery and suffering, declared C. G. Cameron, medical aid officer of the Workmen's Compensation Board, in an address given to district employers and employees Friday night. The meeting, which was held in Trinity Parish Hall was for employers and employees of the Port Hope-Cobourg section of the Central Ontario Division of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association. Harry Lucas of the Edwards and Edwards Co., was chairman. H. A. Cranfield of the Canadian General Electric Co., Peterborough, spoke during the evening also.

Mr. Cameron drew on his 25 years of experience with the Workmen's Compensation Board in discussing the administration of the Act and the "why" of accident prevention. Before he commenced his address, slides were shown illustrating the importance of immediate first aid for the slighest scratch. Even a small injury if left untreated for longer than fifteen minutes stands a chance of developing infection, it was pointed out.

No Need To Be a "Sissy"

Don't be afraid that you might be considered a 'sissy' because you do not go to the first aid room for that small cut or scratch which you get during your work. I know of a baker, and his hands are supposed to be clean, too, who got a sliver in his hand on a Friday and was dead the following Tuesday from the infection which developed. I know of a mechanic who got a sliver of steel in his finger and was dead 14 days later," declared Mr. Cameon.

When the Act come in force, he stated, the compensiation was 55 per cent of the average earnings, with no medical aid. In 1919 it was changed so that medical aid was included, with no limit to whatever medical aid was necessary and the compensation paid was increased to 66 2/3 per cent of the average earnings. By 1920, artificial limbs were being provided and kept in repair for one year. In 1935 the Act was changed so that artificial appliances could be replaced when necessary throughout the natural lifetime of the man receiving his pension. From 1915 industry had paid into the Workmen's Compensation Board the sum of 150 millions of dollars in assessments and this had been paid back to injured workmen on a basis of 78 per cent in wages; 18 per cent in medical aid and four per cent expended in administration. In the Province of Ontario there were 11,000 people getting their monthly pensions cheque from the Workmen's Compensation Board.

"I again emphasize that no matter how slight the injury, take no chances. Go to the first aid room and if you or the first aid worker feel that you should see a doctor, put on an emergency dressing and see your doctor. If you are able to continue work, your doctor's bill is paid and if you are out of work for seven days or more, then you get also your pension of two-thirds of your wages. The Board leaves it to the employer and the employe to decide what doctor is wanted. If, and it seldom happens, you cannot agree at to what doctor to get, then the Board looks after that matter. All necessary medical aid is given regardless of the cost," stated Mr. Cameron.

Rehabilitation Program

The speaker then went on to describe the rehabilitation program of the Board in seeing that the injured man got back to whatever work he was suited for. In the case of a fatality the widow got $100 emergency money immediately; then the funeral expenses were paid up to $125 and the widow got $40 a month for life and for each child $10 a month until the child was $16. If she remarried, she received her regular pension for a period of two years and the children by her previous marriage received the $10 per month until the age of 16 years was reached.

The money for financing the Compensation Board pensions was raised by assessing industry according to the hazard of the factory, some industries paying more because of the more dangerous work involved. The average paid in assessments was $1.15 in each $100 wages paid.

The Act stipulated that employers should practise accident prevention methods. This was hardly to save money through lower assessments because of fewer accidents as such methods often ran into huge sums. Industry was spending money right and left to reduce accident hazards, the speaker said, but the real reason was to prevent human suffering and misery.

The thanks of the meeting to Mr. Cameron for his address was moved by Robert Holland of Cobourg.

Big Order Coming

Peterborough's Canadian General Electric was booked for the largest order of anti-aircraft guns in the British Empire, Mr. Cranfield of the C.G.E. revealed in a brief address to the meeting on the appeal for men to train for work in the plant. From 1,500 to 2,000 more workmen were going to be needed in the next six months to enable the plant to carry on its programme of defence materials, he said. Classes to train the men were being sponsored and the pay while learning was seven dollars a week for the single man and $12 for the married worker. So far the response from this district was disappointing, he said.

"If you fathers have a boy mechanically-inclined, send him out to our school for the four to five weeks course of training. When he is through if he has shown average aptitude for that kind of work, he will be put out in the plant," the speaker said.

Within a short time the C.G.E. would be turning out its first anti-aircraft gun and when in full production the rate per month would be three times one of the best known arsenals in the British Empire and the C.G.E. would be the largest producer of that item of warfare in the Empire, Mr. Cranfield said.

"We may need some of them ourselves right here in our own country," he asserted grimly.

Within the next three months would be constructed a $300,000 staff house to quarter single men and it would be well-equipped with recreational facilities. For the married men, the War-Time Housing plan was being utilized with houses ranging from $22 to $30 a month.

Billion U.K. Gift Passes 1st House Test

OTTAWA, March 21—(CP)—With the $1,000,000,000 Gift-to-Britain Bill advanced through first reading, the House of Commons stands adjourned for the week-end anticipating a full week of debate on financial measures before it adjourns for Easter.

The bill sponsored by Finance Minister Ilsley received first reading yesterday after a three-day debate on the resolution preliminary to its introduction.

Next week, Mr. Ilsley indicated, he hopes to see the bill passed into law so it can become operative during the present fiscal year which ends March 31. It is planned that the House also will proceed during the week with supplementary estimates for non-war expenditures to wind up the present fiscal year, a supplementary war appropriation bill to cover war expenditures up to March 31, and interim supply and war appropriation bills authorizing expenditure of a fraction of the 1942-43 war appropriation and main non-war estimates pending the time the entire appropriations are voted later in the session.

The gift bill—which, in addition to authorizing the government to finance British purchases in Canada of munitions, materials and foodstuffs to a total value of $1,000,000,000, authorizes conversion of sterling balances now held in London on account of past purchases into a long-term loan for $700,000,000 — passed first reading without serious opposition.

Lacroix Thinks It Too Much

Wilfrid Lacroix (Lib. Quebec-Montmorency) who spoke against it and expressed belief Canada, with only 11,000,000 people, could not bear the burden, insisted it be recorded as passing on division. Earlier in the debate J. F. Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) and Liguori Lacombe (Con. Laval-Two Mountains) also expressed opposition.

John Blackmore, New Democracy leader, said his party supported the Bill without reservation or qualification. He urged, however, that the gift be financed without adding to the debt of the Canadian people and argued that if debt were incurred Canadians would pay for the whole gift over again in interest charges during the next 40 years.

The measure, he said, demonstrated how markets could be ob-

Life of World to Come Revealed to Lazarus

REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus said unto Martha: Thy brother shall rise again.—St. John 11:23.

It is startling to realize that this miracle of the raising of Lazarus from the dead is the turning point of Our Lord's ministry on earth. He signed His own death warrant when He cried with a loud voice: "Lazarus, come forth." The writer of this Gospel has pondered for over half a century over the events of that day and quietly comments: "From that day forth the Pharisees took council together to put Jesus to death."

Centuries earlier Job enquired: "If a man die shall he live again?" Have we any valid reasons for believing in "The life of the world to come"? Multitudes of our brethren are passing out of this life by violent deaths. Can you reasonably believe that thy brother, thy son, thy husband shall rise again? This is a matter of intense interest to us.

Romanes, the famous scientist, says that man's religious instinct places him in a class by himself. There is much evidence to prove that from the earliest ages man believed in a future life The Egyptians, the most cultured of that age, at the burial of a great Prince slaughtered his personal servants that they might serve him in that other world It is an instinct that man expects life after death Can you trust an instinct?

At the beginning of winter certain birds gather together and fly to a warmer clime. They obey their instinct and the voice of nature never deceives. If you have grown up you will acknowledge that you are half animal and half spiritual. There is the animal drawing you down and there is the spiritual calling you upward. A great thinker reminds us that man is incurably certain that there is a God, the Reality, if you prefer the term, and that life in this world is not the end.

Our Lord Himself taught this truth. The Sadducees, who did not believe in the resurrection, asked Him the famous question. Our Lord answered from the book they revered. "I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. God is not the God of the dead, but of the living." God has given to man the privilege of drawing near to God and realizing His Presence and to feel His nearness. In another sense God has given man the gift of fellowship with Him. Surely to the man who has had such an experience it is unthinkable that death should end all spiritual intercourse. In age after age man has discovered the nearness of God; he has been aware of His Presence. Surely such a sense of awe in the Divine Presence does not mean that to such a man death means extinction—the end of everything? The Master Himself tells us that the spiritual life of man does not cease at death. There must be a future life.

Above all there is the fact of the Incarnation. "The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us and we beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth." God in His only begotten Son took our nature upon Him that He might be the Head of a new race and a new order. Words used by Hitler and his allies. It is a tragedy on Christian teaching that the words should be new to multitudes of Christians. "That they may be all one man in Christ Jesus our Lord" is the philosophy of St. Paul regarding the mystery of Christ.

God, Who took man's nature into His Godhead, will not allow man to die as the beasts of the field. God has given unto man something of His Divine nature and death has no dominion over it.

The strongest proof of the life of the world to come is the life of the resurrection here. When men see that new spiritual life and energy in you, the beauty of holiness, the loveliness of Christ in you in spite of your failures they will believe that death for such a man cannot be the end. You are living that spiritual life here. Men are seeing the likeness of His resurrection and they will be convinced of the life of the world to come. Surely you can testify: "The life that I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God."

I AM HE THAT LIVETH AND WAS DEAD, AND, BEHOLD I AM ALIVE FOR EVERMORE.

Jesus Fortells His Trial Death and Resurrection

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 22 is Matthew 16:13-28; Mark 8:27-37; Luke 9:18-25; the Golden Text being Mark 8:35, "For whosoever would save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's shall save it.")

WE SPEND our Sunday School hour today with Jesus and His disciples. The latter had accompanied the Master to the villages of Caesarea Philippi which our commentator says "were distinguished from that upon the coast of the Mediterranean, as Caesarea Philippi. It was in Philip's tetrarchy, and had recently been rebuilt by Philip and named after Augustus." This place was the farthest north in Palestine reached by Jesus during His life.

The Master first asked the disciples who the people thought He was. He knew He was a much discussed person, and as the Jews were always looking for the Messiah, who was to come and reign as prophet, priest and king, on an earthly throne for ever more, Jesus was very much interested to know what was said concerning Him and who the people to whom He preached thought He was. Some of the disciples said He was thought to be John the Baptist, others thought He was Elijah, and still others conjectured that He was one of the other prophets come back. Then Jesus asked them directly "But say ye that I am " Peter, the ready speaker, answered at once, "Thou art the Christ."

Answer Pleased Jesus

The answer pleased Jesus who knew then that these men who were so closely associated with Him and who would carry on the work when He was on earth no longer, understood the truth. He commended Peter for his answer and told him that God only could have revealed it to him, but warned the disciples to tell no one.

He felt then that the time had come to tell these associates of His of His coming trial, death and resurrection. Even though they knew He was the Christ, it must have come as a severe shock to hear about the suffering to come to this Christ whom they so loved. Peter answered quickly, aside to his Lord: this shall not be unto Thee." He was immediately rebuked by Jesus, who said, "Get thee behind Me Satan: thou art an offence unto Me; for thou savourest not the things that be of God, but those that be of men."

The rebuke seemed extreme after the praise just bestowed upon Peter. Undoubtedly Jesus did not mean that Peter was evil, but that He, like Satan, was tempting his Lord, to whom, in His earthly body, the sufferings to come would be great. The Master then told the disciples what was the supreme test of a Christian, or follower of His.

"If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for My sake shall find it.

"For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

The life of the follower of Jesus, then, is sacrifice. He must shoulder his cross, and follow in the footsteps of the Master. He must not so enjoy the good things of this world that he forgets that there is something far more important. For if he does, he will find that he has lost the really good things of life—those of the spirit—and what he has is dust and ashes in his mouth.

The soul of man is the important part of him. He may go through untold suffering here, but if he keep steadfast and true, stepping in the footsteps of his Master even unto death, he "need fear no ill," for the Lord will be with him, and he will be comforted and crowned with "eternal life."

Party To Aid Manse Fund

PLAINVILLE, March 21—(ENS)—The ladies of the W.M.S. sponsored an enjoyable crokinole party in the church basement during the week. The money raised was to be used for the manse fund and $10 was turned in.

The high scorers winning first prizes were Miss Catherine Carruthers and Wallace Buttar, and the consolations were given Mrs. Robert Butters and Bill Benson.

Lunch of baked beans, bread, butter, pie and tea was served.

On Tuesday evening, March 17, the Y.P.S. held a basket social in the church basement in aid of war work. After the regular Y.P.S. weekly meeting and contests, the baskets were auctioned by Messrs. Louis Buttar and Edgar Buttar, with the gratifying amount of $15 raised.

Trial before Pilate.

"For whosoever would have his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for My sake and the gospel's shall save it." —Mark 8:35.

"For Freedom"

Those who take up Arms for Freedom, will in Freedom lay them down; those who bear Life's Cross for Freedom, will in Freedom wear Life's Crown.

Those who take their stand for Freedom, will in Freedom come to stand; and see the brief Power of the Wicked, swept away like grains of sand.

Those who suffer wounds for Freedom, will in Freedom become healed; those who keep their Faith for Freedom, will in Freedom see revealed; the Great Purpose of the Faithful, and the Downfall of Dark Schemes; and those who dream of God's own Freedom, will in Freedom live their dreams.

* * *

Those who give their toil for Freedom, will in Freedom find their ease; those who pray their prayers for Freedom, in Freedom will rise from their knees; to behold the Exaltation, of all those who their all give, to the great World Big for Freedom, thus shall FREEDOM EVER LIVE.—J.M.

Lent in Christian Church Is Period of Fasting

Lent in the Christian Church was originally the period of fasting preparatory to the festival of Easter. As this fast falls in the early part of the year it became confused with the season and generally the word Lent which originally meant spring was confined to this use.

The length of this fast and the vigor with which it has been observed has varied at different times and in different countries. For most Christians, however, the week which includes Good Friday has a sacred and solemn significance. It calls to remembrance the last days of Christ's life leading up to His crucifixion upon Calvary.

The statute laws of England once enforced the Lenten fast. These fell obsolete in the year 1863 as it was felt that religious observances to be acceptable unto God must be of a voluntary nature. The more earnest of the clergy, however, maintained strict discipline regarding Lenten observances. John Wesley inculcated a weekly fast during this period, and the early Methodists observed it faithfully. A Lenten picture sermon showing pictures of the historical groundwork of Lent, the death and resurrection of Jesus, will be given in St. Andrew's Church next Sunday night. The pictures relate chiefly to the scenes on the cross and the visits of the disciples and others to the empty tomb in Joseph's garden on the first Easter Day. They are the work of William Hale, a celebrated artist.

Jesus Foretells His Death

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matt. 16:13-28; Mark 8:27-37; Luke 9:18-25.

"Whom do men say that I am?" Jesus asked His disciples when they arrived at the towns of Caesarea and Philippi. Some say John the Baptist, they said, some Elias, some one of the prophets.

"But whom say ye that I am?" He asked the disciples, and Peter, the speaker for the group, answered Him, "Thou art the Christ." Jesus was pleased and said to him. "Blessed art thou."

Jesus then began to teach them that He would have to go to Jerusalem, and suffer many things of the elders and scribes, and be killed, but rise again, but Peter protested, and Christ rebuked him.

"If any man come after Me," said Jesus, "let him deny himself, take up his cross and follow Me." It will profit nothing if he gain the world but lose his soul. (GOLDEN TEXT—Mark 8:35)

Calls On The Public Purse

The Government has first call on the public purse at present and it cannot permit rivals. Nevertheless, there are organizations which are doing necessary work in providing comfort and entertainment for the troops, and these cannot get on with their jobs unless they have money. We feel, therefore, that the Government has made a sensible and generous move in undertaking to finance the war programs of the Canadian Legion, the Knights of Columbus, the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A., the Salvation Army and the Navy League. These organizations have the willingness, the experience and the people to do fine work, and the Government's patronage will save them the tedious labor of begging for funds, and will save the citizens of this country the confusion and annoyance of being solicited to support many causes. It is fully understood, of course, that the Government has not undertaken to finance any peacetime work of these organizations.

There has been surprise in some quarters that the Red Cross is not included in the list of those who are to benefit from this governmental scheme. The explanation lies in the nature of the Canadian Red Cross itself; it is part of an international, and not of a national organization, and its purpose is not patriotic but humanitarian. No suggestion has been made that it will not receive help from the Canadian Government if and when it needs it but it is wiser to prevent confusion by keeping it separate from specifically Canadian charities.

Every praise is due the six organizations which the Government has elected to subsidize in their war work. The tasks which they undertake are gigantic, but they accomplish them with dispatch and the problems which are averted by their activity are manifold. In supporting them the Government is using the right people for the right job.

Turkey Is Ready

It is likely that Germany may make a sudden diversion during the next six weeks, in order to distract attention from her Russian trouble and to upset the strategic scheme of the United Nations. She may move against Iceland; on the other hand, she may move to the south-west, in an attempt to dash through Egypt toward Suez But if she is to keep her rendevous with the Japanese at the Persian Gulf, she must run foul of Turkey, and Turkey is ready for just such a happening.

Turkey is ready, but not as well-prepared as she could be. Her army is large and strong but it is somewhat underarmed and short of air power, or so observers on the spot say. The Turks are magnificent fighters, and in the last war they were more than a match for the Allied armies. This war, however, is rather a different matter; bravery and cunning in strategy are of less value than they have ever been at any time in history; machines are what matter now and the Greek islands are alive with German machines and with troops engaged in the ominous exercise of landing practice. Still, bravery and cunning in strategy are far from useless and the Turks know their own difficult terrain. If Germany elects to drive through Turkey she will find herself pitted against a bitter foe.

Meanwhile, Turkey is suffering all the uneasiness of a country engaged in "diplomatic" relations with Germany. Rumor, espionage and Fifth Column activity give the police a difficult task, and the recent incident which almost resulted in the destruction of Franz von Papen, the German Ambassador, has given rise to great apprehension. If Germany attacks Turkey she will take on a difficult job and he would be a daring prophet who would say that it would and to Germany's satisfaction.

Adolf The All-Right

The brilliant British cartoonist and political commentator David Low has been having some rare fun lately at the expense of Adolf Hitler's celebrated Intuition. It was Hitler's Intuitition, you will remember, which instructed him to take over the supreme command of the Battle of Russia himself, and it was doubtless this same mystical guide which led the Fuehrer to indulge in somewhat less than his usual amount of braggadocio in his most recent public speech. Low shows us Hitler's Intuition in several forms; it appears in flowing draperies of vaguely Greek appearance and it appears as a Germanic maiden, but most frequently of all it appears as Hitler himself, dressed in the traditional costume of a Wagnerian warrior.

All this is very funny, and in our amusement we are apt to forget that the German people take Hitler's Intuition quite seriously and see no reason why he, and they, should not act upon it without question. Never since the days of the Roman Empire has any leader been tendered divine honors; but this has been Hitler's fate and he has accepted them, what is more. Consider this quotation from his official party organ, Voelkischer Beobachter: "When he spoke to us Germans, he takes each one of us by the hand and, thread by thread, he disentangles our confusion till no obscurities remain... If thou knowest one thing of a surety it is this: thou canst tell everything to the Fuehrer and he will always understand. But there is a second thing of which thou shouldst be as certain: thou canst not in anything deceive him, for he can see into thy heart... Where thou wast neglectful, the Fuehrer has taken upon himself thy share of duty: where thou didst take thine ease, he has borne thy share of toil and sacrifice: where thou wast sullen and perchance art still sullen, the Fuehrer has known no respite and will know none." This semi-Biblical tribute is indicative of the attitude of the good Nazi toward his Leader.

Disregarding this high-flown belief in Hitler's Intuition, we are still able to recognize him as a man who has played his hunches with remarkable success. But a gambler's success is never permanent and bad luck never falls in single strokes as we know to our sorrow. Hitler's remarkable Intuition did him a disservice when it took him to Russia at all, and it did him another when it drove him to assume command there himself. What will it do next? Something very nasty we hope.

Smack That Polysyllable

Winston Churchill, though no purist, is a great English stylist; he has a deep love of words and a noble command of them, but he has no use for words by the carload, used merely for their own sake. When he assumed the Prime Ministry he made vigorous attacks on the interminable and confusing pseudo-diplomatic phraseology in use at Whitehall, demanding that all orders, memoranda and reports be written in plain, exact and readily understandable English. This earned him the nickname of "Jack the Jargon-Killer."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, that other great orator, took up the cudgel for the purity of the English tongue last week. James M. Landis, Dean of the Harvard Law School, who is on loan to the U.S. Government, issued an order to the Federal Works Agency regarding blackouts. To eliminate "internal or external illumination," said Mr. Landis, "obscuration may be obtained by blackout construction or by termination of the illumination." Mr. Roosevelt caused this revolting piece of English to be rewritten. He order the FWA to put something over the windows if they had to work during a raid; if they were able to stop, they were to turn out the lights.

Even among quite well-educated people an illusion persists that big words and many of them make good writing and clear orders. This pitiable delusion deserves to be walloped every time it shows its ugly head and it is good to know that two such mighty wallopers as Winston Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt are able to take time from their duties to give it a thump, every now and then.

Russian Science Is At War

A recent article in Red Star, the Russian army newspaper, by Peter Kapitza, a physicist well known to scientists on this continent, gives an impressive picture of Russian science at war. Mathematicians, says Kapitza, are hard at work applying the law of probabilities to problems of ballistics and trajectories; botanists are engaged in devising camouflage; historians and journalists analyze foreign propaganda and devise the Russian variety; physiologists study the relation of diet to acuity of vision; experts in hieroglyphics and mathematicians work on enemy codes.

Other scientists work on the problem of salvaging valuable products from waste, and devise substitutes for materials which are hard to come by. A special success in this latter direction has been scored by the discovery of a substitute for balsam grease, which is now used extensively in the treatment of wounds.

Research workers are in direct contact with armament production and have made several valuable discoveries, particularly in the field of aerodynamics. Technological problems of all kinds are continually being given to scientists to solve for, as they are well aware, a defeat of Russia will put an end to such scientific freedom as they enjoy. That freedom, it must be said, appears to be extensive. Scientists work for the state, and are forced to comply with the state's wishes to a certain extent, but it appears that Russian scientists are about as free to do their work unmolested as are the scientists in the English-speaking world, who have their own peculiar difficulties. After the war we may expect to hear from Russia of the many discoveries which her scientists have made; it is quite possible that some of their more important discoveries have already been placed at our disposal, just as we have told them some of our most cherished military secrets.

Now We Know

When the bombing of Britain was at its height we often became impatient with the broadcaster's calm announcement that "casualties were very heavy and it is feared that many persons were killed." We wanted to know precisely how many, not from mere curiosity, but because we feared that something horrible was being kept from us—that the casualties,, in fact, were too numerous to be announced for fear of the effect on public morale. But now we know all about it, and the numbers are considerably smaller than we had feared.

From September 3, 1939, to December 31, 1941, high explosive and incendiary bombs killed 43,235 men, women and children in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland. The number of those seriously injured is 54,123, and of these 1,000 are still in hospitals. The greatest number of casuaities occurred in September, 1940, during the Battle of Britain, when 6,955 were killed in bombing raids and 10,625 were seriously injured. In December of 1941 the numbers had fallen to 34 killed and 55 injured. In order to give an idea of how these casualties were distributed the following table, giving the totals up until October, 1941, may be helpful:

	Killed	Injured
Men	19,789	28,867
Women	17,089	20,840
Children	5,044	4,086

These figures make bitter reading. Still, they are not so bad as we had feared they might be. The really miraculous thing is that, of the 54,123 seriously injured, only 1,000 are still in hospitals; the incidence of the nervous affection known as shell-shock has been remarkably slight. Britain has indeed suffered horribly but she has come off more lightly than we had dared to hope.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A contemporary announces that a new lock at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, will be called the "General Douglas MacArhur"; we suggest that it be christened with a cup of "t."

We are warned that a shortage of feathers for pillows is at hand. That expression "hitting the hay" begins to have a grim significance.

Says Marshal Petain: "History will judge the criminal aggression of a former ally." We shall take care of history when the time comes; back to the chimney corner, Grandpa!

SUNT LACHRYMAE RESUM

"Why can't things be as they used to be?"
Is the question that oftenest comes to me.
And few there are who will dare deny
That they ever echo this heartfelt sigh.
What is the whole world longing for
But the wonderful era before the war?
And what, even then, was our heart's obsession
But the beautiful era before the depression?
And back in the twenties, our yen was keen
For the carefree epoch before 'fifteen;
And I see by the files that I then shed tears
For the marvelous turn-of-the-century years.

The seasons pass and the frosts occur,
And things as a rule are worse than they were,
But it isn't trouble that hurts—it's strange,
But the thing that annoys us most is change;
For the average human hates to move
Out of the narrow, accustomed groove,
And whether the move is for better or worse
For the old there's a sigh, for the new a curse,
And all men sing in a minor key—
"Why can't things be as they used to be?"

C.B.C. Ballad Operas In Retrospect

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THE Canadian Broadcasting Corporation deserves the congratulations and the grateful, thanks of all music-lovers in this country for the series of English operas (wrongly called 'ballad operas' through some oversight) which it broadcast on Sunday evenings during the latter part of January, through February and on the first two Sundays of this month. This series gave Canadian and American listeners an opportunity to hear three beautiful works which stand among the great treasures of English music—Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas," Handel's "Acis and Galatea" and Gay's "Beggar's Opera"—as well as the pleasing old piece of melodrama "Bohemian Girl," Rutland Boughton's lovely "Immortal Hour" and the popular, rum-tum-tumming "Merrie England" by Edward German. Less familiar was Arthur Benjamin's "The Devil Take Her," and the last work to be broadcast, "Transit Through Fire" was especially written for this series by the Canadian composer Healey Willan.

DR. WILLAN was not greatly helped in his effort to produce a topical piece by the libretto which was supplied for him. Like so much Canadian poetry it was portentous about nothing; the listener felt that the poet did not really know what he meant, and was trying to hide his vagueness with hollow verbiage. As verse, "Transit Through Fire" was not a happy effort. Working with such material it is not surprising that even so accomplished a composer as Dr. Willan should produce a composition which sounded rather like a very dull oratorio. The unrelieved recitative in which the work seemed to be cast was soon tiresome and the climaxes never quite achieved their effect. "Transit Through Fire" cannot be accounted a success, but we must give full marks to the CBC for having made the experiment.

IT WAS pleasant to hear "The Devil Take Her," an unpretentious work based on the excellent old French farce of The Man Who Married A Dumb Wife. And "Merrie England" is always good fun, if one does not hear it too often. It is impossible to swallow the libretto of this operetta; all the confusion about Bessie Throckmorton and Queen Bess of England, and the steal from Shakespeare in the last act detract from the undoubted charm of the music. Why do composers tolerate such bad libretti? Is it because they do not care, or do not know, or because they think that, if Mozart could write a masterpiece to a bad libretto, they can do so too? In the CBC version the libretto of "Merrie England" had been tinkered about in order to make it suitable for broadcasting, and the effect was to shorten the spoken passages in a merciful manner.

IT WAS amusing, also, to hear Balfe's "Bohemian Girl" conducted by Sir Ernest Macmillan, for never were music and conductor less suited to one another. Sir Ernest is a highly cultivated musical scholar, capable of bringing out every nuance in a complex score. "The Bohemian Girl" is as simple and straightforward an opera as you could ever met, full of sentimental ditties and trampling march tunes. Sir Ernest did wonders with it, and the old war-horse emerged fresh and charming. It may be that the conductor failed to give the score quite the necessary melodramatic treatment, but perhaps the effect on the radio might have been too rowdy. Certainly it was good to hear this opera again, for it is rarely that one hears it or any part of it sung or played with real musicianship.

WHEN Rutland Boughton's "Immortal Hour" was first heard in 1914 it created a small sensation in musical circles and became almost a cult with some musicians and certain poets and others to whom the Celtic revival of the time was a revelation and a renaissance. It is certainly an original and effective work, and once the listener has caught the mood of it and has accustomed himself to Fiona Macleod's Celtic rhythms of speech and Mr. Boughton's misty and meandering music he finds it an agreeable experience. The music presents some extraordinary difficulties for the singers, and it is therefore a matter of congratulation that the CBC gave a very fine performance of it. This opera, more than any of the others, suffered because it could be heard only and not seen. The staging of "The Immortal Hour" provides a great part of its effect. But the performance of the music was first-rate.

AS has already been explained in this column, the CBC undertakes such enterprise as the production of a series of English operas without any very clear notion of how they will appeal to the public, and it can only tell if it has succeeded in pleasing us if we write to it and say so. Let us not be off-hand and grudging in this matter; let us write at once, and say that we liked the ballad operas, and that we should be grateful if further broadcasts of a similar nature could be arranged. Remember, the CBC is yours, and you exercise considerable control over it in the democratic way, by expressing your views of its programs through the mails. Therefore, if you liked the ballad operas, write to the Program Department of the CBC in Toronto and say so. They will be glad to hear from you.

• Two Pincers for Tokyo

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 21 —(AP)— The ringing simultaneous declarations from two United States Army officers assigned to pivotal commands that their orders call for offensive preparations against Japan were to be expected. It was implicit in their selection to mobilize and lead the cutting edges, steeled with American weapons in American hands, of a vast ultimate pincer attack upon Japan itself.

Neither General Douglas MacArthur in Australia nor Lieutenant-General Joseph Stilwell in Burma had it in mind, however, to suggest that the day for that double assault on the foe could come soon. Both were intent on extending assurances, not only to the American people longing to revenge Pearl Harbor, but to the people of the Philippines and of China that the war with Japan will end in Japan; the peace be dictated in Tokyo.

MacArthur's terse statement that the primary purpose of his transfer to Australia was to organize "the relief of the Philippines" carries that assurance.

"I came through (from the Philippines) and I will return," he said.

BASES FOR OFFENSIVE

Stilwell, Chinese Chief of Staff under Chiang Kai-shek, was even more specific. He now commands Chinese divisions holding the east flank of the British-Chinese line in Burma and also all American troops in or destined for China and India.

"We won't be satisfied until we see American and Chinese troops in Tokyo together," he said.

The two most obvious bases for actual invasion of Japan, aside from Russia, are China and the Philippines. Of the three, China is both the closest and the location of the greatest manpower reservoir. China also has the grimmest accounting to make with Japan. Her war dead, civil and military, are numbered in hundreds of thousands.

It takes no great military insight to envisage the ultimate pattern of the two-front attack on Japan promised in the MacArthur and Stilwell statements. It has always been obvious.

Planes ranging from Chinese mainland bases would be in easy bombing reach of Japan's Formosa outpost and China Sea communication lines. A progressive Allied advance northward via the Philippines from Australia would bring those communication lines under fire from the south and east as well.

DESPERATE GAMBLER

Add to that the American naval approach toward Japan represented by task force operations ranging further and further westward from Hawaii, and a third eventual encirclement tentacle is reaching slowly toward Tokyo. Take in also the virtual certaintly that Hitler's failure to smash Russia within months means release of Russian forces to fall upon Japan at close range from the north, and the desperate nature of the Japanese war gamble is crystal clear.

Immediately, however, the defense of Australia and its island outposts from which American-Australian supply lines could be badly harried, and of Upper Burma must be the first concern of United Nation leadership. With the lower end of the Irrawaddy delta overrun by the Japanese, there is a serious menace to rich oil fields up river between Prome and Mandalay.

It is within the realm of possibility that those Burma oil fields are the real Japanese objective on that front. The double purpose of obtaining their use and denying their output to British - Chinese - American forces would justify extreme Japanese efforts to reach them before the "wet monsoon" sets in next month to halt major operations.

• Scrapping of Eiffel Tower

WILL Frenchmen sit by and watch the Eiffel Tower scrapped for the ruinous uses of the enemy? Under the pretext that the Tower is unsightly, another piece of the decadent art which Hitler abhors, will its girders be turned into tanks, its elevators into guns and the observation platforms where many a romantic couple has viewed the city of Paris be converted into weapons for bringing death to other warm hearts?

For 52 years the Tower has straddled the landscape of Paris, rising 985 feet above the Chap de Mars on the left bank of the Seine. Even though it may not be strictly in accord with aesthetic taste, even such a structure may come to be loved for its familiarity, for the associations which have grown up around its restaurants and shops, its observation posts, its very place on the horizon.

Alexander Gustave Eiffel, the French engineer and bridge builder erected the tower for the World's Fair in 1889. He was the same man who had designed the framework for the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor, and who had helped with the Panama canal when the French had that enterprise in hand.

His tower was looked upon as the wonder of the period, and guide books noted that it was nearly twice the height of the Washington monument and the Great Pyramid. Eiffel himself found it satisfactory and occupied an apartment in the tower 90 feet above the earth where he said the air was fresh. Eiffel died when he was 91, but the tower, he told his countrymen, would last another 1,000 years.

But Alexander Eiffel had not reckoned on Hitler and the fact that the bully of Europe could scarcely bear to see on French soil 7,000 tons of good steel going to waste in a monument. Far better to pull down the $1,000 000 structure and turn it into the materials with which Hitler scourges every nation which opposes the freedomless, slave-like, godless tyranny he would thrust upon the world. Should the weak and compliant Petain yield the Tower for Nazi munitions there will be Frenchmen from the chill grey coasts of Brittany to the hot sands of French Africa seething with indignation against the betrayal. — Watertown, N.Y. A Bible Message For Today . . .

And they came over unto [illegible] side of the sea, into the country of the Gadarenes. And [illegible] come out of the ship, imm[illegible]ly there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit, who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no man could bind him, no, not with chains....

But when he saw Jesus afar off, he ran and worshipped him, and cried with a loud voice, and said, What have I to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of the most high God? I adjure thee by God, that thou torment me not. For he said unto him, Come out of the man, thou unclean spirit.

And he asked him, What is thy name? And he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.... And when he was come into the ship, he that had been possessed with the devil prayed him that he might be with him.

Howbeit Jesus suffered him not, but saith unto him, Go home to thy friends, and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee, and hath had compassion on thee. And he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis how great things Jesus had done for him: and all men did marvel.—Mark v, 1-3, 6-9, 18-20.

DOROTHY DIX

WHINING ATTITUDE GETS YOU NO PLACE IN BUSINESS WORLD

Young People Need More Spunk and Fewer Ideas About Living in Fairy Tales.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a young man 20 years of age. Have been going with a girl I love for more than a year. The position I now hold is not a paying one. I receive only a small salary and commission—if any. Am the sole support of my widowed mother. I make a few extra dollars now and then on the side with which I take my girl out. At this rate I have no opportunity to save anything, therefore I will never be in a position to marry. I want her to have the best of everything and I cannot give her anything, so I feel it is not right to keep her tied to me. My problem is whether to give her up and let someone more capable of supporting her have her, or keep going at this rate until I find a better paying job. I love her, but I am not certain that she really loves me. B. B.

ANSWER — Why not put your cards on the table and let the girl decide whether she cares enough for you to wait for you or not? That would at least clear the situation for you and give you a definite basis on which to plan your life. For if she loves you well enough to wait for you, it will give you something to work for that will put fresh courage and hope in you; and if she doesn't care that much for you, it will keep you from wasting any more time and energy in fruitless longing for the unattainable. There is great peace in finality.

Why Not Make a Fight

But why are you so despairing and beaten at 20? Why are you surrendering to Fate before you even make a fight? You say you only get a small salary and a commission and that you are not able to support your wife in luxury and that you know you never will be able to marry. Why, that is the cry of a coward and a quitter.

There isn't one boy of 20 in a thousand whose pay envelope isn't so thin that it looks as if an elephant had trodden on it. Big salaries come only after years and years of hard and faithful work and after men and women have mastered every detail of their jobs. They are not given to boys and girls who lack experience and training and craftsmanship and who do not earn even the meager pay they receive. Probably there isn't a high-salaried executive in the whole country who wasn't getting less at 20 than you are getting.

The men who have made this country rich and great didn't start out at mahogany desks and with a bank president's salary. They started out plowing corn rows, hoeing cotton, sleeping under counters in stores, living on crackers and cheese and carrying their dinners in tin pails. But they had courage and grit and the determination to work their way up. They didn't run up the white flag at 20.

Don't Live Fairy Tale

And as for a boy making enough money at 20 to support a wife in luxury, that belong in the realm of fairy tales. Many husbands are able to give their wives pearl necklaces and mink coats and limousines at 50, but the best they could have given them at 20 would have been a bead necklace and a ride on the bus.

But these men didn't think that they were doomed to a lonely bachelor life because they weren't making enough at 20 to give their girls square cut emeralds. They never thought of giving up love and marriage. They were willing to wait and work for what they wanted.

The trouble with you, son, is that you are a defeatist. You haven't the courage to take life on the chin. What you need is to buck up and show a little spunk. The world is full of things you want. Go out and get them instead of whining because you were not born with a silver spoon in your mouth.

Melancholia is Dangerous

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to a girl whom I love devotedly and expected to make my wife, but I find that my affection for her is waning because of her melancholy disposition. She is always looking for something to have the blue about and she always finds it. She really has nothing to worry over, but she is always in the depth about something. The sun never shines for her. Everybody does something that hurts her feelings. I do my utmost to please her and cheer her up, but to no avail. Do you think I can be happy with such a despondent wife? W. D. S.

ANSWER—Not a chance. I can think of no wife who would be more depressing to live with than the one who is a human tear jug, for she will make the atmosphre of a home so thick with gloom that no ray of brightness will ever pierce it, and no matter how hard her husband works to cheer her up he will never be able to dry her eyes, or win a smile from her.

Such women get a morbid pleasure out of being miserable and if they haven't any troubles they go out and borrow them. If the sun is shining today, they are sure it will be raining tomorrow. If everybody looks well and healthy, they are certain they have some hidden disease like cancer or diabetes. They spoil a good dinner by telling how many people kill themselves annually by overeating. They wet-blanket every plan and are just about as pleasant to have around as a corpse in the living room. They are self-pitiers who consider themselves martyrs to their families; who think the whole world is against them and that even strangers should listen to them telling their tales of woe.

Don't marry a woman who has the blues habit unless you are willing to be swamped in melancholy and drowned in tears.

DOROTHY DIX.

Women's Art Association Enjoys Talk And Exhibit of Soap Sculpture

The Women's Art Association held its regular meeting in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. on Friday afternoon with Mrs. C. S. Thompson in the chair. It was announced that a tea to raise funds for war work would be held on April 10. Prizes donated by members of the Association are to be raffled and are on display in Hall's window, and tickets are on sale.

Elizabeth Wynnwood, noted Canadian sculptor, who was to have been the guest speaker, was unable to be present. In her place, Mr. Donald Stewart, of the Ontario College of Art gave a talk on sculpture, with special reference to soap sculpture in particular, and brought an interesting exhibit of the work of Elizabeth Wynnwood's pupils at Central Technical School in Toronto.

Mr. Stewart explained that there are two general methods of sculpture, to carve from wood or stone or some other solid material; the other to build up the model in clay. In the latter respect the art of sculpture is allied to pottery making and in ancient times the potter was often a sculptor and the sculptor made pottery.

The carving method of sculpture consists of taking a solid block of material and removing what is not wanted until the desired shape is maintained. Stone is the commonest material for sculpture and since stone is usually found in rectangular blocks, those blocks will largely determine the shape and dimension of the object to be carved.

"Canadian sculpture is now barely developing a local tradition said Mr. Stewart, and went on to explain that so far Canadian sculptors had worked in the European tradition. They have not tackled local themes or types or developed a typically Canadian style, as the group of Seven has done with Canadian painting. This national tendency is beginning however, although at present it is necessarily retarded.

"Soap sculpture" Mr. Stewart explained, "should not be taken too seriously, in view of the perishble nature of the material and the limits which it imposes on the artist." It is however, an excellent medium in which to work out ideas and designs and has been used as such by some of our leading sculptors. The chief advantages of soap are the ease with which it can be worked and the commonness of the material. The soap can be colored if desired and a coat of shellac will prevent the surface from darkening. Soap sculpture is popular in Art Study groups and with children because it is easy to work and much can be accomplished in a short time.

The tools needed to carve soap consist mainly of a common penknife and an orange stick and a small hair pin bound onto an ordinary meat skewer.

The exhibit which Mr. Stewart brought with him consisted of the work of children between the ages of 13 and 16 and many of the models showed real artictic talent, and imagination. A row of bears gambolling at play was alive with humor; A group of four figures was an interesting study, extraordinarily well executed and showing imagination far above the average.

Some of the figures were worked in intricate detail, others tended more toward the simplicity which is characteristic of modern art. Many of the young artists showed a preference for carving Eskimos and animals, and this seems natural since these subject, being fairly solid, lend themselves more easily to the medium of soap. One of the things to remember in carving soap is not to carve any detail too fine, since the soap will dry out and break off very quickly.

With Peterborough Red Cross Branch

Sewing for the Red Cross is not all done at the society's rooms in the Public Library.

There are many organized groups in the city and the surrounding country who meet regularly in their own quarters, mostly church buildings and do the type of work that is done in the rooms. They have their own supervisors and their work is of the same high quality required by Red Cross standards.

From the work room at the Library the required quantity of garments, cut out and ready to be made up, is taken and when finished returned to the organizatino is credited with those articles.

Below is listed those groups that do general sewing for Red Cross purposes: All Saints W.A., Bensfort W.A., Bethany Tabernacle, Coldsprings, I.O.D.E. 57th Chapter, Knox Church, King Edward Home and School Association, Lakehurst Red Cross, Lily Lake Red Cross, Mark Street Church, North Monaghan group, Peterborough Collegiate students, Queen Alexandra Home and School Association, Springville W.M.S., St. John's Church. Next there are independent groups that make and donate articles of many varieties including quilts, layettes, children's clothing, afghans and knitted goods of all kinds, personal property bags filled with comforts for mothers, sewing kits and many articles too numerous to list. Any new article is gratefully received and sent overseas to those needy ones who have suffered so severely and who find use for all sent them. THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, March 22

Sunday's horoscope may be read as dramatic, with presage of unusual and thrilling developments, in which large and bold issues are at stake. This may be in relation to promotion, honors, favors or other tokens of public as well as private approbation, in which rich rewards are promised by higher-ups or employers. Such benefices should be negated by tempestuous, erratic, impulsive acts or manifestations of overwrought nerves or emotional stresses. Beware betrayals.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of thrilling events in which promotion½ preferments, honors and the friendship of those in high place are imminent. But do not let this lead to impetuous or over-emotional conduct. Be calm and alert to some duplicity or fraud, especially with writing or documents.

A child born on this day may be impetuous, enthusiastic, overwrought and erratic, due to nervous tension and strange emotional stresses, which may work to its detriment. It may suffer from fraud, deception and treachery.

For Monday, March 23

Monday's astrological forecast is based upon the predominant influence of the two "major benefices" of astrology which promise great prosperity, good fortune, much personal prestige, popularity and gratification. All things move toward such benevolent and happy goals, with personal and business ambitions attaining rich fruition. But beware extravagence, excess and envy.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the threshold of a most progressive, prosperous and happy year, with all things advancing upon the goals of heart's desire. There should be much friendly and social as well as romantic activity with festivity, hospitality and conviviality reaching high spots of gaiety. But beware prodigality, extravagance, over excesses, that may incite jealousy.

A child born on this day should be bounteously endowed with all the graces and skills for a high place in artistic, literary or professional life. It should enjoy much prestige and happiness.

Five Take Final Vows In Mount St. Joseph Ceremony

In the Chapel of Mount St. Joseph the usual Ceremony of Reception was held on Thursday at which five young ladies received the religious habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph. Promptly at nine o'clock these young ladies entered the Chapel in the fashion of worldly brides, with attendant flower-girls, and having assisted at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, they expressed their desire to the officiating prelate, the Most Reverend Denis O'Connor D.D., LL.D., Bishop of Peterborough, to be accepted as religious Sisters whose lives they had observed and imitated during a postulancy of six months. Having been granted their request they retired from the Chapel to joyfully replace their silken gowns for the poor habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph. On their return, psalms of jubilation and of thanksgiving were chanted by the Sisters' Choir, which concluded a function, solemn and impressive, and, for the happy participants, the first milestone on their life journey as religious.

These young ladies were Miss Lucille Maloney of Peterborough, known as Sister Mary Cecelia; Miss Josephine Werry of Estevan Saskatchewan, as Sister Mary Magdalen; Miss Isabel McCloskey of Ottawa, as Sister Mary St. John; Miss Anne O'Connor of North Low, Quebec, as Sister Mary Agatha; Miss Rita Graham of Perth, Ontario, as Sister Anna Rita.

After the celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, Rev. J. W. Valliers, C.SS.R., of London, Ontario, who had just completed an eight-day Retreat for the Sisters, delivered a very appropriate sermon in explanation of the real meaning of the step taken by these young ladies. They had not chosen a life of ease and comfort. Their sacrifices were many, and in some cases great. Love of God urged them on to accept such a life, and sacrifices are sweet when love is the motive power. The reverend preacher encouraged others to imitate their heroic example, for hte work of God on earth must be carried on by just such generous souls.

Other clergy present in the sanctuary were: Right Rev. F. O'Sullivan, P.P., Rev. J. Walsh, Rev. C. Begley of Immaculate Conception Parish, Rev. J. J. O'Brien, P.P., Rev. F. Grant D.C.L., Rev. J. Houlihan, of Sacred Heart Parish, Rev. J. T. Finn, rector, Rev. G. Wolffe, and Rev. J. Greenan, of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, Rev. V. J. Corkery, Chancellor, of Peterborough, Rev. J. NEW FRIENDS
CHAPTER XXXIV

"Good afternoon, sir."

Parris jumped.

"Oh, I didn't mean to frighten you!" The girl was young, and slight. He saw that her hair was a very pale silver-gold, that her eyes were smoky blue, that her mouth was singularly red, her complexion strangely golden.

"Your name isn't Renee, is it?"

She looked startled, and drew back a little. "No," she said unsteadily.

"I do beg your pardon."

"My name is Elise."

"And mine is Mitchell, Parris Mitchell."

"The one that plays the piano?"

Parris laughed. "How on earth did you happen to know that I played the piano—or hear of me at all?"

"Herr Dr. Berdorff often spoke of you."

He noticed now that she had ever so slight an accent.

"Are you German?"

She shook her head. "Viennese. You studied medicine in Vienna. Herr Berdorff told me much about you."

"He never mentioned you to me."

"Why should he?"

"Well—I can think of some reasons why he should."

"I was very sorry he had to go."

"Yes. I miss him still. I saw him, though, in Germany, last summer."

"Oh, did you? And how is he?"

"Well. He has a church, and he has married."

"What is she like, his wife?"

"Quiet little German hausfrau who will mend his socks, and sew on buttons. You studied piano with him?"

"I was a dunderhead."

"I don't believe it."

"How could you know? He said you were a genius."

"That I was not. Have you been here all of the time, here in this house?"

"My father is the chief of this experimental farm. It was bought by the Liberty Plant and Seed Company. He is really a famous horticulturist—more of a scientist, but that's what he calls himself."

"I didn't know any of this. And I never saw you anywhere."

"I was away for two years. I have just now come back."

"Were you in Vienna?"

"Yes. I have distant relatives there. My mother was an American."

A sudden silence dropped over them for a moment.

"I was in Vienna myself, last year."

"I know it."

"You know everything, don't you?"

"Some people get talked about!" She smiled, and then was suddenly grave.

"What do you mean, exactly, by that, Miss—"

"Sandor."

"What was I saying? Oh, yes. You said some people get talked about. You heard stories—probably that I robbed the state of immense sums of money."

"You couldn't do that."

"Thank you, Miss Sandor. How old are you? Do you mind?"

"Nineteen."

"Oh, you're just a baby."

"Did you think you were a baby when you were nineteen?"

Parris was silent for a moment. His face clouded. "No, I suppose not."

"Will you sit down, Dr. Mitchell? My father should be here any moment now."

"I didn't come to see your father."

"Oh."

"I came to see the place. I used to live here."

"Oh, no! Really? Here? How nice! Why have you never been here before?"

"I couldn't bear to come back."

"Did you live here a long time?"

"Ever since I can remember, until I went to Europe. I had no parents. I never remembered them. My grandmother was everything."

"I can imagine. But my father—wait till you see him! He is a great darling."

"I can imagine that."

"I think you mean a compliment, but I do not know why. I am not used to compliments."

"Well, I am going to acquaint you with some compliments. Did anyone tell you, ever, that you are as lovely as a spring day?"

"No."

"Or that you probably have the prettiest eyes in North America?"

She shook her head, and her short curls flew like sunlight about her head.

"I think you should have some coffee."

"You don't mean there will be coffee cake with it, do you?"

"What else?"

"Let's look at—everything a moment, before we go in, may we?"

"Of course. I have been out here all afternoon. I saw you coming from away over there. See? Over there where that wall is."

"Yes. I stood there looking at it. It's the very first glimpse I've had of the house since I left it—it seems a lifetime ago."

"Did you love it so much?"

"It is the only home I ever had."

Parris followed Elise into the house. He prepared himself for some sort of shock, but none came. It was pleasantly furnished. A small grand piano stood before the west window where his grandmother's desk used to be.

Elise's father came in presently. He was an amiable giant, with eyes like Elise—the same youthful blue. He had a great beard that spread over his chest. Parris noticed that his enormous hands moved as lightly as a feather among the cups and coffee things. There was something elementally good-humored about him, and gentle.

"You must come often, if my child is not tiresome."

"Elise?"

"She is a little lonely sometimes, and talks too much when she finds someone to listen."

Parris laughed.

"You will stay to supper, Dr. Mitchell?"

"I had hoped you would ask me."

* * *

After supper Elise played. Parris listened critically. She had been well schooled. It was good playing.

"Did you study in Vienna, too?"

"Oh, yes. A little."

"I'm not a teacher, but I can show you some things, I think." He drew back with mock seriousness. "Will you practice?"

"Six hours a day, if you say."

"Heavens, no! But now—where's that sonata? No, the first one. Here, now. Let's look at the slow movement. Your tone is thin . . . "

"My child, it's eleven o'clock! I had no idea. Please forgive me."

Mr. Sandor, looming through heavy strata of tobacco smoke, laughed warmly.

"It is good to have company, Dr. Mitchell. I hope you will come many times."

Elise broke in eagerly. "Yes, you must feel that it is a little your home again—if you will."

"You're awfully good. That goes to my heart, Elise."

"She means it, Doctor. So do I. For that matter, there is always room here—you know the house—won't you feel that you can come sometimes to rest, to stay over Sunday? Whenever you will."

"I would like that. And now, good night. This has been a wonderful day—and evening. I'll never forget."

"You'll come—often?" Elise held her hands clasped together like a child.

"Yes. You may be sure."

* * *

Parris was surprised one evening by a visit from Peyton Graves. Peyton sat for a while, smoked, fidgeted, and make aimless comments on the weather. It was easily evident that he was under some severe strain. There were deep, sagging discolorations under his eyes—dark, almost, as bruises.

Quaker Girls Drop 1st Game Of Senior Final

Y Gym and C.G.E. Generals took long steps toward the junior and senior championships of the Ladies' Basketball League by winning the opening games of their respective playoffs at the Y.W.C.A. Friday night.

The Y team is in the driver's seat in the series for the junior title after nosing out Westclox 26-21 and the Generals are looking at their chances for a senior title through rose-colored glasses after convincingly beating Quakers 31-22. Both series openers were hard fought, nip and tuck battles with the calibre of basketball indicating that the four teams are worthy finalists. In both games the winning teams led by a single point at the half and then increased their margins in the final twenty minutes.

Westclox and Y Gym staged a merry battle before the Y team finally drew first blood in the junior series, winning out 26-21. They came through the closely-fought, first half on the long end of a 10-19 count and thus holding a slightly more decisive edge in the last period to add to their lead. It was a well-played, hotly contested battle with the winners having enough edge over the route to deserve the win. Westclox lost a lot of possible points with inaccurate shooting when good passing gave them good scoring chances while Y Gym also could have added to their total by accepting a few more of the close-in chances they had.

Y Gym had a little better of the play from a defensive stand point besides, holding all the Westclox snipers well in hand with the exception of F. Bestard who led the players of both teams with 16 points. R. Hewitt with 13 and B. Flynn with 6 led the winners. Y Gym made four of their six free throws and the losers counted five of their 14 chances. The teams:

Westclox 21—M. Hawthorne (2), J. Hair, F. Bestard (16), I. Bullock (3), M. Goldie, S. Mortimer, M. McFadden, A. Flyn.

Y Gym 26—R. Hewitt (13), I. Young (3), R. Sullivan (2), B. Flynn (6), N. Smith, I Stewart (1), D. Ackford.

Referees—H. MacDonald and J. Cooper.

C.G.E. Generals who have maintained a small edge in the battle for first place with the Quakers throughout the season now have an edge in the playoffs for the senior title, winning the first game last night 31-22. The Generals led by a slim one-point at half time, 11-10, after a bitterly-fought opening period but their real margin showed in the last half when they added eight points to their lead.

The Generals deserved the victory because of their superior all-around play as they passed more effectively and took better advantage of their scoring chances. Their strength on defence is shown by the fact that they allowed the usually high-scoring P. Ayres, Quakers' ace marksman only one point. Quakers on the other hand battled hard all the way and were not badly outplayed their biggest deficit coming in their failure to take advantage of their scoring chances. They had a fair share of the play but passed up a lot of opportunities with bad sniping. Generals made but one of their eight free throws and the Quakers converted four of their 12 tries into points.

M. Wood and A. Craig were the winners big stars, scoring 29 of their team's 31 points while P. Lawless and M. Dunan were tops for the losers. The teams:

C.G.E. Generals (31): C. Stalter, 2, A. De Carlo, E. Harte-Maxwell, M. Wood (17), A. Craig (12), L. Noran, M. Hodson, B. Dundas.

Quakers (22)—P. Lawless (9), D. Weese (4), H. White, P. Ayres (1), M. Duncan (8), M. Yondell, D. Smith.

Referees—H. Smith and J. Cooper.

P.C.I. Quintet Beats Oshawa

The P.C.I. quintet are the Lakeshore loop basketball champs this season after the decisive 39-17 win over Oshawa in Oshawa last night night. The Bamforthians won in the two game series by 78 points to 35. Taylor and Gardner with 12 and 11 points each sparked our team to victory. Burns got six points, Richardson five, Ferguson, three, and Stu Saunders sunk the remaining basket. Half time score was 21-5 for the Collegians.

About 50 P.C.I.'ites journeyed to the Motor city and monopolized the cheering with ease. This is the kind of support that is greatly appreciated by coach and team alike. In beverage trucks, delivery trucks and cars the loyal crowd rolled along. One of the most successful and perfect dances that we have ever attended was thrown by Oshawa students for all comers. Ask anyone who was there and compared notes with Peterborough socials. Don Forde and Nancy Collins won the "elimination dance" and the "coat dance" resulted in a perfect maze of odd suit coats floating around the floor. "Tip" Taylor started off a "bingo dance" and the song "You Are My Sunshine" was dedicated to him. Congratulations team and thanks for a swell time—Oshawa!

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

With Peterborough's Outboard Marines facing the big task of having to wipe out a ten-point lead against a team that won the Dominion intermediate championship last season, tonight's O.A.B.A. intermediate A battle at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium should be one of the most exciting basketball games ever staged here. The Marines are facing Toronto Earl Greys, a rangy, fast and powerful squad sparked by Junior Fox, one of the tallest players in Canadian basketball. A well-drilled aggregation made up of smart ball-handlers the Toronto quintet are formidable opposition especially when they are in possession of a ten-point lead but the Peterborough team has turned in some surprising games on the local floor and if Jimmy Thorburn, Joe Stewart and the other snipers of the Marine squad get hot it is a safe bet the Toronto cagers will have their hands full. The Peterborough team will have to go gunning for scores from the first whiste and the pace should be lightning fast all the way through. The big game will get under way at 8 o'clock and by far the biggest crowd of the season should be on hand when the battle starts.

* * * * * *

Stars of the Earl Grey team in the first game of the series in Toronto the other night were Fox, Lowe and Belchamber. It was the latter who really pulled the Toronto gang together in the second half after the Outboards had thrown a bomb into the Earl Grey camp by leading them 24 to 22 at the end of the first half. Belchamber staged a one-man attack that saw him score nine points in succession and his team came on to win 58 to 48. Here are the lineups of the two teams for tonight's game with the numbers of the players. If you cut out the list and take it with you, it will help you follow the game more intelligently: Toronto Earl Greys—Lowe (7), Wynne (8), Hardy (10), Bourkill (12), Belchamber (4), May (6), Siberry (22), Fox (13), Davis (5), Lunn (3). Peterborough Outboard Marines—Jimmy Thorburn (7), Joe Stewart (10), Pete McArthur (6), Doug McPherson (4), Gordie McIntyre (11), Jack Craig (9), Joe Jakafby (5), M. Rogow (8).

Thirteen's Nothing, Lads

The Kingston Whig-Standard sports staff has been digging into scoring statistics and have come through with something that we simply cannot let them get away with. Here is the article from Bill Walshe's column: "Recently an article in a western paper revived the story of Dick Irvin, present coach of the Montreal Canadiens, scoring nine goals in a league game, and referred to other isolated cases of players ringing up nine goals in a league fixture. Nine goals? Mere child's play! As usual, when anyone wants a hockey record smashed, he merely refers to Kingston's hockey history, and away goes the claim from any other place, according to statistics on Kingston sport assembled by Fred Beaudry during his long term as sports editor of these pages. Take this matter of scoring goals, for instance. There is no question but that Dick Irvin's feat was no mean accomplishment, but it pales into hockey insignificance alongside some marks set up by Kingston players. A careful perusal of the Beaudry records now disclose that one of the greatest achievements in the history of the O.H.A. was performed right in Kingston. It was back in 1921, when Kingston had a flock of Junior O.H.A. teams. Royal Military College and Queen's were in the Junior O.H.A.. while Kingston had two teams, Frontenacs "A" and Frontenacs "B". R.M.C. had a tricky wing player named McKenzie, and in the game on January 20 against Frontenac "B", McKenzie scored 13 goals and goodness knows how many assists as his team scampered to a 20 to 1 victory"

* * * * * *

Scoring 13 goals in a game is a neat performance but we hasten to assure Messrs. Walshe and Beaudry that it is not an O.H.A. record. Not by a city block. Earlier this winter this column called attention to a scoring feat that we believe was a record. Apparently our Kingston friends failed to note it so we will repeat a little for their benefit. Thirty years ago this winter in an intermediate O.H.A. game between Belleville and Peterborough, Lieut.-Col. Maurice H. Park now commanding the 2nd Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers and at that time centre player for the Peterborough squad scored no fewer than 15 goals against the luckless Belleville gang. And in doing so he performed an even more remarkable stunt for nine of his markers were scored in succession. If there is anything in Kingston hockey records to beat that we will be glad to hear again from Messrs. Walshe and Beaudry. In the meantime the Park performance remains tops.

* * * * * *

Soldier Guy Roach, late of the Kingston Combines, who was given permission by the O.H.A. to finish the season with the Petes but by-passed Peterborough, for some reason of military strategy and landed in Ottawa would undoubtedly have been a handy man for the local squad to have around, even although the Ottawa Senators muffed an opportunity when Roach landed almost in his lap. Bill Walshe has the following interesting item in his Kingston column about the former Combine star: "Jim McCaffrey, smart manager of Ottawa football and hockey, made one of his few mistakes in failing to take advantage of the military transfer of Guy Roach, star of the Kingston Combines. Roach went to Ottawa but he did not impress the Senators' boss in practice and was signed by Hull Volants. In the Volants' last game he proved the outstanding star on the ice, although opposing Ottawa R.C.A.F. and the Krauts. Roach got a goal and provided two assists and now McCaffrey is trying to figure how he can use him on the Senators' staff. It should not be much trouble for Mr. McCaffrey considering the present rules, although Roach will hold the unusual record of playing on three senior teams in a season and being claimed by Peterborough's Senior B squad."

Peterborough Night In Toronto

Next Tuesday will be Peterborough night in Toronto, judging by the number of fans who are preparing to make the trip to the Queen City that night for the battle between Merritton Hayes Wire Redmen and the Peterborough Soldiers at Maple Leaf Gardens. Local enthusiasts are confident that the Petes will wind up the series and take the championship by a win in that game and they all want to be on hand to see them turn the trick. As this column pointed out recently a Peterborough hockey team has never won a title on its own ice. Not only that but the scene of the final game in each case has been so far away that only a handful of Peterborough fans was able to get in on the triumph. Stratford, Galt, Goderich, London and Kitchener were the places in which the Petes won their championships. This time there is a chance considerably closer to home to see a title won and the fans are determined to be on hand. An excusion over the C.N.R., leaving here at 6 o'clock and reaching Toronto in good time for the game has been arranged and hundreds of rooters will take that opportunity of being on hand in Maple Leaf Gardens as the Petes battle for the championship.

* * * * * *

As predicted the double-header in the Ladies' Basketball League last night proved a hummer. Both games were hard-fought and proved two of the best contests of the current campaign. C.G.E. Generals got the jump in the senior bracket finals by defeating Quakers 31 to 22 with M. Wood and Audrey Craig getting 29 points between them while Y Gym sparked by Ruth Hewitt took Westclox into camp in a game that was always fast and exciting in the intermediate finals. The setup is the best two-out-of-three games in each division and the second games will be played next Friday night. If a third game is necessary in either bracket it will be staged on Saturday night.

Robinson's Win Sets Longest Victory Streak

NEW YORK, March 21.—(AP).—Ray Robinson, the welterweight walloper from Harlem, owns the longest winning streak in boxing today but he had to unlimber all the artillery at his command to stop Norman Rubio and keep his record clean in last night's punching party at Madison Square Garden.

For six rounds the crowding, crouching Rubio took everything Robinson had to offer and reciprocated with an equal dose of dynamite, although he injured his left hand in the opening round and an X-ray examination later discovered a fractured metacarpal bone.

Then came the seventh, and Ray burned the Albany, N.Y. clouter under a barrage of lefts and rights that sent him down for a nine count. Rubio came up, bleeding badly from a deep gash over his left eye, only to be staggered by a terrific left hook a split second before the end of the round—and that was all.

Referee Arthur Donovan, getting the nod from Chairman John J. Phelan of the New York State Athletic Commission, called it off before the start of the eighth.

The victory was the 29th in a row for Robinson since he turned pro after winning all of his 89 fights as an amateur. It was his 23rd knockout as a professional and the 86th of his entire career.

Pin Hopes On Rookie, Lombardi

SANFORD, Fla., March 21 — (AP).—Boston Braves have a camp full of rookies, some of whom Casey Stengel is counting upon to carry a big load in this year's National League campaign, but the newcomer who may give them the biggest lift is none other than old Ernest Natali Lombardi.

Lom lumbered around in a Cincinnati uniform for ten years, during which time he achieved the National League batting championship once, was voted the most valuable player, caught Johnny Vander Meer's double no-hit classics and helped punch the Reds to two pennants and a world series championship.

Weight Up, Speed Down

He became almost as much of a Cincinnati landmark as the Ohio River and also apparently decided he was about as unlikely to leave. The big fellow, who stands 6 feet 2 and weighs 195 pounds ordinarily, let his weight go up and his speed (if any) go down last year and the result was a miserable season and a move to Boston.

From the time that the trade was announced in February until the training season started, reports kept creeping from the Pacific coast that Lombardi was so disappointed at being turned loose by Cincinnati that he probably would give up baseball.

However, President Bob Quinn of the Braves says Lombardi was one of the easiest men he had to sign and the big fellow showed up here this month not only in the finest shape in many years, but also determined to convince everybody that he still is quite a catcher, even at the age of 34.

He Wants To Work

Lom is just about the hardest working player the Braves have had and every time Stengel suggests he might want to sit out the next waltz, the big catcher grunts, "I want to work." His hitting has been tremendous and it seems the Braves not only have found a good-hitting backstop to mend their most serious weakness of last season, but also have obtained a long-distance cannon capable of pacing the whole Boston barrage.

Part of Lombardi's interest in work may be due to the fact that the Braves have one of the finest rookie catchers coming up to any club this year. Clyde Kluttz, who batted .336 at Sacramento last season. There probably will be enough work for both of them.

The team has given Pitcher Bill (Sailor) Posedel and Second Baseman Carvel Rowell to the armed services and made some other changes, including sending First Baseman Buddy Hassett to the Yankees in a deal that netted them Rookie Outfielder Tommy Holmes. Aside from the catching, though, the team is likely to have about the same strength as last year.

110-Yr. Outfield Still Has No Dopes

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP) — Casey Stengal can put a 110-year-old outfield into the field this year, and that doesn't mean that's how the boys feel or perform some days or that he will play all three positions himself.

The 110 years are the sum of the ages of Johnny Cooney, Paul Waner and Frank Demaree, the latter an upstart of 31. Cooney had his 40th birthday a couple of days ago and Waner will be 39 next month.

Cooney is the perennial sophomore. For years Stengel has been counting him out annually, but its like predicting when Niagara Falls will stop falling. He hit .319 last year and fielder .996.

Waner is a 39-year wonder. he little guy never cared particularly about training rules. His eyes have been rated unique with a rare photographic quality. Of late it's taken a little longer to develop the plates, as his average of .267 last year was the lowest of his career, but he is still anything but a dopey Joe up there at the plate.

Maybe neither Cooney nor Waner will make the grade this year, although we'd hate to bet on Cooney being left out. Latest reports are that Stengel is figuring more on youngsters, such as Chet Ross and Tommy Holmes.

News From Training Camps

Sarasota, Fla.—(AP). — X-ray pictures today showed that Jimmy Foxx' broken toe is healing and indications are that the Boston Sox slugger will be back in action within a week. Ted Williams' hip injury also is improving but his return to the lineup still is a few days off.

Lakeland, Fla.—Hal White's performance against Cincinnati Reds yesterday virtually clinched the 23-year-old righthander a job with Detroit Tigers. He retired 12 Red batters in order in the four innings he worked.

Daytona Beach, Fla.—Manager Leo Durocher was happy over Brooklyn's 12-4 pasting handed New York Yankees yesterday but what he liked most was that neither of his pitchers, Johnny Allen and Newt Kimball, issued a base on balls.

PT. ARTHUR OUSTS WINNIPEG, HEADS WEST ON ALLAN CUP TRAIL

Quakers Battle Millers 3-3 30-Min. Overtime

By The Canadian Press

Port Arthur Bear Cats, Thunder Bay Senior hockey champions, packed their bags today and moved along the Allan Cup trail to the Western semi-final at Calgary next week.

The Cats blasted their way through the powerful Winnipeg Navy Chippawas, the Manitoba champions, last night at Port Arthur, 9-2, to win the interprovincial best-of-five series 3-0. One game of the series, the second, was a 3-3 overtime tie.

But the high spot in the Western playoffs was the battle between the Saskatoon Quakers and the Moose Jaw Millers, fighting to represent Saskatchewan in the Allan Cup play. They battled to a 3-3 tie after 30 minutes of overtime—the last two extra periods going scoreless.

The result left the teams with a victory and three ties each in a series which started as a best-of-five, The sixth game will be played at Moose Jaw tonight.

At the coast, Victoria Navy defeated Kimberley Dynamiters 5-4 to tie up their British Columbia Senior final. Each has won a game in the best-of-three series.

At Port Arthur, Edgar Laprade, a leading point maker for the Lakehead champions, tallied two counters during the hectic game and assisted in five others.

The Manitoba Navy Crew, holding a 1-0 lead at the end of the second period, collapsed in the final with the Thunder Bay squad firing through nine goals in the mad dash to victory.

Runs In Four Counters

Steve Wochy, a recruit from the Junior ranks, was the high scorer of the night, beating the Manitoba goalie, Mallie Hughes, for four goals and assisting in another.

Albert Kelly snapped home the other three Bear Cat goals.

Len Haldorsen put the Manitobans ahead in the first period, the second went scoreless, and Ray Ogston, in a solo play, got the Navy counter in the third.

Bear Cats next meet the Alberta champions, either Calgary Stampeders or Lethbridge Maple Leafs at Calgary. The first game will be played Tuesday or Thursday, depending on when the present Alberta series ends.

At Saskatoon, the Quakers were down 2-0 at the end of the first period, reduced the lead to 2-1 in the second session, and near the close of the third tied the score. Millers moved ahead midway through the first overtime period but the Quakers again knotted the count.

Frank Dotten, the league's leading marksman, Paul Platz, and Hugh Bell scored for the Millers with Archie Wilder, Harold Laycoe, and Fred Fenn, the Quaker counters.

Victoria Navy and Kimberley will play again tonight, the winner scheduled to meet the Saskatchewan champions.

Last night, Billy Gibb, Glenn Richardson, Chuck Taylor, Porky Hulme and F. Ritchie counted for Navy. Benny Rediskey with two, Sully Sullivan and Lyall Swaney were the marksmen for the Dynamiters.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, March 21 — (AP). —You may argue that it isn't basketball, but this two-points-a-minute stuff really gets the fans. At the Garden the other night a guy who would walk out of a 1-0 ball game in the seventh inning saw Toledo burst the scoring record, then said: "Let's stick around and watch Rhode Island do it, too."

Odds—and some ends.

The illness of Jack (Chappie) Blackburn, who has pneumonia, gives Jimmy Johnston a chance to point out that he tries to give his fighters the same kind of confidence in J.J.J. that Joe Joe Louis has in Chappie....Abe Simon has it, says Jimmy, so that's another point in favor of "Our Abraham" and against Louis for next Friday's tussle....The Detroit Fair Grounds plans to run flat races over a turf course next summer. Only other United States tracks that have this kind of layout are Hialeah and Arlington Park....Cleveland hockey players voted down a proposition to borrow players from teams that had been eliminated from the American League playoffs so their team would be at full strength. They figured the additions would mean too many cuts in the playoff dough.

Short sport story.

Jack Carberry of the Denver Post reports that when "The Star-Spangled Banner" was played before the A.A.U. basketball tournament opened, the only players who knew the words and sang them were the Chicago Clippers— Stanley Azmudzhi, Marion Fabraza, Walter S. Rybicki, Edward Bogdanski, Casimur Killian, Joseph Padraza, John Kardzionsk, Joseph P. Prawdzik, Dick Stargyk, and Manager Frank Gajewski.

Patched Bruins To Get Test In Hawks' Town

CHICAGO, March 21 — (CP).— The hasty patchwork job that Art Ross did on the Boston Bruins in mid-season will be severely tested here on Sunday night when the Stanley Cup holders face Chicago Black Hawks in the opening game of their National Hockey League playoffs.

After the game the series shifts to Boston where it will be completed on Tuesday or Thursday depending on whether two or three games are required to name an opponent for Detroit or Montreal in the semi-final.

Chicago followers were heartened by an overnight announcement by Manager Paul Thompson that four of his injured players are back in shape. The club was bidding for a higher position than fourth when injuries began to take their toll, and in order Doug Bentley, Bill Mosienko, Bill Carse, and Earl Seibert all had to nurse leg injuries.

The Boston team that many hockey followers believed was shot full of holes when it lost Dit Clapper, Bill Cowley, and the Krauts — Schmidt, Dumart Bauer—was good enough to wind up the season with victories 9-1 over the Hawks, 2-1 over the Rangers, and 8-3 over Brooklyn and is conceded to be no push-over for anybody.

Cowley is back, although not up to his customary brilliant form. But above all, the Bruins can fall back on the peerless goal-tending of cool Frank Brimsek.

Sunday's probable lineup:

Chicago.	Position.	Boston.
Lo Presti	Goal.	Brimsek
Seibert	Defence.	Crawford
Weibe		Shewchuk
M. Bentley	Centre.	Cowley
March	Wing.	Wiseman
D. Bentley		Conacher

Rice Beats Dodds But Fails To Set Record

CHICAGO, March 21 — (AP).— Little Greg Rice, who has been taking the measure of all foot racing competitors at the two-mile distance for more than two years, last night defeated Gil Dodds by more than half a lap as he won the event in the Chicago relays with a time of 8 minutes 53 seconds.

Dodds, who has consistently pressed, but never conquered Rice, was outclassed as he resumed his duel with the former Notre Dame star after competing in the mile for the last three weeks. With 3½ laps left to go, Rice started pulling away and kept stretching his advantage until the finish.

Missed Record.

Anticipating a new world record, the crowd of 16,000 in the Chicago Stadium roared encouragement to Rice is he sped around the final circuit of the track. Time for the final quarter was 63 seconds, but two of the earlier quarters had gone 69 seconds and another two at 68 to spoil any hopes for a record.

One world record was bettered and three others were equalled in the sixth annual affair, one of the closing meets of the indoor season. Freddie Wolcott of Houston, Texas, in successfully defending his hurdle series championship, clipped a tenth of a second off the mark for the forty-years highs with a five-second performance.

Wolcott also equalled the world records in the 50 and 60-yard races as he skimmed over the barriers in 6.1 and 7.2 seconds, Herbert Thompson of Jersey City took the spring series with victories in all three races and equalled the 4.4-second record established by Ben Johnson in the 40-yard dash here in 1938.

Cornelius Warmerdam set a new relays standard with a leap of 15 feet 2 inches in the pole vault. The San Francisco ace failed in three attempts for a world record with the bar at 15 feet 9 inches, but barely missed on his final jump.

Quebec Aces Win Senior Title In Game Dispute

QUEBEC, March 21 — (CP). — Quebec Aces captured the Quebec Senior Hockey League title here last night as the game was awarded to them by officials with but a few seconds of the overtime period left.

Aces, leading 2-1 at the time, broke from a six-man Senator attack and, as the players were passing the box, Louis St. Denis, Ottawa netminder, jumped back on the ice. Players and officials milled around centre ice, and the game was awarded Quebec when Ottawa refused to accept a referee ruling that there should be a penalty shot against Senators.

Aces Hold Edge

Aces, who took the first game of the best-of-three games final series at Ottawa Wednesday by a count of 3-1, held an advantage in play on the whole night.

Although Senators first broke into the scoring midway through the first period, and there was no further scoring until early in the third. Quebec, playing before a home crowd of some 7,000 fans, held a sizeable margin of the play.

Last night's victory gives the Aces the right to meet Shawinigan Falls Cataracts of the Montreal and District League, in a two-game, total-goal series for the Provincial championship.

Jake Brunning gave the visitors the edge at 7:36 of the first period on a relay from Inglis. The second period was scoreless, but Stan Robertson tied up the game on a pass from Butch Stahan, at the six-minute mark.

The teams went into the overtime session with Mike McMahon giving the home team at least part of the victory by scoring at 7:18 on passes from Roland Rossignol and Rosie Rozzini.

Dawe Refuses Comment

MONTREAL, March 21—(CP).— President Norman Dawe of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association refused to comment last night on whether Quebec Aces would be awarded the Quebec Senior League championship after their 2-1 victory over Ottawa Senators in Quebec.

The game ended when Louis St. Denis, Senators' net-minder, refused to take a penalty for having jumped back onto the ice while Quebec forwards were skating toward the Ottawa net. St. Denis had been removed late in the overtime period and Coach Gene Chouinard had sent on six forwards.

Dawe said, however, that he would probably have to call a special meeting of the Q.A.H.A. executive when he received the official report on the game, should the official report agree with press reports.

Coach Gene Chouinard yanked Goalie St. Denis with but a few seconds of play remaining and as St Denis sat in the player's box, Aces broken from a six-man Senator attack. St. Denis jumped onto the ice, and an argument broke out.

First version of the ruling that followed was that St. Denis refused to take a penalty. Later, officials said that a penalty shot had been awarded and that Ottawa refused to accept the ruling.

Ottawa.—Goal, St. Denis; defence, Pratt, Van Daele; centre, Carthy; wings, Green, Saunders; subs, Grant, T. Lemany, Poirier, A. Lemay, S. Nicholson, Brunning, Cheyne, Inglis.

Quebec — Goal, Bouvrette; defence, McMahon, Stahan; centre, Lee; wings, Gaudreault, W. Nicholson; subs. Brennan, Fortin, Rozzini, Rossignol, Robertson, Graboski, Bruneteau, Reay.

Officials — Murray Cinnamon, Brantford; Harold Halway, Belleville.

Miami.—Manager Mel Ott of New York Giants announced today that two youngsters who were with Atlanta of the Southern Association last season would be regulars with the Giants this campaign. Willard Marshall was given the left field job and Connie Ryan will be stationed at second base.

Promising Rookie

Aaron Robinson, catcher, New York Yankees...Bif lefthanded batter who hit .270 for Kansas City last year...Native of Lancaster, S.C., he began career as third baseman with Norfolk in 1938, then moved to the backstopping post with Akron in 1939.

Special The Examiner By a P.C.V.S. Student

The latest in 1942 spring styles as designed and modelled by Collegiate day and night school pupils will be seen next Thursday, March 26, at 8 p.m. at the Easter Fashion Parade in the Auditorium. A colorful and entertaining program has been arranged for those who attend and there will be keen competition among the girls in the show for prizes offered by the C.D.S. and Richard Hall Ltd. The girls of Household Arts XI will compete for Hall's awards for dress-making and the C.D.S. sewing prize will be competed for later by the students of HA X.

As an added attraction the P.C.V.S. Girls' Glee Club will be on hand to render numbers from Gilbert and Sullivan. This will probably be their last appearance this term. Also on the entertainment card are dances by a girls' gym class directed by Miss M. Bailey.

The Thermometer Blew Up

Yes—our headline is true—astoundingly so—and yet it is still quite mild in comparison with the news behind the headline. Last week the fund went over the original objectiveof $1,175, but the final total stands at $1,262.62 or $87.62 over the top. Congratulations students! Donations amounted to $87.48 this concluding week of the drive and here they are:

Betty Blewett presented $24.18 on behalf of XI A Academic as the results of candy sales and personal contributions.

The highest sum received from one form was recorded when XII Commercial donated $36.00. This money was raised by names at ten cents each on an autographed quilt. It is expected that $24.00 will be realized from this project in addition to the original sum and it will be given to Red Cross work in the school. Why not give your name and ten cents to any pupil of Grade XII Commercial?

Grade IX A Academic raised $9.00 and this money was presented by Harry Botnick on Wednesday morning.

Proceeds from the sale of salvage in the form of scraps from the machine shops, etc. made up the grand total of $10.75 for the fund. Thanks boys!

The Girls' Glee club made their second donation on Thursday and $5.10 more was added to the mobile kitchen fund. Good work Glee Club!

And now for the "Gummers" — that famous group of chewing students who have enriched the fund by the remarkable sum of $2.73. The sum of 76 cents was received from the draughting rooms gummers; 57 cents from Miss Burgess; 12 cents from R. G. Cornell (second donation—total 40 cents); and then—are you ready? $1.00 from V. R. Henry who patiently waited until he had this grand sum. Congratulations gummers—you played your part!

Barring unforeseen donations there is the final list acknowledged for the mobile kitchen. Every form in the school donated some money and several repeated their gifts. A special word of thanks is due Sgt. Pilot Doug Quirt for his fine example at the outset of the campaign last November. A draft for £266 will be sent to England in payment for the kitchen and this is approximately $1,189 in Canadian money. Fifty-one donations in all made the grand total of $1,262.62.

Presentation Details

The draft for the mobile kitchen was formally presented on Friday, by Ed. Geraghty to Lt. Col. C. H. Stuart—Senior Postal Clerk — who made a short speech of appreciation. With the draft was a letter addressed to E. W. Stapleford, War Charities Division, Department of National War Services, Ottawa. Mr. Stapleford will forward the draft to the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada in England, who will in turn present the kitchen to Peterborough, England (or to the locality where the kitchen is needed most) with the help of four former students of the Collegiate. These four boys are Flying Officer Gerry Wool, R.A.F., Sgt. Grant W. Smedmore, Sgt. Hugh Davidson, and Lieut. James F. M. Hall.

On the mobile kitchen itself will be a plaque inscribed with the following: Presented to the City of ———, England by the students of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School, Peterborough, Ontario, Canada.

Ed Geraghty also read a list of presentations by grades and organizations, and Alden Gourley gave a peppy talk on the ways and means of raising money for the fund. Mary Hanlon sang two delightful renditions of "Land of Hope and Glory," and "There'll Be Bluebirds Over the White Cliffs of Dover."

There are the highlights of this important event—one that will live forever in P.C.V.S. history. In four months the objective was reached and surpassed by the inexhaustible ingenuity of P.C.I.'ites and now we can say, "Well done!" Our war effort is not finished this year. It will continue until the end of the term, will continue throughout the term, and next September we will return with renewed energy for a more formidable effort. Inspired by this first success the Collegiate will break other records with ease. Every student has helped directly or indirectly to put this drive over the top—let's do so with those to come until Hitler and has satellites are ground under foot and the lights of London shine again.

Teasettes

War sales this week were $401—$385 in stamps and $16 in certificates. Can we go over five hundred next week?

The boys of the Senior Rugy Team were measured for their windbreakers last week—won't be long now.

Captain H. A. Craig has enlisted for service and is at present acting-adjutant in the recently mobilized Rangers. Mrs. Craig has taken over the teaching duties left vacant in this emergency.

An unusual treat was in store for the students on Tuesday morning in the form of a very interesting and educational talk on "Wartime Communications" by George Long of the Bell Telephone Museum in Montreal. Mr. Long was introduced by M. H. Riddle, district manager of the Bell Company. The speech was vividly illustrated by War relics and modern inventions that have changed the history of the telephone as we know it. The speaker covered the growth of the telephone from its invention to its use in this present war. Many strange and awesome devices were described to the eager audience and an inkling was given the students of the future use of the telephone and its brothers and sisters—television, telephoto, teletype and others. This was one of the most interesting talks given the students in recent years and everyone heartily endorses the vote of thanks given by our principal to the guest.

No more stamps are needed for salvage activities at the Collegiate or elsewhere except in England. There had been quite a good response to the appeal but it has since been discovered that the stamps are not required. Don't be afraid to bring in other salvage though — rubber, paper, tinfoil, tubes—they'll still be very welcome.

The French classes saw a movie on Monday after four about Free French General De Gaulle and the activities of his loyal followers. Comments were in French and were understood by very few of the students. The pictures were good though.

Exams start next week, continuing until April the second. The city's radio station opens on March 30 and the auditorium will be used as a studio. Too bad it couldn't be delayed until after the exams are over.

Wings Rubbing Rabbit's Foot For Sunday Tilt

DETROIT, March 21 — (CP) — Detroit Red Wings hoped today that their luck on home ice holds good Sunday when they tangle with the sixth-place Montreal Canadiens in the first game of a best-of-three National Hockey League playoff series at the Olympia. The Wings have not been beaten on home ice by the Canadiens this year.

The word "tangle" is used advisedly because two teams have entered playoffs with as much heat and bad blood between them as the Wings and Canadiens. Twice last week-end they staged bitter fights, in which major penalties and fines resulted.

The Wings, led by centre Don Grosso, who scored 53 points this year to take third place in the National League standings, are in excellent shape for the game and were installed favorites by the home supporters.

The Canadiens, whose chief scoring threat is centred in the new and potent line of Terry Reardon, Joe Benoit and Toe Blake, are bringing 18 players, according to word from Montreal. They can only dress 15, so Peter Morin, who is injured, Bunny Dame and Legs Fraser, the amateur goalie who will be signed if needed, will be spectators.

Probable starting lineup:—

Mowers	Goal	Bibeault
Bush	Defence	Goupille
Stewart	Defence	Bouchard
Grosso	Centre	T. Reardon
Wares	Wing	Benoit
Abel	Wing	Blake

Day Pins Edge For Leafs On Goaltenders

TORONTO, March 21 — (CP).— New York Rangers took an early lead over Toronto Maple Leafs in the confidence department here today as the clubs prepared for the first game tonight of a best-of-seven semi-final series in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Pre-games statements by Coach Frank Boucher of Rangers and Coach Hap Day of Leafs were neither long nor eloquent, but they came to the point. And Boucher got there first.

Said he: "We should win the series, because we've got the best team."

Said Day: "It's anybody's series. If there's any edge we should have it in the goaltending."

Toronto supporters took heart from the records o feight games played between Rangers and Leafs during the schedule. Leafs won four and one was tied. But it was evidence from Boucher's general attitude that he didn't think the past performances counted for much.

He said Alf Pike probably would work at centre between Mac Colville and Alex Shibicky with Neil Colville working part time on defence. Pike will be playing his first game since an injury a few weeks ago. He worked out with Rangers here yesterday.

Day said Syl Apps, Bingo Kampman and Sweeney Schriner would see action tonight "unless there are last-minute developments." Schriner bruised a knee in Leafs' last scheduled game in Montreal Thursday night. Defenceman Reg. Hamilton is on the Toronto injured list.

Probable starting lineups:

New York.	Position	Toronto.
Henry	Goal	Broda
Coulter	Defence	Kampman
Pratt	Defence	Stanowski
Watson	Centre	Langelle
Patrick	Wing	McCreedy
Hextall	Wing	Goldup

Congress Wakes To Ship Toll Calls For Speed

WASHINGTON, March 21—(AP)—A cry for ships and more ships arose from members of Congress Friday as they received evidence that the accelerated war production program had started to tax the United States' domestic and foreign transportation facilities.

Concerned lest a shipping shortage handicap th[illegible] arms effort in the next few [illegible]nths, Senator Walter George [illegible]m.-Ga.) said Congress must [illegible]e hold of the transportation pr[illegible]em and deal with it vigorously" to avoid a serious slowdown in delivery of vital military supplies to battle areas.

George told reporters a long step could be taken in this direction by the streamlining of domestic transportation facilities through the merger of bus and truck companies and by more thorough co-ordination of railroad transportation—a subject Chairman Harry Truman (Dem.-Mo.) said the Senate Defence Investigating Committee soon would explore thoroughly as a part of an inquiry into the possibilities of speeding up ship construction.

Want Report On Progress.

Truman said Maritime Commission officials would be asked to report on the progress of the current ship construction program, which contemplates the building of 786 merchant vessels aggregating 7,995,000 tons this year. This is part of a long-range program calling for the construction of 2,877 cargo ships of 30,834,421 tons.

Chairman Emory S. Land of the Maritime Commission, who previously had estimated that strikes had "cost us between seven and 12 ships last year," told a Senate appropriations subcommittee this week there was still some "loafing" and "slow-downs" among ship workers.

Land indicated earlier that the processed material problem likewise was acute, for he said the commission got only 154,659 of the 220,386 tons of steel it needed in January.

Congressional preoccupation with the shipping problem was intensified by the tonnage toll Axis submarine raiders have been taking in American waters. Legislators pointed out that the shipyards not only must replace these losses, but also build up a great surplus of shipping for the day the United Nations seize the initiative on a worldwide front.

Faith Is Subject At W.M.S. Meeting

COTTLESLOE, March 21—(ENS)—The theme of the March meeting of Cottesloe W.M.S. was "The Covenant of Our Faith." The devotional period included the Apostles' Creed given in unison by the members the Statement of Faith given by the president, Mrs. J. Blakley, and three readings by Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Kidd, and Mrs. Toms, which explained the meaning and significance of the Lord's Supper. The chapter of the study book, "The Chinese Church Comes of Age," was interestingly reviewed by Mrs. Mer. Clysdale. The business session included plans for next meeting and the Easter thankoffering services. Mrs. Kidd served lunch and a social half-hour was spent.

Quilt Output High in Seymour Circle

CAMPBELLFORD, March 21. — (ENS). — The Stanwood Sewing Circle which has embarked on an energetic quilting program this year and has already given six to the Campbellford and Seymour Branch of the Red Cross, met for their regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon and two quilts were pieced. These in addition to two done earlier in the month will comprise a gift to the well deserving Salvation Army branch here. The president, Mrs. Carmen Redden, announced that the Circle would endeavor to keep up its quota of two quilts each month during the entire summer.

Made 12 Quilts.

Tabernacle Church (English Line) W.A. raised to twelve the number of quilts given to the Bemersyde Chapter, I.O.D.E. when they met for their monthly meeting at the church on Wednesday afternoon. They completed three of these quilts during the day, and according to Miss K. Gould the work was done in record time since the quilting began at eleven o'clock, and was interrupted only for their pot-luck dinner, a regular feature for which twenty ladies were on hand. For the afternoon session ten more arrived, and by 3:30 their quota for the day was completed. The president, Mrs. E. J. Mitchell, presided for the business and principal discussion concerned the young people's banquet slated for next Monday evening. This was of interest since more than a hundred are expected for it, and the Women's Association will be mainly responsible for providing the supper. It was pointed out that this was probably the last time until early in the fall when members would meet twice in one month for meeting. With the busy season approaching many will even find it difficult to attend even one meeting this summer, it was believed.

Roy Studio Marks 45th Birthday

The Roy Studio is being transferred to the ground floor of its Hunter Street building on Monday, March 23, the 45th anniversary of the establishment of this widely-known Peterborough photography business by the late R. M. Roy.

This change of location is merely a moving down from the second storey to the level of the street entrance, providing an additional convenience for the public by the elimination of the necessity of climbing a flight of stairs to the old quarters which have been occupied as the centre of the business for nearly half a century.

Fred L. Roy succeeded his father in the proprietorship of the Roy Studio in 1912, and since then has carried on the family tradition of high photographic art which has won competitive laurels apart from the strong position it has held during the years throughout this part of the province. Few men have been priveleged to serve a community in any capacity for 45 years, and Mr. Roy's continuous association extends back to his boyhood when he learned the secrets of fine camera work from his father.

Three generations of families in this district have chosen the Roy Studio for successive pictures which have become cherished records. Roy pictures have reached out into many parts of Canada, and among those who have sat for the Roy cameras were members of the city and county councils of Peterborough, men prominent in the religious, civic, political and business life of the community. Others included such prominent Canadians as the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King; the late Sir John Eaton, Sir Henry Thornton, Senator Frank P. O'Connor, Sir Edward Beattie, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, and others.

The Roy gallery was also a record of Peterborough officers and men who enlisted in the last war, and already a new collection of photographs of volunteers in this war is growing in numbers. Many hundreds of pictures of babies from families of the city and district have been taken in the studio, and a great number of bridal parties.

One of the prized possessions of Mr. Roy is the gold medal award he won at the golden anniversary of the Photographers' Association of America at Milwaukee, Wis., and events which stand out in his memory are his photographing of the celebration of the silver jubilee of King George V, the coronation of King George VI in 1937, and the royal review of the British fleet taken by Mr. Roy from one of the warships.

Photography has undergone many changes and developments during those 45 years. Few photographs are taken today by daylight, and none are now finished by daylight, in contract with the practice prior to the successful adaptation of artificial light. Color photography has been one of the major modern refinements, and Mr. Roy has already acquired many reels of cine-kodak beauty. A few amateurs have followed this innovation in this city, but development of kodachrome pictures is not yet a part of the local photographic service.

Three Parishes Join In Tribute To Minister Who Comes To City

YOUNG'S POINT, March 21. — (ENS).—Saturday, March 21st terminates the ministry of nearly twelve years of Rev. E. C. Moore, Rural Dean, Peterborough, as rector of the Stoney Lake parish, including Young's Point, Buckhorn and Haultain.

Rev. E. C. Moore came here from St. Timothy's church of Jackson, Michigan, in the early fall of 1930, In that span of time, Rev. E. C. Moore has prepared for confirmation ninety-nine (99) candidates, baptized eighty-nine (89) babies and children. Had forty-one (41) burials and thirty-eight (38) weddings.

During his incumbency many changes have taken place and many improvements made. At St. Aidan's, Young's Point, the electric lighting was installed in both church and rectory. The interior of the church re-decorated and the roof re-shingled. A new reredos was installed, altar hangings, carpet for aisle and chancel were laid. A pipe organ was presented to St. Aidan's by the Grove School of Lakefield. As memorials, brass altar vases, broadloom carpet and hangings. At the rectory new shingling, bathroom installed and interior re-decorated.

In 1937 the erection of a very commodious parish hall took place, with its huge stone fireplace, the gift of a friend, which was cleared of debt in the fall of 1941. This hall has been a tremendous contribution to the life of this parish and the community and has fully justified the commendation of the Archbishop and the Suffragan Bishop made to the rector and the people, in that, it would always be a living monument to the ministry of Rev. E. C. Moore.

At St. Matthews, Buckhorn, a parish hall was built in 1936 with a beautiful fireplace. The memorials were an altar window and a font. New altar hangings and very beautiful altar linens and frontal. The interior of the church has been renovated.

The Church of the Holy Trinity, Haultain, the interior and exterior have been renovated, a beautiful memorial window installed and new altar hangings.

At all three churches last Sunday the attendance testified to his devotion to his people and among his closing remarks were that though he will be remembered by these material things, he prefrred t live, "in the hearts of men."

Mr. Waters, township assessor, is in the village and neighborhood this week conducting the annual assessment.

Mrs. William McQuigge is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. Tyer and Mr. Tyler in Campbellford.

Mrs. George Ellis and son, Carl are visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heath of Toronto were the first cottagers to visit the village this year, when they were at their cottage, Wa-Ki-Ki on Sunday last.

Water in the creeks and swamps near the village is high and washing over the roads in many places, near the Polmont Orange Hall on No. 30 just south of here. There is a small lake formed clear across the highway but it is not deep enough to halt traffic and the highway men are gradually getting it drained. On the sideroads however it is even worse and many farmers are practically marooned until the water subsides.

Ghost Has An Arm

Touro, N.S., March 21 (CP)

TWO photographers lay in wait for the ghost of Bible Hill last night and, when a flatiron started hopping about on the stove of Mrs. Lucy Langille's darkened kitchen, fired flashlight shots that produced prints of a human hand grasping the iron.

George Hannebury and Earl Talbot, the cameramen, and John Murphy, editor of the Truro Daily News, had gone to the Langille home to try to settle the origin of strange doings that have made the Bible Hill house a mecca for the superstitious.

Both photographers' developed pictures later showed a hand holding the iron, with a section of arm extending from the edge of the photograph.

The iron incident was the only manifestation of the evening.

And They'll Have The Last Laugh, Too

Here you see two of the central figures in one of the most dramatic moves of the war, President Roosevelt and General Douglas MacArthur, hero of the Philippines, whom President Roosevelt himself ordered from Bataan peninsula to take over supreme command of the United Nations forces in the southwestern Pacific. The photo was made when MacArthur conferred with the President and the late Secretary of War Dern, CENTRE, shortly after appointment of the general as chief of staff of the U.S. army.

The basket social held by the War Workers of the Bewdley district on Tuesday evening, March 17, proved a fine success. The earlier part of the evening was enjoyably spent in playing bingo. About twelve games were played, with suitable prizes given for each.

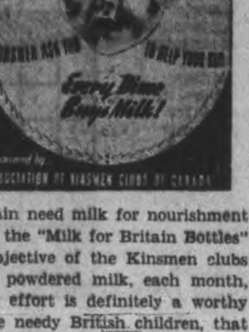
EVERY DIME BUYS A QUART OF MILK



The "bombed-out" children of Britain need milk for nourishment and health. Every dime you drop in the "Milk for Britain Bottles" provides one guart of milk. The objective of the Kinsmen clubs across Canada, is to send enough powdered milk, each month, to make 150,000 liquid quarts. This effort is definitely a worthy one and we ask, on behalf of those needy British children, that you give it your full support.

Appeal Is Made To Young Men To Join Rangers

The nucleus of The Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) that will number 807 all ranks when fully mobilized, heard an inspiring address from Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Dewart, M.C., E.D., Friday afternoon.

Informal in character the gathering comprising around forty officers, N.C.O.'s and men around whom the new unit is gradually taking shape, heard the commanding officer point to the proud record of the regiment, and outline his aspirations and objectives for the active battalion.

Declaring that a national emergency exists in which the British Empire and all that it stands for is threatened, and stating that "active danger of physical invasion threatens the shores of Canada and our own homes," Colonel Dewart appealed to the young men of Peterborough city and district to come forward and make the regiment truly representative of Peterborough area.

Objective, 200 Men

He has set as his objective the enlistment of 200 men from the old regiment and from Peterborough district, and promises, "if we get 200 men, they will provide the basis on which the new regiment will be formed with every consideration going to members of the reserve battalion who go active and to Peterborough men in general."

The commanding officer commented that the organization he was entrusted to build was a large one, and he spoke of the great opportunities for advancement and promotion that exist for all ranks whose conduct and efficiency merited recognition. The establishment of the new unit calls for 165 N.C.O.'s and makes provision for a great number of specialists and tradesmen who receive additional pay above their rank pay.

Need For Specialists

As some indication of the need Colonel Dewart pointed out that the unit will have 134 vehicles of all kinds, including 31 bicycles, 27 motorcycles, 31 15-cwt. trucks, and 21 universal carriers, etc. Then in addition to the need of mechanics and drivers, there are vacancies for clerks, cooks, carpenters and other trades.

For the N.C.O.'s there will be courses of instruction in unit administration, platoon weapons, gas, physical training, etc.

There were three reasons only why men of Peterborough and district should not enlist in the regiment, the colonel declared: firstly, on account of age; secondly, because of too low a medical category; and thirdly, because of their importance in industry.

First Duty To Enlist

But of the latter class of men, the commanding officer added, "Their first duty is to enlist in the regiment for active service and then if an employer considers them as key men, permission should be sought from the Department of National Defence to return them to industry where they might belong."

Only after such men have volunteered for active service can they be said to have discharged their duty as citizens of Canada, he declared.

Stressing the advantages of voluntary enlistment and asking everyone in the regiment to become self-appointed recruiting agents, Colonel Dewart pointed out that young men called up under the National Resources Mobilization Act are not affiliated with any particular unit and might not receive the opportunity to serve in a Peterborough unit if they go active.

Good Opportunities

"It is much better for young men to came in voluntarily and receive the benefit of the opportunities and understanding that I have outlined to you," he said.

He added, in conclusion, that a Peterborough unit has the added advantage of having the backing of the city, and that men would be serving where there was a community of interest.

Regimental Sergeant Major Andrew Jackson also spoke to N.C.O.'s and men of the unit, and urged them to take a pride in the regiment and to so conduct themselves at all times as to bring credit on the good name of the unit.

Girls Are Failing To Instil In Young Men Desire To Go To The Aid Of Their Country

Not only young men of military age but also their "girl friends" are indicted by N. V. Bachynsky, M.P.P., Winnipeg, in a statement that the young women are trying to persuade the boys to not enlist. He recalled that in the last war girls would hardly speak to a youth not in uniform, and they even went about pinning white feathers on the home-staying lads who had no desire to defend either themselves or the women of this country.

The Manitoba legislator's comment agrees largely with observation recently that the present generation of girls comprise the keenest man-hunters of the last century at least.

Of course, it was said, there still are girls who cling to their ideals and who stand by their loyalties, but the most of them are willing to sweep just about everything else aside when a man hove in sight.

Mr. Bachynsky says the girls of to-day are not instilling in the minds of the youth the fibre of good citizenship...."The present generation is hesitant to go to their country's expense in its hour of danger."

Gilmour Donates $50 War Victims

Last Sunday, the Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, but a short distance from the city, took a special collection in aid of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, this action being a very practical expression of their sympathy for those who are suffering through air raids over Britain, and from this the nice sum of $50.15 is acknowledged in today's list for the fund per A. I. Edmison, who is the treasurer of this congregation. Rev. Dr. M. C. MacLean is the pastor of the church which so ably exemplifies the Christian admonition of "Bear ye one another's burdens."

Two personal donations are listed today; Miss A. McCracken is heard from for the eighth time on behalf of the Induction Motor Test of the C.G.E. Co. Ltd., with the usual title of "Odd Nickels."

Pet Dog Show

Definite announcement can now be made that the Pet Dog Show will be held on Wednesday, April 8, at 7 p.m., in the Peterborough Armouries by kind permission of Lieut.-Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., E.D., officer in charge of the Armouries.

This event, sponsored by the dog fanciers of the city and district, is entirely in the interests of the fund, and a strong committee of active workers has been formed to make a real success of this venture which will include classes for all kinds and breeds of dogs, whether registered or not, and there will be special classes for boys and girls under 16 years of age, so that all may enter their pets.

General admission to the hall will be 25c, and tickets printed complimentary as a contribution to the cause by George C. Scott, will go on sale on Monday. The entry fee per dog will be only 25 cents and while the entry free for dogs will be the same when entered by children, their admission fee to the hall will be at the low figure of ten cents.

Entry forms, also given as a contribution to the cause by J. A. McKone of the Peterborough Business College, can now be procured from the W. J. Welch barber shop on Hunter street; the Routley China Shop on George street, and the Peterborough Pet Stock store on Charlotte street. Already many special prizes have been donated for the event, among which is a registered Boston Terrier given by Mrs. W. J. Welch to be used as a door prize which will be drawn for at the close of the show.

Full details of the whole event which is designed to interest and make it possible for all dog owners to participate, will appear in this column in Monday's issues of The Examiner.

$3,532.68 Sent By Kinsmen

Peterborough Kinsmen Club rolls merrily along in its drive to raise funds for the Milk for Britain Fund and encouraging assistance is being given by various organizations from all parts of the neighboring counties.

This week $1,000 was forwarded to headquarters by J. A. MacDonald of the Royal Bank, who is treasurer for the fund. This additional contribution brings the total for the club itself to $2,707.68, and does not include the $500 from the city of Peterborough. Besides the above amounts the Kinnettes, wives of the Kinsmen, have raised and forwarded the sum of $225.00.

The Kinsmen have set $5,000 by July 1 as the objective for this district, and if reached this would mean that the Peterborough area has sent 5,000 quarts of milk to the children of the British Isles.

Norman Elliott, president of the club, stated it is heart-warming to see the various organizations throughout the district aiding the club in this excellent wartime service work.

Objective Exceeded

Pledged to ship 1,500,000 quarts of milk to children of Britain before July 1, the Association of Kinsmen Clubs of Canada has already exceeded that objective.

"Milk for the Children of Britain"—the purchase and delivery of that essential food to the Old Country—is the major was effort of the 89 Kinsmen Clubs across Canada. This responsibility and work was undertaken in response to an appeal from the British Ministry of Food last summer.

Because powdered milk is the purest, safest and the most economical form to purchase and deliver overseas, Kinsmen buy it in 50-pound hermetically sealed drums. One pound of powdered milk is the approximate equivalent of four quarts of fluid milk thus delivered in Britain, freight and insurance paid, is about ten cents.

To date 18 shipments have been sent to England, and Mr. Rogers proudly stated last night that every shipment had safely reached its destination. Each shipment contains at least 80,000 quarts of milk, while some have contained as much as 150,000 quarts.

Billeting Men Is Problem With Rangers

With more men coming to the city to enlist with the Prince of Wales Rangers, the matter of billeting is looming up as a large problem. An appeal has been sent out this morning to all citizens of Peterborough who can stretch a point of providing room and board for one or two or more soldiers in their homes. The allowance is $7 per week. If you have, or know of anyone, who can billet soldiers, kindly phone the Rangers' Orderly Room, Number 8365 and your address and phone number will be taken. It was pointed out that by so assisting the Rangers in finding homes for the men, you are assisting in the war effort as well.

The Y.M.C.A., through G. H. Roper, has extended use of the showers and swimming pool to the Rangers for use each day between 10.30 and noon. "This offer is much appreciated by the officers and men," said Capt. H. A. Craig today. The policy of assisting the men of the armed forces is one adopted by the Y.M.C.A. since the beginning of the war.

In addition, the Y.M.C.A. will be glad to offer sports equipment such as softballs, bats, soccer and rugby balls, track and field equipment and so forth for use by the regiment at no charge. "Needless to say this offer will be gratefully accepted," said Capt. Craig.

The names of five more men who have been medically boarded and attested and are taken on the strength of the Rangers are:

PTE. GERALD SYLVESTER HICKEY, single; next of kin, father Thomas Joseph Hickey, 735 Bethune street, Peterborough.

PTE. FREDERICK JAMES DYER, married; next of kin, wife, Mrs. Lena Ellen Dyer, 110 Cameron street, Peterborough, Ont.

PTE. WILLIAM JACK McKENZIE, single; next of kin, mother, Mrs. Norman McKenzie, 595 George street, Peterborough, Ont.

PTE. DORLAND FREDERICK RODGERS, single; next of kin, mother, Mrs. Annie Rodgers, 354 Charles street, Belleville, Ont.

PTE. ROBERT BENSON SINE, single; next of kin, father, Thomas Sine, 198 Dundas street east, Trenton, Ont.

In the list of appointments and promotions, Second Lieut. J. Kirkwood is to be acting officer commanding number three platoon.

Habit Of Prayer Essential To Christian Life

OMEMEE, March 21—(ENS). — The Women's Association of Trinity United Church met at the home of Mrs. W. Connell on Thursday afternoon, with a fair attendance, and Mrs. Rea presiding. The theme of the meeting was "Prayer." Mrs. Paterson gave a splendid paper on this theme. "Prayer is first of all a native tendency. Prayer is and remains the native and deepest impulse of the soul of man. Somewhere in every man there is the capacity for worship and prayer—for the apprehension of God and the love of Him. Prayer should be not only natural, but it should be habitual. Prayer is nothing less than 'communion with God.' Prayer is thinking God's thoughts after Him. What a beautiful thought. We may commune with God even while at our work and so do not always have to be in the usual attitude of prayer. Good habits are golden threads which we weave into lifes fabric and the more gold there is the more beautiful will be the result. The habit of prayer is one of the great essentials of the Christian life."

The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Everson and Mrs. Rea offered a prayer. Miss Race gave a piano solo.

Several business matters were discussed. Mrs. Rea and Mrs. Melville Earle were appointed to buy material for curtains for the windows in the Sunday School Room. In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. Lang gave the reports.

Pony Shipped Via Express New Brunswick

"Hello little fellow, where are you going?" was the greeting of C.N.R. express men Friday night to a Shetland pony consigned by Hugh Stewart to a buyer in New Brunswick, and according to available information it is the smallest purebred Shetland on this continent.

"We'd ship even elephants, anything at all. A little pony doesn't bother us," one of the express men at the C.N.R. station remarked to a reporter. "We'll look after it all the way to its destination and we'll see that it gets there the way it came to us."

The name of the pony is "Lord Algy," according to its registration paper. Mrs. Stewart has been urging her husband of late to dispose of the well-bred pet which had been bought through the Stewart horse market in Montreal. "There was getting to be too much pony," was the explanation for the sale. And, any way, a man down on the New Brunswick coast had seen a newspaper photograph of the little pony taken against the background of a big horse and that led to the sale.

And so "Lord Algy" started last night on his long trip to the coast in the care of the C.N.R.

KINGS ROW

He crushed out another half-smoked cigaret. "Parris, how's old Drake getting along?"

Parris raised his eyes slowly and looked straight at Peyton, who flushed uncomfortably.

"Drake McHugh? Well, I suppose you mean in his business. I should think you'd know about that."

Peyton's color deepened painfully.

"You know, I just never did get down to see him. You know how it is."

"All of Drake's old friends seemed to find it difficult to see him. Not a single one of his old acquaintances ever went to see him at all—not one."

Parris wasn't making it easy for Peyton to go on, though it was clear there was something Peyton wanted to say.

"I hear Drake's going to branch out quite a bit."

"Is that so?"

"Didn't you know it?"

"I'm a doctor. I have no idea what Drake and Mrs. McHugh are planning."

"Well—well—"

All at once Parris was sorry for him.

"What's on your mind, Peyte? You're in trouble."

"Gosh, Parris! How did you know it?"

"Anybody could see that. What's the matter?"

"Business. Cresent Hill. I believed it would go after a while. If Thurston St. George had lived—"

"And when you had to deal with the executors, you found you were in over your head? Then sell out."

"I can't let go."

"Why?"

"I've used a lot of money that the St. Georges let me have for improvements. Used it — different ways."

"Peyton!"

"Yes, I did. I'm in a terrible fix."

"How much of this money did you misappropriate?"

"Eighteen thousand."

Parris whistled. "Well, what do you want me to do?"

"Speak to Drake. I ought to be good on the selling end—handle some business on commission. Through my own office, of course."

"Why don't you go to Drake yourself?"

"I—I can't, Parris. It sounds pretty bad, but one time—he came to see me. He asked for a job."

Parris' voice was icy. "What did you say?"

"I had to turn him down. Hated to do it. But Drake was drinking a lot. He—he looked pretty seedy and all that. If he'd straightened out, I needed somebody to—"

"But you didn't give him a chance to 'straighten out,' as you put it?"

"I was just beginning, and I had to keep up appearances."

"And you haven't the ordinary decency to ask Drake for yourself?"

Know Meanings of Puzzling Dreams

Hidden Conflicts Disguised

She smiles as she sleeps—for Alice dreams she's a child again, listening to a sweet little tune on the piano. It stops suddenly, leaving Alice vaguely unhappy.

A mild dream, more pleasant than sad—but behind the most delightful dream may lurk an unhappy drama. Psychologists say the mental conflicts of real life continue during sleep. They are revealed in symbols and strange images—which you can learn to interpret.

Alice's unfinished dream melody is trying to tell her she made a mistake when she left a peaceful home life—broke off a young romance for a career for which she's not suited.

Heed the messages from your subconscious mind. You dream of being locked in? That means you are feeling helpless and discouraged in the face of some problem you won't acknowledge. Meet the situation squarely.

Or perhaps you dream you are abandoned in a lonely place. You worry too much, thinking you're not so popular as you should be.

Let a distinguished psychologist show you how to interpret your dreams. In our 32-page booklet he explains the language of dream images and symbols, how to analyze from them the secret conflicts which affect your happiness.

For your copy of "The Meaning of Dreams" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

COVER POSSIBILITIES

DURING BOTH the bidding and the play, there are usually some important facts you can not learn positively. It is up to you to deduce them, or figure out what is the most likely situation. Even then you are not sure. Consequently, other things being equal, the best tactics are those which protect you against the largest number of different possibilities. In bidding, this usually means selecting a bid which then gives your partner the largest number of options, dependent on which type of hand he has.

North: ♠ 8 7 6 ♥ Q J 9 7 4 ♦ Q 4 2 ♣ 8 6

West: ♠ Q 9 3 2 ♥ 10 5 ♦ 10 9 6 ♣ K J 7 5

East: ♠ 10 5 ♥ 6 3 2 ♦ K J 3 ♣ Q 9 4 3 2

South: ♠ A K J 4 ♥ A K 8 ♦ A 8 7 5 ♣ A 10

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

	West	North	East	South
1.	Pass	Pass	Pass	2 ♠
	Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT
2.	Pass	Pass	Pass	2 ♠
	Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 ♦
	Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

How much better the bidding was at table 2. There, after North had shown he held less than an honor trick or so, South by bidding diamonds gave him a chance to show whether he had any kind of five-card heart suit, or four little spades, without making poor North wonder whether the hand couldn't better be played at a No Trump game. At table 2, North was able to show his hearts at the three level and then let South choose the declaration. At table 1, South by bidding game in No Trump on his second turn, obliged North to guess whether to try the game in hearts or pass.

It turns out that the 3-No Trumps could not be beaten, as nine straight tricks followed the lead of the club 5. But, if there had been need to lose a finesse, or loss of even one trick of any kind, the defenders could have set the contract. At hearts, after winning the club lead, North gave himself three chances to assure the contract. His first, upon having drawn trumps, and playing the diamond A, was to lead toward the diamond Q. If the K lay right, the contract was in. It did not, so that diamond trick and a club were lost and a spade returned by East to the A. Second trial was loss of a diamond hoping the suit would break evenly, which it did, making possible a spade discard. If it had not broken, the spade finesse still could have been tried for a third chance. Just as it should have, the side in the heart game beat those pairs in No Trumps by a total of 20 points, the difference between the two kinds of games.

Oh, yes — where 2-No Trumps was the opening bid and a 3-Hearts response showed a five-card suit, the deal also got played in 4-Hearts.

Your Week-End Lesson

When one partner is a brilliantly able player of the cards and the other is only fair as a declarer, to what extent should the finer one try to become the declarer, in order to give his skill full chance to pay dividends? And where should he draw the line, preferring to let his less skillful associate play a hand?

Paint, Varnish Curtailment Loom This Year

OTTAWA, March 21—(CP).—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board, warning that curtailment of retail purchasing of paints and varnishes is inevitable, said in a statement today the future situation depends on problems of supply.

But the board termed "somewhat pessimistic" reports reaching here that retailers' purchases of paints and varnishes will be reduced to 50 per cent of 1941 supply.

"With a shortage of oils and inability to obtain certain materials it is bound to follow that certain paints will be restricted," said Mrs. Phyllis G. Turner, oils and fats administrator for the board.

"Pigments are restricted, and it is impossible to get certain colors, and we are restricting chinawood and oticica," she added, "but no definite estimate can be made as to the effect on paint and varnish output.

"It all depends on supply. The basic linseed oil is produced in Canada, but other oils are imported the supply is affected by lack of shipping space."

Allow Fewer Colors.

Two orders already announced by the Board provide for simplification of color schemes and restrictions on the size of paint and varnish containers.

A regulation issued earlier this months limits manufacturers' color cards to 14 shades of first quality and six shades of second quality floor enamel and porch paints. House paints of first quality are limited to 20 shades. All other enamels, stains and varnishes and glosses are limited to a definite number of shades or colors for each kind and quality.

The other order, issued March 1 by the administrator of fabricated steel and non-ferrous metals, M. Howard Foreman, restricts metal containers to the following specifications, with a few qualifications:

Drums or barrels of approximately 45 gallons net capacity; metal containers of five gallons, one gallon, one quart, one-half pint, one-quarter pint; metal containers of 25 and 100 pounds commonly used for packing lead or putty.

Stocks on hand, full or empty, may be sold until depleted.

Kills 7 Wolves With Big Stick

TWEED, March 21 — (ENS). — John Brennan of Lonsdale captured eight wolf pups in a den near his home. He killed seven of the pups and took the other alive. The pelts were turned into the County Treasurer and he has received the usual bounty.

The parent wolves appeared on the scene, but remained at some distance, and since Brennan did not have a gun, they managed to get away. He killed the pups with a large stick.

The bathing season at Stoco Lake opened rather early this season when George Clark who was out strolling with a younger companion, ventured to cross the ice on Stoco Lake. It appears that Mr. Clark, who is noted for his strolling, suggested that he and his companion venture across the ice for the last of the season. However, the younger companion was a bit timorous about stepping out on to the lake, but the Oldster ventured out, and landed into five feet of water. Mr. Clark escaped with a good ducking.

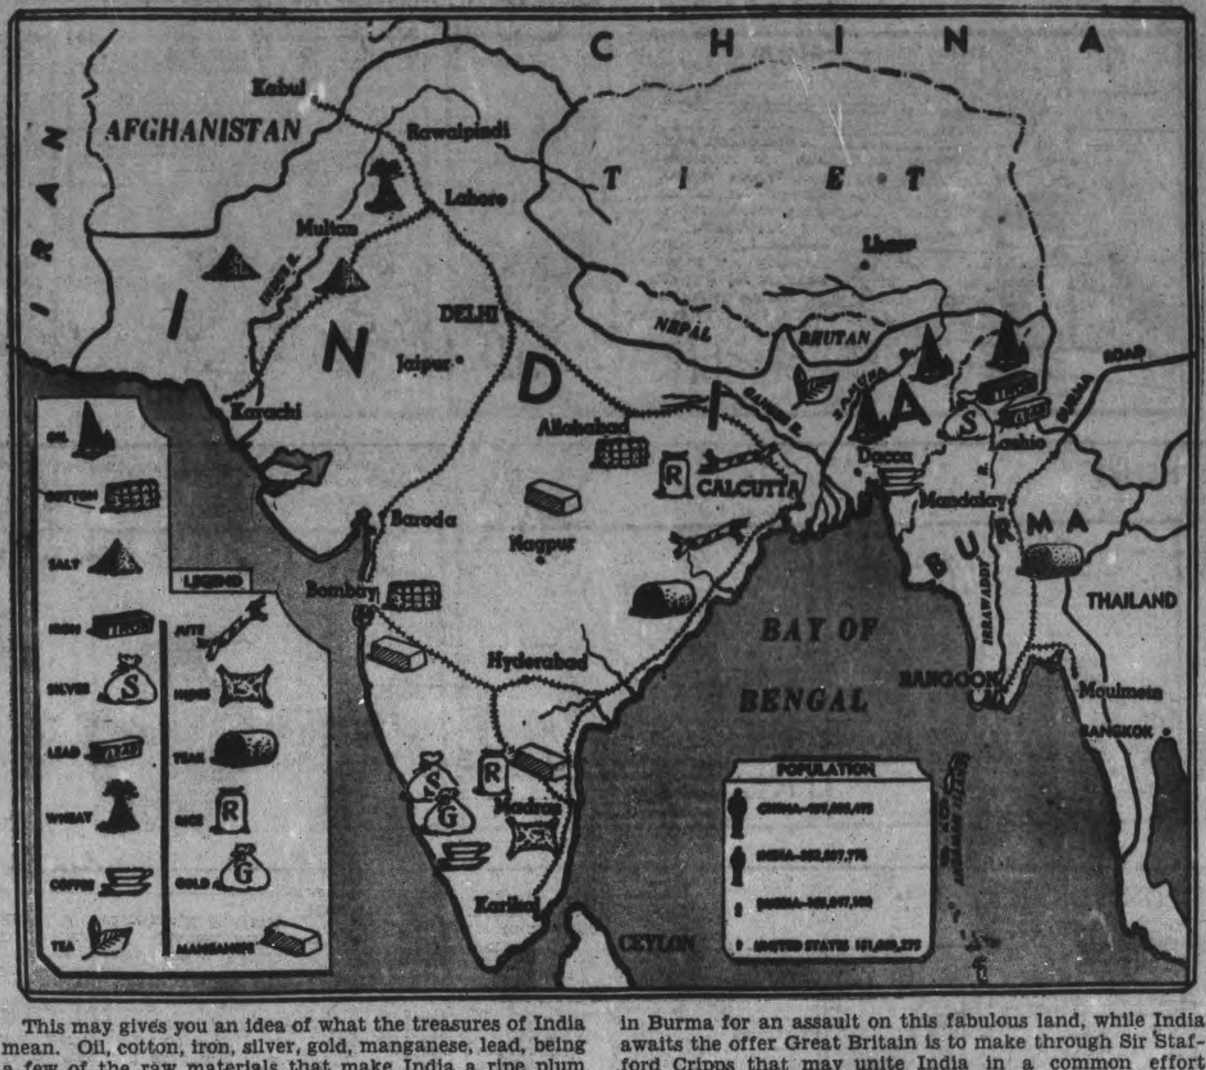
Enormous Wealth Of India Being Eyed By The Axis



This may gives you an idea of what the treasures of India mean. Oil, cotton, iron, silver, gold, manganese, lead, being a few of the raw materials that make India a ripe plum indeed for the Axis. Japan already is jockeying for position in Burma for an assault on this fabulous land, while India awaits the offer Great Britain is to make through Sir Stafford Cripps that may unite India in a common effort against any attack.

Alberta Delays Debt Actions

EDMONTON, March 21—(CP).—Legislation to suspend and delay court debt actions until validity of the Alberta Debt Adjustment Act is decided by the Privy Council and bill to change the set-up of the University of Alberta were the highlights of the Legislature session which prorogued last night.

A special bill suspends legal actions involving the Debt Adjustment Act until 60 days after the Privy Council's ruling and an amendment to the Judicature Act is calculated to delay debt actions until the judgment is given.

The act to amend and consolidate the University Act vests full control of the institution's affairs in the Board of Governors, reduces the Senate membership from 54 to 25, and includes other recommendations of a special committee which investigated the university's administration.

The House approved a budget calling for expenditures of $24,116,936 in the 1942-43 fiscal year and estimating an over-all surplus of $229,573 for the period. No new or increased taxation is planned.

An average increase of $5 monthly in pensions to Alberta old age and blind pensioners, to begin April 1, was authorized in an act approved by the members.

Prefers Hotel Quarters.

It was not known how long Gen. MacArthur and his family will remain in Melbourne, but he took quarters at a hotel, declining many offers to stay at private homes in the city.

The impending arrival of the General and his family had been threatened as a military secret until late last night wren a spokesman from the United States told the press that authorities had decided to lift the ban and give the public and officialdom alike an opportunity to greet MacArthur.

The spokesman said the authorities were yielding to the popular demand to see and greet the man whose closely-guarded arrival in Australia stirred the popular imagination and lifted morale more than any happening since the war in the Pacific started.

(The New York Times reported in a dispatch from Melbourne that the lid was lifted at the suggestion of Gen. MacArthur himself.)

The crowd began assembling an hour before the arrival of the General's express from Adelaide.

United States troops were drawn up as a guard of honor in an impressive greeting to their commander.

High American and Australian service chiefs were headed by the Deputy Supreme Commander, Lt.-Gen. George Brett, and Vice-Admiral Herbert Leary, commander of the combined naval forces in the Australian-New Zealand area.

On his schedule for to-day Gen. MacArthur had conferences with Army Minister Francis M. Forde, Air Minister Arthur S. Drakeford and Navy Minister J. M. Making, as well as consultations with United State Service Chiefs.

inin Front—the general name applied to the sector north-west of Moscow—had reoccupied three more villages and killed 250 Germans in a single day of fighting.

A guerilla detachment in the Leningrad area was said to have inflicted heavy losses on the invaders and destroyed seven German planes, 22 tanks, 106 trucks and wiped out approximately 900 Germans.

Leningrad's radio reported Red Army men killed 455 Germans and demolished 10 blockhouses in that northern zone.

Col.-Gen. Andre K. Eremenko, broadcasting from the central front, said his forces now were fighting for two large towns—which he identified as "A" and "V"—after a winter advance of 150 miles in which they recaptured six cities and 2,500 villages. (Vyazma and Rzhev, twin centres of Nazi resistance about 80 miles apart, are major objectives of the campaign west of Moscow.)

Japan and Russia, neutral toward each other under the Moscow-Tokyo pack of April, 1941, extended Japanese fishing rihgts in Soviet Far Eastern waters through 1942. The agreement was signed in Kuibyshev, renewing a fishing treaty which had expired on December 31.

(The argeement is "entirely a routine matter which is unlikely to have any great significance in the field of international relations," a British authority commented in London.)

Despite the calendar, bitterly-cold weather swept the fronts, and wintry clouds forced aircraft to fly low.

Soviet despatches declared soldiers were shooting down German aircraft with rifles and machine-guns. A ski unit was credited with knocking out two transports. A detachment on the north-western front was said to have shot down a 'transport carrying two tons of flour and oats to German troops.

tained without additional foreign trade and how goods could be distributed free of charge to the people. He referred to the proposal of the Social Credit party in Alberta to pay $25 a month to the people of that proposal of the Social Credit party in Alberta to pay $25 a month to the people of that province.

"One thing which annoyed me last night," he said, "was a childish tendency on the part of several members to make foolish remarks about $25 a month.

"I maintain that in this Parliament we have got to the point where we should cease to make remarks of that sort about any proposal such as a distribution of goods, because if goods can be given to Britain they can be given to Canadians, and once they are given to Canadians the principle is established that you can give your people goods."

Little To Victory Cause

Joseph H. Harris (Con., Toronto-Davenport) said he supported the bill fully and took to task Mr. Lacroix and other Quebec members who spoke against it. Their remarks contributed little to national unity or to the cause of victory, he said, and if anything gave ideas to enemy spokesmen such as "Lord Haw Haw," the Nazi propagandist.

All Canadians should stand together when on the battlefront overseas or in the defence of Canada. Mr. Harris said the St. Lawrence River would not always be frozen over and when the ice went out forces might slip in which would have to be met.

Conservative House Leader Hanson, who yesterday received a bouquet of flowers from his followers and congratulations from other party leaders on his 63rd birthday, said Mr. Ilsley was doing a good job as Minister of Finance, but urged the utmost care in seeing that money voted by parliament was properly spent.

Mr. Hanson said he believed non-war expenditures were still made on a party patronage basis, but agreed with Mr. Ilsley that the Munitions and Supply Department was not influenced by patronage considerations. However, he said he thought some oficials should set a better example to the public and instanced the use of cars by army officers.

"Nobody walks in the Army except the buck private," he said.

Mr. Ilsley said that when allegations of wasteful expenditure came to his attention he investigated them and often found the outlay was justified. But with such a large war effort as Canada was carrying on there were bound to be persons in responsible positions "whose performance will be far from perfection and whose operations are not acceptable to complete control and therefore there will be some money wasted."

"So far as I am concerned, and so far as my colleagues are concerned," he said, "we have repeatedly taken the position that we can not ask the people to put up huge sums of money for a war which is a war of all the people and have any favoritism as between parties in the expenditure of war money.

"So far as I know there has not been any."

Irish Supper Is Enjoyed

MILLBROOK, March 21—(ENS).—A generous patronage was accorded the annual Irish supper, held in the basement of Grace Presbyterian church on Tuesday, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. An appropriate atmosphere was provided by the fluted green runners down the length of the two long tables, punctuated at intervals with pots of shamrock, and green candles burning in silver holders.

Incoming guests were warmly welcomed by Mrs. A. R. Gibson, wife of the minister, and table conveners were Mrs J. R. Thompson and Miss Mina Gibson. Waiting on the guests were Mrs Melville Ball, Mrs. M. W. Kisman, Mrs. Earl Armstrong, Misses Geraldine Whyte, Jean Sayer, Dorothy Armstrong, and Ethel Belch. Other assistants were Mrs. Suttle Pritchard, president of the hostess organization, Mrs. W. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. L. Ingram, and Mrs. A. Coyte, the latter making the tea.

H. A. Kerr was cashier, with Milton Fallis relieving while the former was at his supper; receipts were over forty dollars, with expenses to be totalled as yet, and deducted.

Red Cross Donations.

Donations received at the Red Cross rooms when a fail number of workers were in attendance, included 2 quilts from Carmel unit; seven from Cavan, 2 from Fallis Line, and 4 from Fairmount. Also three baby's bonnets from Mrs. Fred Challice, and a bonnet, coat, and pair of bootees each from Miss A. Tinney, Mrs. A. Tinney, Mrs. T. A. Campbell, and Mrs. Milton Carr, the latter contributing also a baby's nightgown.

Quilt tops were received from Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. M.. Hawthorne The shipment for the day was 21 quilts from outside sources, one quilt (large) and two coat covers, from the Millbrook branch. A donation of $12.80 from the W.I. of Cavan, was gratefully acknowledged, being the result of sale of tickets on a pair of pillow cases, worked and given for this purpose by Mrs Lloyd Sutton.

Work was continued on the quota, and there is still need of help from those who take sewing home for completion on the girls' garments. Sheets are also waiting to be made.

Kiwanians Hear P. J. Rowe

Kiwanians were privileged Friday in hearing an address by P. J. Rowe, former M.P. for Athabasca riding in Alberta in the House of Commons, speaking on the subject of the Atlantic Charter and its declaration of war and peace aims. He talked on the position of India and how its position applies to the problem of restoration of sovereignty of countries now occupied. He said he feels Prime Minister Churchill will grant Dominion status to India after the war.

The problem arising out of this however is to keep England from becoming relatively poor because of the tremendous income it receives from India.

England, he pointed out, is dependent on India to a large extent. There is a British investment of four billion dollars tied up.

Concluding his address with reference to the new world to be brought about, Mr. Rowe declared we, are marching forward step by step into a system by which all differences will be settled around tables. In a democracy, we can do that. He said there must be hard work, study, and understanding to get into that future world. "That city of our dream can be built for we will all take a hand in it."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. J. J. Craig and a vote of thanks was moved by Leo Copp.

C.N. In '41 Shows Surplus Over 4 Million

OTTAWA, March 21—(CP)—The Canadian National Railways will turn over to the Government a cash surplus of $4,016,325 for 1941 operations, compared with a deficit of $16,965,044 in 1940, said the annual report of the system, tabled in the House of Commons yesterday by Transport Minister Cardin

Operating revenues for the year were $304,376,778, an increase of 23 per cent. over the $247,527,224 of the previous year. Operating expenses for 1941 were reported as $237,768,437, an increase of 17 per cent. over the 1940 expenses of $202,519,812.

War activity resulted in heavy increases in both freight and passenger business during the year, the report said. Ton-miles of freight carried was 27,199,875,750, against 21,532,181,524 the previous year, and 20 per cent. above the previous peak of 1928. Increase in freight revenue was, however, only five per cent. above 1928.

Passengers carried in 1941 numbered 17,681,343 compared with 11,204,280 the previous year. Passenger revenue at $31,893,884, was an increase of 47 per cent. but was not proportionate to the increase in volume because of the low fares for members of the armed forces and special rates for workmen's trains serving munition plants, the report said.

Bigger Year Ahead

"The outlook for 1942 is for a further substantial increase in traffic," the report continued. "The directors expect the railway will again earn a moderate surplus over and above its fixed charges."

Employees of the railway numbered 89,536 in 1941 compared with 82,831 in 1940.

"There is some shortage of labor, more particularly among the shop crafts," it was reported. "Shortages of material are bound to occur as the normal supplies are cut off or the available supplies are diverted to the fabrication of the munitions of war, but these difficulties should not be insurmountable."

Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships, Ltd., showed an operating profit of $1,727,357 in 1941, an increase of $522,322 over the previous year, said a report tabled by Mr. Cardin at the same time as the C.N.R. report.

The steamship company's report listed the Lady Somers as lost through enemy action during 1941 while serving as an auxiliary cruiser. The Lady Hawkins was sunk January 19 of this year.

Redemption of the perpetual debenture stock issued by the former Grand Trunk Railway, was continued during 1941, the railways report said. The total redeemed to December 31, 1941, under the vesting order of the United Kingdom treasury was £22,760,000. Stock redeemed in 1941 under an offer made to residents of Canada amounted to £139,890.

Total cost of the redemption was $105,843,357 and was financed through loans from the government. The debt of the railway was reduced by $5,602,774.

Expenditures on the Montreal terminal brought the total to $25,436,000 and the 1942 budget included $1,900,000 for completion of the project, the report said.

Estimated cost of the cost-of-living bonus in 1942 was $15,750,000 and of unemployment insurance, $955,000.

Closer Industry Army Tieup —McNaughton

NEW YORK, March 21— (CP).—A special despatch to the New York Times from Washington on Friday said that establishment of more direct liaison between the North American war industry and the front-line needs everywhere was urged by Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander of the Canadian Corps, when he saw President Roosevelt, War Production Controller Donald Nelson, and high officials of the U.S. Army and Navy Departments in Washington recently.

The despatch added that during his visit Gen. McNaughton discussed two main subjects, prospects for a counter-invasion of the European Continent, and a North American Council for development of design and production of war weapons. Gen. McNaughton, said the Times correspondent, "believes that between the mobilization of industry for war and the supply of war weapons to the front line there has been a hiatus in the democracies."

Industry is not merely involved in war but is the chief combatant, in Gen. McNaughton's view. The despacth said that instead, therefore, of being introduced to war at third-hand by ordnance and procurement officers industry itself should be war-conscious and should produce designs, not merely reproduce them.

Must Have Newer Weapons

The story said Gen. McNaughton had urged that the system of adapting British blueprints to American plants is unsatisfactory because British manufacturing technique stressed craftsmanship, hand-tooling and sturdy design which did not necessarily apply in North America with its emphasis on mass production, simplification and the employment of new metals and alloys.

Designs should be different in the two countries since their industrial methods differ, he was said to have urged.

To produce weapons "just as good" as the Germans, even in larger quantities, would not win the war. Mass production of radically new and better weapons than the enemy possess is what is needed, Gen. McNaughton was said to have told the U.S. chiefs.

No Hearse Is Available For Funeral

WARSAW, March 21.—(ENS).—Mrs. David Miller has received a letter from a cousin in England, telling of conditions there and speaking of an old friend, the letter reads in part:

"Our dear old friend, Mrs. S— (she was over 90) died in a small town in Hants County. Her only son was killed in the last World War and her two grandsons are serving in this. Because of strictures of transportation she could not be buried by relatives. No hearse was available and only elderly men were to be had for bearers. She had lived near the church and those men carried her coffin to the church in the evening and next morning to the graveyard. And so, in spite of all the wealth she possessed, she lies alone in a little country churchyard. Such is war."

Pupils Serve Tea.

A worthy cause was well patronized on March 17 when the teachers and pupils of Warsaw School served afternoon tea in aid of the Milk for Britain Fund. The Junior Room was made into a beautiful tea room gay with St. Patrick decorations and small tables, each covered with a snowy cloth and Irish favors and centred with a piggy bank for donations. The tea table was beautiful with linen cloth, shamrocks, green candles in silver holders and two silver services from which tea was poured by Mary Watts and Joyce Digweed. A display of work was shown in both rooms. A program of Irish songs jokes, and contest was carried out in the Senior Room to make a very pleasant affair.

Gas Preference Not For Dentists

OTTAWA, March 21 — (CP). — Dentists will not be given any preference under the gasoline rationing plan which becomes effective April 1 unless they are doing hospital work and can show proof of their need, G. R. Cottrelle, oil controller, said last night in a statement issued by the Munitions and Supply Department.

The controller also announced that automobile dealers will be allowed a category A-1 coupon book, providing for sixty units or 300 gallons under the present plans, for every dealer's motor vehicle license in his possession. This is the same book allotted to the owner of a small non-essential private car. No special allowence will be made for larger cars in the hands of dealers.

Dealers may also apply for a category "A" classification for any used car in his possession. Because the demonstration of new cars will be prohibited there will be no need for ration books to cover such cars until they are sold to an ultimate consumer.

It was also announced last night that no application fee will be changed to those entitled to ration books as members of the diplomatic corps.

Bolstered Jap Air Force Rakes Burma

Blast British Dromes In Effort To Gain Control Of The Sky

LONDON, March 23. — (CP).— The Japanese have rushed heavy airplane reinforcements to Burma in an effort to seize air superiority, informed sources said to-day as the Burma command reported a damaging attack on an R.A.F. base for the second successive day.

Authoritative circles in London declared the Japanese were far from attaining command of the air despite their reinforcements. It was assumed that the Allies also were reinforcing thier squadrons.

The Japanese were pictured as determined to end the superiority hitherto held by the R.A.F. and American volunteer group, and a military commentator interpreted this bid as preliminary to a major assault by ground forces.

Ground troops, he said, were quiet while Japanese planes attempted to knock the R.A.F. and American volunteer group out of the battle.

A British communique announced that the Japanese damaged R.A.F. property at a Central Burma airdrome for the second say in a row in "further serious raids."

A fleet of 60 bombers and 20 fighters raided the same field Sunday and the Allies reported some of their planes "were unaccounted for." Two Japanese raiders were shot down.

Saturday 60 Japanese bombers and 20 fighters attempted a mass raid. They were met by a combined force of American volunteer group and Royal Air Force pilots.

Japs Mass 10 Million For Crack At Siberia
Hint Air Force, Navy Hold Present Gains

CHUNGKING, China, March 23 (AP)—Japan is mustering 10,000,000 men from Japan, Formosa, Korea and occupied China in busy preparation for an attack on Siberia as soon as conditions are favorable, the Communist China Daily News asserted today.

The force would be in addition to the army already on the Siberian border in Manchoukuo and Inner Mongolia it added. The paper said the Japanese also were mustering 100,000 White Russians.

The publication said the International situation was becoming ideal for Japan, with Russia devoting her major strength against Germany, Britain gathering her force in Europe, the United States in the initial stage of the mobilization, and China not yet strong enough to launch a large scale counter-offensive.

Therefore, it said, it was natural for Japan to invade Australia, try to sever the sea lanes from America and at the same time attack India and move toward Aden to close the Red Sea. This would preclude an attack on Siberia, it was said, in which Japan would use the air force and the army while depending elsewhere principally on the air force and the navy.

Crete, Libya, Greece Shaken
R.A.F. Rampages Over Axis Bases—Down 17 Raiders At Malta

CAIRO, March 23—(AP).—British bombers again ranged widely over Libya, Crete and Greece during the week-end, an R.A.F. communique said today.

Three objectives in Crete—Candia, Retimo and Tympakton— and Hassani, in Greece, were bombed. Berka and Derna in Cirenaica also were raided.

Axis air forces, whicr lost 17 planes over Malta Saturday night, eased their activity over the Central Mediterranean Island.

An army communique amplifying yesterdays reports of raids by British mobile columns against Tmimi and Martuba, 85 miles west of Tobruk, said the airdrome at Tmimi as well as the field at Martuba was shelled by artillery.

Some guns were captured and losses inflicted on the Germans and Italians were heavier than those suffered by the British, South African and Free French raiders, the communique said.

"Enemy forces which included tanks attempted to interfere with our columns as they were returning to their base, but these attacks failed,' the official account elaborated.

Axis planes attacked the troops "but without much effect."

Heavy Action For Libya.

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN THE LIBYAN DESERT, March 23—(AP). —Though two of the hottest months of the year lie ahead, the British and Axis armies—facing each other across a 50-mile no-man's land are stepping up preparations for resumption of large-scale warfare.

When the first blow will fall and who will strike it is a matter of speculation.

From a military point of view, June, July and August are the best months in which to launch a campaign in this austere land, afflicted in other seasons with teeming rains, intense heat or choking sand storms.

It is known, however, the Italians have succeeded in bringing at least part of a fresh armored division across the Mediterranean and observers recall that German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel launched his big offensive last year in April— in weather which the Germans themselves admitted was "frightful."

MacArthur Deep In Drafting Plots

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Australia, March 23— —(AP). — Gen. Douglas MacArthur spent his first Monday on Australian soil to-day conferring with military leaders and whipping up plans for the defence of this continent and the ultimate counter-offensive.

He spent much of the day with Army Minister Francis Forde, Lt.-Gen. Vernon Sturdee, Chief of the Australian General Staff, and other senior officers.

"The subjects we discussed included the present position of the war and Australian war preparations, the extent of United States aid and the policy that will have to be adapted by the United Nations to achieve success against the Axis," Mr. Forde said.

"Gen. MacArthur is a master of strategy and under his direction an aggressive offensive attacking policy will be developed to the highest possible degree."

Swastika Sign Riles Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont., March 23 (CP) —Immediate action by Defence Minister Ralston on Windsor's appeal for a protective guard on traffic arteries was sought today by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume following appearance of a Nazi swastika on a downtown building.

The Mayor telegraphed the Defence Minister after police said they were investigating a report by Tom Lanspeary, sales manager of the Frank M. Dayus Company, that he found a large swastika pasted on the window of the Dayus Company office last night.

Mayor Reaume said the "apparent Nazi swastika" indicate "presence of bold subversive elements."

Explaining that guards were installed on the United States approaches to the bridge, tunnel, and ferry, the Mayor asked the Minister ten days ago to provide similar protection on the Canadian side. He has received no reply.

U.S. Car Industry Magic Showing

DETROIT, March 23.—(AP)—The industrial "magic" peculiar to Detroit as the centre of the United States automobile industry, has begun to function in major proportions in the war effort.

Tanks, aviation engines, guns small and large, aircraft sub-assemblies, shells for both army and navy, shell ejectors and scores of other items are being delivered in volume.

Months ahead of schedule has become a frequently-reiterated phrase throughout the one-time automobile industry now directing all its capacity toward war implement manufacture.

How has the industry done this— "months ahead of schedule?" Chiefly team-work and by anticipating, months in advance, the tasks that would be assigned to it. The form-

Hounding A Convoy

Rome, (From Italian Broadcasts), March 23 (AP)

THE Italian high command today reported a naval engagement off the North African coast, with Italian warships hammering at a big British convoy which, the high command claimed, has been crippled by Axis torpedo-carrying planes in a running fight.

The Italians claimed their naval formations closed with the convoy and its protecting warships as the British vessels were attempting to seek cover today in the Gulf of Sirte, west of Bengasi.

"They inflicted further heavy damages, details of which will be communicated later," said a bulletin, indicating that the engagement still was under way.

(In London, it was said authoritatively that no British ship was sunk although some suffered damage.)

Daring Britons Sink 2 Subs 8 Supply, One Troopship Under Fire Of Shore Guns

Blows At Italian Sea Lanes Struck Home Off Southern Coast, Strait Of Messina Italian Fire Prevents Rescue Efforts

LONDON, March 23—(CP).—British submarines, striking with torpedoes and shellfire within sight of watchers on the coasts of Italy and her Albanian vassal state, have sunk two Italian submarines, two supply ships, six schooners and a troop-jammed motor ship, the Admiralty announced today.

The blows to Italy's sea lanes were hammered home at the approaches to the Strait of Messina between the southern tip of Italy and Sicily, under machine-gun fire from Italy's southeast coast, and under artillery fire from Albanian coastal batteries in the lower Adriatic.

The Admiralty did not specify the elapsed time of these operations which demonstrated Britain's naval power under the very nose of Mussolini.

The Italian submarines, both sunk in southern Italian waters, were identified by the Admiralty as the new Ammiraglio Millo and one of the Argonauta class.

The Ammiraglio Millo, a 288-foot, 1,461-ton craft, was completed since the start of the war as one of the newest and largest ships of Il Duce's undersea fleet.

The Argonauta class of seven ships was built from 1931 to 1932. Submarines of this class are about 200 feet long and range from 599 to 778 tons.

Three times during the attacks, Italian shore fire or airplanes interfered with attempt by the British submarines to pick up survivors, the Admiralty said.

End Of Double Time In U.S.
Not Right In Wartime Nelson Notifies C.I.O.

WASHINGTON, March 23—(AP) —Donald M. Nelson told C.I.O. leaders today that Labor in the United States must suspend for the duration of the war the "privilege" of receiving double pay for Sunday and holiday work.

"We are moving as fast as we can toward seven-day, three-shift operation of our basic war industries," the War Production Director said. "The principle that a man should regularly have the seventh day off, and should receive overtime pay if an emergency forces him to work on that seventh day, is perfectly sound; but where that seventh day does not fall on a Sunday or holiday I do not think that work on Sundays and holidays, in war time, deserves extra pay."

The leaders of C.I.O. unions from throughout the country were called together by President Philip Murray to organize a campaign against adoption by Congress of pending legislation suspending the 40-hour work week and eliminating overtime payments for the duration.

Nelson said that as long as he had anything to do with the war production job he would not use the war situation "to whittle down Labor's rights and privileges."

"Only one thing interests me— production," he said, "I will not be a part of any attempt to use our need for increased production as a cloak to put something over on Labor."

Fifteen persons were injured in the fire, which caused damage estimated at $110,000.

Cripps Out To Fix India's Case Inside 2 Weeks

NEW DELHI, India, March 23— (AP).—Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's emissary, arrived here by plane today to begin the task of pacifying India's political bodies so a united fight may be made against the Axis.

He was reported to be the bearer of a Government plan to raise India to Dominion status after the war and grant her people considerable powers of self-government during the transitory stage.

"There is no time to lose and no time for long discussions," Sir Stafford told a press conference.

He said he intended to stay in the Indian capital only two weeks because there were many urgent and important matters to be cleaned up in Britain.

He added that he believed that in time, with energy and good will, the essentials of success could be achieved in solving the Indian problem.

Unofficial reports indicated that Sir tafford would spend the next two days conferring with the Viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow; Army Commander Sir Archibald Wavell, and several provincial governors.

With first-hand information thus gained from officials on the ground, he would then go into a series of meetings with the leaders of India's varied political and religious groups upon whose co-operation the success of his mission depends.

These leaders had been invited to be available in New Delhi from March 25 on.

An indication that Sir Stafford was eager to go immediately to the root of the problem was seen in the fact that those he had chosen to meet first represent the most contradictory views—notable the Congress Party, the Moslem League and the Hindu Mahasabha Group as well as the Indian Princes.

Coincident with arrival of the Lord Privy Seal, member of the War Cabinet, were these developments:

Surprise Raid Gets 23 At Lae Alone

19 Nipponese Bombers Hit Pt. Moresby Hardest Blow Of War

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

MELBOURNE, March 23 (AP) — The Japanese, pounded in their invasion bases by American and Australian fliers over the week-end, struck back themselves today with the heaviest raid so far on Port Moresby, hub of Australia's defences of New Guinea, as the aerial battle for the Continent reached a new peak of fury.

The smashing of 44 enemy planes 23 of them at Lae, in three days of aerial onslaught, while Japanese fliers were held off except for minor thrusts, won Prime Minister Curtin's praise today as "one of the most successful operations of the air war in the Pacific."

Nineteen Japanese bombers, with an escort of three fighter planes, first bombed Port Moresby from a high altitude, then swooped in and machine-gunned its streets in a roof-scraping second wave.

Adding to the toll of Japanese air strength, a supplemental Australian communique said one and possibly two Japanese planes were destroyed in their attack today on Port Moresby, and a third was reported shot down by an Australian plane returning from the raid on Portuguese Timor.

2nd Rap at Wyndham

The Japanese were said also to have attacked Wyndham for 10 minutes, its second raid of the war, on Australia's northwest mainland coast.

United Nations bomber squadrons, attacking almost without letup, bombed Dili, Japanese-held capital of Netherlands Timor, today in a follow-up of a week-end assault there.

The report said results were not observed, but that in a scouting mission, presumably to check the bombers' success, the rear gunner of a Royal Australian Air Force plane shot down an enemy interceptor which crashed flaming in the bush.

Lae, one of the enemy's chief bases on New Guinea, felt the greatest weight of steel and explosives from Australian and United States bombers yesterday when, a communique said, probably 23 Japanese planes were wrecked.

MacArthur Puts Victory in East up to U.S.
General's Offensive Means Flood Of Supplies From America – And Fast

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

A man needs a forceful character and a square chin to enable him to withstand being stampeded into precipitate action by a hero-worshipping public — especially when that public is pressing for initiative against the enemy—and General MacArthur again is showing great captaincy in refusing to be rushed into launching a premature offensive against the Japanese.

Many a disaster has resulted from the undertaking of a military operation for political or sentimental reasons without sufficient strength. Britan's unhappy adventure in Greece last year was one of them, though in that case Britain acted as a matter of honor in keeping her bond and there can be nothing but applause for that.

Ac MacArthur said ineMolbuorne in his blunt way modern war requires careful preparation, and "my success or failure will depend primarily upon the resources which our respective governments (American and Australian) place at my disposal." This puts it squarely up to the United States to produce and transport those resources, and men as well, for when all's said and done Australia is depending mainly on the United States.

That the commander in chief believes he will get what he wants is indicated to-day in his inspiring declaration that he has "absolute confidence in complete victory." It's good to see him use these superlatives, for he is known as a man who speaks what he thinks.

That's the sort of confidence he needs, for it's going to take the faith that moves mountains to turn Australia into a powerful military base in view of the great distance from his main source of supplies. The problem of transportation is a complicated one because of the shortage of shipping.

It's all very well to shout "offensive" at MacArthur, but airplanes and tanks in America aren't any good to him in Australia, and unfortunately there is no magic carpet on which to rtansport them Even oil and gasoline have to go over the long and dangerous routes from the Western Hemisphere and the Middle East since the Japs took over the Idonesian oil fields.

So it's going to take considerable time for MacArthur to get set for a major drive. However, while his business at the moment is to stand the Nippopese off, that word "defence" has been knocked out of the lexicon and "initiative' has been substituted. His business also is to weaken the enemy as much as possible by counter-strokes, and this is being done vigorously, as demonstrated in yesterday's great job by the Allied air fleet which put 23 Japanese warplanes out of action on New Guinea, with a loss of only two attacking planes.

Other Allied air attacks at the week-end brought the grand total of Jap planes knocked out to probably 44. That is hitting the enemy pet on which to transport them kado's air fleet isn't large, and the Japanese production is limited.

Reporting Tales Of Horrors In Norway Stirs Nazis

STOCKHOLM, March 23—(AP).— Sweden was warned by some of its leaders yesterday to be on guard against Germany.

A warning that "what is happening in Norway can very well happen here" was given the Swedish parliament by R. J. Saudler, former Minister, in protesting Saturday against confiscation of Swedish newspapers which published reports of tortures suffered in Norwegian concentration camps.

Minister of Justice Westman told parliament that "a foreign power" had made representations about the publication, and he declared that "unhindered publication of horror reports" would cause foreign complications.

12,000 GERMANS ARE KILLED NEAR KALININ IN PAST TEN DAYS

Big Battle Rages At Bryansk New Airacobra Squadrons Ready For Spring Assault

Germans Reported Calling African Planes To Aid Supplying Trapped 16th Army 5 Axis Divisions Broken In Southern Push

MOSCOW, March 23—(AP).—The slaughter of 12,000 German officers and soldiers on the Kalinin sector alone was reported today by the Russians as the war on the entire front rushed into a faster tempo and both the Russians and Germans sought advantage for crucial spring engagments.

A special Soviet announcement said the 12,000 Germans were killed between March 11 and 21 and detailed the capture or destruction of a vast quantity of planes, guns and other war material in the area northwest of Moscow.

The Russian army newspaper Red Star said that United States-built Airacobra fighter planes would be used in spring combats with the Germans. These planes have been assembled and tested at a training centre and Red Star said a few days ago an air regiment arrived at the centre to be equipped with the machines.

Russian reports indicated there had been no substantial change in several days on the front, with the principal actions taking place south of Leningrad, in the Staraya Russa and Kalinin sectors, along the central front, where the Russians are driving against Smolensk, on the southwestern front in the Bryansk area and on the Crimean Peninsula.

Listing the gains on the Kalinin front in the 10-day bitter struggle, the Russians said 66 guns of various calibres, five tanks, 54 trench mortars and a quantity of shells and hand grenades were captured, while 23 planes, 240 trucks, 17 guns and about 200 wagons with supplies and two ammunition dumps were destroyed.

Many Prisoners

Official reports also said several populated places on the Kalinin front had been recaptured and many prisoners taken.

Indications that a tremendous fight was in progress southwest of Moscow were seen in a Red Star dispatch datelined "From The Bryansk Front," saying that "the communiques are brief but in the middle of a battle nobody talks. They fight."

Bryans kis 210 miles from Moscow.

Another dispatch said a major German attack on the southwestern front, in which four German divisions and one Rumanian division participated, had been broken up and the Red army was pursuing the enemy.

The foe was said to have lost 2,250 men killed in that engagement.

The situation of the trapped German 16th Army in Staraya Russa remained serious. It was said the fighting was growing in violence and that the Nazi forces were "melting away" under the Russian pressure.

Calling Planes From Africa

The Russians quoted a captured German flying officer as saying the Germans were transferring planes from Africa and from the Central front to carry supplies to the encircled Germans.

Front-line dispatches said the Germans were moving up reserves from Nazi-occupied areas as far away as the Atlantic coast of France in preparation for the Spring push. Red Star said, however, the Russians "have not slept" and that the German successes of last July "will not be repeated."

The Soviet mid-day communique said no important changes took place at the front, but gave instances of local Russian gains.

It said three populated places on the Western Front (West of Moscow) were occupied after stubborn fighting in which the Germans lost heavily.

On another sector, two German companies were said to have been annihilated; more than 100 Germans were reported killed in the fighting for one populated place on the Kalinin front; and 200 men and officers were reported wiped out in an engagement at an important populated place on the Northwestern front.

In another Northwestern sector, 300 Germans were reported wiped out.

It is known that the R.A.F. and A.V.G. both have been reinforced since the battle for Burma has flared into a serious threat to India. Indian air force planes also are supporting the Allies in the skies.

The British communique said an air attack on the Japanese-held air base at Mingaladon, just north of Rangoon, yesterday resulted in the destruction of two enemy fighters and three others probably destroyed.

The communique said the Irrawaddy front in Burma remained quiet but "a motor patrol encountered a Japanese officer with some men in a private car at Letpaddan (on the Rangoon-Prome railway) and accounted for them."

A communique from the Chinese forces in Burma said most of their front was quiet "with the troops continuing preparations to welcome the Japanese with true Chinese hospitality."

The only action reported was south of Toungoo, along the Sittang River, where the Japanese were using light artillery against Chinese positions. The Chinese said they suffered no casualties.

VANCOUVER, March 23 (CP) — The body of J. S. Woodsworth, National leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, will be cremated here Tuesday and the ashes scattered at sea off this Pacific coast where he once worked as a longshoreman.

Mr. Woodsworth died in hospital here Saturday night at the age of 68, ending a colorful career as co-founder of a new political movement in the C.C.F. His death followed two years of intermittent illness.

Mrs. Angus MacInnes (C.C.F., M.L.A. for Vancouver-Burrard and a daughter of Mr. Woodsworth, said he expressed the wish that upon his death his ashes should be scattered to the winds in the Gulf of Georgia.

That wish, she said, will be carried out following a private funeral service attended only by members of the family here Tuesday. Later, possibly next Sunday, a memorial service will be held here and probably in other parts of Canada, although plans for this are not yet complete. The C.C.F. party is expected to sponsor the memorial service.

Born in Etobicoke, Ont., the son of a Methodist minister, Mr. Woodsworth followed his father into the ministry, but soon became interested in the social problems of Canada. After mission work in New Ontario, 300 Ships In Ferry Line.

(Maj. Clement Attlee, Dominions secretary, said yesterday in Liverpool that 300 ships had been in continuous service the last year carrying more than 1,000,000 tons of material and 30,000 motor vehicles from Britain to the Imperial armies in the Eastern Mediterranean.)

This confidence was demonstrated by a spectacular foray in which mobile columns, using both British and American tanks, battered Axis positions in the Tmimi-Martuba sector Friday and Saturday, killing an undisclosed number of enemy troops and returning to their lines near Ain El Gazala with 150 prisoners.

The raid, which represented a thrust of 30 to 40 miles through mine-infested territory, wast the most important since British forces withdrew to Ain El Gazala six weeks ago.

Planes, supported the drive, bombing and strafing airdromes which also were shelled from the ground.

The present lines from which the British forces are operating runs from Ain El Gazala, 40 miles west of Tobruk on the coast to Bir Hacheim, some 50 miles inland.

The Lacroix Call

Quebec, March 23 (CP)

WILFRED LACROIX, Liberal member of parliament for Quebec-Montmorency, last night urging a public meeting to vote "no" in the forthcoming plebiscite, said that "the plebiscite means that we, the minority, have been thrown with our feet and hands tied, into the hands of the majority."

Mr. Lacroix, principal speaker at the meeting, organized by the St. Gregoire section of the St. Jean Baptiste Society and La Ligue Pour La Defense Du Canada, said "I ask you in the name of the dearest interests of the nation to answer 'No' to this plebiscite, which I consider inopportune, imbecilic and ridiculous."

100 Donations Of Blood Sought Weekly

Local Red Cross officials have been notified that the Blood Donor Service is being extended to send from Peterborough donors 100 blood donations per week to the Overseas Blood Bank, and therefore in about six weeks all local men who have received their official Blood Donor Service Enrolment Card may be called on to donate their blood.

It is reliably reported that there has been a splendid response to the call for blood donors, and many more men are expected to volunteer for this worthy cause in the next few weeks. Several of the larger cities have been supplying blood for the Overseas Blood Bank for some time, and this blood is being preserved in various parts of Britain for emergencies, and is being used as the need arises.

Any person who is willing to donate blood to this Blood Bank and who has not been typed, is asked to telephone Mrs. C. J. Ray, secretary of the Blood Donor Service Committee at 8633, and all information on the subject will be given.

Gandhi Again

BOMBAY, March 23 — (CP).—M. K. Gandhi appealed to the government today not to adopt a "scorched-earth" policy in defending India because, he said, the mass of the people is opposed.

Writing in his newspaper, Harijan, the Indian leader declared the government could considerably ease the present situation and allay anxiety about the future if it announced unequivocably that such a policy never would be employed.

NewPlanComing To Hold Prices

OTTAWA, March 23 (CP)—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board gave notice today that action is contemplated by the Board to meet what it termed "serious difficulties" in protecting the price ceiling on meat and a wide range of groceries.

Steps to meet the situation are expected "within a few days" the Board said in a statement.

The contracting differential between retail costs and retail prices was cited by the Board as the chief difficulty to be overcome.

"For some time," said the statement, "retailers have been faced with replacement costs considerably higher than they can be reasonably expected to bear, having regard to the maximum retail ceiling prices they must bear.

"The basic difficulty is that manufacturers' and processors' prices rose rapidly last summer and autumn, while in many cases retailers' prices did not rise to the same extent because they reflected lower costs that prevailed earlier in the year.

"This 'squeeze' is too large to be borne by the trade in the food and groceries field, where operating margins are narrow and the scope for economies not great."

Suggestions had been made to the board that retail price increases be granted or that the ceiling on meat and grocery products be abolished, but these had been "decisively rejected" because food was the most important element in the cost of living.

"The factors which jeopardize the retail prices ceiling for these products will be overcome by other means which, it is indicated, will be announced shortly," said the board.

SAYS PUNISH PARENTS

Car Demolished; Strikes Pile Of Logs

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23. — (ENS). — An old model car was completed wrecked at ten o'clock on Sunday night when it collided with a pile of big logs near McKelvie's Mill on Sebastopol Street.

According to Chief Constable Hardy, who investigated the accident the car was being driven by James L. Duff of Hastings, and passengers were the owner of the car, Ford Beavis of Hastings, and Miss Lillian Fields. Miss Fields was thrown clear in the accident, and suffered a severe arm injury. The two men escaped without injuries.

The car was being driven east on Sebastopol Street, and apparently went out of control on a curve, and went off the road missing a hydro pole by a scant ten inches, and hit the pile of logs.

Bus Hits Home Five Are Injured

MONTREAL, March 23 — (CP). —Five persons suffered minor injuries late last night when a Provincial Transport Company autobus smashed through a brick wall into the front room of a home in Montreal's north-end after a collision with an automobile.

Injured were Maurice Tetrault, 32, the driver of the automobile, and his two passengers, Jean Paul Brossard, 24, and Andre Brasseur, 17; 14-year-old Albert Pageau, a member of the family occupying the house into which the bus crashed; and Alcide Boulanger, 33 who was cut slightly while engaged in rescue work. All five required hospital treatment.

Seven children were sleeping in the room into which the bus crashed. The nose of the bus, which smashed six feet into the room, ended up close to a bed occupied by young Pageau. The boy had to be dug out from under a pile of rubble.

Police said the accident occurred when the driver of the bus, J. Isabelle, swerved in an atempt to avert a collision with the automobile. The bus, carrying about 20 passengers, was bound for St. Jerome, Que., from Montreal.

It said Japanese throughout Brazil had been organized into military divisions under officers, some of them generals, "sent here on a special mission as chiefs of the Japanese army in Brazil."

Bulgar Ruler Boris Off To Berlin

Reported In Hookup With Hungary To Hold Rumania Land

BERNE, Switzerland, March 23—(AP).—Intense diplomatic activity was developing in the Balkans today as a newly-revived territorial dispute between Rumania and Hungary clashed with Germany's attempts to marshal manpower for Spring military operations.

Reports from Bucharest that Hungary and Bulgaria had secretly agreed to support each other in retaining slices of Rumania which they were accorded by the Axis in 1940 were accompanied by news that King Boris of Bulgaria was en route to Germany on a state visit.

The monarch left Sofia at about the same time Franz Von Papen, German Ambassador to Turkey and ace of the Nazi diplomatic corps, reached the Bulgarian capital on his way home to confer with Hitler.

Von Papen was greeted by high Bulgarian officials, including the Bulgarian minister to Turkey, who has returned to Sofia on an undisclosed mission.

Homes Needed For Workers

Thirty more employees coming today.—but where are we going to put them?

That was the perplexing problem weighing on the personnel department of the Canadian General Electric Company.

And so their question is turned out toward the people of Peterborough,—has anybody any rooms, apartments and so on for the accommodation of these new arrivals who are here and have to be provided for?

Every available house in the war-time communities has been taken. Many citizens who never before though of "taking in roomers and boarders" have done so following each urgent appeal from C.G.E. Are there any other who will make the same decision and telephone the company.

And the end of addition employment is still a long way off. Hundreds more men and women will be added to the working staff during the next few months, and continuously toward the end of the year.

"Peterborough seems to have reached the saturation point of accommodation," H. A. Cranfield said this afternoon from the C.G.E. plant. "Possibly another appeal to the public would get some results, and we certainly will be glad to hear from people who have rooms they are willing to let."

Rev. T. S. Gault Quits Peace Pulpit

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23 — (ENS).—Rev. T. S. Gault, pastor of Christ Church, delivered his farewell sermon to surprised members of his congregation here on Sunday. He has for several months had his application on file with the Canadian Army Headquarters, and on Friday he received notice that he was to report in Toronto on March 26. At first it was presumed that he might be granted an extension so that he could conduct Easter services in this parish, but when it was learned that this was not possible, Rev. Gault quickly got in touch with the Bishop, who arranged to have the pulpit filled temporarily, and with his wardens, H. Beatty and T. Gilibrand, who will deal with the long range aspecsts of his removal.

Rev. Gault came to Campbellford three years ago last November from St. George's Church in Peterborough and in that time has won a place high in the esteem both of his congregation and of fellow-townsmen. Perhaps the greatest tribute to his ability is found in the report of the last vestry meeting held in January when church officials indicated the financial position of the church was in the soundest position it had been in for more than fifteen years. However, it was not in the work of the church alone that he had concentrated his efforts, for in adding to its stature he had also contributed to the Sunday School and by concentrated effort he succeeded in reorganizing it completely until attendance was nearly doubled. Rev. Gault was instrumental in organizing Christ Church Men's Club which though it began less than two months ago promises to be one of the church's leading groups while his other activitier included work with the Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs which he regards as a most important field. He acted as Cub leader for two years until the Pack was absorbed into the Scout Troop and then he continued as Chaplain. At the present time he is president of the Campbellford and District Ministerial Association.

As a part of the morning service Rev. Gault dedicated a Canadian Ensign presented to the church in memory of William and Maria Archer by members of their family. For his text he turned to the New Testament on Sunday morning and chose from Colassians 3 (3), "For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God." He observed to the congregation that they should learn something of the joy of service and declared that "to serve man you must first learn to serve God."

A resourceful Chinese refugee, toting his family and all his wordly goods in baskets slung over his shoulders, joins the great stream of refugees pouring into China from Burma to escape the Japanese invasion. According to United China relief more than one million refugees have fled into China from Malaya, Burma, Thailand and other Japanese-occupied areas during the past two months adding to China's pressing refugee and relief burden created by five years of war.

Cheesemaker Gets Increase In Wage

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23.—(ENS)—Following the trend forecast last fall and evidenced at nearly every factory meeting in this district the patrons of Trent Valley Cheese and Butter Company met on Saturday and upped the costs of production for the current year by approximately $260.00. This is the amount they raised the wages of their cheesemaker Grant Anderson by re-hiring him at 22 instead of 20 mills per pound of cheese and 7 instead of 5 cents per pound for whey butter. But this boost will be no plum for the cheesemaker. According to him its going to take every cents to pay added production costs in Northumberland County's largest factory whose summer production schedule will begin on April 1. The plant has been operating all winter and is one of two in the country to do so but with many patrons returning to the factory in April the meeting was called to deal also with the problems of summer delivery schedule and prices. It was this added cost of operating milk routes which was mainly responsible for the revised salary schedule for Mr. Anderson who supplies everything.

Salvage Drive Cavan, Millbrook

MILLBROOK, March 23 (ENS)—A meeting representative of Cavan and Millbrook was held in the waiting room on Thursday, at 8 p.m., to discuss the collection of salvage from the municipalities mentioned. The chair was taken by Homed Oullette, who is carrying on as salvage convener, taking the place of ex-Warden Percy Stinson during the latter's serious illness.

Rev. A. L. Sisco addressed the gathering, explaining the object in calling the meeting, and the importance of looking after the matter of salvage in war time. Mr. Oullette, after pointing out that weather and road conditions had delayed the plans of the committee, asked that discussion take place and definite arrangements be made.

Reeve W. E. Ball and Councillor H. D. Bigelow were appointed to look after collection, and place of storage for Millbrook. The suggestion that trustees in the several school sections of the township be responsible for similar action throughout Cavan will likely be followed, but as all of those mentioned were not present it was felt they should be personally contacted before being listed.

The material for salvage was listed as follows: 1—Metals of all kinds, excepting tin cans; 2—Rubber of any description; 3—Rags, but not any greasy cloths; 4—Bones and fats; 5—All waste paper except cellophane or waxed; 6—Bottles, clear in one box, and colored in another; 7—Cork, and leather.

Householders are asked to keep the various articles in tidy, separate bundles or boxes, putting them in convenient shape for collection by a truck which will call later, taking the salvage to the C.N.R. station for shipment.

Those present included: Reeve Garnet Shield; Deputy-Reeve W. W. Brown; Rev. A. L. Sisco, and Rev. Dr. A. R. Gibson; Reeve W. E. Ball, Councillor J. R. Eakins, Homer Oullette, ex-Warden George Hootan; T. A. Campbell; D. Olan; R. A. Ford; Councillor H. D. Bigelow; M. W. Ball; Councillor H. A. Fallis, Fred McIndoo, Percy Seymour; H. Campbell; J. Whittington; Postmaster T. H. Collins.

Peterborough Man Arrested In Cobourg

COBOURG, March 23—(ENS).—Fred Turner of 72 Park Street, Peterborough, was arrested Saturday night on a charge of intoxication while in charge of a car, and was locked up. Constable E. Houghton stated that he noticed Turner driving in an erratic manner on the main street and placed him under arrest. Turner declared that he had only one glass of draught beer. Police have heard often the tale of the one glass of draught beer whose effect has potency heard about but never experienced, and turned him over for medical examination.

Cobourg Is Seeking New War Industry

COBOURG, March 23—(ENS). — Plans for the industrial betterment of Cobourg were aired at a meeting of representative citizens of Cobourg during the week-end. Victor Climo was chairman. Considerable discussion centred on the fact that Cobourg, which contributed one of the largest quotas of men in the Dominion per population to the military service, was without a war industry. After the subject of Cobourg's lack of new industries had been discussed the meeting adjourned to a date to be set later.

Chas. Quinn New Federation Head

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23. — A series of four meetings to be held in various parts of the county this spring was discussed by Northumberland branch of the Federation of Agriculture at a directors' meeting held in Warkworth on Friday afternoon. Problems affecting the farmer will be aired if they succeed in crystalizing their plans voiced during the meeting. Named as speakers were Agnes Macphail, ex-M.P. for Grey county and James Gifford, a director of the Federation of Agriculture, Reeve of Ennismore and ex-Warden of Peterborough county. The gathering was a preliminary to the annual meeting to be held within the next month and one of the chief items of business concerned the presidential office which was made vacant by the death of H. J. Nelson. They placed their former 1st vice-president, Charles Quinn, of Castleton, at the head of the branch and moved Wm. Goodfellow of Codrington up from 2nd to 1st vice. The directors approved the continuance of collecting fees through the local associations.

Women Seeking Funds For Seymour Institute

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 23 (ENS)—Seymour West Branch of the Women's Institute hope to raise upwards of $100, and the money will go into the Institute's war chest which is running low as a result of the extensive work done by the branch. Since the first of the year they have donated fifty-three quilts to the Red Cross as well as gowns, sleepers, bloomers, dresses and many other article, while the I.O.D.E. and Salvation Army have likewise benefitted from the generosity of the branch whose busy members have already used up more than 250 yards of flannelette for quilt linings besides making a cash donation of $25.00 to the Red Cross since December. The entertainment they are planning will take the form of a dance, combined with an auction sale, and will be held in the Parish Hall here on March 31st. Members themselves will contribute most of the articles to be auctioned by the able Ward Archer, who will be in charge of that part of the program and it is expected the items will be chiefly those produced on the farm, including home baking and sewing. Mrs. Ray McCulloch and Mrs. Art Russell were named to act on a committee with the president, Mrs. Art Rutherford, and they have been empowered to complete all arrangements. According to a spokesman for the group there will be both round and square dancing and the admission price including refreshments will be twenty-five cents.

Roll call for the meeting held at Mrs. Thomas Dunham's, reminded members that spring was just around the corner. It was "House Cleaning" and in responding to the roll call members gave each other some good tips. Another feature which provided the 17th of March flavor came with what were termed 'Minute Speeches.' These were written on pieces of paper and handed out to members who read some Irish jokes from them. Mrs. Reg. McCulloch and Mrs. Gordon McCulloch both gave reading during the afternoon and Mrs. Raymond Free gave a talk under the heading "Thoughts by the Way." She touched both on the War and the closer to home problem of house cleaning, which she felt should be made secondary this year. In her opinion the members should not let this work hamper their war program whatever it might be. Mrs. Free spoke of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland as an outstanding example of feminine courage and added that she had never let the thought that she might permanently lose her throne disturb her demeanor. "The worse the war gets the higher her spirits seem to rise, said the speaker. Next months meeting will be at Mrs. Art Rutherford's, when the annual election of officers will take place.

$61 From Play

What will probably be characterized as one of their principal undertakings of the year was sponsored by the ladies of Zion W.A. on Friday evening at Petherick's Orange Hall. Highlight was the 3-act play "That Watkins Girl," which was presented by a cast of young people from Ivanhoe for the 25th time and following this came refreshments—pie, sandwiches and Coffee. The hall was filled nearly to capacity and the audience gave the play an enthusiastic reception. The proceeds amounted to $61.00, part of which will go for general church work and the remainder will be used for materials that will find their way into quilts and other war supplies. During the evening Rev. . R. Bick addressed the gathering expressing his appreciation to all who had given their generous support to the occasion, and he also complimented the cast of the play for their splendid performance.

Polmont L.O.L. Raises $101 For Fund

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23. — A year ago members of L.O.L. No. 1369, Polmont, gave a dance in their lodge on highway 30 west of here and they raised $30.00 for the British War Victims' Fund. On Friday night last they repeated the dance and also held an auction sale and a draw on a quilt in connection with the entertainment. This boosted the proceeds to $101.00 which is to be turned over to the British War Victims' Fund. To say the hall was crowded would be an under-statement, it was so filled that less than forty square feet remained for dancing and cars lined both sides of the highway for a distance of a quarter of a mile. The type of gathering was perhaps best shown by the result of the auction sale which yielded $28.85. Articles sold brought from five to twenty times their actual value with three bidders enjoying cokes they paid $1.25 a bottle for. Auctioneer Ward Archer got over $6.00 for a half-dozen bottles. The draw on the motor rug was won by Clarence Glenn of Trent River and the proceeds on this amounted to $51.75. Harry Fife and his orchestra from Norwood, provided the music for dancing.

Silver Service Anniversary Gifts

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23 — (FNS).—Mr. and Mr. T. William Bennett of Seymour East were entertained at a surprise party given in their honor by relatives on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary, Saturday. The celebrants both of whim are natives of the township, were married at the home of the bride's parents 25 years ago by Rev. C. C. Salisbury, then pastor of Burnbrae Church, and both the bridesmaid, Mrs. George Nelson, and the best man of the wedding, Reginald Craighead, were present to extend congratulations to the happy couple. It was the former bridesmaid who gave the address accompanying the presentation of a silver tea service to Mr. and Mrs. Bennett. She asked them to accept the gifts as tokens of esteem and wished them many more years of happy married life. Mr. George Bennett, 82-year-old father of the groom, who two years ago celebrated his golden wedding anniversary, made the presentation. In addition to this numerous gifts, including an all-wool blanket, presented by two nephews, Floyd and Roy Bennett, on behalf of relatives, were presented. To Mr. George Bennett the occasion was especially significant since it marked a family in which there has been no break in fifty-two years. As a part of the refreshments there was a lovely wedding cake complete with silver decorations. Among the other guests was the bride's mother, Mrs. William Craighead of Campbellford, William, Charles, Fred, John and Alfred Bennett, all of Seymour; Mrs. George Nelson, Seymour; Mrs. Arthur Wartman and Mrs. Lon Perry, Warkworth; Miss Elsie Bennett and Mrs. Morely Petherick of Campbellford.

An Indian Summer

Reports are heard from many sources that the craft of wagon and carriage building is having a boom; one firm of wagon builders says that it is doing its best spring business in twenty-five years. Gasoline restrictions, severe as they may appear to be now, will be much more stringent in the course of a few months and a limited return to horse-drawn vans for delivery is probable.

Only extreme optimists expect to see carriages on the streets, however. How many men under fifty today can drive a horse? And we really mean drive, not merely a nervous clinging to the lines. Driving was an art, and very few people have the opportunity or the inclination to learn it now. The control of a docile animal attached to a farm wagon or a delivery van is a very different matter from the delicate affinity which the experienced carriage driver established with his horse.

And where would the carriages come from? Buggies are still to be had, but the modern buggy is not to be mentioned in the same breath with the elegant equipages of forty years ago; it was possible to give an effect of lightness and grace in carriage design which, because of the greater speed and the necessity for concealing a heavy motor, has never been equalled, even by the best motor car bodies.

We spoke in a preceding paragraph of optimists anticipating the return of carriages, and we chose the word advisedly, for those who speak of the matter appear to regard the return of the carriage and horse-drawn traffic generally as the recovery of a better day. We are not so sure. We love to see fine horses and elegant carriages at the Winter Fair, but we feel that a return to them for common use would be a backward step. The trend of modern progress is all toward speed, and, whether we like it or not, that is the path which we must follow. If horse-drawn traffic is seen again in this war, it will be merely an Indian Summer.

Juvenile Delinquency And War

An American newspaper correspondent resident in Britain has reported to his paper that juvenile delinquency has increased markedly in that country since the outbreak of war. This news has come from other sources as well, and some observers have estimated the increase as being almost fifty per cent.; we should be inclined to doubt this high figure. People are inclined to overemphasize juvenile delinquency and to see more of it than really exists. However, there is usually a fire where there is smoke, and there are good reasons why the youth of Britain should have become restive.

The evacuation of children from cities to rural districts is one cause. Not only does this break up families and release children from ordinary family restraints; it puts them in surroundings which are strange and which they may dislike very much. Rural England is very beautiful, but to a child from an industrial district it may appear as a desert; the notion that city children love green fields and quiet streams is a wholly mistaken one. Unhappy children are potential delinquents.

Even when children are kept at home they may not be as carefully supervised as they would be in time of peace. Passing over the obvious cases of families which have been bombed out or have suffered heavy loss in raids, there must be thousands of families in Britain now where the difficulties of transport, rationing and other annoyances take so much of the parents' time and nervous energy that they have nothing left to spend in disciplining their children. The same may be said of the police, who are too busy with extra duties to waste any time in their traditional occupation of chasing naughty small boys.

The temptations provided by bombing and blackout are very great. Shops and warehouses are suddenly torn open, leaving merchandise of all kinds strewn about, and then, after nightfall, the friendly dark comes, making petty theft the easiest thing in the world for an adventurous child. Children are extremely susceptible to excitement and their excitement must feed on something; is it any wonder that they go in for pilfering, and perhaps for a minor sort of racketeering?

The disorganization of schools and recreation centres has made many children idle. They feel that they cannot be expected to go to school in wartime, when any day may be their last, and there is far too much going on in the world for them to be contented with ordinary games. They want their share in the national crisis, but they have no responsibilities, and so they get into mischief.

Older children are able to work in munition factories, and many of these are earning wages so large as to have an unbalancing effect upon their recipients. A child old enough to work in a factory thinks and with some justification, that it is old enough to behave like a man or a woman; owing, however, to our modern habit of keeping children artificially young long after they have reached adolescence, they do not know how to behave in a responsible manner, and drunkenness, immorality and petty crime result. Not all the blame for this can be placed upon the children or their parents; society as a whole must share the responsibility.

War always has its evil effect upon children, as any student of history knows. The atmosphere which seems best for most children is one of pleasant routine, and this is the last thing that a war permits. Anyone who wishes to learn what war and social upheaval can do to children should investigate the condition of Parisian children during the years of the French revolution; they presented a problem in juvenile delinquency such as has never been equalled since. But we are not worrying unduly about the British children; Britain has always taken a strong line with juvenile crime and we are sure that the problem is being controlled as well as possible under difficult conditions.

Ingenuity In Diet

To most people in Canada the British Ministry of Food is an impersonal ogre which every now and again snatches something from the mouths of the inhabitants of that embattled island. Actually the Ministry keeps a close watch over the health of the British people and has done excellent work under extremely trying conditions. Its most difficult job, after getting the food itself, is to see that the diet provided for the people at large is sufficiently supplied with vitamins. The recent announcement that white bread will no longer be available to British housewives will solve one of its problems, for the wholemeal bread which has been substituted contains natural Vitamin B1; hitherto it has been necessary to add this, as well as a quantity of calcium salt, to the white bread which was sold. White bread has a "class" appeal in Britain; many people of the poorer class consider it an indignity to eat brown bread, although physicians grow hoarse repeating its benefits to health. Now they will have to take the more healthy bread, for it is all there is.

The Ministry has been adding vitamins to food for some time. Crowding in air-raid shelters and nights of broken rest are likely to produce epidemics of colds and influenza, and to combat this Vitamin A has been added to the ration of margarine. A quantity of Vitamin D, very necessary to growing children, is also added. Free cod liver oil is distributed to all children who are thought to need it, and the consumption of herring and mackerel, both of which contain the same valuable element, is encouraged by keeping the price low.

The consumption of fruit has never been so common in Britain as it is on this side of the water. It is regarded as a luxury, and only a small part of the population has cultivated a taste for it. Oranges, however, have always been popular and these contain the important anti-scurvy Vitamin C. A substitute has been found in black currant juice and also in rose hips, the fruit of the wild rose. A couple of spoonfuls of this latter rather curious dose contains a day's supply of Vitamin C.

By such shifts as these the Ministry has been able to keep its charges in surprisingly good health. There has been nothing like an epidemic so far, and in this third winter of the war a thirty-five per cent. drop in the incidence of influenza is reported. War has some odd results, and perhaps a measure of state control of diet, as a preventive of disease, will be one which will last.

A Man-Power Inventory

Ottawa has decided to ditch much of the information received at the National Registration in 1940 and now plans to take a man-power inventory across Canada. This will be taken through the Unemployment Insurance Commission and in co-operation with employers it will seek to determine just what skills the Canadian labor force possesses and how these are distributed.

The National Registration in 1940 gave the government a great deal of this information and we have for a long time wondered why more use had not been made of these facts. Skilled mechanics during the depression years were thrown out of work and many found other employment and here they have remained although their registration cards must have given to the government the information regarding their industrial experience for that registration told the government a great deal about people. There have been changes since of course but if proper co-ordination of services has existed at Ottawa it should be possible to tell how many and what men have gone into the Services and what their particular aptitudes were. Since then all persons when reaching the age of sixteen have been compelled to register, thus all new entrants into the field of labor have given the Government the necessary information.

The Minister of Labor, the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, in announcing the inventory, said it was "designed to ascertain the skill and training of workers so as to ensure that the maximum use is made of suitable labor in industry where the need is the greatest." We might suggest that as Canada has been drafting men of certain ages into the Services there might also be drafting of men into industry especially when these men are fully trained to take their places in industry. It has taken us two and a half years to reach this point in our organization of war. Let us hope it will not take as long to put the newly acquired information to use.

Filling The Holes

Employees of the Board of Works have been out early this year filling the holes on the streets, which have been made by the winter elements, and for this, all motorists should be deeply thankful. Holes in pavements and road surfaces have unusual sharp edges and do untold harm to tires. Motorists today are unable to get new tires and hence are taking much more care of the old ones and anything that the city can do to improve the road surfaces will be greatly appreciated.

In other years many of these holes existed until well into the summer before they were all filled up, but with the early start being made motorists should be assured that the City Fathers are mindful of the position which this war has put all drivers of automobiles and trucks.

NOTE AND COMMENT

What are they eating these days, at the home of that neighbor who always wanted to borrow a cup of sugar?

American labor unions have relinquished the right to strike during the war. Except at the enemy, of course.

A Toronto robber gave back his victim's money because the sum was not enough to satisfy him. There is some advantage in being too poor to rob.

A news item tells us that the White House is going to pull down its greenhouse; possibly to give the administration a free hand in throwing stones.

The char women in Washington government offices help to watch saboteurs who remain behind after office hours to do damage. You can't throw dust in a char's eyes; if they catch a saboteur, they mop him up.

Professor Helen White of the University of Wisconsin, quotes this bright statement from a freshman's essay: "Abraham Lincoln was born in a log cabin which he built with his own hands."

"TO AN IRISH EXILE"

Do you miss the blackbird's mellow flute at morning,
Or hearken for an Irish thrush's song?
Do you sometimes wish to hear again the cuckoo
Calling across the Vale of Slieve-namon?

Do you dream about those little cottage homesteads
Where there is always welcome to be found,
Where kindly hearts go out to friend or stranger
And joy, and peace, and calm content abound?

I've heard that distant lands are bathed in beauty
And many seek a home 'mid them to make;
But somehow, in the Springtime, now I'm thinking
Your heart may have a lonely kind of ache.

Views Expressed By British Press

So there is dissension between Hitler and the Germans Generals. Well, well! Accounts are reaching America through undefined channels of plans which the German General Staff has made to rid itself of Nazi control. The most picturesque even foresees the luring of Hitler to the Russian front, where he will be persuaded to die a soldier's death and thus gracefully give up office without splitting German national unity. It all makes very interesting reading, and it would indeed make very heartening reading were it not that there are unhappy reminiscences attaching to the story. It is by no means new. It has not merely been told and retold since war began; it was an old acquaintance in September, 1939. One of the hopes with which we were tantalized before the war was the theory that the German people would discard the man who threatened to lead them to war. The German people, however, seem to have had different ideas.—Sunday Dispatch (London).

The value of all types of salvage collected by local authorities and used to help the war effort now exceeds £5,000,000. Over 400 ships, of 5,000 tons cargo space, would have been necessary if the goods had been imported. Salvage is still urgently needed—waste paper, scrap metal, bones, rags and rubber. — London Times.

A story is told about the visit of a British ship to Russian waters. I find that it particularly appeals to members of the Forces. It is said that at a Soviet dinner the Russian Admiral got drunk and abused his English guests.

The incident was quickly closed, the Admiral was obviously drunk, and the British took no notice. The next day, however, he had disappeared, only to be found not long after scrubbing the decks as a common sailor. One of the English officers commiserated with him, explaining that the alliance had not been in any way in danger by what had been regarded as a mere slip at a convivial party.

The Admiral is said to have remarked, "Oh, it's all right. It is what I deserve for being stupid. I am allowed to work my way up to the top again in seven years." — London New Statesman.

Do you remember those early days of the war—the winter stalemate, the endless waiting? George Formby and Grace Fields entertained our boys "somewhere in France." At home we led lives that differed so little from our peacetime existence; we sang songs about the washing on the Siegfried Line. While these things went on, great France rotted. When the blow came, she fell. Lies, rumors and doubts had become a national currency, and up for sale was the soul of a nation. As in the period of the so-called phoney war, Hitler's powerful propaganda machine was set to making mischief between ourselves and the French, so now it is tuned to strike discord between Britain and America....Hitler hopes to weaken a nation before loosing his fire and steel on it, as he hoped (and failed) to weaken it by indiscriminate bombing. Hitler will fail again, but only if we are aware of the danger. "Only our follies can beat us," Mr. Churchill said recently, not long after making an appeal for national unity.—Daily Express (London).

Meredith described the French Revolution as shaking the dead from living man. A world war, which is a world revolution, has the same effect. The control of the dead hand over the relations of Europe and Asia, of white men and colored men, will inevitably be shaken. For the last half-century there has been a great deal of unrest in Asia, and Japan seeks to capitalize for herself all the discontent that has caused sporadic disturbances in China, India, Java, and Sumatra. Her aims are as selfish as those of Hitler, and her plans for Asia are based on a foundation of coolie labor serving Japanese industry. Her treatment of China prejudices her efforts to counterfeit the noble character of a liberator rallying the spirit of the oppressed East and vindicating its rights and dignity. But it would be stupid to suppose that she is not going to achieve some success in stirring up native feeling against Britain, the Netherlands, and the United States, or that, whatever the issue of the war, Asia would settle down again as if nothing had happened.—Manchester Guardian.

Unity of plan and direction, the free nations have agreed, are necessary to the deployment of their overwhelming resources. A like unity is required to concentrate the maximum energy of the British Empire most effectively. All the Governments and peoples in the Empire are agreed on that. We here draw the same lesson from the disasters in Malaya which Australia has drawn: that closer consultation and co-operation between British and Dominion Governments must be established. We were in fact more than ready for such development long before the Japanese struck....Many months ago it was pointed out in these columns that development of the system of association of British Governments departments with Dominions' departments might be the best means of bringing the whole power of the Empire into action. Sir Earle Page has confirmed this opinion. Frequent visits from Ministers of the Dominions are, of course, essential to complete liaison between leaders and peoples. It is now for Australia and the other Dominions to decide what reforms to put forward. This country shares their determination — in the words of an Australian newspaper — to unify fighting forces and employ them 'where they can best serve to defend the Empire and defeat the enemy." We look forward to a better organised and more active unity in the war, in foreign policy, in supply and in economics. Such development is not only necessary to speed victory but to win the peace.—Daily Telegraph and Morning Post (London).

Like the conduct of the war itself, reconstruction requires a central directing organ with adequate powers both of initiative and of decision. This is the role which the Minister of Works and Planning is now invited to assume. Careful account will be taken of existing interests and existing authorities; indeed, it will be one of the principal functions of the Ministry to "guide" local authorities and work in close co-operation with them. It would, however, be false to assume that results will be achieved in so complex a field merely by a process of compromise. Some local interests, however, legitimate, will have to yield to the wider interest of the whole community. Some authorities will be required to surrender powers hitherto enjoyed by them: Lord Latham mentioned that there are at present some 750 planning authorities in England and Wales and seventy-seven in the area covered by the Metropolitan Police. Reforms so far-reaching will not everywhere be carried through without opposition; and Lord Reith's success will depend largely on his courage and skill in meeting and overcoming it. Well-informed opinion throughout the country is convinced of the importance and necessity of the work on which he has embarked. If he will take the public into his confidence, it will give him full support in confronting the difficulties and obstacles which lie before him.—The Times (London).

Siege of Nerves On Again

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 22 —(AP)— April will soon replace blustery and uncertain March on the calendars of the world, and there is every indication that the sap of war is rising with the approach of the new month.

The Nazi warlord has revised his predictions to talk of a summer instead of a spring renewal of the German "annihilation" campaign in Russia. Conditions not under his control, such as the Russian weather and Russian war morale, account for that postponement. Yet, whatever the month for a Nazi attempted offensive in Russia and wherever the major blow on that front is to fall, April will see a stepping up of the battle tempo on other related fronts.

As is to be expected at this season, war reports from neutral observation posts and belligerent capitals alike in Europe are full of rumors and predictions of what Hitler intends to do next. That is a part of Hitlerian strategy, of the war of nerves technique. It may not perplex Allied high commanders, shaping their own war plans, but it does tend to confuse the public mind in anti-Axis countries.

THRIVES ON CONFUSION

Nazism has thrived since its birth on confusion in opposing ranks. It won its way to political and military mastery in Germany in that fashion and by the same means lulled Britain and France into a false sense of security that led to French downfall and the gravest crisis in British history.

For almost a decade Berlin has put out annually rumors and gossip to create a pre-spring mania of speculation about what Hitler would do next. The nerve siege is on again—but this time backed by grim facts that virtually insure 1942 a place in history as the year of decision in the world's greatest war.

That is not to say that the war will end this year. There is no means of saying when or how that will come. Yet it seems, even now, that if whatever vast new war enterprise Hitler is supposed to be mapping proves as futile to destroy the will and ability of his foes to fight on as did the Kaiser's last great spring offensive in France just twenty-four years ago, Hitler's ultimate collapse will be as clearly forecast as was the Kaiser's.

Once he had forced the United States into the war, the long term odds were all against the Kaiser. Time was his only ally and it betrayed him. He could not bring France and Britain to their knees before the American war effort grew great enough to build up overwhelming strength against him.

Just seven months after the German spring offensive of 1918 opened the end came. Germany surrendered. The portents of that dark April for Germany's foes blossomed gloriously into victory on Nov 11.

BARRED BY WATER

Nor can there be great doubt now that failure of the Nazi spring-summer offensive in 1942 to reach essential objectives such as an abundance of oil to fuel the Hitler war machine for years to come might mean as swift a German disintegration. Without oil the whole Axis conquest concept is built on sand.

Everywhere except in Russia Hitler is barred from oil by water hazards. Even the Turkish route imposes upon him the necessity of taking a water jump if Turkey is prepared to fight. The most recent straws-in-the-wind indicate that she is. Against Turkish resistance, storming the Dardanelles would be a terrific undertaking.

British expectation of a diversion thrust across the Eastern Mediterranean from the Italian Dodecanese Islands is indicated. There is constant Axis air battering at Malta which stands athwart the route for reinforcements to the halted Axis desert columns in Libya.

Far more significanct is the massing of Nazi naval units in Norwegian waters and strengthening of the occupation army in Norway. To match that potential German effort to cut Atlantic communication lines with Russia, Britain has made a wide span of the Atlantic covering the Bay of Biscay an unrestricted warfare zone. It suggests that British submarines will hunt there to strike at all comers while British surface craft concentrate to meet the threat in Norwegian waters to Russian supply lines. That is plain notice to French warcraft in Bay of Biscay ports to stand aloof.

All of this makes Russia the real focus of German offensive planning. For it is in Russia and there only that the Germans can reach oil by land.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist; some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets. He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it....

Then charged he his disciples that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ.—Matt. xvi, 13-18, 20.

A SERIOUS SHORTAGE

When Captain W. F. Watson, the President of the Sugar Manufacturers' Association, pointed out in an interview in the last Sunday Guardian that the labor shortage was harming the war effort by reducing the sugar output, he was emphasizing an already acknowledged fact. That the continuance of vital agricultural production is necessary for the prosecution of the war was admitted in last July's official communique on the immigration problem, but unhappily the pressure of events has tended to obscure this aspect of the question. The fact is that the estimated crop of 130,000 tons this year is short by 50,000 tons of the figure set by the United Kingdom for Trinidad, and even this limited outturn (which is itself 20,000 tons less than earlier estimates) may not be realized unless more labor is obtainable.—Trinidad Guardian (Port-of-Spain).

Saturday Night Dance

The usual happy crowd danced to the music of Lloyd Budge and his orchestra on Saturday night at the regular dance sponsored by the Saturday Night Club. Irene Dillon and Jack Gardner were the winners of the spot prize and Leon Davy won the door prize

Spring is bringing forth new frocks already but there is little doubt, if Saturday evening was any example, that suits will definitely be the thing. Casual skirts and jackets are smart too, and they can be as pretty and attractive as dresses for dancing as one young lady proved when she wore a dusty rose skirt with a sweater striped in soft pastel shades, and a beige tailored jacket. The beautiful new printed rayons are coming into their own and one dress abloom with red and blue flowers on a white ground was very attractively made with a fitted bodice and a graceful skirt made full with unpressed pleats in the front.
